Tina Quigley is the General Manager of the Regional Transportation Commission of Southern Nevada (RTC). As general manager of the RTC of Southern Nevada, she knows what it means to think big. In a city of 2.1 million residents and 42 million annual visitors, Ms. Quigley is at the forefront of visionary thinking and planning for the future. She recognizes that an enhanced multi-modal and technologically advanced transportation infrastructure will help ensure that southern Nevada can continue to attract tourists, residents, and new business. Ms. Quigley has embraced and pushed for sweeping technological advances; advocated for future planning; and has built critical partnerships to well position the region for ongoing and sustained economic vibrancy. With more than 25 years of experience in air and ground transportation management and a licensed pilot herself, she leads the only agency nationwide that is solely responsible for a region's public transit system, traffic management, roadway design, construction funding, and transportation planning.
