CRIMINAL JUSTICE/LEGAL SYSTEM

Title: MAKING SENSE OF SENTENCING : State Systems and Policies (Miscellaneous) --2015.

Source: NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF STATE LEGISLATURES (NCSL)

Pages: 12

Subject: 1. Criminal Justice--Sentencing.

Notes: "In each state, the legislature has established a criminal code and sentencing system. These govern decisions about which criminal offenders are eligible for community placement, jail or prison, and how long offenders should be behind bars or under supervision. While each state's system is unique, they share common objectives of holding offenders accountable and protecting public safety. Effective sentencing systems strive for fairness, consistency, certainty and opportunity. In order to continue to achieve these objectives over time, legislatures regularly update their criminal codes and change aspects of their sentencing policies."

EDUCATION

Title: COMPARATIVE INDICATORS OF EDUCATION IN THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER G-20 COUNTRIES : 2015
(Electronic Document) --2015.

Source: NATIONAL CENTER FOR EDUCATION STATISTICS (NCES)

Pages: 80+

Subject: 1. Education.

Notes: Title varies

"Comparative Indicators of Education in the United States and Other G-20 Countries draws on the information about education from the International Indicators of Education Systems (INES) project at the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), as well as international assessments ranging across the lifespan from grade 4 through adulthood. Topics covered include population and school enrollment, academic performance, contexts for learning, expenditure for education, and educational attainment and income. The G-20 countries, which are among the most economically developed, represent 85 percent of the world's economy and two-thirds of its population, and are some of the United States' largest economic partners. This report is the latest in a series that has been published since 2002. Previous reports focused on the G-8 countries. This is the first to focus on the G-20 countries."

Title: GRAPEVINE : An annual compilation of data on state fiscal support for higher education (Website) --2016.

Source: CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF EDUCATION POLICY, ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY
STATE HIGHER EDUCATION EXECUTIVE OFFICERS (SHEEO)

Subject: 1. Education--Finances. 2. Statistics. 3. Taxation. 4. Universities and Colleges--Finances.

Notes: "Since 1960, Grapevine has published annual compilations of data on state tax support for higher education, including general fund appropriations for universities, colleges, community colleges, and state higher education agencies. Each year's Grapevine survey has asked states for tax appropriations data for the new fiscal year and for revisions (if any) to data reported in previous years.

As of fiscal year 2010, Grapevine tables--including both tax and non-tax support--have been produced by Illinois State University's Center for the Study of Education Policy in cooperation with the State Higher Education Executive Officers (SHEEO). The Grapevine survey has been consolidated with the annual survey used by SHEEO in its State Higher Education Finance (SHEF) project. This consolidated questionnaire asks for data that are compiled in a new State Support for Higher Education database. This database, in turn, is used to produce both the annual Grapevine tables, which provide a first look at state appropriations for the new fiscal year, and the annual SHEF report, which offers a more complete examination of trends in total state support for higher education, factoring in inflation and enrollment."

Title: NEVADA : Called to account; new directions in school accountability (Electronic Document) --2016.

Source: EDUCATION WEEK

Pages: 13

Series: State Highlights 2016

Subject: 1. Education--Accountability--Nevada. 2. Education--Assessment. 3. Education--Nevada.

Notes: "The 20th annual edition of Education Week's Quality Counts continues the tradition of tracking key indicators and grading the states on their performance and outcomes. This year's installment examines how new state and federal strategies are transforming the assessment of school performance and reshaping the consequences for poor results. As the newly enacted Every Student Succeeds Act – the long-awaited successor to the federal No Child Left Behind Act – raises fresh questions about the future direction of accountability, Education Week journalists explore options for holding schools to high standards while simultaneously improving student achievement.

To complement the report's journalism, the Education Week Research Center conducted an original analysis of student achievement in the No Child Left Behind era, which highlights results on the National Assessment of Educational Progress from 2003 to 2015. The analysis examines overall achievement, poverty-based gaps, and trends over time.

To offer a comprehensive perspective on state performance, the 2016 State Highlights Reports provide summative grades focused on educational outcomes. The 2016 summative grades are based on three key indices making up Quality Counts' State of the States framework: the Chance-for-Success Index; K-12 Achievement Index; and school finance. Results for all three of these categories have been updated for this year's report.

Overall findings show that some states consistently perform strongly or poorly across the full range of graded categories. However, most states post a strong showing in at least one area. This suggests that a deeper reading of the results presented in this State Highlights Report will provide a more nuanced perspective on the educational condition of the nation and the states."

Nevada ranked 50th with a D.

(Electronic Document) --2016.

Source: NATIONAL CENTER FOR EDUCATION STATISTICS (NCES)

Pages: 78 Series: First Look

Subject: 1. Universities and Colleges--Students.

Notes: "This publication provides descriptive findings from the 2012/14 Beginning Postsecondary Students Longitudinal Study (BPS:12/14) focusing on attainment, persistence, and retention in postsecondary education. BPS:12/14 is a nationally representative longitudinal sample survey of students who began postsecondary education for the first time during the 2012–13 academic year; this first follow-up represents students' experiences about 3 years after their initial enrollment. Among 2011–12 first-time postsecondary students, 7 percent had completed a certificate, 7 percent had completed an associate's degree, and 1 percent had completed a bachelor's degree at any institution within 3 years. Another 39 percent had not earned a credential and were enrolled at a 4-year institution, 16 percent were enrolled at a less-than-4-year institution, and 30 percent were not enrolled at any institution by the spring of 2014."

Title: TRACKING TRANSFER : New measures of institutional and state effectiveness in helping community college students attain bachelor's degrees (Electronic Document) --2016.

Source: Community College Research Center (CCRC)

Pages: 56

Subject: 1. Community Colleges. 2. Universities and Colleges--Curriculum.

Notes: "Increasing the effectiveness of two- to four-year college transfer is critical for meeting national goals for college attainment and promoting upward social mobility. Efforts to improve institutional effectiveness in serving transfer students and state transfer policy have been hampered by a lack of comparable metrics for measuring transfer student outcomes. In this report, we propose a common set of metrics for measuring the effectiveness of two- and four-year institutions in enabling degree-seeking students who start college at a community college to transfer to four-year institutions and earn bachelor's degrees. These include three community college measures—transfer-out rate, transfer-with-award rate, and transfer-out bachelor's completion rate—and one measure for four-year institutions—transfer-in bachelor's completion rate. We also examine a fifth measure: the overall rate at which the cohort of students who start at a community college in a given state go on to earn a bachelor's degree from a four-year institution."

Title: TRENDS IN STATE CHARTER SCHOOL LAWS : Authorizers, caps, performance-based closures and virtual schools (Miscellaneous) --2014.

Source: EDUCATION COMMISSION OF THE STATES (ECS)

Pages: 6

Subject: 1. Education--Charter Schools.

Notes: "Forty-two states and the District of Columbia have enacted charter school legislation. ECS analysts reviewed laws in the 50 states in creating an online database that highlights how state charter school laws vary, particularly in how states establish standards and accountability for charter school authorizers, allow for appeals, provide assistance with start-ups and fund charter schools. Recently, attention to authorizers — the entities responsible for approving and overseeing charter schools — has increased. A growing number of states are establishing standards and reporting requirements that authorizers must adhere to. Other rapidly evolving policy areas discussed in this brief are limits or “caps” on the number of charter schools allowed in a state, automatic performance-based closures and virtual or “cyber” charter schools."

Title: COPYRIGHT TOOLS (Website)

Source: AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION (ALA)

Subject: 1. Copyright.

Notes: "Over the past several years, Michael Brewer and the Copyright Advisory Subcommittee of the ALA Office for Information Technology Policy have been developing tools to educate librarians, educators and others about copyright. These now include the Public Domain slider, the Section 108 Spinner, the Fair Use Evaluator, and the Exceptions for Instructors eTool. These tools are all available online for anyone to use or link to.

Using these educational tools can help educators and others become more comfortable utilizing the limitations and exceptions to the exclusive rights granted to the copyright holder under U.S. Copyright law. By exercising these valuable exceptions, we strengthen copyright's primary purpose--to promote the progress of science and useful arts' (U. S. Constitution, Article 1, Section 8, Clause 8)."

Title: THE ANOINTED ONE : An inside look at Nevada politics (Book) --NV 2000.

Source: RALSTON, JON

Pages: 257

Subject: 1. Governors--Nevada. 2. Politics.

Notes: "The political process in Nevada may not be much different than it is in California or Mississippi or Washington, D.C. But Nevada's size uniquely lends it to a case study such as this one. This book tells the story of the anointment of Kenny Guinn; however, it is not only emblematic of how power is amassed and doled out in Nevada, but how politics works most everywhere."
