CHAPTER 9: ELECTION RESULTS

STATE ELECTIONS

Over the course of Nevada's history, the State has remained fairly balanced in its political leanings. In 39 presidential campaigns, the Republican candidate won the State 21 times, the Democrat nominee 17 times, and the Populist Party contender once. In 31 of those presidential races, Nevada backed the eventual winner. Of 25 U.S. Senators to serve Nevada in Washington, D.C., 12 have been Democrats and 13 Republicans, with 2 of those Republican Senators also being elected as a member of the Silver Party as well. Nevada has been represented by 38 Congressmen or Congresswomen, 20 Republicans, 18 Democrats, 3 of which may have run as a member of the Silver-Democrat Party. Thirty men have held the position of Governor in Nevada: 14 Republicans, 11 Democrats, and 2 each from the Silver and Silver-Democrat parties (NOTE: James W. Nye served as acting Governor of Nevada without party affiliation before the State's first election in 1864).

PRIMARY ELECTIONS IN NEVADA

The "direct primary system," as adopted by the Legislature of 1909 (Chapter 294, Nevada Revised Statutes), is a method of selecting party candidates by direct action of the voters. The system does not affect independent candidates who, as always, may enter the elections by petition. Primary elections are held on the first Tuesday in September prior to the general elections. The returns on all State primaries to date are listed before the results of general elections.

ELECTION RESULTS:
GENERAL AND SPECIAL ELECTION RESULTS, 1864-2016
WITH PRIMARY ELECTION RESULTS, 1910-2016

The “Margin of Victory” columns in the following tables show the number of votes by which the prevailing candidates won election. In certain races, more than one candidate can secure an office. In those instances, the margin of victory of each winning candidate is calculated by determining the difference between the number of votes for that candidate and the number of votes received by the person among the losing candidates who had the highest number of votes. Where a candidate ran unopposed, no margin of victory is shown.

Since the 1976 elections, voters in Nevada have had the option to vote for “None of these candidates” for any statewide office or for President and Vice President of the United States. Only votes cast for the named candidates are counted in determining nomination or election to these offices (see Nevada Revised Statutes [NRS] 293.269), and in calculating the margin of victory.

¹Add Article 18, granting rights of suffrage and office-holding to male citizens regardless of color or previous condition of servitude.
²Add Article 11, Sec. 10, forbidding the use of public funds for sectarian purposes.
³Amend Article 9, Sec. 1, changing the fiscal year.

Apparently, the foregoing amendments were submitted by mistake in some counties, as none of the three had (in 1878) passed the Legislature twice, as required by the Constitution. The first two passed the 1877 and 1879 Sessions and finally were approved at the 1880 election. The third passed the 1875 Session but was lost at the 1877 Session.

¹Direct primary law of March 23, 1909, p. 277, contained a provision that candidates for the Legislature subscribe to one of two obligations concerning United States Senator. One was that the nominee, if elected, agreed to vote for the candidate who received the highest number of votes at the regular election, regardless of political affiliation; the second was that the candidate, if elected, would regard the vote as a recommendation. This part of the primary law was observed until the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was declared in force on May 31, 1913, permitting the election of the U.S. Senators by direct vote of the people.

²Subsequent to certification of election totals, quo warranto proceedings were filed in the Nevada Supreme Court, which later sustained Josephs' election by a majority of 41 votes.

³Article 2, Sec. 7, granting all poll tax collections to the State for maintenance and betterment of roads. Original section granted one-half to counties.

¹Repeal of "Right-to-Work Law."

²A companion measure to Question No. 1. Proposed amendment by adding Article 1, Section 42, to the Constitution, which would in effect prohibit "Right-to-Work Laws."

³An initiative measure which repeatedly came before the Legislature. It involved the question of public school financing. The 1955 Legislative Session did not adopt the initiative petition but took from the petition the salient provisions in regard to public school financing as recommended in the "Peabody Report," and enacted those provisions into law. Later it was discovered that, by reason of certain bond provision defects in the amendments to the public school laws enacted in 1955, it would be necessary to hold a special session of the Legislature to remedy those defects. Accordingly, the Governor called a special session of the Legislature which convened in February 1956. At that special session an entirely new school code was enacted, which again embodied the salient provisions of this initiative measure. The initiative petition nevertheless, under the law, had to appear on the ballot.

⁴Proposed amendment of Article 11, Sec. 1, of the Constitution, making the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction an appointive office rather than an elective office. Also, would authorize the Legislature to prescribe the manner of appointment, the term of office, and duties of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

⁵Proposed amendment of Article 2, Sec. 3, of the Constitution. The change would not withhold the right of voting from those who might be inducted into the Armed Forces. Also, such persons would be exempt from the payment of a poll tax.

⁶Proposed amendment of the ordinance of the Constitution. The amendment authorizes the Legislature to tax government property, if Congress should so provide.

⁷Proposed amendment of Article 9, Sec. 2, of the Constitution, preventing any moneys collected by the Nevada Industrial Commission from being used in any other manner or for any other purpose than those specified.

⁸A referendum measure to retain or repeal the Sales and Use Tax Act. A "yes" vote retains, a "no" vote repeals.
