

INFORMATIONAL STATEMENT

R005-23

1. A clear and concise explanation of the need for the adopted regulation:

Existing law requires the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission to adopt regulations establishing minimum standards for the certification and decertification, recruitment, selection and training of peace officers. (NRS 289.510)

NAC289.300(1)(b) requires a person enrolling in a basic training program must be required to pass the physical fitness examination not sooner than 30 days before the commencement of the course and not later than 14 days after the commencement of the course. This update to the regulation (R005-23RP1) will make this requirement optional for academies by updating the language to say “a person enrolling in a basic training program may be required to pass....” With strict, regimented physical training, a cadet that could not pass the physical fitness test at the start of the academy could be conditioned to pass the final physical fitness examination before the end of the academy. Dismissing such a cadet causes a financial burden on agencies that have spent several thousand dollars completing a full background on a candidate that can be conditioned to pass the examination. Using this “entrance level” physical fitness test as a guide to evaluate the physical fitness of cadets at the start of the academy, instead of a mandatory requirement to pass, will allow agencies to maintain their new hires and train the cadet to meet the physical fitness standard during the academy and allow them to retain the officers that otherwise would have been dismissed.
