Assembly called to order at 10:28 a.m.
Mr. Speaker presiding.
Roll called.
All present.
Prayer by the Chaplain, Terry Sullivan.
Let us pray. Well, Lord, since “Cowboy Hall of Fame” day is over, it would be only proper to ask You for a blessing for all the cowboys in the world and all their horses and their cow dogs and certainly their family and friends. And I believe, Lord, that You know that in our hearts we’re all cowboys here. And You also know that in this case the word cowboy is gender neutral. And I want to especially ask for You, Lord, to forgive those makers of the Third House, for as they say, “They know not what they do.” Please make these final few days as short and pleasant as possible and for sure, give us the ability to continue to think clearly as we have in the past. We ask for these blessings and other matters in whose name we pray.

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Oceguera moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.
Motion carried.

Assembly Conference Committee Senate Conference Committee

Conference Amendment No. CA9.

Amend section 1, pages 3 through 5, by deleting lines 2 through 40 on page 3, lines 1 through 43 on page 4 and lines 1 through 16 on page 5, and inserting:

"125.480 1. In determining custody of a minor child in an action brought under this chapter, the sole consideration of the court is the best interest of the child. If it appears to the court that joint custody would be in the best interest of the child, the court may grant custody to the parties jointly.

2. Preference must not be given to either parent for the sole reason that the parent is the mother or the father of the child.

3. The court shall award custody in the following order of preference unless in a particular case the best interest of the child requires otherwise:

(a) To both parents jointly pursuant to NRS 125.490 or to either parent. If the court does not enter an order awarding joint custody of a child after either parent has applied for joint custody, the court shall state in its decision the reason for its denial of the parent’s application. [When awarding custody to either parent, the court shall consider, among other factors, which parent is more likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing relationship with the noncustodial parent.]

(b) To a person or persons in whose home the child has been living and where the child has had a wholesome and stable environment.

(c) To any person related within the third degree of consanguinity to the child whom the court finds suitable and able to provide proper care and guidance for the child, regardless of whether the relative resides within this State.

(d) To any other person or persons whom the court finds suitable and able to provide proper care and guidance for the child.

4. In determining the best interest of the child, the court shall consider [ ] and set forth its specific findings concerning, among other things:
(a) The wishes of the child if the child is of sufficient age and capacity to form an intelligent preference as to his custody.

(b) Any nomination by a parent or a guardian for the child.

(c) Which parent is more likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing relationship with the noncustodial parent.

(d) The level of conflict between the parents.

(e) The ability of the parents to cooperate to meet the needs of the child.

(f) The mental and physical health of the parents.

(g) The physical, developmental and emotional needs of the child.

(h) The nature of the relationship of the child with each parent.

(i) The ability of the child to maintain a relationship with any sibling.

(j) Any history of parental abuse or neglect of the child or a sibling of the child.

(k) Whether either parent or any other person seeking custody has engaged in an act of domestic violence against the child, a parent of the child or any other person residing with the child.

5. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 6 or NRS 125C.210, a determination by the court after an evidentiary hearing and finding by clear and convincing evidence that either parent or any other person seeking custody has engaged in one or more acts of domestic violence against the child, a parent of the child or any other person residing with the child creates a rebuttable presumption that sole or joint custody of the child by the perpetrator of the domestic violence is not in the best interest of the child. Upon making such a determination, the court shall set forth:

(a) Findings of fact that support the determination that one or more acts of domestic violence occurred; and

(b) Findings that the custody or visitation arrangement ordered by the court adequately protects the child and the parent or other victim of domestic violence who resided with the child.

6. If after an evidentiary hearing held pursuant to subsection 5 the court determines that each party has engaged in acts of domestic violence, it shall, if possible, then determine which person was the primary physical aggressor. In determining which party was the primary physical aggressor for the purposes of this section, the court shall consider:

(a) All prior acts of domestic violence involving either party;

(b) The relative severity of the injuries, if any, inflicted upon the persons involved in those prior acts of domestic violence;

(c) The likelihood of future injury;

(d) Whether, during the prior acts, one of the parties acted in self-defense; and

(e) Any other factors which the court deems relevant to the determination.

In such a case, if it is not possible for the court to determine which party is the primary physical aggressor, the presumption created pursuant to subsection 5 applies to both parties. If it is possible for the court to determine which party is the primary physical aggressor, the presumption created pursuant to subsection 5 applies only to the party determined by the court to be the primary physical aggressor.

7. As used in this section, “domestic violence” means the commission of any act described in NRS 33.018.”.

Amend the bill as a whole by deleting sec. 13 and the text of the repealed section.

Amend the title of the bill by deleting the first through third lines and inserting:

“AN ACT relating to domestic relations; revising provisions concerning the considerations of the court in determining the best interests of a child for the purpose of determining custody of the child;”.

Assemblyman Anderson moved that the Assembly adopt the report of the first Conference Committee concerning Assembly Bill No. 51.

Remarks by Assemblymen Anderson and Buckley.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Assemblyman Anderson:

This amendment deletes Section 13 of the bill, which repealed NRS 125.490. The current presumption that joint custody is in the best interest of the child when the parents had agreed to joint custody will not change, thus maintaining that joint custody will be the first priority. It also removes new language adding subsection 3 of Section 1 of the bill concerning joint custody, because in returning the repealed section it is necessary. Third, it keeps the language in subsection 4 of Section 1, setting forth the specific findings concerning the best interest of the child.

Also, keeping the list of factors that were agreed to by the court, but it deletes paragraph (k), which would require the court to make findings about the ability of each parent to prioritize the needs of the child.

Section 1 of A.B. 51 with the above-described changes is what the Conference agreed to.

Assemblywoman Buckley:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To you and through you to the Chairman of Judiciary. With regard to the bottom line of page 1, in deleting, “When awarding custody to either parent, the court shall consider, among other factors, which parent is more likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing relationship with the noncustodial parent.” I see that has been dropped down so that it is now subsection 4 (c) on the second page. I believe this is the doctrine whereby you want the parent to encourage the relationship and the visits with the other parent and, if you think that other parent might not want to do that, that can be a factor in who you give initial custody to, and that is the way the law is now, as I understand it. In moving it, now that has to be one of the factors in deciding whether the best interest of the child has been met. In the opinion of the Conference Committee, does that give the same existing weight for a court to be able to consider these factors in determining where a child would go?

Assemblyman Anderson:

The ability of the court to determine factors is unchanged with this modification. It merely lists those factors that the court should take into consideration. I have a mock-up of the new language and in part 4, in determining the best interest (a) the wishes of the child if the child is of sufficient age; (b) any nomination by a parent or guardian; and (c) which parent is most likely to allow. Those are the factors that would come forward. In the subsection 3, "The court shall award custody in the following order of preference unless in a particular case the best interest of the child requires otherwise" will be retained. So both parties will still remain as (a).
ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:
Just one additional follow-up. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Through you to the Chair of the Judiciary Committee. Am I correct in assuming that it is the Conference Committee’s intent that existing case law regarding this issue would not be changed?

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:
It is the clearly the intent that existing case law would not be in any way endangered by this new additional language, which the court had suggested is its normal process and procedure. We are merely setting it forth into statutory language.

Motion carried by a constitutional majority.
