Senate called to order at 11:41 a.m.
President Krolicki presiding.
Roll called.
All present.
Prayer by Pastor Albert Tilstra, Seventh-day Adventist Church, Fallon.
Dear God in Heaven: Today we pray for Your gift of contentment, that we may not waste our time desiring more, but learn to use and enjoy what we have. We may not know everything, but we may know You and Your will. We need not be rich to be generous, nor have all wisdom to be understanding. Our influence may not be great, but it can be good. Our speech may not be eloquent, but it can be truthful and sincere. We cannot all have good looks, but we can have good conscience, and having that, we shall have peace of mind and need fear no man.
May we be kind to one another, tender hearted and forgiving, even as You, for Christ’s sake, have forgiven us.
AMEN.
Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.
The President announced that under previous order, the reading of the Journal is waived for the remainder of the 77th Legislative Session and the President and Secretary are authorized to make any necessary corrections and additions.

Thank you, Mr. President. Senate Bill No. 308 simply clarifies language that veterans of the Iraq and Afghanistan Wars can participate in the tax exemption currently offered to veterans, which is on statute that ended in 1996. The way the statute is currently written disqualifies them. This bill clarifies things so now those veterans can use the exemption unencumbered. Thank you.

It also specifies that if a nurse or principal of the school, as applicable, approves a request to provide certain assistance to a pupil with diabetes pursuant to section 10 of this bill making it permissive and making sure it is voluntary. Section 34, which is new in the amendment, provides that any regulation adopted by the State Board of Nursing that conflicts with provisions of the bill is void to ensure regulatory authority remains intact. Thank you.
Amendment adopted.

Senate Bill No. 328.
Bill read third time.
Remarks by Senator Settelmeyer.

Thank you, Mr. President. Senate Bill No. 328 requires the Executive Officer of the State Board for Career and Technical Education to appoint a person to oversee programs of career and technical education. The bill also requires 30 percent of State career and technical education funding be used to award competitive grants to school districts and charter schools and 5 percent be distributed to pupil organizations for career and technical education. After these distributions, the bill authorized up to 7.5 percent of career and technical education funding appropriated in any one fiscal year to be used for leadership and training activities, with the balance of any state career and technical education funding being allocated as grants. The measure establishes that undistributed state career and technical education funding does not revert to the State General Fund and must be carried forward to the subsequent fiscal year. Finally, the bill provides for an evaluation of the effectiveness of the programs that receive career and technical education grant funding from the State. This act becomes effective on July 1, 2013. The bill provides consistency for career and technical education funding, and it also gets businesses involved in helping with the allocation process of career and technical education funding in order to get private dollars to help. Thank you.

It also allows Clark and Washoe Counties to use any leftover money from its 10 cent indigent rate to fund the intergovernmental transfer program. Thank you.

Assembly Bill No. 444.
Bill read third time.

Remarks by Senators Segerblom, Settelmeyer, Brower, Hutchison and Kieckhefer.

SENATOR SEGERBLOM:
Thank you, Mr. President. Assembly Bill No. 444 requires the Legislative Auditor to conduct an audit of the fiscal costs of the death penalty. Last Session we had a similar bill which was vetoed by the Governor. The sponsor of this bill, who is from the Assembly, looked at the veto message and addressed all of the Governor’s concerns. Hopefully this bill will pass this Body and the Governor will sign it. Thank you.
SENATOR SETTELMeyer:
Thank you, Mr. President. I appreciate my colleague’s opinion on Assembly Bill No. 444. I also appreciate the amendment to the bill; it may have created the opportunity for the bill to now make it through. I am still concerned, however. I don’t feel it would be a fair and accurate study because I feel the bill lacks the specificity necessary to persuade me that the outcome of audit performed will be fair. You have over 14 aspects to be looked at including only three costs and savings aspects. I am worried we should also be looking at what the overall cost of life in prison is. Also, we should consider what the cost changes would be if we were to change the limits on the number of appeals by right, which are being given, currently. For those reasons, I will be opposing this bill. Thank you.

SENATOR BROWER:
Thank you, Mr. President. I have looked at the bill, and I have also looked back at the veto message from the Governor from last June. I am not sure I see an improvement between last Session’s bill and this Session.

We all know why the death penalty costs too much: it is because the appellate process takes too long and is too complicated. I don’t think we need to do an audit to come to that conclusion. The process needs to be streamlined; yes, it needs to give due process and it needs to give appellate rights to those condemned to death, but there needs to be a commonsense process that doesn’t take more than a decade. As long as we allow that to happen, it will be too expensive; we need to reform the process, not audit the death penalty. I will have to oppose this bill. Thank you.

SENATOR HUTCHISON:
Thank you, Mr. President. I have a question for my colleague from Senate District No. 3: Is there going to be an analysis on not only the limitations on the appeal process but also on the control of the appeal process by defendants endlessly seeking appeals? We all know the most expensive part of death-penalty litigation is the repeated appeals my colleagues have discussed. What I would be interested in under an audit or study is evaluating when and how often a defendant can continue to request an appeal. Is there any limitation on that? If so, what are those limitations? I know other states have imposed limitations on death-penalty appeals. Thank you.

SENATOR SEGERBLOM:
Thank you, Mr. President. Yes, the audit looks at everything. It is done by our own staff so there is no cost to it. As you know, the current death chamber does not work. This Body has refused to authorize payment for a new death chamber, so in the next two years if we wanted to execute someone, we would not be able to. The audit will analyze the process from when one is first charged with a death penalty crime, the costs of lawyers and security, appeals—it will look at the whole thing. It will also look at the costs saved; perhaps if a prosecutor is charging the death penalty that will encourage more people to plead guilty to a life without parole, which is a cost saving. They will look at the whole gamut. The point is this is a perfect time to study it because right now the death chamber cannot be used to execute anyone, and we won’t have one for at least two years. Thank you.

SENATOR KIECKHEFER:
Thank you, Mr. President. I believe the Department of Corrections testified that they could execute someone if they wanted, using the existing death chamber. They have the ability to improve it for that end if needed. I did disapprove of the expenditure of nearly $700,000 to build a new death chamber. The testimony was the existing death chamber can be used if necessary. Thank you.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

SENATOR SMITH:
Thank you, Mr. President. I have a proclamation here that relates to our guests on the floor today. Since the conclusion of the 2011 Legislative Session, several tragic events have been experienced in Northern Nevada which required the heroic and coordinated efforts of a number of different emergency responders: on September 6, 2011, an armed man entered the International House of Pancakes in Carson City and opened fire, killing four and injuring 11—law enforcement agencies, fire department units and emergency medical units responded and triaged, treated and transported ten of the wounded to area hospitals in just over 30 minutes; on September 16, 2011, one of the planes competing at the Reno Air Races suffered a mechanical failure and crashed along the race course in close proximity to the public viewing area, killing the pilot and ten spectators, and injuring 69 additional bystanders—well-trained emergency crews were located at the event and were able to perform the unbelievable task of triaging, treating and transporting a total of 54 patients needing medical care to area hospitals in a total time of 62 minutes; on November 18, 2011, a wildfire broke out in the Caughlin Ranch area of Southwest Reno, and with winds gusting up to 70 miles per hour the fire moved with great speed, ultimately burning 1,935 acres, accounting for one civilian death, destroying 26 homes and damaging 17 more, and causing the evacuation of more than 4,000 residents to local schools and shelters; and on January 19, 2012, a wildfire broke out near the north end of Washoe Valley and was pushed by high winds into Pleasant Valley, burning more than 3,100 acres, accounting for one civilian death, destroying 28 homes and damaging 7 more and causing the evacuation of over 4,000 area residents. Whereas through the valiant efforts of fire crews, emergency responders, public safety personnel, public and private agencies and volunteers in these areas, an untold number of lives were protected, and it is estimated that more than 5,000 homes were saved at Caughlin Ranch and 800 homes were saved in Washoe Valley and Pleasant Valley. The proclamation recognizes that the members of the 2013 Legislature express their most sincere and heartfelt condolences to all of the families that suffered loss of family members, sustained injuries and lost their homes and property during the devastating events, and that the members of the Legislature also convey our utmost thanks and commendation to the fire departments, law enforcement agencies, emergency responders, hospitals, charitable organizations, federal, state and local agencies, public schools and all of the others who participated in the response to and recovery from these disasters.

Listening to the descriptions of these events seems fairly surreal now to think we had so many tragedies in such a short period of time. Over and over again, we all heard about the amazing response times, the coordination of efforts and how many lives, and how much property, was saved; all because of the risks that many of these first responders took, the treatment they provided and all of their coordinated activities to save any further incident. Today I ask that my colleagues join me in thanking all of these first responders. We have several of them here on the floor who have already been introduced. However, I hope you will all join me in thanking them as well as all of the people listening and watching—all of those who were part of this series of disasters. Thank you.
