Aggravating and mitigating factors should be considered in all cases. The mitigating and aggravating factors should be relied upon when deviating from guideline recommendation and when granting or denying parole when the grid suggests the decision should be based on the factors of the case. Structured supervision requirements should also be considered to help mitigate any aggravating factors.

Community Supervision Factors

Special community supervision restrictions should be considered when such restrictions may mitigate reasons to deny parole.

- ☐ Intensive Supervision with initial period of house arrest
- ☐ Maximum level of supervision without house arrest
- ☐ Weekly drug testing for _____ weeks upon release followed by periodic and random testing
- ☐ Residential substance abuse program
- ☐ Weekly reporting upon release for _____ weeks followed by a reporting schedule set by PO
