Hello,

I am writing to you as a resident of Reno, a working mother and US citizen deeply concerned with the state of Nevada continuing to give tax handouts to industries that do not clearly guarantee an economic boost for it's tax-payers. I ask the legislature to not support any film tax credit proposals in a special session. We do not have the money in view of current visitor number declines and sales tax revenue declines. What if these declines continue, which seems likely in our current economy heading towards recession? To continue giving handouts to the film industry, what programs would the legislature cut or erase if the trend of declining revenues continues?
