Dear Commissioners,

The Wildlife Commission is only proposing regulations to make it look like they are doing something. They are meaningless and irrelevant.

Additionally, the city of Reno and the Clark County Commission voted overwhelmingly to BAN all Wildlife Killing Contests (WKC), not isolate one species and ignore the rest. These commissions represent over three-quarters of the state's population.

It is also biologically unsound to obliterate a species in a defined geographic area. NDOW biologists have conducted no research and issued no opinions about this matter, allowing bad science to proceed.

The state Wildlife Commission, instructed by the governor and key legislators to solve the problem of mass wildlife killing, have chosen to ignore the tenets of the North American Model of Wildlife Management against wanton waste, etc.

Buying NDOW licenses doesn't make mass wildlife killing appropriate or biologically sound.

The nine-member, Governor-appointed Nevada Wildlife Commission is composed almost exclusively of hunters and does not represent most Nevadans.

Please reject this regulation and send it back to NDOW/the Wildlife Commission to do the scientifically appropriate work.

Make a humane decision

Stacey Birkby
