Hello,

Annuola recently shared information about killing contests for coyotes happening in Nevada. I'm emailing to show support against hosting killing contests as an effort to remedy coyote populations. It's sad and cruel that this state is allowing for these kind of activities, and I hope that the governing board decides against killing contests and let their lives be at the mercy of the creator and not us. Coyotes inhabited this land before we civilized it and the way it should be is to let nature run its course. I hope this email makes its way to your decision table because people like me who love this state, can't stand when the operations and rules of the governance are not in alignment with progressive policies and respect for all beings.

Thank you,
Samrina
