The Nevada Senate's Simulation Experience

SENATE DECORUM

- The Senate Chamber is where Senators meet, as a whole, to consider, debate and vote on matters important to Nevadans. Please treat the furnishings and furniture in the Chamber with the proper respect.
- Some Senators keep items in and on their desks during the Interim period. These are working desks for Senators who may return to Carson City on short notice. Please do not open the drawers, and if you examine items on the desks, return them where you found them at the end of the simulation.
- When in floor session, in the Chamber, Senators make their remarks through the President. When you wish to speak, it is proper to begin each speech or remark with “Thank you Mr. (or Madam) President.” If you want to address another member, you may say, “Mr. (or Madam) President, through you to my fellow Senator ...”
- Be polite and courteous to other Senators and the President. Consider what each Senator has to say during debate as what they say, may change your mind on an issue.
- Electronic devices should be in silent mode so there are no unnecessary distractions.
- Hats and other headwear are not worn in the Chamber unless there is a specific cultural and/or medical reason to do so.
