Report Overview

Occupational licensing spans many different industries and professions, impacting the lives of hundreds of thousands of Nevadans. Workers in industries spanning from accountancy to landscape architecture to private investigators require occupational licenses to work. Thus, it is imperative to present the number of employees in occupational licensing fields, descriptions of their duties, and the demand for services provided by these workers.

Nevada Revised Statutes (NR. 232.975), amended by Assembly Bill 459 from the 2021 Nevada Legislative Session, states that at the direction of the Director of the Department of Employment, Training, and Rehabilitation (DETR), the Executive Director of the Office of Workforce Innovation (OWINN) will report to the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau (LCB) on or before January 1 of each year the following:

- (a) “Statistical data based on an analysis of the number of persons within this State who are engaged in an occupation or profession that is regulated by a regulatory body in relation to the total population of this State or any geographic area within this State;”
- (b) “The demand within this State or any geographic area within this State for the types of services provided by persons within this State who are engaged in an occupation or profession that is regulated by a regulatory body; and”
- (c) “Any other factors relating to the types of services provided by persons within this State who are engaged in an occupation or profession that is regulated by a regulatory body that adversely affect public health or safety.”

This report relies on data from the occupations and professions that are regulated by the State’s Title 54 occupational licensing boards to address these requirements. The first section relies on data provided by the LCB to provide the total amount of licenses for each regulated occupation. The second section utilizes data from the Governor’s Office of Economic Development (GOED) to assess the in-demand ranking of each regulated occupation, along with other factors that influence the number of professionals that are engaged in the listed occupations. Finally, the third section analyzes worker safety with the Department of Labor’s Occupational Information Network (O*NET) to assess jobs exposed to hazardous conditions; future recommendations are also provided to clarify existing legislative requirements.

Number of Nevadans in Regulated Occupations

Table 1 presents the number of workers who are engaged in regulated occupations and professions in relation to the State population. “Board Name” refers to the name of the Title 54 Occupational Licensing Board that regulates the occupation. “Occupational License Name” refers to the license name for the regulated occupation or profession. “Total Licenses” is the latest reported number of individuals who have a license for the regulated occupation or profession. The table is sorted from the highest number of total licenses to the lowest number of licenses. “Relation to State Population Per 100,000” presents the number of individuals engaged in a certain regulated occupation or profession per 100,000 Nevadans. This calculation provides an approachable understanding as to how many workers are within each regulated occupation and profession. Census data were used for the most recent state population estimate, which was 3,210,930 people.<sup>i</sup>

Data for each licensing board featured in this table were provided by the LCB. The LCB website provides access to data from 37 of the State’s active licensing boards and is updated on a quarterly basis.<sup>ii</sup> The website provides information such as the number of disciplinary actions taken; the number of applications received, reviewed, and rejected; and the number of licenses added and removed from that quarter.

The most recent complete update to this data was obtained from the LCB on November 25, 2024.

The data in Table 1 reveals trends on the current inventory of regulated occupations and professions based on the number of total licenses and state population. First, the Real Estate board has the most licensees with 89,088 total active licenses, followed by the Cosmetology board with 75,576 total active licenses. Both the Real Estate and Cosmetology boards have the first and second occupations with the greatest number of total licenses – Real Estate Salesperson with 59,957 licenses and Cosmetologist with 2 licenses. These singular occupations contribute to the Real Estate and Cosmetology boards being first and second in the overall number of total licenses.

The occupational licensing board with the most regulated occupations and professions is the Contractors board with 176 unique types of licenses. This would make sense given the nature of the field, as there are many types of jobs within construction. The Real Estate board follows with 29 unique types of licenses and Cosmetology with 25 unique types of licenses. Of the top 25 occupations and professions with the greatest number of total licenses, 11 occupations are within a health-related board (Nursing, Pharmacy, Medical Examiners, Health, and Dental Examiners). Altogether, the health-related occupations within the top 25 of Table 1 have 139,501 licensees. Real Estate outperforms in the singular occupation category, but health also has a strong presence in the State.

Demand for Services of Regulated Occupations and Professions in Nevada

Table 2 presents multiple factors that illustrate the demand for the listed regulated occupations and professions. “Board Name” and “Occupational License Name” columns are the same occupations and professions that were presented in Table 1. “SOC Code” represents the Standard Occupational Classification code for each regulated occupation and profession. SOC codes are federally standardized and used to group workers into occupational categories, which provides data on the characteristics of each occupation.<sup>iii</sup> The regulated occupations and professions licensed may map to one or more SOC codes if the professions have similar job duties, skills, educations, or training requirements. Since most occupational licensing boards oversee very similar types of jobs, some occupations in Table 2 have the same SOC code.

The Governor’s Office of Economic Development (GOED) assisted with generating the “In-Demand Rankings” for Statewide, Southern Nevada, Northern Nevada, Northeastern Nevada, and Central Nevada. “In-Demand Rankings” were developed by GOED using several inputs, including job postings, wages, employment projections, STEM scores, Automation index, and other factors. Note that the in-demand rankings were developed using updated 2023 data. GOED’s in-demand ranking spans from 1-796, with the profession ranked as #1 (Software Developers) being the most in-demand occupation. Table 2 only displays the in-demand ranking for regulated occupations and professions, which is why there are gaps in the rankings (since Software Developers are not a regulated occupation, they are not listed in Table 2, even though it is the most in-demand occupation). Out of the regulated occupations, Registered Nurse is the most in-demand, ranking at #3 out of the 796 occupations that were analyzed in GOED’s study. Table 2 is sorted by the “Statewide In-Demand Rank” column.

The data in Table 2 reveals information on the demand for Nevada’s regulated occupations and professions. Overall, healthcare is the most in-demand sector. Registered Nurses, Emergency Medical Services Registered Nurses, Health General Supervisors, Licensed Laboratory Directors, Registered Laboratory Directors, Pulmonary Laboratory Directors, Residential Care/Assisted Living Facility Administrators, Nursing Facility Administrators, and Health Services Executives fall within the top 10 in-demand overall occupations.

Comparatively, the occupations that have the most licenses which were identified in Table 1 are not in significant demand. For example, real estate salespersons and cosmetologists had the highest number of total licenses within the state but do not rank first in the in-demand rankings. Together, Table 1 and Table 2 illustrate that the current inventory of regulated occupations and professions does not necessarily meet the State’s future demands in the healthcare sector.

Factors Related to Services from Persons Engaged in Regulated Occupations or Professions that Adversely Affect Public Health

The final requirement of this report pertains to regulated occupations or professions that adversely affect public health or safety. However, quantifying the negative externalities of the list of regulated occupations and professions in Nevada has yet to be done. This data would ideally be identified and reported by each Title 54 board. Yet that data does not currently exist. It is extremely difficult to find any data on public safety, especially on a state or local level. As a potential solution to fulfill the report requirements, Table 3 presents data on the potential danger of a job to the individual worker. Consequently, this data does not address public health and safety of the greater good as stated in the N.R.S. but does offer insight into the possible dangers of Nevada’s regulated occupations and professions.

Table 3 presents the “Exposed to Hazardous Conditions” dataset from the Occupational Information Network (O*NET), which is sponsored by the United States Department of Labor/Employment and Training Administration.<sup>iv</sup> “Context Score” refers to how often the job requires exposure to hazardous conditions. Context scores fall into the following categories: 100-76, every day; 75-51, once a week or more but not every day; 50-26, once a month or more but not every week; 25-1, once a year or more but not every month; 0, never.<sup>v</sup> “Job Zone” classifications describe how much skills or preparation is needed for the regulated occupation or profession. This measure takes three criteria into consideration when determining a job zone score: education, job training, and related experience. Job zone classifications fall into the following categories: 5, extensive preparation needed; 4 considerable preparation needed; 3, medium preparation needed; 2, some preparation needed; 1, little or no preparation needed.<sup>vi</sup> Job zone scores link the danger of a job to the requirements needed for a job. Table 3 shows both context scores and job zone classifications for each of Nevada’s regulated occupations and professions. Note that data were not available for each regulated occupation, only those that had data from O*NET are provided in Table 3.

The data in Table 3 presents the potential danger to employees within Nevada’s regulated occupations and professions. According to the O*NET classification, four regulated occupations are exposed to hazardous conditions everyday: C-6 Erecting Signs, C-2 Electrical, Apprentice Embalmer, and Embalmer. 34 regulated occupations are exposed to hazardous conditions once a week or more but not every day. 59 occupations are exposed to hazardous conditions once a month or more but not every week. 94 occupations are exposed to hazardous conditions once a year or more but not every month. 33 occupations are never exposed to hazardous conditions.

Conclusion

Occupational licensing plays an important role in delivery of goods and services in the state of Nevada. From supply and demand of a ready workforce for in-demand occupations and industry sectors to increasing labor force participation rate across the state, Nevada relies on occupational licensing to respond to these needs. The Office of Workforce Innovation works to align and bring intentionality to workforce development efforts across the state to build a stronger and more resilient workforce development system.

The data and analysis provided in this report are only as helpful as the information that is available and the legislative requirements that govern it. Obtaining the number of cumulative licenses for each board can be a cumbersome process. This report recommends that licensing data be available to the public for improved transparency and accountability. Additionally, certain licensing boards do not report their data quarterly, despite the requirement to do so. Without the cumulative data collected and provided for this report, the effectiveness and usefulness of this report is limited.

About OWINN

The Office of Workforce Innovation (OWINN) is building a Nevada that works for everyone. The OWINN team is focused on strengthening Nevada's workforce development system by helping to create a skilled, diverse, and aligned workforce in the state of Nevada by promoting cooperation and collaboration among public and private sector partnerships.
