Title: YEAR STATE BUSINESS TAX CLIMATE INDEX (Electronic Document)

Source: TAX FOUNDATION

Pages: 50+

Series: Background Paper

Subject: 1. TAXATION--BUSINESS TAX.

Notes: Report compares "the states on over 100 different variables in the five important areas of taxation (corporate taxes, individual income taxes, sales taxes, unemployment insurance taxes, and property taxes) and then adding the results up to a final, overall ranking. This approach rewards states on particularly strong aspects of their tax systems (or penalizes them on particularly weak aspects) while also measuring the general competitiveness of their overall tax systems. The result is a score that can be compared to other states' scores."

Nevada is ranked 3rd best

Title: RAPE AND SEXUAL ASSAULT VICTIMIZATION AMONG COLLEGE-AGE FEMALES, 1995-203 (Electronic Document) --2014.

Source: BUREAU OF JUSTICE STATISTICS (BJS)

Pages: 20

Subject: 1. SEX OFFENDERS. 2. SEXUAL ASSAULT.

Notes: "Compares the characteristics of rape and sexual assault victimization against females ages 18 to 24 who are enrolled and not enrolled in college. This report examines the relationship between the victim and offender, the involvement of a weapon, location of the victimization, reporting to police, perceived offender characteristics, and victim demographics. Data are from the National Crime Victimization Survey (NCVS), which collects information on nonfatal crimes, reported and not reported to the police, against persons from a nationally representative sample of U.S. households. The report also discusses methodological differences between the NCVS and other surveys that measure rape and sexual assault victimization and the impact of these difference on rape and sexual assault estimates."

Title: CLOSING THE DEGREE GAP : The West's contributions (Series) --2014.

Source: WESTERN INTERSTATE COMMISSION FOR HIGHER EDUCATION (WICHE)

Pages: 4

Subject: 1. UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES--FINANCES.

Notes: "This Policy Insight is a supplement to WICHE's annual Benchmarks indicators, which summarize the West states' progress with improving access to, success in, and financing of higher education. In this brief, we explore one variant for how WICHE states might meet projected educational attainment goals, such as the 60 percent by 2025 goal set by the Lumina Foundation. In particular, we explore what it would take for the Western region as a whole to meet this goal rather than each state individually, allowing for the possibility that some West states may achieve a higher level and for others it might not be feasible to reach 60 percent of their population having a high-quality postsecondary credential, because of substantial variation among states' current levels of educational attainment and projected population change over time."

Title: STATES ARE STILL FUNDING HIGHER EDUCATION BELOW PRE-RECESSION LEVELS (Electronic Document) --2014.

Source: CENTER ON BUDGET AND POLICY PRIORITIES

Pages: 27

Subject: 1. EDUCATION--FINANCES. 2. UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES--FINANCES.

Notes: "Most states have begun in the past year to restore some of the cuts they made to higher education funding after the recession hit. Eight states, though, are still cutting, and in almost all states—including those that are have boosted their support—higher education funding remains well below pre-recession levels. The large funding cuts have led to both steep tuition increases and spending cuts that may diminish the quality of education available to students at a time when a highly educated workforce is more crucial than ever to the nation's economic future."

Title: EVIDENCE-BASED POLICYMAKING : A guide for effective government (Electronic Document) --2014.

Source: PEW CHARITABLE TRUSTS

JOHN D. AND CATHERINE T. MACARTHUR FOUNDATION

Pages: 30

Subject: 1. GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION.

Notes: "Governments make budget and policy choices each year that have long-term effects on both their fiscal futures and the outcomes they deliver for constituents. Recognition is growing that policymakers can achieve substantially better results by using rigorous evidence to inform these decisions, enabling governments to select, fund, and operate public programs more strategically. Until now, however, no comprehensive road map has provided clear guidance on using this approach. To fill this gap, the Pew-MacArthur Results First Initiative has developed a framework that governments can follow to build and support a system of evidence-based policymaking. Based on an extensive review of research and in-depth interviews with government officials, practitioners, and academic experts, the framework identifies steps that both the executive and legislative branches can take to drive the development, funding, implementation, and monitoring of policies and programs. The framework has five key components, each with multiple steps that enable governments to make better choices through evidence-based policymaking: (1) program assessment, (2) budget development, (3) implementation oversight, (4) outcome monitoring, and (5) targeted evaluation."

Title: THE EXPANDED STATE OF MEDICAID IN THE UNITED STATES : Private Medicaid health plans crossing the tipping point (Electronic Document) --2014.

Source: PRICEWATERHOUSECOOPERS

Pages: 19

Subject: 1. MEDICAID.

Notes: "With the continued implementation of the Affordable Care Act, Medicaid, the government sponsored coverage for the low income and disabled, has generated broad interest and visibility as a core element of our national health ecosystem. Coupled with a historic increase in Medicaid enrollment through expansion, the continuing arc towards private managed care health plans has broad implications for the American population, providers, health plans, and government finances. This paper, a follow-up to 2013's 'The State of Medicaid in the United States,' seeks to update the comprehensive view of Medicaid composition, assess the impacts of Medicaid expansion – and the opportunity should states choose to expand Medicaid eligibility, and proffer some key takeaways for health plans, policy makers, and others."

Pages: 40+

Subject: 1. HOUSING.

Notes: "In the worst housing construction cycle since the 1940s ... depressed demand is making it difficult for the market to work off excess vacant units. Restoring demand to more normal levels will take time since so many owners are in financial distress or trapped in homes worth less than their mortgages. The recession has also dampened both immigration and new household formation. But once new home sales rebound and the economy begins to pick up, the aging of the echo boomers—the largest generation to reach adulthood in the nation's history—should reinvigorate the housing market."
