Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires the Peace Officers' Standards and Training Commission to adopt regulations establishing minimum standards for the certification and decertification, recruitment, selection and training of peace officers. (NRS 289.510)

Existing regulations require a peace officer to satisfy certain requirements annually in order to maintain a basic certificate or reserve certificate, including the completion of in-service training. In addition to such in-service training, a peace officer who is authorized to use a firearm is required, at least biannually, to demonstrate a minimum level of proficiency in the use of each firearm he or she is authorized to use. (NAC 289.230) Section 1 of this regulation instead requires a peace officer to demonstrate a minimum level of proficiency in the use of each type of firearm he or she is authorized to use. Existing regulations require a peace officer who does not serve as a peace officer for a certain period, depending on the reason therefor, to satisfy certain requirements before resuming his or her duties as a peace officer. (NAC 289.230) Section 1 also requires a peace officer who is hired, rehired or reinstated on or after July 1 of a reporting year to satisfy such requirements.

Existing regulations establish provisions relating to the certification of courses for training above the level of basic training. (NAC 289.310) Section 2 of this regulation makes various changes regarding the certification of such courses.
