A REGULATION relating to court reporting; revising the provisions governing the application process for the examination administered by the Certified Court Reporters' Board of Nevada for a designated representative of a court reporting firm; revising the procedure for certifying and providing notice of the results of that examination; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law authorizes the Certified Court Reporters' Board of Nevada to adopt necessary regulations to carry out certain statutory duties. (NRS 656.130, 656.186) Existing law requires a court reporting firm to appoint a natural person affiliated with the firm to act as the designated representative for the firm. The designated representative must: (1) hold a certified court reporter's certificate issued by the Board; or (2) pass an examination administered by the Board. (NRS 656.186) Section 1 of this regulation: (1) provides for a deadline for the submission of an application for such an examination; (2) establishes certain requirements for the contents of such an application; (3) prescribes the manner in which the Board will inform an applicant of the approval or rejection of his or her application; and (4) requires the refunding of the examination fee or its application to a future examination under certain circumstances. Section 2 of this regulation revises the deadline and manner by which the Board certifies the results of an examination and notifies applicants of those results. The procedures set forth in this regulation are modeled on the procedures in existing regulation used by the Board for an application for a court reporter's certificate. (NAC 656.100, 656.150)
