

Digest for Adopted Regulation R_067-13

Existing regulations require an insurance company which issues an automobile policy on certain risks to imprint, stamp or place a sticker on the face of the policy in red 14-point type or larger wording describing certain limitations of the policy. (NAC 690B.310)

This regulation instead requires the insurance company to include such notice of limitations in a prominently displayed notice on the declarations page when the policy is issued.