Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27—Memorializing eminent educator and coach Bud Beasley.

WHEREAS, The members of the Nevada Legislature note with profound sorrow the passing of eminent educator and coach Bud Beasley on July 17, 2004, at the age of 93; and

WHEREAS, Born December 8, 1910, in Melrose, New Mexico, and raised in Santa Cruz, California, Bud Beasley became a star athlete at Santa Cruz High School and was encouraged by his football coach, former Nevada All-American James "Rabbit" Bradshaw, to attend the University of Nevada, Reno; and

WHEREAS, Bud Beasley began his career as an educator in 1934 as a student teacher, and he has received commendations from four Presidents of the United States and two Nevada Governors, been named Phi Delta Kappa Nevada Teacher of the Year and been recognized by the Nevada-California-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International as Educator of the Year; and

WHEREAS, Bud Beasley taught over 11,000 students in his 70-year career as a coach and educator, mentoring future judges, coaches, businessmen, legislators, attorneys, doctors, athletes and educators, many of whom say he was one of the biggest influences in their lives; and

WHEREAS, State Senator William Raggio, Reno High School class of 1944, indicated that Bud Beasley was an inspiring man who stood for integrity and what was right and that he will be missed; and

WHEREAS, Known for his good humor, dynamic storytelling and genuine affection for his students, Bud Beasley loved children and loved to teach, with a special knack for those students who were in difficult circumstances, and his positive outlook on life motivated many students who may have given up on their education were it not for his influence; and

WHEREAS, After leaving Reno High School in 1974, Bud Beasley taught adaptive physical education to children with special needs at several schools and taught history and American government at Washoe High School, an alternative school with mostly at-risk students, where one of his students recalled that if a student did not know the answer to a question on the daily quiz, he could write in "The cardinal sin of mankind is ignorance" and get full credit, which only served to further motivate them to learn; and

WHEREAS, While an outstanding athlete and coach in many sports, Bud Beasley had a special sparkle in his eyes when he talked about baseball, having pitched professionally for the Sacramento Solons and the Seattle Pilots of the Pacific Coast League during his summers off from teaching, and was especially known for reciting his version of the classic poem "Casey at the Bat" at speaking engagements; and

WHEREAS, Having followed the careers of many of his students, collecting vast amounts of news clippings over the years, even sending a constant stream of letters to his former students overseas in World War II, Bud Beasley attended every class reunion and cofounded the Reno High School Alumni Association, in part to keep track of his beloved students by maintaining a database with up-to-date information on them and in part to enhance the recognition of Reno High School and to provide scholarships for its students; and

WHEREAS, When Reno High School was moved from its old building to a new one in 1951, Bud Beasley saw precious memorabilia being tossed away, motivating him to begin plans to preserve Reno High history in what is now the Link Piazza Alumni Center, named after a former student of Bud Beasley and built on the Reno High campus, a virtual museum filled with Re-Wa-Ne yearbooks dating from 1906, band uniforms from 1950, a letter sweater from 1921, a diploma from 1905, class rings and trophies and, the pride and joy of the Association, the bell from the building that housed Reno High School in 1879; and

WHEREAS, Having coached the Reno Huskies and taught at Reno High School for 38 years, Bud L. Beasley Athletic Complex was named in honor of his dedication to his students and of the inspiration he gave to the many athletes he coached over the years; and

WHEREAS, The entryway of Bud Beasley Elementary School in Sparks bears a dedication plaque which quotes the school's namesake "May this school become not a shrine to me, but an opportunity for all who enter herein," echoing his selfless philosophy of serving the children of Nevada; and

WHEREAS, Bud Beasley and his wife of 67 years, Nellie, cared for dozens of foster children through the years and adopted 17 children; and

WHEREAS, Bud Beasley is survived by his beloved wife Nellie and his brother Oral "Tex" Beasley of Pacific Grove, California; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That Bud Beasley will long be remembered and greatly missed by his many thousands of students as a teacher and coach who truly cared about them and their futures; and be it further

RESOLVED, That Bud Beasley set the standard that all educators and coaches should strive to meet; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Senate prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Bud's loving wife Nellie and to his brother Tex.

Senator Raggio moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Senator Raggio.

Senator Raggio requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

I appreciate the Senate pausing today to honor the memory of Bud Beasley. We adopt many resolutions throughout our legislative careers, but I do not think there has been anyone more worthy of this recognition than Bud Beasley.

The other day we honored the Kiwanis Club on the floor of the Senate. Bud Beasley was greatly missed during that occasion. He had always come to that event. Bud lived the Kiwanians' creed and gave everything he did his fullest.

I believe Bud Beasley taught longer than any other teacher in this State. He spent 70 years as an active teacher. In 1934, he began his career as a student teacher. We were fortunate that Bud Beasley chose to come to Nevada. He was born in New Mexico and grew up in Santa Cruz. He was a natural athlete. He excelled in sports. The University of Nevada had a famous athlete, James "Rabbit" Bradshaw who was the first All-American to play football at the University. Bud was a star athlete at Santa Cruz High School and his football coach, who was James "Rabbit" Bradshaw, suggested he come to the University of Nevada. In the 1930s, Nevada was a small school, but he chose to come here, and we are all the better for his decision.

In his 70-year career as a teacher, he taught over 11,000 students. I was one. There are so many in the State to whom he was a mentor. People throughout Nevada have achieved in business and politics because of what they learned from Bud Beasley.

He and his wife of 60 years, Nellie, kept track of all of his students. I do not know how they did that. If your name was in the paper or you accomplished something or even if you did something wrong, you would get a note or a phone call. You always knew who it was because he had a growly voice.

He had a wonderful sense of humor. He always had a smile on his face even through adversity. In his athletic career, he could do anything. He was a football coach at Reno High School during the years when Reno was about the only school in the State. There was Sparks High School, Las Vegas High School and Carson High School at that time and not too many others. Herb Foster was Athletic Director at Reno High, and Bud was the football coach. Bud later became the Athletic Director. He also played professional baseball. He played in the Pacific Coast League as a pitcher for the Sacramento team. I remember watching him during a game. He had the most screwball windup I had ever seen. It was amazing to watch. He was a loveable character and was someone who inspired thousands of young people throughout this State.

In later years, whenever there was a Reno High School class reunion, Bud Beasley was there and the surprising thing was that he knew almost everyone who came. It did not matter whether they had been at school 50 years ago or 10 years ago. Everyone was always overjoyed that he would come to the reunion.

Nellie and Bud took on children of their own. They adopted 11 foster children. In addition to everything else he did, while raising these 11 children, he was teaching, mentoring and being active in all kinds of community endeavors and a leader.

I ask the Senate to join with me today in memorializing Bud Beasley who died July 17, 2004, at the age of 93. He was active to the end of his life cramming so much into one lifetime. He has a place up above where I am certain he is arguing, cajoling, laughing and playing baseball, and pitching that screwball. He did so much for so many of the young people in this State.

Resolution adopted.

Senator Raggio moved that all rules be suspended and that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27 be immediately transmitted to the Assembly.

Motion carried unanimously.

WHEREAS, Each year, neglected maintenance of motor vehicles leads to more than 2,600 deaths, nearly 100,000 disabling injuries and more than $2 billion in lost wages, medical expenses and property damage; and

WHEREAS, In its long history of service to its members, the Association established the Multiple Employer Welfare Association in the mid-1980s to provide its members a self-insured, affordable medical and dental insurance package and established an Automotive Parts Association Federal Credit Union, which offers its member employees and families a member-owned financial institution; and

WHEREAS, The Association has also been committed to innovative and aggressive public affairs activities, including sponsorship of legislation to eliminate unnecessary state regulation of auto parts distributorships with affiliated machine shops and legislation to guarantee motorists the right to choose independent motor vehicle repair options in this State; and

WHEREAS, Activities celebrating this momentous anniversary of the Association will occur throughout the 2005 calendar year, culminating with the annual meeting during Industry Week in November 2005 in Las Vegas, to serve as a reminder of the valuable benefits that the Association provides to its members, public policymakers and motorists in this State and of the Association's service to the industry; and

WHEREAS, The Association continues today as one of the nation's premiere automotive parts trade associations; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature takes great pride in commending the members and leadership of the California/Nevada Automotive Wholesalers' Association on its distinguished history and exemplary record of service to the people of the State of Nevada; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Nevada Legislature applauds the California/Nevada Automotive Wholesalers' Association for its advocacy on behalf of the automotive aftermarket industry and motorists in general and extends best wishes for continued success in its next 50 years; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Senate prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to the California/Nevada Automotive Wholesalers' Association.

Senator Heck moved the adoption of the amendment.

Remarks by Senators Heck, Carlton, Care, Horsford and Amodei.

Senator Care requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

I do not recall any discussion of marijuana in committee in reference to this bill. The focus of the bill requested by the Attorney General is "meth" labs. Everyone would agree these labs are extremely dangerous. One of the handouts at the committee hearing was an article from the Las Vegas Review-Journal dated April 15, 2005. The article stated, " 'As many as 15 children might have been exposed to dangerous chemicals at a Las Vegas day-care center where a "meth" lab was discovered this week,' the U.S. Marshal Service said, last Thursday. 'This is a nightmare,' said the woman in a Thursday evening interview at her home. 'I have never done anything wrong in my life.' "

I am opposed to the decriminalization of marijuana. I always have been. I appreciate the good Senator's concern. I do not take lightly the war on drugs, but I do want to point out that if the amendment is adopted, the bill says it is illegal for someone to conduct certain activities in the presence of a child, but the person conducting the activity can be a child as well. I would like to point out that with the adoption of this amendment it means if a 17-year-old invites a couple of 17-year-olds to his house and one of them foolishly lights up, then, they can be arrested for a class B felony. I do not equate that with the seriousness of a "meth" lab. I am opposed to the decriminalization of marijuana, but I think the adoption of this amendment will have unintended consequences of getting the wrong people arrested for class B felonies when there is another way to go about this.

Amendment adopted.
