AN ACT relating to child welfare; revising provisions concerning required requests for the credit report of a child in the custody of an agency which provides child welfare services; revising provisions concerning missing and runaway children; requiring an agency which provides child welfare services that receives information concerning a missing child in the custody of the agency to report such information to a law enforcement agency; requiring the Division of Child and Family Services of the Department of Health and Human Services to adopt certain procedures concerning children who have run away from a foster home; revising requirements concerning permanency hearings; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel’s Digest:

Existing federal law that becomes effective on September 29, 2015, requires each child in foster care under the responsibility of the State who is at least 14 years of age to receive a copy of his or her credit report each year until the child is discharged from care. (Preventing Sex Trafficking and Strengthening Families Act, Pub. L. No. 113-183, § 113) Section 1 of this bill lowers the age of a child for whom an agency which provides child welfare services is required to obtain a credit report under state law from 16 years of age to 14 years of age to conform to this federal requirement.

Existing state law requires a law enforcement agency to request certain identifying information from the parent or guardian of a missing child who is less than 16 years of age or has not been located within 30 days after being reported missing. (NRS 432.200) Existing law also requires a law enforcement agency that receives and verifies a report of a missing child, other than a child who has run away, to immediately transmit the report to the program established by the Attorney General to coordinate activities and information in this State concerning missing or exploited children. (NRS 432.205) Sections 2 and 3 of this bill instead require a law enforcement agency to request such information and transmit such a report for any child who has been reported missing.

Existing federal law requires a state agency that receives information concerning a missing or abducted child who has been placed in the custody of the agency to report the information immediately to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children and the National Crime Information Center database established by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. (Preventing Sex Trafficking and Strengthening Families Act, Pub. L. No. 113-183, § 104) Section 4 of this bill includes this requirement in state law.

Existing federal law requires a state to develop and carry out specific protocols concerning children who have run away from foster care in order to receive certain federal funds. (42 U.S.C. § 671(a)(35)) Section 5 of this bill requires the Division of Child and Family Services of the Department of Health and Human Services to adopt regulations to implement such protocols.

Existing federal law that becomes effective on September 29, 2015, prohibits the placement of a child who is under 16 years of age in a permanent placement other than with the parent of the child, the adoption of the child or referral of the child for legal guardianship. (Preventing Sex Trafficking and Strengthening Families Act, Pub. L. No. 113-183, § 112) Section 6 of this bill authorizes an agency which provides child welfare services that has custody of a child who is 16 years of age or older to present evidence at a permanency hearing that there is a compelling reason for placing such a child in a different permanent living arrangement.

Existing federal law requires a judge at a permanency hearing to: (1) ask the child about his or her desired permanency outcome; (2) if the judge determines that another permanency outcome is better for the child, to explain why; and (3) if the judge determines that it is not in the best interests of the child to return home, be placed for adoption or be placed with a legal guardian or relative, provide compelling reasons for that determination. (42 U.S.C. § 675a(a)(2)) Existing state law requires a judge at a permanency hearing to prepare an explicit statement of the facts upon which he or she based his or her determination regarding the best interests of the child. Section 6 revises this requirement to meet the federal requirements.
