

THE TWENTY-SIXTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Friday), March 3, 2017

Assembly called to order at 11:41 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Ellison and McCurdy, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Father Chuck Durante.

Let us pray.

God of all goodness, as we pray today we lift up all women, especially those marginalized, abused, or living in abject poverty. You call all of us to be people of justice and love. May all people respect the equal dignity of women. Guide all leaders throughout the world, whether of homes, corporations, or countries, to make changes that respect and uphold that dignity, so to bring true and lasting change for all women.

And as we move toward the close of this week, look with favor on our Nevada Assembly and their good staff. Mercifully pour out upon them the spirit of your wisdom, that they may decide everything for the well-being and peace of all and may never turn aside from your will.

We make this prayer as your holy and humble people.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblywoman Benitez-Thompson moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Motion carried.

Similarly, the bill establishes a procedure for appointing a justice of the peace or municipal judge, as appropriate, to hear and make a determination concerning the justice or judge against whom an affidavit alleging bias or prejudice has been filed.

This measure also requires the selection of a chief justice of the peace in townships with more than one justice of the peace, and a chief municipal judge in cities with more than one municipal judge, who will serve as the presiding justice or judge, respectively, and have duties similar to a chief judge of a judicial district.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Assembly Bill No. 184.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblyman Ohrenschall.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Assembly Bill 184 provides that a motion to withdraw a plea of guilty, guilty but mentally ill, or nolo contendere that is made after sentence is imposed or imposition of sentence is suspended is a remedy that is incident to the proceedings in the trial court. The bill applies to such pleas pending on or after June 12, 2014.

Assembly Bill 184 seeks to clarify that the motion to withdraw a guilty plea to correct a manifest injustice is still a remedy that will be available to persons who were not adequately represented when they took a plea. Many of these people have moved on in their lives and have finished whatever orders the court had given them, but at the time they took a plea, either they might not have had an attorney appointed or the attorney who was appointed for them did not give them the proper advice. They have suffered collateral consequences such as losing a potential career in law enforcement or the right to own a firearm, that shock the conscience and are considered a manifest injustice.

There was no opposition in your Judiciary Committee, Mr. Speaker, and this came out unanimously. This is an extraordinary remedy meant to correct the limited number of situations where someone really was done wrong by the justice system and, unfortunately, probably by their attorney.

Roll call on Assembly Bill No. 184:

YEAS—39.

NAYS—McArthur.

EXCUSED—Ellison, McCurdy.

Assembly Bill No. 184 having received a constitutional majority, Mr. Speaker declared it passed.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Assembly Bill No. 219.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblymen Fumo and Swank.

Potential conflict of interest declared by Assemblywoman Swank.

ASSEMBLYMAN FUMO:

Assembly Bill 219 revises the boundaries of a gaming enterprise district known as the Las Vegas Boulevard gaming corridor to remove the area commonly known as the Beverly Green residential neighborhood. The designation of this area as a gaming enterprise district expires on October 1, 2017.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SWANK:

Many of you know that I am passionate about historic preservation. I have sponsored Assembly Bill 219 as a result of the historic preservation plan that was in place when I moved into my current neighborhood. I spoke with the Legislative Counsel concerning whether there was any conflict of interest in my sponsoring this legislation and participating in the debate over its passage. I was assured that I would not have a conflict of interest under Assembly Standing Rule No. 23 if I would not be affected differently than other owners of homes in the affected area. However, for the sake of transparency, I would like to inform this body that I own a home in the area that is being removed from the boundaries of the Las Vegas Boulevard gaming corridor by Assembly Bill 219. My husband and I also own two other properties in the Beverly Green neighborhood, but the provisions of the bill do not include those properties.

This bill will not affect me any differently than the other owners of homes in the area being removed from the corridor. Therefore, the independence of judgment of a reasonable person in my position would not be materially affected by my interest. Thus, I am not required under Rule No. 23 to make a disclosure and will be voting on this bill.

Roll call on Assembly Bill No. 219:

YEAS—40.

NAYS—None.

EXCUSED—Ellison, McCurdy.

Assembly Bill No. 219 having received a constitutional majority, Mr. Speaker declared it passed.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblywoman Carlton requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SPRINKLE:

Defeating cancer is as much a matter of public policy as scientific discovery. Lawmakers play a critical role in determining how much progress we make as a country in defeating cancer. The American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network [ASC CAN] gives a voice to those impacted by cancer as they encourage lawmakers at all levels of government to join the fight to make cancer a national priority. By raising issues of importance, raising funds, educating voters, and rallying others to the fight against cancer, the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network unites and empowers you to make a difference and help save lives.

The American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network is the advocacy affiliate of the American Cancer Society [ACS]. Together, the ACS CAN and ACS work to save lives and diminish the suffering cancer causes.

Today is Cancer Awareness Day at the capital, and volunteer cancer advocates from around the state are meeting with their lawmakers to ask for their support on critical cancer and public health policies.

ASSEMBLYMAN WATKINS:

Today is National Colon Cancer Awareness Day, and on each of your desks you will find a blue pin, which is the color for colon cancer awareness. I hope that you will join me in wearing that pin today to help raise awareness for colorectal cancer. As part of that awareness, I would like to share a couple of things with you. First, there is a troubling study from the American Cancer Society that was published on Monday which found that colorectal cancer is no longer an illness that plagues only the elderly. In fact, they found that three in ten cases now occur among people aged 55 and younger. I know there are some members of the body that are pleased to hear that 55 and younger is young, and I was too. This study further found that people born around 1990 have double the risk of colon cancer and quadruple the risk of rectal cancer compared to people born in 1950. Screening is the key. If you have any family history of colorectal cancer, you should be screened by age 40; if not, no later than 50.

I think this is a good time to talk about the other pin I wear every day. This is our Battle Born pin, and I wear it in honor of my best friend, my business partner, and my personal hero, Troy Atkinson. Troy was born on August 1, 1977, in Las Vegas. He was a 1995 graduate of Western High School, a 2001 graduate of UNLV, and a 2004 graduate of University of San Diego School of Law. He was licensed to practice law that same year.

Troy was a brilliant practitioner and a brilliant man. I was fortunate to be partnered with him as we formed our firm in 2010. We named it Battle Born because we were both born in this state and we love it; our firm was our family. I would be remiss if I failed to mention that people tolerated working for me so they would get the chance to work with him. He was simply a joy to be around. In a rarity for a lawyer, Troy did not judge or criticize. He celebrated everyone for who they were, and he was universally beloved by his friends, family, colleagues, and his opponents.

On May 3, 2010, Troy was diagnosed with colon cancer, an illness he fought with such grit, determination, and bravery that he inspired everyone else around him. Troy passed away on December 28 of this past year. He was 39. Troy would be pleased if today's story inspired anyone in this room or anyone listening at home to get screened. If you previously thought that this was an illness for somebody older than 40, think again. Please go get screened.

I am very proud to be able to talk about my friend today and I appreciate everyone's indulgence in letting me do so. I am also pleased to remember that for part of election night, I was able to sit in the hospital room with Troy as the results came in and he saw me get elected to this body. He was quite excited for me, and that is part of the reason I wear this pin every day. I certainly would not be here without his love and support over all these years. That is why today, I donated my legislative salary to Stand Up to Cancer. Stand Up to Cancer is an organization that contributes money toward research and finding solutions to all the very different cancers that plague us. I am sure everyone in this room has been touched by some story of cancer.

I would like to close with a quote that Troy found particularly inspiring as he sat in his chair getting his chemotherapy. It is from Stuart Scott, an ESPN commentator who also passed away from cancer. "When you die, it does not mean that you lose to cancer. You beat cancer by how you live, why you live, and the manner in which you live."

ASSEMBLYWOMAN COHEN:

I rise today to honor Cancer Awareness Day at the Legislature and to honor my sister Aileen Cohen. During the 2013 Session, my sister was diagnosed with breast cancer and underwent a bilateral mastectomy and chemotherapy. My sister was fortunate enough to have quality health insurance under the current health care system at the time of her diagnosis and treatment. She was able to fight off the cancer, and I am happy to say she has been disease-free for the past four years.

I would also like to say that without our current health insurance system, my sister and our mother and our first cousin and our second cousin, because this runs in our family, could have been dropped from their health insurance. They would have had to live without treatment, and my sister in particular would not be sitting here today and could have been saddled with mounds of debt.

With the uncertainty in the federal level at this time, especially regarding insurance, I am urging our congressional representatives to do everything they can do to stop the repeal of our health insurance system. I am also urging my colleagues in the Assembly, for the sake of our families here in Nevada, to consider supporting legislation that will ensure that Nevadans can continue to get the affordable, quality health care we need, regardless of what the federal government does.

Assemblywoman Joiner requested that the following proclamation be entered in the Journal.

YVANNA CANCELA
Nevada State Senator

NICOLE CANNIZZARO
Nevada State Senator

ASSEMBLYWOMAN JOINER:

Some of you may have seen on your calendar that today is Speech and Debate Day at the Legislature. In honor of that, I have two Senators with me, Senator Cancela and Senator Cannizzaro. The Senate was not in session today, so with their help I would like to read a proclamation that we have both on the Assembly side and what would have also been on the Senate side.

In honor of this proclamation, we have a lot of guests here in the audience. First of all we have Dr. Jacob Thompson, who is the UNLV Speech and Debate coach, and we have some of his students here from UNLV. We also invited the UNR team but they are out at a debate tournament. They are out doing the good work that we are celebrating here today. We also have a lot of high school students, high school coaches, some middle schoolers perhaps.

One of the reasons we are celebrating this today is because many of us as legislators have been speech and debate participants. I was and it was a really formative part of my life, and I know the Senators were also and that is why they are here today.

Assemblywoman Benitez-Thompson requested that the following proclamation be entered in the Journal.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Sue Vaughn was born in Riverton, Wyoming, and lived throughout the country during her childhood as her family followed her father's business career; and PROCLAIMED, That Sue Vaughn is entitled to our esteem, our congratulations, and our best wishes for a long, healthy, and prosperous retirement.

DATED this 3rd day of March, 2017.

TERESA BENITEZ-THOMPSON
Majority Floor Leader
Nevada State Assemblywoman

AMBER JOINER
Nevada State Assemblywoman

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BENITEZ-THOMPSON:

As part of Speech and Debate Day, I have a guest with me here. This is Mrs. Sue Vaughn. I refer to her as Mrs. Vaughn because she was my debate coach through high school at McQueen; I was a Lancer as was my colleague from Assembly District 24. Mrs. Vaughn was so much more than a coach. She was one of those teachers who came into my life and absolutely set me on a different trajectory and path. But for this woman standing next to me, I do not know that I really would have made it out of high school. I do not know that I would have made it to college. I certainly know that I would never have believed I was capable of very much. For kids coming from backgrounds like mine where things may have been a little disorganized at home, it really mattered to have a teacher who was paying attention to what you were doing and to have a person that really believed in you. She is going to be retiring soon so I have a proclamation honoring her.

ASSEMBLYMAN YEAGER:

I would like to introduce two student doctors, Graham Lambert and Charles Cullison. They are medical students at Touro University, Nevada in Henderson and are both members of the United States military. They flew up here last night to present research they did on Assembly Bill 135, which we heard this morning in the Judiciary Committee. I think I can speak for the other members of the committee when I say they did a fantastic job. They were very prepared. So as Nevada residents, members of the military, and future doctors, we can certainly be proud.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN TOLLES:

I am very excited to introduce my colleagues at the National Judicial College [NJC]. To my right is Katheryn Yetter, the Academic Director at the National Judicial College, where she oversees the core tuition-based curriculum for judges. She has been with the NJC since 2012.

William Brunson is the Director of Special Projects, where he oversees the custom courses in international programming. He has been with the NJC since 1992.

I am very pleased to introduce my teaching partner, Joseph Sawyer. We teach collaborative decision making to Supreme Court Justices and to appellate court judges. He is the Director of Technology and Distance Learning and when he oversees the web-based programs for judges, he also teaches classes on implicit bias. He has been with the NJC since 1982.

These three individuals share over 75 years of combined experience in the field of judicial education and contribute to NJC's educational outreach to more than 7,000 judges each year. The National Judicial College is the only institution of its kind in the country and brings judges from all around the world to the great state of Nevada for top tier judicial education programs.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SWANK:

I want to introduce everyone to my fabulous intern. This is Lynn Sartre. She is a double major in prelaw and biochemistry. That in and of itself is pretty impressive. She will be graduating from UNR this spring, and this fall she will be starting at the William and Mary Law School. She hopes to be a very successful lawyer and maybe come back here and run for office. She is in my office every Friday, so feel free to come by any time and say hi.
