The Governor delivered his message as follows:

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR TO THE FIFTIETH LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA

CARSON CITY, January 19, 1960.

Legislators, Friends and Fellow Citizens:

In compliance with the State Budget Act, I submit herewith, for the consideration of the 50th Session of the Nevada Legislature, the Executive Budget for the State of Nevada for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1960, and ending June 30, 1961.

The Executive Budget contemplates an expenditure of $74,009,624 from all budgeted treasury funds. This represents an increase of $3,065,710, or 4.3 percent, from the $70,943,914 authorized for 1959–1960 purposes.

The Executive Budget is divided as follows:

		Percent of Total
General Fund	$32,433,902	43.8
Highway Fund (includes federal subventions)	29,915,600	40.4
Employment Security Fund	1,508,472	2.0
Fish and Game Fund	1,407,405	1.9
All other (includes federal subventions)	8,744,245	11.9
Total	$74,009,624	100.0

GENERAL FUND OPERATING BUDGET

I recommend a General Fund operating budget of $29,442,505 for 1960–1961. Fifty-two percent, or $15,357,038, is for Aid to Public Schools. This means that the total General Fund operating budget, exclusive of School Aid, is $14,085,467. This is an increase of less than 9 percent over the appropriation for the same activities in 1959–1960 and is an increase of less than 1 percent over the total operating budget for 1959–1960, exclusive of School Aid. These figures can be compared in a variety of ways and we have done this in Table No. 3.

Educational functions have made sizable demands upon the General Fund. In addition to School Aid we must support the University of Nevada, the various programs of the Department of Education, Library, Museum and Historical Society. I am recommending over $20.8 million of General Fund money for these purposes next year, or more than 70 percent of the General Fund operating budget. As noted, I recommend over $15.3 million for School Aid, which includes continuation of the "Emergency" School Aid program, but as a part of the regular distribution formula.

Nearly every General Fund agency budget has been sharply reduced from the amount requested and some have been reduced from the 1959–1960 level. I have placed the utmost importance on developing an operating budget which is as close as possible to being balanced with current revenues and at the same time realistically meeting our needs. In view of the additional $4.4 million needed from the General Fund for School Aid, plus the needed additional services caused by increasing population, I believe that you will agree that I faced a sizable task and you will understand why I am happy to present to you an operating budget that requires only $442,505 from the reserve.

As you will note in the attached tables, our balance or reserve as of July 1, 1959 was $9,509,511. I am happy to report that our estimated reserve at the end of the current fiscal year, that is on July 1, 1960, will be $13,668.113. My recommendations contained here, if followed, will leave us with a balance of over 10 million dollars at the end of fiscal year 1960–1961.

I do not recommend new taxes nor increased rates on present tax sources. I believe that consideration of tax adjustments is inappropriate until completion of the fiscal affairs study presently being conducted by the Legislative Commission. Further, I recommend against a reduction of the surplus below approximately $10 million. It is obvious that, even with the most careful planning, necessary expenditures will exceed current revenues for the next few years. Reductions in the surplus should be well reasoned and these reserves should be safeguarded to insure that a tax increase will not have to be enacted until, and unless, absolutely necessary.

Every effort has been made to present a realistic budget and every consideration has been given to economy while attempting to meet the needs of our people. I have not endangered the soundness of our finances and I'm certain that the Nevada Legislature will exercise equal caution. I recommend adoption of the Executive Budget as presented and urge that neither reductions nor increases be made without adequate deliberation.

Yesterday you convened in the first annual session in the history of our State. This was as a result of a regularly adopted amendment to the Nevada Constitution which provides for annual regular sessions of the Legislature.

By the article of our Constitution establishing the Executive Department of government, it is made the duty of the Governor "to communicate by message to the Legislature, at every regular session, the condition of the State and recommend such measures as he may deem expedient." Under the amended Constitution, therefore, these duties must be fulfilled annually.

With further reference to the amendment providing for annual, regular sessions, it is a matter of record that its adoption was passed by a great majority of the citizen voters in our State, the vote on the measure in 1958 being 36,634 for, 24,919 against. The question as to whether or not the voters actually intended a regular, unlimited, annual session has been before us dramatically, however, within the last few months. We are all aware that petitions calling for an amendment back to biennial sessions have been circulated within the State, signed by a substantial number of people and presented to the Secretary of State.

It is not our prerogative to assume that the Constitution does not mean what it says—nor may we speculate that the voters did not understand its meaning when casting their respective votes. It is, however, my duty as Governor and yours as legislators to make practical application of our Constitution and laws to the end that the best interests of our State will be served. It is also my duty to recommend and yours to consider changes in our laws or propose amendments to our Constitution when deemed necessary. Without questioning then the constitutional provision that provides for annual sessions, it becomes our mutual obligation to analyze this portion of our Constitution along with all of the rest of our Constitution and laws. It is a matter of concern to you as to how you might make practical application of the new amendment in this your first annual session.

I have been most interested in your individual views with respect to a time or subject matter limitation in this session so that I might keep my proposals within the framework of your desires. In this connection, I have talked with all or nearly all of you. It is my impression that the great majority of you take the view that there are many advantages to an annual session—the principal one being more effective control over fiscal matters by an annual consideration of the budget. It is a matter of record that it has been deemed necessary to call special sessions each even numbered year beginning with 1954. It becomes apparent, therefore, that other matters, in the fast changing picture of the fastest growing State, need more attention than can be provided each two years. It is also my impression, however, that most of you do not feel than annual 60-day sessions are required or are even desirable and hope to limit your considerations at this session to fiscal affairs, matters contained in this message, reports of interim study groups, matters proposed by your Legislative Commission and only such other matters as are deemed of the utmost urgency. I wholeheartedly agree.

I have had 177 conferences with Boards and Commissions since I saw you last plus countless meetings with department and commission heads. In most instances, desirable legislation was proposed in order to streamline and effect economies in our affairs. Needless to say, therefore, we have developed what we feel to be a comprehensive legislative program. In the spirit of expediting this session, however, I shall propose in this message only those measures which I feel might have necessitated the calling of a special session or matters which are so urgent that I feel they should not wait until 1961. In the event that you should determine that a full 60-day session is in the best public interest and will so advise me, I shall supplement the proposals to follow with a complete legislative program.

EVEN-NUMBERED YEAR LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Within the last few days, the Supreme Court of Nevada has determined that the initiative petition calling for biennial sessions is properly before this session of the Legislature. This petition has precedence over all other matters except appropriation bills and if you intend to act upon it, you must do so within 40 days. If the initiative petition is acted upon affirmatively by you within 40 days and signed by me, the Constitution is then amended and nothing further need be done. If you reject the petition or fail to act upon it within 40 days, the question then goes on the ballot at the general election this year.

The Legislature and the Governor are now in a position to undo what the voters did a little more than a year ago by a majority of 11,715 votes. Without arguing the merits of the law as enunciated by the Supreme Court respecting the means by which the most sacred document in our body of laws, the Constitution, may be amended, we must consider whether or not the voter is to have the ultimate decision in this most important matter. We know that in order to amend the Constitution of the United States, ratification is required by three-fourths of the states of the Union. Congress and the President cannot do it. There is much to be said for that philosophy which holds that legislators enact and change laws, but only the people may change the Constitution.

If you act upon the petition and reject it, you may, with my approval, propose a different measure on the same subject in which event both measures shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to the qualified electors for approval or rejection at the next general election. I might observe here that in order to propose an alternative measure, you should vote upon and reject the initiative petition within 40 days.

In the event that you reject the initiative petition, I would respectfully recommend that you propose an alternative measure to this effect; sessions shall be annual, but in even-numbered years payment of legislators shall be limited to 30 days and consideration shall be confined to the budget, proposals from the Governor, interim study reports, and proposals from the Legislative Commission.

By proceeding in this manner, the people at the next general election may decide whether they want regular annual sessions, limited annual sessions, or biennial sessions.

COMMISSION ON HUMAN RELATIONS

We in Nevada pride ourselves on our independence of thought and action. Our history is studded with the colorful deeds of our forefathers. We are proud of their refusal to be commonplace—of their insistence on their freedoms within the law. Our State must not, in the process of its sensational growth, lose this precious heritage. We must not, in our hurry, fail to safeguard this spirit which has made us unique—the spirit which is based on the rights of the individual. We must not shame our State or our own consciences by failing to anticipate and protect against any situation which might prevent any of our citizens from living in peace and dignity without discrimination, segregation or distinction based on race, color, ancestry, national origin as place of birth.

Last year I proposed that you authorize the Governor to appoint an eleven member Commission on Human Relations. Such a Commission would act as an advisory, conciliatory and investigative agency on all matters pertaining to such discrimination. The Commission would report annually to the Governor and the Legislature. I ask again that you give earnest consideration to this proposal.

SALARIES FOR ELECTED OFFICIALS

I have included in my budget a recommended salary raise for elected officials. In the event that you concur, legislation would be necessary to implement such changes.

The salaries for elected officials should be raised. These officers hold the most responsible positions given to the electorate to fill. They answer and are responsible to the people as you are. The sacrifice in time and money in order to seek and hold these positions is substantial. I find that, in some instances, the salaries of State officials are lower than the salaries paid to appointed employees with commensurate responsibilities. In many instances their salaries are lower than elected or appointed county officials. I recommend to your good judgment a reappraisal of the salaries of elective officials.

MOTOR VEHICLE ACT

At the last session you passed and I signed into law Senate Bill 258. This law became effective January 1, 1960. Continued study of this law has convinced me that in light of the serious economic effects of the law in some counties, consideration should be given to its amendment. Amendments are necessary in order to make the law operable and to avoid unfair economic sanctions on the county level. Bills effecting the necessary amendments will be introduced. After considering the proposed amendments, if it still appears that the defects have not been cured, I would recommend that you repeal the act in order to give us time for future study.

PERSONNEL

A complete study of the Personnel Act is now in progress and will be ready by your next session. In light of clarification of some aspects of the present law in Attorney General's Opinions, it appears that certain amendments are now necessary in order to continue the practical operation of the State Government. These amendments have been concurred in by the Personnel Advisory Commission and have been drafted at the request of the Personnel Director. They include an amendment permitting the State to contract for special services which cannot practically be procured through the classification system and other minor matters of clarification.

BOULDER CITY CHARTER CHANGES

In order to make the new Boulder City Charter operable, it will be necessary to put through 2 or 3 pieces of legislation making minor changes in the city charter. This legislation will be introduced by the Assemblyman from that area.

COLORADO RIVER COMMISSION

Authority must be given for the State to intervene in Bridge Canyon Project hearings and to permit the issuance of revenue bonds by the Commission in connection with it. A complete explanation of this proposal appears in the report on the Commission which will be distributed to you later.

LICENSING AND REGULATION OF FARM LABOR CONTRACTORS

It is time when Nevada must do its part in meeting the national problem of the migratory agricultural worker. It is upon him that the successful annual harvest of many Nevada farms rests. The migrant and his family are lonely wanderers on the face of our land. They are living testimonials to the neglect that is possible in a wealthy and aggressive economy that prides itself on the protection of the individual. The plight of these people was brought forcefully to national attention last spring in our own Moapa Valley region, when hundreds of men, women and children were without food and shelter due to lack of work and it became necessary to declare a state of emergency. There are thousands of persons in this country following the long harvest from South to North, the victims of abuse and exploitation at almost every turn. Other states have recognized the seriousness of the problem and have enacted legislation to correct a major part of it—the unregulated activities of the labor contractors, under whose direction and control the great majority of migrant families leave their homes for the long road to the harvests. The farm workers are almost completely dependent on these contractors for their transportation, for securing them jobs, housing and other facilities. Frequently they are paid by or through the contractor. Nevada's biggest problem with the labor contractors is their practice of bringing huge numbers of workers into the State when there is no work available, as was the case in Moapa Valley last year. It is therefore suggested that the problem be met by legislation requiring licensing and bonding of these contractors, thus giving the State some control over the flow of migratory labor within its boundaries. Such legislation has been prepared.

GOVERNOR'S SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE

As this message goes to the printers the report of the Governor's School Survey Committee has not been received. It will, however, be available soon. I am sure that we will all give this report our most earnest attention.

RETIREMENT PLAN

Thirty-eight of the fifty states have general retirement systems for their employees. These systems take varying forms, many of them providing for compulsory retirement or termination at a certain age. The term compulsory implies a definite, irrevocable termination of employment on the basis of age alone. I do not believe in compulsory retirement because it does not take into account that certain employees, even though they have reached a certain age, are still capable of performing adequately in their positions or some others that may be available.

As of January 1, 1960, there were in State Government 185 employees 65 years of age or over, 53 employees 70 years of age or over, and 3 employees 80 years of age or over in the classified service. Some of them are capable of performing their duties, others are not. Some are eligible now for retirement benefits due to years of service, others are not. Regardless of whether these employees may receive retirement benefits upon termination, under the present act, there is no method by which they may involuntarily be retired other than for the appointing authority to discharge them and proceed in the usual manner before the Personnel Advisory Commission. The discharge of long-time faithful employees, or even the very aged with few years of service, is an act too onerous for the department head to undertake. We have arrived at a point in State Government where we must face this problem as other governmental subdivisions have had to do. I might mention specifically the University of Nevada and the school systems. It is a distasteful job and one which will undoubtedly bring considerable pressure. We are here, however, not to bow to political pressures, but to act in the best interest of all the citizens of our State.

There are presently in State Government some aged employees who will soon have enough years of service in order to meet the minimum qualification for retirement benefits. These persons should be considered.

I recommend, therefore, consideration of legislation which would provide essentially as follows:

That any employee in the classified service upon reaching the age of 65 years, may be terminated by his appointing authority upon the basis of age alone. Further, that such employee may be retained thereafter for so long as the appointing authority is of the opinion that he is able to fulfill his duties in his present position or some other that is available.

In order to protect these present aged employees who have not yet had sufficient service to entitle them to retirement benefits, I would recommend that the provisions of the act would not apply to persons who will within a five (5) year period from the effective date of the act reach the minimum years of service for retirement benefits. The act would apply to persons in this category as they reach the minimum number of years service for retirement within the five (5) year period.

CONCLUSION

My report to you is being printed separately in pamphlet form and will be distributed later. It is very lengthy. I felt that it would be desirable to compile a complete picture of our State operation not only for your information, but for use by the general public. We have arranged an index for purposes of ready reference. The report will indicate, I believe, a healthy, prosperous, fast changing state of affairs—one which will require great imagination, a capacity to anticipate and solve problems before they become crises, and a community of spirit and action. This is only the beginning. Before us all lies a "once in a lifetime" opportunity—to have a part in the molding of a State in its most critical period and to do it in such a way that those who follow will feel that we met the challenge to the best of our abilities.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Mr. Evans remarked as follows:

Many of you saw in the press last night that the Olympic Committee invited the legislators of California to the Winter Olympics and sent them tickets. I note that the legislators of Nevada were very pointedly omitted. I feel that this was certainly a discourtesy to us on their part.

The committee knows that we are in session and would be unable to attend, but I do believe from the standpoint of courtesy that we should have been notified and that the committee should have invited us.

The Legislative Commission has been in contact with the committee and they have refused to answer the letters.

I know that this Legislature, on their request, appropriated $400,000 for them, which amounts to approximately $2 a head for the people of the State of Nevada. This is a greater sum by far per capita than the contribution made by the State of California.

It was a very discourteous thing and I consider it a slap in the face from the Olympic Committee.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Mr. Speaker read the following communication:

January 26, 1960.

MR. SPEAKER: I respectfully request that I be relieved of my assignment on the Assembly Judiciary Committee. You will recall that I accepted this additional assignment reluctantly and upon your insistence that I might be able to contribute something to the functioning of that committee because of my experience of last session. I appreciate very much the confidence you have expressed in me through this appointment but, after the first week of attempting to fulfill all my committee obligations, I am afraid that I must agree that it is practically impossible to be diligent in all the responsibilities I now have.

I believe that by being relieved of this assignment I may be more effective in the other appointments I have been given. Also, I know that there are many others within the majority of the Assembly who can fill my position on the Judiciary Committee as well as, or better than, can I.

For these reasons I would appreciate your action on this request.

JAMES I. GIBSON,
Assemblyman, Clark County.

25. In any hearing held by the committee, if a person refuses to answer a question or produce evidence of any other kind, on the ground that he may be incriminated thereby, any member of the general counsel may, in writing, request a district court of the State to order that person to answer the question or produce the evidence. Upon receiving such request, the district court shall so order. If the person who refused to answer a question or produce evidence was privileged to withhold the answer given or the evidence produced, such person shall not be prosecuted for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which, in accordance with the order, he gave the answer or produced the evidence. Such person may be prosecuted for any perjury or contempt committed in answering, or failing to answer, or in producing, or failing to produce, evidence in accordance with the order.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2—Requesting Nevada Gaming Commission to reconsider its policy with respect to ownership of multiple interests in gaming establishments and to follow procedures prescribed by law for adoption of regulations in connection therewith.

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of the Legislature, through reports in the public press, that the Nevada Gaming Commission has adopted, announced and applied a statement of policy whereby any person who owns an operating interest in a licensed gaming establishment would henceforth be prohibited from acquiring an operating interest in any other licensed gaming establishment; and

WHEREAS, Such policy was established and applied without prior notice or hearing and without the promulgation of a regulation with respect thereto, which action on the part of the commission in a matter of such public importance was contrary to the purpose and spirit of NRS 463.145, relating to procedure for the adoption of gaming regulations; and

WHEREAS, The wisdom of such policy is open to serious doubt in many respects, including the fact that such policy may have a tendency to stifle further expansion of the gaming industry by rendering the industry dependent on outside sources for additional capital, the fact that such policy might contribute to the failure of existing operations by making it difficult or impossible to obtain essential working capital, the fact that such policy would tend to force existing licensees to invest their profits outside the State of Nevada, the fact that such policy might tend to create monopolies in certain areas in favor of certain multiple licensees exempted therefrom or to give such licensees an unfair competitive advantage, the fact that general application of such policy may work undue hardship in certain cases, and the fact that such policy may seriously interfere with and retard the economic development of smaller communities which are dependent to a large extent on tourist business; and

WHEREAS, It is not necessary to apply such restrictions in all areas of the State nor in all cases within a particular area; and

WHEREAS, Such drastic restrictions should be applied, if at all, only in particular exceptional instances where the public interest clearly and unmistakably requires such action; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of Nevada, the Senate concurring, That the Nevada Gaming Commission be and it hereby is requested to proceed as follows:

1. To rescind its action in adopting the policy hereinabove referred to relating to ownership of interests in more than one gaming establishment;

2. To undertake a further study of the wisdom or necessity of imposing any restrictions on ownership of interests in more than one gaming establishment; and

3. After such further study and consideration, and if any such restrictions whatever are then deemed necessary, to propose an appropriate regulation and hold hearings thereon in the manner provided in NRS 463.145.

Mr. Harmon moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Mr. Evans remarked as follows:

I think that all of us noticed in the press of the State, at least in one newspaper, a story that had to do with the possible usurping of the legislative power on the part of the Chief Executive of this State. I believe it is my duty as Majority Floor Leader of this house to point out what all of you saw placed upon your desks from the Chief Executive, pointing out what he wishes to do.

I want the record to show that the statement has been duly received by the Legislature and I would like that statement appended to my remarks.

STATEMENT OF GOVERNOR GRANT SAWYER

February 1, 1960

On January 28, 1960, in response to questions by the press, I stated that if appropriations from the General Fund were so high as to endanger the financial soundness of the State, I would use the authority granted to me by the State Budget Act to require that agencies set aside a part of their appropriation into a reserve to meet emergencies.

I did not state, nor wish to imply, that I thought such action would be necessary. In fact, I stated that I was sure it would not be necessary. The actions and decisions of the Senate Finance Committee and the Assembly Ways and Means Committee so far this session have convinced me that they are a most responsible and thoroughgoing group of Legislators. They are doing their job in a workmanlike, expeditious manner, and represent an excellent cross section of the various opinions and approaches to Nevada's financial problems. These views were clearly expressed to the press.

I believe that NRS 353.225, concerning reserve funds, is a wise law and should be used only when necessary. It is worth quoting here, for clarification.

"1. In order to provide some degree of flexibility to meet emergencies arising during each fiscal year in the expenditures for operation and maintenance of the various departments, institutions and agencies of the state government, the (budget) director, with the approval in writing of the governor, may require the head of each department, institution or agency, in making the original allotments, to set aside a reserve in such amount as the (budget) director may determine, out of the total amount appropriated or out of other funds available from any source whatever to the department, institution or agency.

"2. At any time during the fiscal year, this reserve or any portion of it may be returned to the appropriation or other fund to which it belongs and may be added to any one or more of the allotments, provided the governor shall deem such action necessary and shall so certify in writing, delivering a copy of the certificate to the (budget) director, the state treasurer and the state controller."

I believe that the Senate Finance Committee and the Assembly Ways and Means Committee are quite aware of this law and fully approve of it. For example, it is my understanding that when these two committees approved the budget of the Nevada State Children's Home, which was based on an estimated average census of 70 children, they did so with the understanding that NRS 353.225 would be invoked if a lesser number of children were in the Home July 1, 1960, and the entire appropriation was not necessary.

I'm sure that the two committees and the Legislature agree that common sense dictates that only that part of an appropriation should be spent which is necessary.

I am embarrassed by the obvious attempts being made to create "newspaper" disputes where none exist.

Mr. Crawford remarked as follows:

It has often been said by some of my friends that, no matter what you do for the Indians, there is not a bit of gratitude in them, and I would like to read the following to show that this isn't true:

"The Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe wishes to thank the following contributors for donations which helped make their annual tribal Christmas dinner successful: Mapes Hotel, Harrah's Club, Harold's Club, Holiday Hotel, Newman's Silver Shop and Crosby Lodge."

There being no objections, the Speaker and Chief Clerk signed Senate Bill No. 13; Senate Joint Resolutions Nos. 2, 3.

Mr. Evans moved that the Assembly adjourn until Wednesday, February 3, 1960, at 11 a. m.

Motion carried.

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, February 5, 1960.

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day passed Assembly Bill No. 75.

MARGARET F. AMUNDSON,
Assistant Secretary of the Senate.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Mr. Parks moved that Senate Bill No. 3 be taken from the General File and placed on the General File for the next legislative day.

Remarks by Messrs. Revert, Gibson and Evans.

Mr. Crawford requested that the Chief Clerk read the following communications:

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL DEFENSE

February 4, 1960.

HONORABLE HAROLD E. FITZ, Assemblyman from Churchill County, Assembly Chamber, Carson City, Nevada.

DEAR MR. FITZ: I wish to personally thank you for the request you made yesterday to have Lieutenant Commander Ludeman make a presentation of Civil Defense to the Assembly. We received several favorable comments on his talk.

I feel that there is a great need to inform the legislators, as well as the general public, of the value of a well-organized Civil Defense program.

Sincerely yours,

CLAUDE U. SHIPLEY, Director.

Susanville, (Nevada) California, January 30, 1960.

MR. DON CRAWFORD, Assemblyman, District No. 1, Washoe County, Nevada, Vya, Nevada, via Cedarville, (Nevada?) California.

DEAR MR. CRAWFORD: Please accept my apologies for the delay in answering your letter regarding my "Susan Roop" article published in the Nevada State Journal.

I am very happy to comply with your request for verification of the statement in the article to the effect that Isaac Roop, following his term of office as Provisional Governor of the Territory of Nevada, was elected to the Nevada Legislature.

He was elected to what was then known as the Territorial Council on the 31st of August, 1861. The district he represented was District No. 9, the Pyramid District. The area extended north of the Truckee Valley and west of Pyramid Lake and included everything up to the Oregon line. The district included Honey Lake Valley (now in California). The name of the county was Lake County. This name was changed to Roop County in January, 1863. Roop was elected by a wide majority, receiving 62 of the 68 votes cast.

For verification of these facts, consult Thompson and West, History of Nevada, 1881, page 78. Also Fairfield's History of Lassen County. On page 330 Fairfield mentions that in 1862 Governor Roop was at Carson as a member of the Legislature. On page 265 he mentions that in the fall of 1862 Lake County was represented by Governor Roop, the last member of Honey Lake Valley to sit in the Legislature.

In obtaining this information, I am indebted to our mutual friend, Bill Pratt, President of the Lassen County Historical Society.

Thank you for your interest in my writing.

Sincerely,

CYRIL H. COPE.

There being no objections, the Speaker and Chief Clerk signed Assembly Bill No. 30.

PASSIVE DEFENSE

I would like it understood the ideas and opinions that I will express are my own and are not necessarily the policies of the Navy nor the Defense Department.

Although these opinions are a result of the schooling and experience I have received while a member of the Armed Forces, they are actually my own interpretation as an individual, based on what I have seen and studied, and what I believe the Nevada citizen needs to be concerned with in the event of a third world war.

Defense on state level must include natural disasters, fires, earthquakes and floods. This dissertation will cover only the problems to be encountered in the event of a major war.

Before we can plan our defenses, we must know what we are defending ourselves against.

If there is ever a third world war, the United States will be under attack. The civilian population will be directly involved. We know the attack will be with one of three weapons: atomic, biological or chemical.

We know that any given target area will have a minimum of 50 percent casualties.

Over 50 percent of survivors will be stunned, shocked, maimed and useless during the recovery phase.

The first and most widely publicized modern method of conducting war is nuclear. Delivery is made by bombs, rockets or intercontinental ballistic missiles.

In 1945, a 17-kiloton nuclear weapon was dropped on Hiroshima. It had the equivalent force of 17,000 tons of TNT.

The next major improvement was the development of nuclear weapons in the megaton range. Megaton means one million tons of TNT.

The next major improvement was the development of the H bomb, or thermonuclear bomb. It is a 15-megaton bomb equivalent to 30 billion pounds of TNT.

Distribution of energy from nuclear weapons: Blast and shock, 50 percent; thermal, 35 percent; initial radiation, 5 percent; residual (fallout), 10 percent.

Blast effect delivers both overpressure and suction: 5 pounds PSI causes winds to 179 miles per hour; 10 pounds PSI destroys buildings; 12 pounds PSI, 50 percent casualties.

The average overpressure of nuclear weapons is 100 pounds.

Thermal radiation, 35 percent of total energy and results in both light and heat.

Three types—Ultra violet, infrared, and visible.

The visible light is 800 to 1,000 times as bright as sunlight. A 20-kiloton (small) bomb would supply light and heat for 40,000 homes for over a month.

Nuclear Radiation—

Initial radiation, 5 percent. No need to worry—you're dead from the blast or thermal effect.

Residual radiation (fallout), 10 percent. The term "fallout" is used to describe the radioactive material produced by a nuclear explosion.

This material is composed of dirt, stone, and other debris carried into the upper air by the force of the explosion. It is contaminated by radioactive products of the bomb.

Authorities can predict the probable areas of expected fallout. They cannot accurately say how serious it will be.

The size of the bomb, the type of explosion, such as airburst, surface burst or subsurface burst, the nature of the ground surrounding the explosion, the weather and the wind, are all contributing factors.

Fallout may be seen, but it may also be invisible. It cannot be detected by smell, touch or taste. In fact, the only way it can be detected is by radiological monitoring.

There are two forms of defense against radioactive fallout:

1. Do not be in the area of fallout.
2. Be protected from fallout by an adequate shelter.

After the fallout occurs there are two additional defenses against the effects of radioactivity:

1. Evacuate the "hot" areas where radioactivity is at a dangerous level.
2. Decontaminate the area.

If a nuclear explosion were to occur on the west coast, the military and civil defense agencies would issue warnings to areas that would possibly be affected. In the event of such an explosion, Nevada would probably have anywhere from six to ten hours advance warning before fallout would occur.

Depending on the expected amount of fallout for any given area, the Civil Defense Agency or Governor would decide whether or not to evacuate. Blind flight to pre-selected areas, prior to full analyzation of all the facts, could result in going into an area where the contamination would be more dangerous, and less shelter available than if you were to remain in your own homes.

Shelters—

The best protection against fallout is an underground, reinforced concrete shelter. It should have at least three feet of earth over the top, like the old-fashioned cyclone cellar. This type shelter will cut your rate of exposure to about one five-thousandth of the outside rate.

If you have no cyclone cellar, a basement provides excellent shelter. Even an inside hallway or room in a frame house will cut the radiation level to well below the outside rate.

Make your shelter as comfortable as possible, you may have to live in it for two to three days, perhaps even longer, depending on how heavy the fallout proves to be.

Provide your shelter with at least a two-week supply of emergency food and water. Canned foods and juices are ideal. It should include a flashlight, first aid kit and radio. Keep the radio tuned to 640 or 1240.

I have mentioned decontamination. The greatest danger from fallout radiation is from external exposure to radioactive material. If there is dust in the air, breathe through your handkerchief. Dust on your clothes and body are extremely hazardous. Severe burns on exposed skin areas, such as hands and neck, will result. When you leave a contaminated area "go back to the shelter," remove all clothing, and take a good soap and water shower.

To decontaminate buildings, sidewalks, equipment and roads, wash with water being careful the sewers do not empty near your water supply. A road grader can be employed to scrape dirt surfaces. They cannot destroy contamination, but it can be removed.

Biological Warfare—

The deliberate use of living agents such as bacteria, viruses, and other pathogenic microorganism in order to cause disease and death in personnel, animals and plants.

Biological warfare would create the biggest shock to the population because it would be considered a new weapon.

However, biological warfare is not new. Alexander threw decomposed bodies over the walls of besieged cities. Bubonic plague stopped the crusaders. Dysentary stopped Napoleon.

Biological warfare can be broken down into three basic objectives or approaches:

1. To infect large numbers of personnel, resulting in death.

2. To infect large numbers of people with germs giving low death rate, but long rehabilitation periods, and reduced desire to wage war by lowering national morale.

3. To destroy food sources, including livestock and agricultural products.

An enemy can be expected to employ any novel weapon which he believes his intended victim is unprepared to meet. Conversely, the enemy may hesitate to use such a weapon if he suspects that his adversary can protect himself adequately or can retaliate with the same weapon.

Method of Delivery—

Biological agents can be delivered by sprays, aerosals and bombs. It can be introduced through prepared foods, water supplies, milk, etc.

Biological Protection—

Protections against biological warfare are many and varied and most are in effect now.

1. Acquired immunity (shots for viruses, etc.).
2. Preventive medicine (research on Asian flu).
3. Protection of the source and purification of water supplies.
4. Methods of waste disposal.
5. Insect and rodent control.
6. High standards of personal hygiene enjoyed in the United States.
7. Pure Food and Drug Act, and constant inspections by government agents.
8. Federal inspections of dairies and food-packing houses.

Chemical Warfare—

Use of any liquid, solid or gas, to produce casualties by means of chemical action.

1. Remembering World War I—public reaction would be shocking.
2. Capital punishment in many states is with gas.
3. West Virginia hangs for capital punishment.

Three Refined Chemical Agents (blood gas, blister gas, nerve gas)—

Blood Gas—Absorbed through the skin or breathed into the lungs. It interferes with the primary body functions because of contamination of the blood supply.

Blister Gas—Attacks both interior and exterior parts of the body.

Nerve Gas (G series)—This is the most effective of all toxic gases. While it cannot be smelled, and possibly not seen, it is very rapid acting and efficient.

Defense Against Chemical Warfare—

Adequate warning, protective clothing and gas masks.

Remember, this is all-out war. To win any country must: 1. Defeat the enemy forces in the field. 2. Put the civilian population on its knees so it can no longer support forces in the field. 3. Occupy. 4. Rehabilitate and re-educate.

By use of chemical or biological warfare: 1. No destruction of cities and utilities. 2. Little, if any, decontamination. 3. Medically simpler, no lingering casualities. 4. Survivors of a chemical attack have 90 percent chance of survival.

In any major catastrophe a definite psychological problem will exist. Fifty percent of surviving personnel will be basically normal, and the remaining 50 percent will be in some stage of shock.

Four Types of Shock—

1. Numbed—Personnel in this stage are helpless. They will watch others bleed to death and are unable to comprehend the problem or effect any assistance.

2. Blind Light—Personnel don't know where they are going and don't care. They just want to get away. This is highly contagious and these persons must be stopped. Humane action is not required.

Bodily Reactive—These people lose all control over normal body actions. Nausea, etc. Nothing can be done for them except tender, loving care.

Overly Active—These people run from job to job giving orders and refusing to do anything quietly or settle down. They accomplish nothing and just confuse the issue. This is the type of person the doctor tells to boil water. He must be made to stay on a specific job.

All these limitations are uncontrollable and very real—recognize them as such. The only control over these phychological reactions is "education."

A staggering percentage of Americans have no idea of what they would do to help themselves in the event of an attack on the United States.

The Position of the Armed Forces:

By Presidential directive, military establishments must:

1. Continue on the assigned mission of the installation including its own security.
2. Render assistance to other federal agencies.
3. Assist civil authorities when the facilities of civil agencies are overtaxed.

As you can see, this places the responsibility of civil protection directly on the civilians. Education is the only way to lick the problem. You must have a plan and even a poor plan is better than no plan at all.

Thank you.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 9—Encouraging boards of trustees, school administrators and educators to improve the standards of instruction in the public schools.

WHEREAS, The public school system is the most vital function of government in preparing for the future and in establishing the front line of national defense; and

WHEREAS, The members of the 50th Session of the Legislature of the State of Nevada, as legislators and citizens, desire that the standard of instruction in our public schools be raised; and

WHEREAS, Although great strides have been made by our educators and school administrators, there is still room for improvement; and

WHEREAS, Intelligent planning, hard work and dedication to duty on the part of educators, school administrators and boards of trustees are as necessary to improvement as adequate financing; and

WHEREAS, The "three R's" still form the foundation upon which students must rely in achieving their goals and ambitions; and

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of Nevada, the Senate concurring, That boards of trustees and school administrators be encouraged to require students to devote more time and attention to basic studies, particularly the writing and speaking of the English language, and to make plans for the use of visual aids, such as television and motion pictures, whereby one teacher can reach more pupils; and be it further

Mr. Harmon requested that the following study be made a part of the Journal of this legislative day:

A UNICAMERAL OR ONE-HOUSE LEGISLATURE

By George Harmon

A study of the history of civilization will show that the people have continually sought to find the best method of governing themselves so that equality and justice would prevail for all.

In advocating the adoption of a one-house legislature for the State of Nevada, I am firmly convinced, after spending several sessions as a member of the Lower House, that such a change would benefit all the people, and I shall endeavor to set forth the arguments for such a change.

Here in the State of Nevada we are unique in two respects. First, we are economically dependent upon an industry legal only by virtue of the Legislature and, secondly, although we are the seventh largest state in area, our large centers of population are concentrated in two counties 450 miles apart. Consequently, the representation in our State Legislature is representative of geography and not the populace. Please bear this in mind.

The two-house system came into being when our forefathers adopted the Constitution of the United States. Originally, the Lower House, or House of Representatives as we now know it, was set up so that the people themselves could do the electing. This would give the people a direct voice and vote in the selection of our Federal officials. The Senate, or Upper House, was to be selected by the various state legislators. This remained the fundamental law for more than a century, when the people amended the Constitution to provide for the direct election of Senators by the people. This provision in the Federal Constitution is the only direct voice the people have in the selection of their Federal officials.

The question probably arises at this time as to why I do not advocate a change in our Federal system. The answer is quite simple:

The Constitution of the United States provides that each state, regardless of size or population, shall have two members of the United States Senate. This gives to all smaller states an advantage over the larger and more populous states in the Senate. Delaware, with its small area and comparatively small population, is entitled to as great representation in the Senate as is New York. Nevada, having a vast territory but not enough population to entitle it to two members in the House of Representatives, is equal in the Senate to the State of Pennsylvania.

An amendment to the Constitution of the United States must have, before it can be submitted, a two-thirds vote in the Senate and also in the House of Representatives. The smaller and less populous states, which under our Constitution have an advantage in the Senate, vastly outnumber the more populous states. It would be an impossibility to secure a two-thirds vote in either House to submit the necessary constitutional amendment. But even if such an amendment were submitted, it would require approval by three-fourths of the state legislatures to make it effective, and it can easily be seen that securing such approval would be an absolute impossibility. It is, therefore, only a waste of time to attempt to secure the adoption of such a Federal constitutional amendment.

The members of the two branches of our State Legislature are elected by the people and by the Constitution are given the same legislative powers. I can see no reason to give the two branches of our State Legislature the same authority to do the same thing, when the work of the two bodies is identical. This only means that the work shall be done twice, and any thinking person will agree that this is not only a waste of time, but a waste of the people's money. There is no other place in our governmental system where this duplication of work is required.

To illustrate what I mean, we have only to follow the procedures of our courts of justice.

A case in court may involve a lifetime of savings. It may involve the liberty of one or more of the litigants. It may even involve human life. But, however important may be the issue, it is unnecessary to have more than one trial. Under the guidance and control of the presiding judge, each side offers all the evidence deemed important or relevant. When all the evidence is in, the attorneys argue the case to the jury. When the argument is over, the judge instructs the jury. The jury retires and, after deliberation, renders a verdict. The judge renders judgment upon this verdict. The determination of the issue is then settled. It is ended, unless the jury or the judge has violated some constitutional provision, in which case the entire trial is set aside and held for naught by the appellate court.

This same check would exist in legislative matters if we had the one-house legislature. If the legislature exceeded its constitutional authority in the enactment of any law, it would be set aside by the Supreme Court. There would also exist the veto power of the Governor and referendum provisions of the State Constitution, so that the people could by such referendum nullify any law passed by the one-house legislature, as they have the power to do now.

Let me illustrate the method of passing laws by a two-house legislature.

A bill is introduced, let us say, in the House and by the House referred to a committee, whereupon the committee holds hearings at which all persons interested on either side of the controversy have an opportunity to be heard. When the hearings are finished, the committee debates the question in all its phases. After it has concluded its consideration and deliberation, it reports the bill to the House. Under the rules of the House, the bill comes up for discussion and debate. All members of the House have the right to be heard. The bill is argued in all its phases, and then the House votes upon it. If the bill is passed, the House sends it to the Senate. The Senate refers it to the standing committee, and everybody again has the right to be heard. As a rule, the same people who have been heard by the House committee come again at their own expense and at a sacrifice of their time and are heard by the Senate committee. After they have exhausted the subject again, the Senate committee considers it and deliberates upon it. Then they report the bill to the Senate, and there the members of the Senate debate it. They consider it from all angles. They go over practically the same ground that has been gone over by the House. Perhaps they amend it in some particular, and in this form they pass the bill.

The bill is then returned to the House for action upon the Senate amendments and, usually, as a matter of form, the House rejects the Senate amendments and the bill is sent to conference. Practically all legislation over which there is any controversy goes to a conference committee. The conferees, usually three from the House and three from the Senate, take up the bill for consideration. As a rule their deliberations are held behind closed doors. There is no roll call. There is no provision of law for a record of any of the proceedings of the conference committee. The conference committee perhaps writes a new bill. The conferees modify it without any hearings, without any publicity, and without any record vote. If they agree, they report it to the House and Senate.

The conference bill comes up in the House and Senate, and it must be voted up or down without amendment. There is no such thing as the amendment of a conference bill. Members of the House and the Senate may find in it provisions which they think are wrong. They cannot move to strike them out. If good provisions have been left out by the conference committee, they cannot move to insert them. They must accept the evil in order to get the good. If they want to reject the evil, they must likewise reject the good. This places the members of the House and the Senate in a very unfavorable and unfair light. Modifications or changes in a bill, which have been made without public discussion, without the knowledge of the public, without any roll call, and without any record, must be approved as a whole or disapproved as a whole. If the House or the Senate reject the conference report, it goes again to conference and, in the last days of a session especially, this means death to the bill.

It is contended by those who oppose the one-house legislature that rules could be made for governing a conference committee by which a record could be kept of its proceedings and by which the proceedings could take place in public. It is also contended that the power of the conference committee to write any provisions into any bill can also be restricted by parliamentary rules.

In theory, under general parliamentary law, the conference committee is limited in its jurisdiction to actual disagreements between the two houses. In the Congress the rules of the respective bodies provide that if a conference committee writes any provision into a bill that is not in either the House or the Senate bill, or strikes out any provisions which is in the same form in both the House and Senate bills, the report of the conference committee will be subject to a point of order. Similar rules prevail in some of the state legislatures. In fact, it often happens that one house strikes out all of the bill after the enacting clause and inserts an entirely new bill. Of course, the effect of this is to put the entire bill into conference.

These parliamentary provisions are often the means of defeating legislation. Points of order are made on conference reports, and if the point is sustained, the bill goes back to conference. Thus, delay takes place and delay often results in the complete defeat of the legislation, in the end bringing about just the situation that is desired by the lobbyists who are trying to defeat the legislation.

It would be possible, by constitutional amendment or perhaps by statute, to provide that conference committees should do their work in public and that a record should be had of their proceedings. This, however, has never been done, so far as I am aware, in the history of the world. No public record of the work of any conference committee, either in the Federal Congress or in any state legislature, has ever been made or kept. It is safe to say that no attempt ever will be made to keep such a record because it would at once show to the public that the conference committee is in reality a third house, and that it is the most powerful one of the three.

It must be borne in mind, also, that a conference committee is not under the control of either one of the houses. Either house can control to a degree its own conferees, but neither one of them alone can adopt any rules that will result in any control of the conferees of the other house.

I am not objecting to the conference committee in any legislature consisting of two houses, because I know of no other method that has ever been devised that can handle a disagreement between the two houses. I do not object, either, to the fact that the conference report cannot be amended. If amendments were permitted, such procedure would nullify the real intent of a conference committee and would make an agreement between the two houses absolutely impossible. There is no way to get rid of a conference committee and its necessary evils except by the establishment of a one-house legislature.

In a one-house legislature there would be no such thing as a conference committee. There would be no such thing as legislation in the dark or legislation without a public record. Opponents of the one-house legislature claim that a two-house legislature makes it more difficult for special interests and monopolies to control legislation than would be the case with a one-house legislature. Experience shows exactly the reverse to be true. It must be observed that special interests, monopolies, and combinations do not as a rule propose legislation. They are interested in the prevention of legislation which in any way restricts or modifies their powers, and they employ shrewd and often corrupt lobbyists to defeat any legislation to which they object.

To prevent legislation it is not necessary to control both the House and the Senate. All that is necessary is to prevent action by either House, or, what is much easier, if the bill is in conference—and it usually is—to control the conference committee. Lobbyists are experts in such procedure. Where there is no public record and no way to tell just what happens, they are able to handle the conference committee so as to prevent action. Let us see how this can be done.

A conference committee of six, let us assume, has been appointed on some bill. Three of the members are appointed by the Speaker of the House, and three by the Presiding Officer of the Senate. In order to get any agreement out of a conference committee, the House and the Senate conferees must agree to the same identical provisions. The three members from the House control the House vote in the conference committee. The three members from the Senate control the Senate vote.

All that is necessary to prevent action is to be able to control two of the Senate conferees or two of the House conferees. Either will prevent an agreement, or result in the laying down of conditions which will necessitate an agreement along lines desired by the two objecting members of the conference committee. These two members can insist on putting into the conference bill those provisions which are satisfactory to them, and can bring about the rejection of other provisions which are not satisfactory to them. Thus, either we have no conference report, in which case the bill is dead, or we have a conference report with a modified bill which is agreeable to the monopoly opposing the original bill.

But this is not the only place where special interests can prevent legislation. If, at the beginning of the session, they are able to control the election of the Speaker, it is possible to influence and sometimes actually control the appointment of all conference committees. It is a well-recognized fact that at the beginning of almost every Legislature there is a contest over the election of the Speaker of the House. The public as a rule does not know all the ins and outs of the controversy and does not often understand what, if any, agreements have been made in secret that have brought about the election of some particular individual as Speaker of the House.

We see, therefore, that special interests desiring to control legislation in a two-body house have several opportunities to accomplish their purpose: First, by control of the Senate; second, by control of the House; third, by control of two members of the conference committee representing the House; fourth, by control of two members of the conference committee representing the Senate; fifth, by control of the Speaker; and sixth, by control of the Presiding Officer of the Senate.

Nothing of this kind could happen in a one-house legislature. There would be no such thing as shifting responsibility from the House to the Senate, or from the Senate to the House. There would be no such thing as shifting responsibility to a conference committee. There would be no importance attached to the election of a Speaker. After the bill had been introduced and considered by the committee, after hearings had been held, after the subject had been exhausted in the one-house legislature, a vote would be taken. Any amendment which might be offered would there be fully discussed and voted upon. The vote would be in the open. Pitiless publicity would then reign supreme.

Constituents of every member would know next morning when they read the papers, or that afternoon when they heard the radio, just what the record of their public servant was. It would not be necessary to follow the action of the Senate, the House, and then the conference committee. The constituents, without any great effort, would be able to see and understand every legislative step which took place. Not only would they be able to punish the unworthy servant, but they would also be able to reward the one who had been faithful. And we should realize that not only is it important that we punish public servants who have failed to do their duty, but we should be equally anxious to reward those who have done their duty. With a one-house legislature the voters would be able to do this without any difficulty, whereas it is almost impossible to do either under the two-house legislative system.

It is perfectly apparent, therefore, that instead of one house being a check upon the other, the double-barreled system is a shield for corruption, concealing the record of unworthy representatives, making it impossible for a critical public to know just what the record is. In every two-house legislature, after the close of the session, if we post the checks and balances we shall find that the politicians have the checks and the special interests have the balance.

The closing days of a legislature in practically every state in the Union disclose most disgraceful practices in the matter of making laws for the government of our people. Conference committees come in every few hours; members know that if a conference bill is defeated in the late days of a session, it will mean the complete defeat of the legislation. The inclination always is then to vote for the conference report. In this way, jokers innumerable get into our laws. Laws which the people of a state want are either omitted entirely or couched in such language, sometimes purposely, that the Supreme Court will hold them unconstitutional. Laws which the people want, which have been passed by one house, are indefinitely postponed or otherwise defeated in the other house, with a record vote.

Thus the tracks of unworthy legislators are covered up and no public record made. Log-rolling and the shifting of responsibility from one house to the other is a very common occurrence. Nothing of this kind could occur in a one-house legislature. Greater deliberation would take place, and yet less time would be consumed, if we take into consideration the time spent in the two houses and also in the conference committee.

Responsibility always makes a person more deliberate, more logical, and more careful. The same individual would be a much better legislator in a one-house legislature, where responsibility could not be shifted and where every official act must be performed before the eyes of the public, than in a two-house legislature, where all kinds of opportunities are offered to shift his responsibility, to share it with others, or to conceal his official acts from the public gaze.

There is no more reason for a state to have two branches of its legislature than there is for a wagon to have five wheels. The experience of our neighbor to the north demonstrates that the one-house legislature has given eminent satisfaction. The Dominion of Canada contains nine provinces. All these provinces except one have one-house legislatures. They have found that they get better laws at less expense, while the activities of corrupt lobbyists are cut to the minimum.

The little Republic of Finland has been so well governed that it is the only European power that has the financial ability to meet the installments of war loans due the American Government. Finland has had a one-house legislature for 17 years.

Announcement has been made by the public press that the Government of the Philippine Islands, the newest republic of the world, whose ship of state is being launched upon the governmental sea under the auspices and direction of the American Government, is to have a one-house legislature.

If every state is to be a business institution, if the legislature is to be a real board of directors, if the people are to have an opportunity to know just what is being done by their public servants, then the legislature must not be so large in membership as to be unwieldy. Upon this question there will be a difference of opinion among honest men, but it is safe to say that the membership of a legislature should not be so large that it would be necessary at any time to confer upon a committee or a small number of members the right to guide or control its proceedings. If this principle is adhered to, it will be found that most of our legislatures are too large.

The important thing is that the members of the legislature should be responsible for their acts. There should be no way to shift their responsibility. There should be no way to cover up their tracks. If the membership is comparatively small, it will be easier for the people of the state to follow their work. Their positions will become more important, and their individual power will be greater, and they will take a greater pride in seeing that their duties are well done and that their record is above reproach.

In closing, may I point out that the less-populated counties will in no way lose their standing in a one-house legislature, but rather that they would gain in prestige in the selection of their representatives, and their voice heard in an open "house."

Mr. Christensen (Washoe) gave notice that on Friday, February 19, 1960, he would move that the Assembly resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Mr. George Brereton, Chief of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation of the State of California.

Mr. Gibson remarked as follows:

I should like to announce that the future school impact of the State of Nevada was increased by one this morning at 4:15 a. m. when the Gibson family welcomed an 8-pound, 4-ounce girl into the family circle. This is our fifth child and third daughter. I am happy to report that mother and daughter are doing fine. The only complication is that we were expecting a boy.

Mr. Speaker pro tempore instructed the Chief Clerk to read the following communication:

February 16, 1960.

To the Assemblymen and Assemblywomen of the 50th Session of the Nevada State Legislature.

It is indeed my humble pleasure to take this opportunity to thank you on behalf of the City of Sparks and myself, for the excellent acceptance and cooperation that you have extended me as an appointee Assemblyman to fulfill the unexpired term of the late Honorable Oscar D. Jepson in this, the 50th Legislative Session of the sovereign State of Nevada.

Sincerely,
RAY A. CROSBY, Assemblyman,

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Mr. Bleak remarked as follows:

I voted "yes" on this bill for the same reason that I voted "yes" on all the other school aid bills. My votes were requested by the Education Committee and the Education Department. I think this bill should have been amended to read, "and they shall teach readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic, taught to the tune of the hickory stick."

I hope that the 90-odd percent of our children and grandchildren will have the wisdom to understand what the Legislature intends. I mean the 90-odd percent of our children who are no disciplinary problem. I think that a little more attention to our 90-odd percent would do a lot of good to help correct our juvenile problem.

I think we should turn our newspapers inside out and put the sports and society on the front page and put Carole and Dr. Finch on the inside. I have an article on my desk about three Las Vegas youths who were sentenced to Elko for turning in a false fire alarm. I do not know what was behind this, but it certainly made the front page. How many times do you see the names of our debating teams that won on the front page? How often have you seen Basic, Sparks, Las Vegas, and all the other outstanding basketball teams on the front page? How many of you saw the article about the 4,000 papers that were written on the subject of the peacetime use of atomic energy by the college students of the United States, on the front page? These 4,000 papers were judged down to 400, then down to 40. How many of you saw on the front page the names of the two boys from the University of Nevada whose papers were among the 40 finals which were to be submitted to the United Nations for consideration? It was printed in the back of the newspaper in a little article one paragraph long.

I think of the less than 10 percent and of the politicians that want their names on the front page—I look every night to see if my name is on the front page.

Thank you.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Mr. Christensen (Washoe) remarked as follows:

I would like to read to you the following telegram:

Reno, Nevada, February 18, 1960.

RAY CROSBY, Nevada State Assembly, Carson City, Nevada.

We can no longer get along without you. You must report for full-time work February 19, or be replaced.

DONALD W. REYNOLDS, JR.,
KOLO Radio.

This is something that I have never seen in all my years as a legislator. This telegram could deprive Washoe County of one representative that it should have in the Assembly. Evidently, these people that Ray works for do not have respect for government or are not interested in the State of Nevada, to be able to issue an ultimatum like this. I think that this is possibly the worst thing I have ever seen in my experience in the Assembly.

Mr. Evans remarked as follows:

The Democrats are in full accord with the remarks of Mr. Christensen.

Mr. McKissick remarked as follows:

The Republicans are in agreement with Mr. Christensen's remarks.

There being no objections, the Speaker and Chief Clerk signed Assembly Bill No. 83; Senate Bills Nos. 37, 42, 55, 57, 62, 72, 75, 92.

By Mr. Swackhamer:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 11—Proposing to amend article XIX of the Constitution of the State of Nevada, relating to Initiative and Referendum, by clarifying the provisions of such article.

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of Nevada, jointly, That article XIX of the Constitution of the State of Nevada be amended to read as follows:

[ARTICLE XIX

Section 1. Whenever ten per centum or more of the voters of this State, as shown by the number of votes cast at the last preceding general election, shall express their wish that any law or resolution made by the Legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, the officers charged with the duties of announcing and proclaiming elections and of certifying nominations or questions to be voted on, shall submit the question of the approval or disapproval of said law or resolution to be voted on at the next ensuing election wherein a State or Congressional officer is to be voted for, or wherein any question may be voted on, by the electors of the entire State.

Sec. 2. When a majority of the electors voting at a State election shall by their votes signify approval of a law or resolution such law or resolution shall stand as the law of the State and shall not be overruled, annulled, set aside, suspended, or in any way made inoperative except by the direct vote of the people. When such majority shall so signify disapproval the law or resolution so disapproved shall be void and of no effect.

Sec. 3. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and the power to propose amendments to the constitution and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislature, and also reserve the power at their option to approve or reject at the polls, in the manner herein provided, any act, item, section or part of any act or measure passed by the legislature, and section one of article four of the constitution shall hereafter be considered accordingly. The first power reserved by the people is the initiative. The initiative petition shall be proposed by not less than ten per cent (10%) of the qualified electors of each of not less than seventy five per cent (75%) of the counties in the state, provided, however, that the total number of qualified electors proposing the said petition shall be not less than ten per cent (10%) of all of the qualified electors of the State. Every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. Each signer shall affix thereto his or her signature, place of residence and the county within he or she is a qualified elector. Each document comprising the initiative petition filed with the Secretary of State shall have affixed thereto, an affidavit made by one of the signers to each of said documents or to the petition, to the effect that all of the signatures are genuine and that each and every individual who signed his or her name thereto was at the time that he or she signed the petition a bonafide qualified elector of the respective county and the State of Nevada, said affidavit to be executed before a Notary Public or some officer authorized to administer an oath who possesses a seal. Initiative petitions, for all but municipal legislation, shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than thirty (30) days before any regular session of the legislature; the secretary of state shall transmit the same to the legislature as soon as it convenes and organizes. Such initiative measure shall take precedence over all measures of the legislature except appropriation bills, and shall be enacted or rejected by the legislature, without change or amendment, within forty (40) days. If any such initiative measure so proposed by petition as aforesaid, shall be enacted by the legislature and approved by the governor in the same manner as other laws are enacted, same shall become a law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in sections one and two of this article. If said initiative measure be rejected by the legislature, or if no action be taken thereon within said forty (40) days, the secretary of state shall submit the same to the qualified electors for approval or rejection at the next ensuing general election; and if a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon shall approve of such measure it shall become a law and take effect from the date of the official declaration of the vote; an initiative measure so approved by the qualified electors shall not be annulled, set aside or repealed by the legislature within three (3) years from the date said act takes effect. In case the legislature shall reject such initiative measure, said body may, with the approval of the governor, propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event both measures shall be submitted by the secretary of state to the qualified electors for approval or rejection at the next ensuing general election. The enacting clause of all bills proposed by the initiative shall be: "The people of the State of Nevada do enact as follows." The total number of votes cast at the general election last preceding the filing of any initiative petition shall be the basis on which the number of qualified electors required to sign such petition shall be counted. The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, which shall be exercised in the manner provided in sections one and two of this article. The initiative and referendum powers in this article provided for are further reserved to the qualified electors of each county and municipality as to all local, special and municipal legislation of every character in or for said respective counties or municipalities. The legislature may provide by law for the manner of exercising the initiative and referendum powers as to county and municipal legislation, but shall not require a petition of more than 10 per cent (10%) of the qualified electors to order the referendum, nor more than 15 per cent (15%) to propose any municipal measure by initiative. If the conflicting measures submitted to the people at the next ensuing general election shall both be approved by a majority of the votes severally cast for and against each of said measures, the measure receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become a law as to all conflicting provisions. The provisions of this section shall be self-executing, but legislation may be especially enacted to facilitate its operation.]

ARTICLE 19.

Initiative and Referendum

Section 1. 1. Whenever a number of registered voters of this state equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election shall express their wish by filing a petition in the form provided for in section 3 of this article that any statute or resolution or any part thereof enacted by the legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, the officers charged with the duties of announcing and proclaiming elections and of certifying nominations or questions to be voted upon shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding election at which such question may be voted upon by the registered voters of the entire state.

2. If a majority of the voters voting upon the proposal submitted at such election votes approval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall stand as the law of the state and shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside, suspended or in any way made inoperative except by the direct vote of the people. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall be void and of no effect.

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1 of article 4 of this constitution, the people reserve to themselves the power to propose, by initiative petition, statutes and amendments to statutes and amendments to this constitution, and to enact or reject them at the polls.

2. An initiative petition shall be in the form required by section 3 of this article and shall be proposed by a number of registered voters equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in not less than 75 percent of the counties in the state, but the total number of registered voters signing the initiative petition shall be equal to 10 percent or more of the voters who voted in the entire state at the last preceding general election.

3. If the initiative petition proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute, it shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than 30 days prior to any regular session of the legislature. The secretary of state shall transmit such petition to the legislature as soon as the legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the legislature and approved by the governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in section 1 of this article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the secretary of state shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the supreme court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the governor may recommend to the legislature and the legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the secretary of state to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law.

4. If the initiative petition proposes an amendment to the constitution, it shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than 60 days before any regular general election at which the question of approval or disapproval of such amendment may be voted upon by the voters of the entire state. The secretary of state shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation, on three separate occasions, in each county in the state, together with any explanatory matter which shall be placed upon the ballot, the entire text of the proposed amendment. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on the petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, the secretary of state shall publish and resubmit the question of approval or disapproval to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election in the same manner as such question was originally submitted. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, it shall become a part of this constitution upon completion of the canvass of votes by the supreme court.

Sec. 3. Each referendum petition and initiative petition shall include the full text of the measure proposed. Each signer shall affix thereto his or her signature, residence address and the name of the county in which he or she is a registered voter. The petition may consist of more than one document, but each document shall have affixed thereto an affidavit made by one of the signers of such document to the effect that all of the signatures are genuine and that each individual who signed such document was at the time of signing a registered voter in the county of his or her residence. The affidavit shall be executed before a person authorized by law to administer oaths in the State of Nevada. The enacting clause of all statutes or amendments proposed by initiative petition shall be: "The People of the State of Nevada do enact as follows:".

Sec. 4. The initiative and referendum powers provided for in this article are further reserved to the registered voters of each county and each municipality as to all local, special and municipal legislation of every kind in or for such county or municipality. In counties and municipalities initiative petitions may be instituted by a number of registered voters equal to 15 percent or more of the voters who voted at the last preceding general county or municipal election. Referendum petitions may be instituted by 10 percent or more of such voters.

Sec. 5. The provisions of this article are self-executing but the legislature may provide by law for procedures to facilitate the operation thereof.

Statement by Mr. Don Crawford February 24, 1960.

On the 19th of February a certain statement was made in the Assembly. I said that I regretted that anybody late to an appointment, as we Assemblymen were the previous night, should have to be detained and taken back to the Courthouse and made to put up bail like a common criminal.

The impression given to the public was that I thought legislators should have special privileges; this does not coincide with what I actually said. I believe that legislators, above all, should comply with the laws and suffer the penalties for the violation thereof.

Mr. Fitz requested that the Chief Clerk read the following communication:

NEVADA LEGISLATURE
February 24, 1960.

MR. HOWARD HOFFMAN, Chief of Police, Carson City, Nevada.

DEAR CHIEF HOFFMAN: I wish to take this opportunity to commend you and your department for your fast and efficient work last night around eight o'clock, in recovering my automobile.

When my wife and I returned from Squaw Valley yesterday, we noticed our car was not parked in its accustomed place. We immediately phoned the police department and within two minutes the police were at the apartment. Within five minutes, it was broadcast on the air and within fifteen minutes the police had located the car on the streets of Carson City, undamaged.

I think this is a record of efficiency and cooperation of which the public should be apprised.

Sincerely,

HAROLD E. FITZ,
Assemblyman, Churchill County.

GENERAL FILE AND THIRD READING

Assembly Bill No. 136.

Remarks by Messrs. Swanson and Waters.

YEAS—36.
NAYS—Rowntree, Viani, Mr. Speaker—3.
Absent—Harmon, Leavitt, Pozzi, Young—4.
Not voting—Crawford, Evans, McKissick, Ramsey—4.

Assembly Bill No. 136 having received a constitutional majority, Mr. Speaker declared it passed.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Assembly Bill No. 237.

Bill read third time.

Mr. McKissick remarked as follows:

I would like to speak on both Assembly Bills Nos. 237 and 238. These are vitally necessary to the Washoe County Fair and Recreation Board. We had a joint meeting with Mr. Bud Albright of the committee for the Clark County Recreation Board and some of the Clark County delegation were there. They learned that these bills are not contrary to anything they have in Clark County and, with reference to these bills, I urge that the members of this Assembly approve and vote aye on A. B. 237 and A. B. 238. In so doing, I have some reservations.

These bills will ratify the action that has been taken by the Washoe County Fair and Recreation Board. In particular, Assembly Bill 238 will allow in the future the Washoe County Fair and Recreation Board to maintain recreational facilities and improve, extend and better recreational facilities in Washoe County. It is my understanding that the board could issue bonds and thereafter give to the incorporated cities in Washoe County the sum of $100,000. For instance, Reno and Sparks and Washoe County would each get this $100,000 for general recreational purposes.

The general purposes of these bonds would be for such things as swimming, tennis courts and other things that the people want and need. A certain portion would be used for such recreational purposes and for additional repair and needs.

However, my reservation extends to any contemplated use of room tax income to be deferred to support the recreational needs of the county until a convention hall and auditorium is built somewhere in Washoe County. It would be a bad precedent to allow the use of room taxes to circumvent the $5 ad valorem limit in use. This method is not recommended until the purposes of the board are accomplished—the building of the hall itself.

With this, I admonish the members of the board to sit down at this time and do a workmanlike and businesslike job in getting this off the ground. It has been bogged down too long. One member of the board, who is a city councilman, and who is not here right now, told me as late as last Tuesday that he was going to continue to fight the recommendations of the members of the Regional Planning Commission of Washoe County who recommended Mill Street as a site. This admission is not proper legislative or governmental progress. Just as we at times, in this session, lose a bill or get defeated on a law, we settle down and live with it. This is not the attitude that has been taken by the city councilmen.

I admonish the board to continue with their work. There are sincere men on that board who have spent a lot of time in studying this. Mr. Ben Winn has spent considerable time and study on it. He will do everything possible to get this going and stop the hassle. It doesn't make good sense to make a decision at one time and then fail to abide by the rule of the majority, having made the decision.

So I urge that we give favorable consideration to A. B. 237 and A. B. 238. I am sure that when we come back in 1961 we will be pleased with the progress that has been made.

A sidelight in choosing the Mill Street site, which comprises 7½ acres just east of the Holiday Hotel, is that its assessed valuation is only $122,000, bringing income into the county of only $6,000 per year. As this was appraised by the Regional Planning Commission and is presently being appraised by the Fair and Recreation Board, the estimates run between 1.8 million dollars and 2.5 million dollars. By this ratio, the actual value is between 16 and 20 times the appraised value. The Holiday Hotel, I am told, is appraised at about 1.4 million dollars. Using this ratio, it would mean the Holiday's actual value would be between 24 and 30 million dollars. I am sure the owners of the hotel would be pleased to sell at this figure. Something must be wrong, either with the appraised value of the board, or the assessment. They say that this is too expensive. I disagree.

The room tax estimate on present facilities alone runs over $500,000. The cost of bond and interest payments is about $275,000 and, giving them administrative costs of 10 percent, or $50,000, the total expenditures should be between $325,000 and $350,000. This should leave a surplus of at least $150,000 per year. I admonish the board that this amount is not to be "frittered away" on extraneous recreational purposes. Eventually, this money, either by sinking fund or additional bond revenue, should be used to build a suitable and fine convention hall and civic auditorium for the use of all persons in the county, on the site selected. The money available, and that which may become available, must be used primarily for building a convention hall and civic auditorium for which the people of Washoe County, Reno, and Sparks can be justly proud, such as the convention hall in Clark County.

In conclusion, and with these reservations and comments, I respectfully urge the passage of Assembly Bills 237 and 238. The members of the Fair and Recreation Board can be sure that the 47 members of this Assembly and the 17 members of the Senate, together with the Governor, when these bills are signed into law, will be watching their actions (and expenditures) with a great deal of interest. I am sure our confidence in them will not be displaced.

Remarks by Messrs. Evans, Waters and Crawford.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Mr. Crosby requested that the following communication be entered in the Journal:

TO THE 50TH SESSION OF THE NEVADA STATE ASSEMBLY:

I believe the action taken by the Ways and Means Committee on Assembly Bill No. 178 which asks for a complete investigation of all public utility companies is a step in the right direction. Their increased budget allocation to the Public Service Commission should help the committee to better police the utility operations.

However, I do not feel that the full intent of Assembly Bill No. 178 as written and suggested by numerous people of Washoe County has been complied with, in that a full investigation was requested for specific purposes, which are: The raising and establishment of new standards for rates, equipment, safety, and the elimination of public hazards. To determine whether depreciation of their original capital investments have not already been fully taken, and if utility rates may be lowered.

It is my belief that new standards for public utility companies should definitely be established to keep current with the rapid growth of the State of Nevada. Surveys should be made to determine whether future expansion plans of the utility companies will provide adequate and economic service to the people of Nevada. Therefore, I now charge myself, Ray A. Crosby, as a citizen and lawmaker of the State of Nevada, to carry on with a complete and comprehensive survey in the County of Washoe, in the State of Nevada, of the public utility companies during the year 1960, with the purpose of determining whether Assembly Bill No. 178 is justified, as in my opinion it is. If evidence is uncovered to substantiate this, new action will be taken for a statewide investigation in the 1961 Session.

Sincerely,

RAY A. CROSBY.

Mr. Pozzi moved that Assembly Bill No. 192 be taken from the Chief Clerk's desk and placed on the General File.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

By Messrs. Monaghan, Bissett, McKissick, Bailey, Miss Herr and Mr. Dieleman:

Assembly Resolution No. 20—Memorializing the Legislative Counsel Bureau to study problems concerning the administration of motor vehicle affairs.

WHEREAS, Motor vehicle transportation has grown at a phenomenal pace in Nevada in recent years and there is clear prospect that its growth in the future will be even more spectacular; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature after much diligent and continuing study has developed successful programs for the financing, constructing and maintaining of the highway plant; and

WHEREAS, It is equally essential that concerted attention and study be given to motor vehicle functions, other than the financing and engineering of highways, if optimum service is to be rendered to the people of Nevada; and

WHEREAS, The administration of all motor vehicle affairs, not only involves tremendous costs which are certain to increase greatly in the future, but also affects the lives and welfare of our citizens; and

WHEREAS, Deficiencies and inconsistencies in the law pertaining to motor vehicle affairs may have resulted from failure to develop an overall approach which would clearly define basic policy objectives that would provide guidance to affected administrators, and which would also provide for re-evaluation of traditional activities in the light of changing and anticipated conditions; and

WHEREAS, State difficulties in dealing evenly with the many problems inherent in the administration of motor vehicle affairs may lead to unwelcome activity in this field by the Federal Government, a possibility suggested by current studies initiated by the Federal Government to determine what it should do to promote highway safety; and

WHEREAS, The facts heretofore cited have been recognized by the Western Interstate Committee on Highway Policy Problems, the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, all of whom by resolution have urged that state legislatures make provision for study of current problems and future needs in the administration of motor vehicle affairs; and

WHEREAS, Basic issues of state transportation policy are involved in the provision of service, the control of privilege, and the exercise of police power with respect to administration of motor vehicle affairs, which issues should be given comprehensive study; and

WHEREAS, Illustrative activities that should have benefit of such study include driver education and licensing, vehicle registration and title issuance, financial responsibility requirements, highway-user tax administration, law enforcement as it relates to all highway and motor vehicle affairs and record maintenance and data collection and analysis in regard to all of the foregoing; and

WHEREAS, Such study should include:

(1) An inventory of all functions, activities, and duties of the state pertaining to operations on the highway plant and administration of motor vehicle affairs, together with a determination and evaluation of the purposes and objectives of all such functions, activities, and duties; and

(2) An estimate of future needs for effective and economical performance of all such functions, activities, and duties, analysis of benefits in relation to costs in each case, and exploration of alternative means of achieving useful and necessary purposes and objectives; and

WHEREAS, The subject matter of this resolution not only involves long-range research and study as well as immediate investigation, but also cuts across many fronts which will be dealt with by committees of the Legislature; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of Nevada, That the Legislative Counsel Bureau is hereby memorialized to study the problems of the administration of motor vehicle affairs and report the results of such study to the Assembly of the State of Nevada on or before January 20, 1961.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Mr. Crawford requested that the following editorial be entered in the Journal:

STATE PRISONERS AID THEMSELVES

Monday, February 29, 1960

CARSON NEVADA APPEAL

(Editor's note: The following editorial in the current issue of "Sagebrush," the lively monthly publication of the Nevada State Prison here, points out some facts not generally known to the average Nevadan. Editor Al Stoddard makes a good case for the donations and activities of the penitentiary inmates.)

Our Prisoners' Fund is a matter the Nevada taxpayer should have heard about long ago. It is a fund derived by purchases made by prisoners, relatives and official personnel in our Prison Store, Coffee Shop, and a ten percent deduction from handcraft sales. Following are some things the State of Nevada does not pay for, but are bought with prisoners' funds:

All picture shows, projection equipment and maintenance. Hundreds of earphone sets, plugs, wiring, radios and television sets, with maintenances of some in tubes, parts, etc. Sports equipment for baseball, basketball, boxing and weight-lifting, including upkeep, clothing to match, tennis shoes, and musical instruments (a large investment) for the "Boys in Blue," so they can afford entertainment over radio for Nevada listeners, and gain further self-improvement. The identical situation exists with respect to our N.S.P. Cagers, clothed and equipped, playing all their games outside prison walls for free entertainment. The same applies to our Boxing Team!

All these self-improvements, self-maintaining and self-rehabilitation efforts are paid for by ourselves. We're happy to finally be permitted to use some of our money in constructive ways!

Last year the prisoners donated $300 to Nevada for establishing the Library Fund to purchase a few books and bookbindery set. There had never been such a fund provided by the state, even though we had a library.

More recently, the prisoners donated $1,500 to the state so glasses could be purchased for the near-blind. There never was a semblance of adequate medical, dental, and optical care for inmates before the new administration. As an illustration, shortly before the change in administration in 1959, the editor was required to use the majority of a small tax refund and pay $40 for critically needed bifocals. And at that time, there was more money laying idle in the Prisoners' Fund than would be prudent to mention! Now, we have been permitted to use $1,100 on optical needs, but what is going to happen when the prisoners' funds are gone?

Innumerable lesser items are purchased regularly from P.F., such as the chess, checkers, dominos, buying our Christmas packages, buying cigarettes for a crippled confined inmate, all with express approval of our regularly elected Inmates' Committee. And Sagebrush comes out of prisoners' pockets!

Let's go a step further and get this record straight on a couple other matters concerning funds and prisoners.

Furthermore, when our Boys in Blue, Boxing Team, N.S.P. Cagers, Blood Donors, travel to Reno, Lake Tahoe, Virginia City, Carson City, etc., to aid benefits, charities, give blood and afford entertainment with their own time, efforts and money, the officers who take the responsibility for transportation very often furnish their own cars, paying for gas, oil, tires, and incidentals, out of their own pockets! To top it off, they perform these tasks on their own time! Deputy Warden Lee Brawner generally transports our women prisoners down to the Children's Home where recreation exercise facilities have been made available—in his own car and at his own expense!

In 1925 the law was passed providing $25 for dischargees. From this $25 the man must buy his own clothing and transportation! Oh, yes! We just donated a $2,500 air-conditioner for a healthy gym.

DEAR SENOR GARCIA: On a visit to your town in December of 1959, your need for playground equipment was called to my attention by, I believe, a Mr. Heller. He told me that the Americans in the vicinity were trying to raise $1,500 for the purchase of the equipment. I have never forgotten it and enclosed is a cashier's check for $100 to help buy the equipment you want and need so badly.

The money was generously contributed by the members of the Nevada Assembly and other officers of the State of Nevada. Their names and addresses are enclosed.

I suggest that you write each of them individually to thank them. I also suggest that you give the location of your town and mention its many attractions with the thought in mind that one day some of them might pay you a visit.

Very truly yours,
