Remarks by Assemblywoman Buckley.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Secretary of the State. As we convene this Seventy-third Session of the Nevada Legislature, our state faces many challenges. We must improve our school system so that our children are ready for success. We must improve health care in Nevada to remove Nevada from being the fourth-highest rate of uninsured, with our emergency rooms clogged. We must manage the fiscal affairs of this state in a way that is prudent but considers the long-term needs of our state.

Our success or failure in meeting these challenges will depend a lot on the leaders whom we elect. The choice of Speaker has momentous consequences. The formal duties of the Speaker are well defined. The Speaker is the presiding officer over this Body, rules the proceedings, maintains order and decorum, and signs all necessary bills and resolutions that this Body passes. The power of the Speaker extends far beyond the walls of this Chamber. As the acknowledged leader of the majority, the Speaker's influence both in and out of the Legislature ranks him as one of the highest elective legislative positions, next to the Governor.

Our colleague from Henderson is eminently qualified for this post. Richard Perkins is a native of Nevada, something that most of us from southern Nevada have difficulty saying. He was elected to the Assembly in 1992, and has been a member of this Body and served as Speaker for the last two sessions. Of course, this is a citizens' Legislature, and like most of us, Richard has a life outside this body; a wife Terri, in front of me here, and five children. I think we have three present today. For more than 20 years, he has been a member of the Henderson Police Department, starting as a beat cop, rising to the Deputy Police Chief. From his background in law enforcement, he brings us a unique perspective and understanding and knows what it is like to put your life on the line to protect the public. In both his private and public life, he believes in making our state a better place. He is a man of action and not many words.

Those of us who have worked with Rich Perkins know him to be bright, hard-working, fair, compassionate, and caring. It is for these reasons that I nominate my colleague, my mentor, and my friend, Richard D. Perkins, to be Speaker of the Assembly.

Assemblyman Hettrick moved that nominations be closed.

Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Secretary of State declared Assemblyman Perkins to be Speaker of the Assembly.

Mr. Secretary of State appointed Assemblyman Anderson and Assemblywoman Gerhardt as a committee to escort the Speaker to the rostrum.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Assemblyman Mortenson moved that Secretary of State Heller be given a unanimous vote of thanks for his services to the Assembly.

Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Speaker appointed Assemblyman Carpenter and Assemblywoman Ohrenschall as a committee to escort the Secretary of State to the Bar of the Assembly.

The appointed committee escorted Secretary of State Heller to the Bar of the Assembly.

Remarks by Mr. Speaker.

Assemblywoman Buckley requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

MR. SPEAKER:

It is customary for the Speaker to make brief remarks on Opening Day. I have done it myself every session since 2001. The Speaker's words are usually one part ceremony and one part pep rally. Not today. Today I'm going to talk frankly about the mistakes I think we made in 2003 and the ways that I think we are going to avoid repeating them this session. Admit it: in the last legislative session, we did a disservice to our constituents. I am not talking about policy mistakes or errors in processing this bill or that. It was worse. We made the joint mistake of false pride and misplaced loyalty. We, all of us, myself included, allowed ourselves to get sucked into behavior that not only delayed action, it demeaned the institution we serve. We damaged long-term relationships. Minority Leader Hettrick and I have served together for more than a decade. In 2003 we abandoned that working relationship in favor of partisan bickering. Mr. Hettrick, we need to work together, and I pledge to do my part. Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Marvel were men I had looked up to since my arrival in the Assembly. In 2003, I foolishly set aside that respect. For that, I apologize. But this is a new session. The past is behind us, and we're not going back there again, period. Always remember: we are all Nevadans, first.

This year we have different challenges. I hope we now will also have a different approach to solving them. So while I take this opportunity to welcome each of you in ceremonial fashion, I also want to talk about how we should get down to doing the people's business. Now. This needs to be a session of action, and that's going to start right away. Let me give you two examples. In 2004, the people of Nevada overwhelmingly approved a ballot measure to raise the minimum wage. As you know, this question will have to be voted on in 2006 in order for it to take effect. I say we pass it now. There is no reason why working men and women should be forced to wait two more years for something as basic as a decent living wage. We don't need polls to tell us this is the right thing to do right now. We are going to pass the minimum wage bill out of this House in our first month of work. Its time has come.

While we are quickly addressing the immediate needs of wage-earning families, we are also going to address the future of their children's education. In his State of the State address two weeks ago, Governor Guinn stood in this chamber and graciously asked us to approve bonding capacity to save the Millennium Scholarship. With due respect to the Governor, I disagree. The Millennium Scholarship is truly one of Nevada's great successes. The program was far-sighted, bipartisan, and results-oriented. We do not need to mortgage our children's financial future in order to ensure the future of their education.

I believe there is sufficient revenue in the state surplus, together with the funding stream from Unclaimed Properties, to endow the Millennium Scholarships now, without selling state bonds. We have the money to do the right thing, so let us do it.

Doing the right thing is not always easy. Far too often, I think, we allow the process to get in the way of what we know is right. This session can be different. We can do the right thing and do it now. But let me tell you one thing we are not going to do in this house this year. We are not going to legalize marijuana. After putting criminals in jail for more than 20 years, I can tell you legalizing pot is the wrong thing to do, now or ever. Over 80 percent of the inmates now in Nevada prisons are drug users. The link between drug use and crime is clear. I am not going to make it any easier, not on my watch. Instead, we should turn our attention to issues that matter to Nevadans.

I have spent much of my time since the last session traveling to all corners of this state. People are concerned about us, my friends. Us. Elected officials. The scandals that have plagued elected officials in the past few years have tarnished us all. In order to restore the public's faith in our institutions, we must act now to police ourselves and be tougher on those who would use government to their advantage. That's why I put together a package, along with Attorney General Brian Sandoval, to put some teeth in our ethics laws. We are going to begin putting criminal penalties in the law for false filings, stiffening penalties in other areas, and clarifying that willful violations cannot be explained away with an "Oh-but-I-didn't-really-mean-it" defense. Our package will create a “three strikes and you’re out” policy for repeat violators. And it will make a violation of the Open Meeting Law an immediate ethics violation to be counted on the three-strikes list.

Public integrity should always be at the forefront of our minds. But now, more than ever, we owe it to the citizens of this state, some of whom are sacrificing their lives in a war thousands of miles away, to do the people’s business in a way that makes them proud. I think this is the perfect session to extend the gratitude I know each of you feel to the men and women who serve America in the military. Let us begin by asking every veteran or active military member in this chamber and in the audience to stand and be recognized. As well, and they have already stood, we have with us some military guests.

Brigadier General Randal Sayre, please stand again, Brigadier General Lawrence Cerfoglio, Colonel Cindy Kirkland, Major General Giles Vanderhoof, welcome again, and Chief Cindy Sullivan. Welcome to our chambers, and thank you for what you do for our country.

Ladies and gentlemen, we can do more than just applaud these folks. Today I am proposing a three-part program to express the gratitude of the people of Nevada for the men and women who are called into active duty as members of the Nevada National Guard. First, we will provide for a sales tax exemption for the families of those called into active duty. We do this today for non-profits, so it will be easy to do it for Guard families. Second, while I hope none are redeemed, we will institute a $250,000 life insurance policy for all Nevada National Guard members called to active duty. Lastly, I am calling upon Nevada banks, mortgage companies, and financial institutions to allow for a “mortgage amnesty” when a Guard member is called into active duty. These citizen soldiers often leave behind high-paying jobs when they are called. They should not have to lose their homes while they forego their private income to keep us safe. When they return from duty, they can pick up where they left off. I know that Assemblymen like Mr. Anderson, Mr. Grady, Mr. Hardy, Mr. Hogan, Mr. Marvel, Mr. McCleary, and Mr. Parks, who are themselves veterans, will join me in this effort now, when it is most important.

You know as well as I do that military families are not the only ones suffering with issues like mortgage payments and, most importantly, property taxes. Governor Guinn said he looked forward to working with the Legislature in providing property tax relief. Today I am offering one solution. I propose that property tax relief come in the form of an exemption of the first $50,000 of taxable valuation. In keeping with our state’s tradition of protecting each resident’s primary home, this has been commonly referred to as the Homestead Exemption. The plan is simple. A house taxed today on $200,000 of value will now be taxed on only $150,000 of value. Due to the phenomenal growth of tax valuations, this formula will not adversely impact local governments, but it will provide relief for Nevadans like our seniors and young families just trying to get started.

As I said, this needs to be a session of action. Nevada voters are waiting for us to tackle the issues that matter. Before I conclude, I would like to touch on two more of these issues, health care and education. Governor Guinn spoke forcefully and meaningfully about the need to hold school principals accountable. I could not agree more. But I also believe we can do more, and we can do it now. We don’t need a commission to study this. We need action. I am calling on Chairwoman Parnell and the Education Committee to quickly and meaningfully address teacher and classroom accountability measures. It is important to hold principals accountable, but it is also important to hold teachers, superintendents, and the rest of our educational system accountable. Nevada students deserve no less.

I also believe that we need to be held more accountable for the way we treat our teachers. A 2000 Legislative Audit found that the average classroom teacher in grades K-6 spends $500 of his or her own money on classroom supplies. We have let them down. This Legislature can and should provide funding to send every elementary school teacher a check for $500 in the first year of the biennium. This should be in addition to addressing teacher salaries. It’s a short-term answer, I know, but it’s a step in the right direction. The long-term answer will come when we pass a statewide lottery to provide more than $40 million a year in dedicated, stable funding for books, computers, and classroom materials. We can do it. We can do it now. And we will.

But we can do more. Health care, for example. I want to call on Majority Leader Buckley, Chairwoman Leslie, Chairwoman Koivisto, and our two doctor-legislators, Dr. Mabey and Dr. Hardy, for help in solving some of our medical challenges. This week, some 300,000 of southern Nevada's public servants and casino workers will be left without hospital coverage. Why? Because out-of-state health care corporations are refusing to agree to sensible coverage plans. Ladies and gentlemen, enough is enough.

Every two to three years the health care delivery system in Las Vegas reaches another crisis. We need to find the root cause now, before the next crisis is upon us. We also need legislation that prohibits these out-of-state corporations from harvesting our pocketbooks to ship millions of dollars back East. I propose that we look at a Community Reinvestment Act for Health Care modeled on the financial services industry. This would require hospitals to invest a percentage of their profits into local programs before they pay off corporate headquarters.

Obviously, I will be counting on each of you to help make these ideas and others a reality. I believe we can do it, and we can do it together. This "session of action" should be known for a sense of bipartisan workmanship. There is no reason for grandstanding, obstruction, or infighting. The people are fed up with us. They expect action now. And as the leader of this Chamber, I intend to do everything in my power to make sure they get it.

I am not the Speaker of southern Nevada. I am not the Speaker of one party, any more than you are the representative of one district or one political platform. It is my sincere hope that when we come to this Body, we can put all those labels aside. We are working for the betterment of all Nevadans, and that work is waiting for us to do now.

The challenges I have made to you today will not be met unless we work together. Let us make this a legislative session that will be remembered, not for its length, but for the quality and quantity of what we accomplished. It's time again to be Nevadans first and partisans second. Thank you. Now let's get to work.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

CARSON CITY, NEVADA, February 1, 2005

THE HONORABLE WILLIAM J. RAGGIO, THE HONORABLE RICHARD D. PERKINS, NEVADA

LEGISLATURE, 401 S. CARSON STREET, CARSON CITY, NEVADA 89701

DEAR SENATOR RAGGIO AND SPEAKER PERKINS:

Please find enclosed my message to the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature. As you know, I delivered the message, as required by Article 5, Section 10, of the Nevada Constitution, earlier to a gathering of your colleagues and other guests on Monday, January 24, 2005, in the Assembly Chambers in Carson City.

Allow me to extend my sincere wishes for a productive legislative session. My staff and I look forward to working with all of you.

Sincerely,

KENNY C. GUINN
Governor

Assemblywoman Buckley requested that the Governor's State of the State Address as presented to the Legislative Commission's Special Committee to Receive the Governor's State of the State Address of January 24, 2005, be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Speaker Perkins. I want to thank Majority Leader Raggio, Lieutenant Governor Hunt, certainly members of the State Assembly, the Senate, honorable judges of the Supreme Court, our constitutional officers, of course the distinguished guests who are here tonight, and my fellow citizens all across this great state. I want to say good evening to you and then I want to say I am very excited about being here tonight, this night, because it is a special night for me, having been before you over the last three sessions. Tonight is an exciting time. I would like to begin by making a heartfelt acknowledgment of my lovely wife, Dema, who is seated in the audience with my family; my two sons, Jeff and Steve, and their wives, Monica and Wynn; my sister, Shirley; and my grandson, Blake. Dema, you have been at my side every step of the way as Governor. You have had a tremendous influence on Nevada as our First Lady. You have championed health issues for women and children, and you have led the way on a great number of historic preservation efforts. Dema, thank you for everything that you have done for our family and what you have done for our Nevada family. Thank you very much.

Governor Mike O'Callaghan was a great leader of this state. And he was a true friend to many of us. He was a strong man, with a strong spirit. So strong, in fact, that if we make any bad decisions this session, we will no doubt hear from him. Carolyn O'Callaghan and Jackie Laxalt were two of the most graceful, witty, and intelligent First Ladies in our history. And although these great Nevadans are no longer with us, their influence on our state will remain forever. Please join me in a moment of silent reflection for three very notable Nevadans.

Thank you very much. We have a very special guest with us tonight representing our National Guard, who embodies the spirit of our state. Nevada has one of the highest percentages of National Guard members serving in Iraq and Afghanistan and other foreign lands. We have more than 750 members of our Air and Army Guard, as well as other military personnel who are dedicating themselves to the wartime effort. They are men and women like Sergeant Henry Lujan, from Henderson. Sergeant Henry Lujan was wounded in Iraq when a truck he was riding in was attacked by terrorists. This is an extraordinary man. As a cancer survivor he could have avoided the rigors of war, but his love for his country exceeded his personal concerns. He insisted it was his duty as a Nevada National Guardsman and as an American to serve his country in a time of war. Sergeant Lujan, would you please stand. Thank you very much. Thank you, Sergeant Lujan. We are proud of you and all of our men and women in our military. Thank you for being with us tonight. It is an honor, sir. Thank you very much. Thank you.

During my last State of the State Address, I said we were at a crossroads, and it was time for Nevada to choose its path. I want to say to all of you tonight, we chose wisely. I am proud to report that the state of our state is strong; in fact, it is very strong. The state's economy is firing on all cylinders. Our gaming and tourism industries have rebounded strongly. A record 50 million tourists came to our state last year alone and they spent more money than ever before. Our economy is also diversifying and growing every day. Las Vegas is constantly and consistently the country's fastest-growing market for small business and it is a major one. Chief executives across the land rank Nevada as the second-best state in the country to do business. This has allowed us to broaden and stabilize our revenue streams so that we can meet the needs of today and prepare for the challenges of tomorrow. Nevada has its lowest unemployment rate on record. Let me repeat this remarkable feat: the lowest unemployment rate on record. We are nearly two points below the national average. With 50,000 new jobs in 2004, Nevada remains a place where dreams can be fulfilled. We are creating these new jobs at a faster rate than any other state in the country. And these are good jobs, they are quality jobs. They are jobs that offer livable wages and benefits for our working families. Given this news, it is no surprise that so many people want to come here and enjoy the wonderful opportunities and lifestyle that Nevada has to offer.

Yes, even the state of the budget is strong. And I commend this Legislature for helping to put Nevada on a stable course. Now that times are good, let us not forget that our Rainy Day Fund has shielded us in the past from devastating economic hardships. We need to be careful in these good times to save for tomorrow. Together we have diligently sought to strike a balance between providing for the needs of our citizens and protecting our fantastic business environment. We need to continue with these efforts. I want to strengthen our future by saving for a rainy day. My budget ensures that a total of $200 million will be deposited into the state's Rainy Day Fund. By investing in this Fund, we will be protecting our citizens from future hardship. We have to remember that when tough times come, in Nevada they come quickly. This $200 million provides us with needed insurance should our economy falter.

As guardians of the public trust, join me in supporting this very important savings plan. Because of the strength of our gaming and tourism industry and the broadening and stabilizing of our revenue streams, we will be able to do more this session than just save for a rainy day, and do a lot more. It is time that the people of Nevada see a direct benefit from the investments they have made. I am proposing that $300 million be given back to the taxpayers. $300 million. As your Governor, I have reviewed our revenues and expenditures and given our funding priorities serious consideration. Over the last six years as your Governor, I have always believed that we must fund our top priorities with reasonable allocations, and, while being fair to the taxpayers, we must do this. After funding these priorities, our state is still experiencing a surplus. I believe the right thing to do is to get this money back into the hands of as many taxpaying Nevadans as possible. Now, while it is worthy of debate, perhaps, I will tell you you will get no argument from the voters I have spoken to, except for how soon they will get it.

Through my plan for a DMV registration rebate, the registration and fees that you paid in 2004, up to $300 per registration for each car, each motorcycle, RV, or trailer that you registered, will be sent to you as soon as my budget has been approved by the Legislature. The rebates on two million vehicles will be a welcome addition to peoples' pocketbooks and will serve as a continued stimulus to our booming economy that we have in Nevada. I have faith that the families of Nevada know best how to spend this $300 million rebate.

We all know it is vital that property tax relief be discussed in great detail beginning in the earliest days of this session. Property owners, particularly seniors on fixed incomes and working families, are worried about this seemingly overnight jump in their property taxes. Just the other day I read an article about a retired married couple, William and Janet Rhoden, who moved to Las Vegas from Chicago in 1992. The taxable value of their home in Summerlin, in southern Nevada, has gone up 41 percent this last year. William went to the county Board of Equalization and pleaded with the board. He said, "I am asking this group to give us relief, whatever you can do." Sadly, nothing could be done for them. I feel for a couple like the Rhodens, and I am sure you do, too. We need to find relief for William and Janet, and the thousands and thousands of other homeowners in Nevada who are facing this punishing burden.

I encourage you to have lively debate on this issue. Working with local governments, school boards, and taxpayers, we can provide a solution that protects our home and property owners, all across this state. At the same time, we can protect the services they expect. I am calling upon our Legislature and our local governments to commit themselves to work with great focus on this issue of critical importance to our citizens. The people of Nevada deserve the best work we can produce, and I know together we are up to this task. And my pledge to the people of Nevada is this: we will not rest until property tax relief is a reality.

This is the fourth and final time I have been privileged to stand before you to deliver a State of the State Address. I am proud to say that this $5.7 billion budget has been thought out in great detail. I believe there is strong justification for the programs presented to you. This budget promotes a Nevada built on partnership and progress, a Nevada that rewards the needs, the energy, and the passion of its citizens.

All my life, and throughout my two terms as your Governor, my focus has been and will be education. Each time I have stood before you, I have focused my passion on the service we provide that has the power to change one's life. Education is not part of my agenda; it is my agenda. The Millennium Scholarship is changing the future of our state. More than 40,000 students have qualified for the program. Yes, that is 40,000 bright, young Nevadans. And last year we graduated the first class of Millennium Scholars. This year, almost 18,000 students are taking advantage of this wonderful opportunity. Enrollment in our institutions of higher learning is now at record levels. We know what this means for the future of our state: the best-educated workforce in our state's history. My budget accommodates the more than 7,000 bright and energetic new students who will be arriving on our campuses over the next two years. Our professional staff, our libraries, our laboratories, and classrooms must keep pace with this growth. I am providing higher education with an additional $250 million for much-needed faculty, infrastructure, and research.

When you travel the state, you feel the excitement that our young people have for the Millennium Scholarship. You can see it in their eyes. You hear it in the voices of their parents and their grandparents. And last spring I met Candice DeGuzman. Her parents are immigrants from the Philippines. If not for the Millennium Scholarship, she would have sought her education outside of our state at the University of Southern California, where she was heavily recruited. She has since graduated from UNLV and just finished her first semester at the University of Nevada School of Medicine. Candice is here tonight and she is one step closer to realizing her family's lifelong dream for her to become a doctor. Candice, where are you? Stand up, Candice. USC got the national championship and we got Candice. We would much rather have you, Candice. I just want to say to Candice, you are an important part of helping make her dream come true. The Millennium Scholarship is working. The best and the brightest young minds are staying in our state for college. No parent and no child should ever have to worry about how long the Millennium Scholarship will last. And that is why my budget provides for $100 million in new state bonds so the Millennium Scholarship will be available to Nevada's students for years to come.

More critical to the future success of our state is our investment in the public schools, where formal education begins. Last session, we worked together so the children of Nevada would receive the quality education they deserve. The growth and diversity of our schools has never been greater. We will have 35,000 new students in our schools over the next two years. My budget meets this demand, with more than $500 million in new money for kindergarten through the 12th grade. That is a continued funding for things such as teachers, their training, textbooks, and classroom supplies, which we must have. In total, I am investing close to $2 billion for our students.

As many of you know, new state and federal standards, such as No Child Left Behind, are dictating how we evaluate our schools. It is good to have standards. They provide important factors to our schools and parents. I applaud our Legislature, which has consistently supported educational reform, higher standards, and accountability. Tonight, I am concerned because the state of Nevada has 120 schools classified as failures under this new system. Another 99 schools are on the warning list. Now, although there are many reasons why we have schools on these lists, we must work to find the best practices, the best methods, and the best allocation of our resources to help them achieve. Ultimately, this will provide the best hope for our children's success. As a state, we must give our students the support they need to meet and exceed our expectations.

In our schools, there's no substitute for strong, visionary leadership, for leaders who are willing to take chances today so that their students can grasp the hope of tomorrow. We already have many, many success stories in our state; schools that have defied the odds. They are blueprints for what can happen when at-risk schools become no-risk schools by implementing proven programs that help students achieve in key areas, especially reading. There are schools with visionary leadership and tireless faculties and staff. They have shown us the way, and we need to follow their footsteps. They are schools like Anderson Elementary in Reno. Under the leadership of principal Peter Hall, Anderson has gone from a school that did not make Adequate Yearly Progress for two years to what it is today, a high-achieving school. Anderson teachers have given their students a great gift: the love of reading. These kids simply devour their books. Their school has added an additional 90 minutes of literacy instruction onto the already district-mandated 90 minutes. They have made unbelievable gains, gains that we could all be proud of. There are schools like Corbett Elementary in Reno. Corbett has a lower-income student population with limited English proficiency. Yet under the leadership of Principal Patricia Casarez, Corbett has met Adequate Yearly Progress standards for the past two years.

We have a great story in Clark County as well: schools such as Squires Elementary in North Las Vegas with 90 percent minority enrollment and 70 percent limited English proficiency. Squires set and met all of the goals during this last school year. This great school has been honored nationally as one of the two Nevada distinguished Title I schools. Current Squires principal Marcie McDonald could not be here tonight, but we do have the outstanding leader who began these efforts, Carol Lark. As principal for six years at Squires, she laid a foundation for true success. Please join me in recognizing Carol, Pete, and Patricia, who are here with us tonight. Thank you.

We want all of our schools to reach this level of success, and that is why we must be decisive. I am calling for a dedicated fund of $100 million for our troubled schools. $100 million. I am also proposing a blue-ribbon commission driven by leaders like the ones you just met. The Governor's Commission on Excellence in Education will oversee these unprecedented influxes of funding for public education. This investment in public education allows for the establishment of best practices for remediation programs at schools that most clearly need this funding. It could include special programs such as all-day kindergarten, increased emphasis on literacy, the hiring of more bilingual teachers, and professional staff development. It will empower the parents, the teachers, and principals who know what their children need.

I will mandate a system of checks and balances to ensure that this funding produces results for our children. To have any impact, we must fast-track this money to provide funding before school begins each year, so I am asking that we move quickly. We must not rely so much on spreadsheets and funding formulas but more on common sense. We must develop a system that is long on accountability and short on excuses. It must be a system that demands progress. And if progress is not made, then we must require that leadership in these failing schools be changed. Why? Because the future of our children depends on it. The future of our state depends on it. I fully expect our schools to be successful with these additional investments of funds and a strong system of accountability.

I am also asking for your support in establishing pay-for-performance salary incentives for the schools that are in trouble. Thanks to the cooperation of parents, teachers, and administrators, tying salary incentives to the performance of our schools is already working in this state. And I want to thank our principals and teachers who created this idea. In meeting with our school superintendents, they encouraged me to develop programs that would include special funding to help improve these at-risk schools. It is time to make performance salary incentives a statewide effort for our troubled schools.

While we are at it, our parents, our local school boards, our superintendents, and I, urge you to extend the class-size flexibility program beyond our rural areas into our two largest school districts, Washoe and Clark. Last session, you built in the safeguards to make sure this program would work, and it is working. So let us better use this $260 million we spend on class-size reduction by empowering our local school boards to make the best decision on class-size flexibility at home.

What about the issue of health care? We are all affected by health care in one way or another. I know personally what it means to have good health, because I am a cancer survivor. Many of you are in the same position. You have either had a major health-care concern or have had a loved one facing this huge challenge. We all know how critical health care is to our families and our friends. And while I am your Governor, I will not turn my back on people in need. Affordable, high-quality health care will keep our families healthy, our businesses competitive, and our state strong. I have built a budget that protects the existing services that we have all worked very hard to establish with funding of more than $1.6 billion for health and human services. This represents an infusion of more than $275 million of new money to support these crucial programs.

I had like to highlight just a few important ways that this money will be used to improve the lives of Nevadans. I am continuing Nevada's effort as one of the nation's leaders in preventing our disabled population from being placed in institutions. My budget gives these Nevadans the resources they need to become an integral part of our communities. I am earmarking nearly $7 million for the state's personal assistance service for people with disabilities. I am pledging my continued support of the state's family preservation program, which helps people who are currently caring for profoundly disabled family members. This will keep our families together and loved ones out of institutions. And I am continuing my strong commitment to mental health care. This budget includes more than $100 million in new mental health spending.

We are making an infusion of nearly $45 million, in addition to the $35 million previously budgeted for construction, to open and fully staff the new state mental health hospital in Las Vegas. This is $45 million that will help address the mental health crisis we are experiencing in Las Vegas, which has seen its emergency rooms overflow with mental health patients who have nowhere else to go. It will also increase the psychiatric medication and community service budgets to ensure these people can be cared for in their own community. I am directing over $6 million in new funding to early intervention services for our children who suffer from developmental delays, and an additional $13-plus million dollars for children who are in need of mental health care. This will be the first time in the state's history that families will have early access to these types of services. These initiatives will bring treatment and diagnosis much earlier in the lives of these children and will give their families a fighting chance for the future.

Under my budget, the state will also be doing its part regarding health-care coverage. The budget reflects the continued growth of Senior Rx that is helping more than 9,000 low-income seniors receive low-cost medications they need, as well as Nevada Check Up, which provides health-care coverage to nearly 27,000 Nevada children from working families. This helps reduce the number of uninsured children in our state. And, in the process, in the proposed budget, we will serve up to 30,000 uninsured children over the next two years. No eligible senior or child in Nevada should go without the medication or the health care they need. No one.

This budget also includes $8 million to expand health-care coverage for pregnant women and improves health-care access for low-income families who work for small businesses that can not afford the premium. In addition, my budget makes a firm commitment to programs in suicide prevention and problem gambling. Time will not allow me to tell you about all the great things we are doing for health care in this budget, but I want to tell you that I will be convening a summit with the Nevada Commission on Aging and AARP to talk about affordable prescription medications for our seniors and the disabled. For the first time in our nation's history, seniors and people with disabilities will be receiving a drug benefit offered by the federal government through Medicare. I believe it is the state's duty to educate our seniors and the disabled concerning this complex issue. They need to be fully informed of their options, and that is exactly what we intend to do.

As you can tell from the programs and the infusion of funding that I have listed, we will become a much healthier Nevada. Our state has evolved to a point where we can attract and develop cutting-edge programs in medical research. That is why I am excited about the beginnings of two historic partnerships. One partnership is between the Nevada Cancer Institute and the University of Nevada School of Medicine. I am particularly pleased because this commitment will help build a Nevada Cancer Institute facility on the northern Nevada campus of the School of Medicine. It will provide a critical northern link to the impressive work already being done by the Cancer Institute in southern Nevada. The other partnership is between the Lou Ruvo Center for Alzheimer's Care and Research and our School of Medicine. Each partnership will create joint research facilities combining our state's finest medical minds in the fight against cancer and Alzheimer's. I am pledging more than $11 million in support of these two partnerships.

These partnerships will provide cutting-edge research and health care. They will also bring exciting possibilities for economic development, technology transfer, and the promise of new, high-paying jobs. The Nevada Cancer Institute has created more momentum for cancer research in our state than any other project of its kind. They have raised more than $100 million in just a few short years, and they are bringing some of the world's best doctors and cancer researchers to our state. In addition, the state's investment in staffing at the privately funded, $20 million Ruvo Alzheimer's Center brings similar focus to treatment and research of a devastating disease that will have a profound impact on our state's growing senior population.

Finally, to ensure that our finest young medical minds remain in our state, my budget provides $4.5 million for the addition of 40 new positions to the residencies and fellowship programs in our School of Medicine. As you know, Nevada needs them, and that is why we are going to train them. As you can see, we must have a common, compelling vision if the best medical research, education, and treatment is to be available to our citizens. So that is why tonight I am announcing the creation of the Nevada State Commission on Medical Research and Health Care. This commission will provide advice on establishing common priorities and help our health care organizations benefit from each other's strengths.

I would like to introduce, at this time, the people who have been instrumental in bringing about these partnerships: Heather Murren, president and CEO of the Nevada Cancer Institute; Larry Ruvo, founder of the Lou Ruvo Center for Alzheimer's Care and Research; Dr. John McDonald, dean of the University of Nevada School of Medicine; and Dan Van Epp, former president of the Howard Hughes Corporation and a distinguished Nevadan. Dan has agreed to serve as chairman of this commission. Please join me in thanking these dedicated Nevadans who have done so much for us. Thank you very much. Heather and Dan, thank you. Thank you. I truly believe that your efforts will stimulate new discoveries, forge new partnerships in our state, and save countless lives. It will create a statewide blueprint for health care in Nevada for years to come. And I want to thank you very much for your work.

Nevada needs to continue with its efforts to be one of the best business-friendly climates in the Union. The Nevada Development Authority, led by Somer Hollingsworth, and the Economic Development Authority of Western Nevada, led by Chuck Alvey, have helped to tell our great story at every turn. These private economic development organizations return hundreds of dollars to our state for each dollar invested in them. They often make the difference between a business relocating in Nevada or somewhere else, helping to bring quality businesses and high-paying jobs to our state each year. And that is why I am proposing we provide $9 million in new grants to these private economic development efforts within our metropolitan areas so we can continue the economic success that leads the nation.

As we all know, the bright lights of our metropolitan areas attract most of the attention, but rural Nevada has an equally compelling story. Rural Nevadans deserve our support for economic independence as well. I have called upon Lieutenant Governor Hunt to focus more of the attention of the commissions on Economic Development and Tourism on rural Nevada. This budget invests an additional $1 million in grants so we can aggressively promote economic development and tourism in this important part of our state.

We all know with prosperity comes the need to invest in our infrastructure. In the last two years, we have embarked on the single most ambitious transportation program in the state's history. I am proud of the work being done by our Department of Transportation. A 2004 study ranked Nevada number one in the country for how well it maintains its roads and ranked our Department of Transportation fourth in the country for its cost-effectiveness. Our highways are now among the best in the country. But we have more work to do, and that is why I have outlined an investment of nearly a billion dollars to continue to build new highways, make our roadways safer, and attack the gridlock that plagues our growing cities. We are widening U.S. 95 in Las Vegas, and we are building a much-needed interchange in Henderson. We are constructing a spectacular bypass bridge at Hoover Dam, and we are finishing the link between Reno and Carson City. This work is on schedule, and over the next two years you will see projects like them moving forward throughout our state.

The budget we have tonight calls for sufficient funding for the Department of Motor Vehicles for personnel and technology and provides alternatives so you can do your DMV business from your home or office. Last year, over 300,000 transactions were completed without anyone having to step into a DMV office. I can tell that all of you use the Internet. The slogan that we have used, "You are never more than a click away from being first in line at DMV," has never rung more true. We are moving into that age.

In the last election, the people of Clark County supported Sheriff Bill Young's efforts to place hundreds of new police officers on the streets. The State of Nevada will do its part to support the fight against crime. This budget provides for new prison space and increases funding for law enforcement officers in the Departments of Public Safety and Corrections. These proposals are at the core of our obligations. So send me the legislation and I will sign it immediately.

We must also remember the contributions that teachers and state and university employees make towards improving our lives. And I have not forgotten the positive efforts that you make each year. I appreciate your hard work, and I am pleased to announce that we are providing a well-deserved cost-of-living increase of two percent for each year of the biennium of this budget.

As Governor, I have been committed to the health and well-being of the state employees, as you all know, but currently state employees receive full payment for health care coverage every year after they retire. Just like all other health care costs, these costs have risen dramatically for the state. We can no longer expect taxpayers to pay for these benefits. The majority of them can never expect to receive this kind of coverage, no matter if they retire from a public or private employer. Tonight I am announcing a plan that is bold, that is plain, and is absolutely essential. This plan cuts the cost for retiree health benefits for any new state employee that we hire. No existing employee or retiree will be affected by this plan. But I propose that, for all new hires, we discontinue this benefit. I will bring a plan before this Legislature that deals head-on with a liability that grows by the millions every year. Over the next 30 years, this plan will save taxpayers nearly $500 million.

I have talked about many things, this evening, of great importance to our citizens. But the picture of our state's future is not complete if we forget the dreams of our working men and women who hope to own their own home. There is something permanent, and something extremely profound, in owning a home. We are a prosperous state, and we are building more condominiums and apartments and homes than any time in our history, and yet many working families are being squeezed out of the housing market.

I am proud to announce my plan to help these families become homeowners. As you know, the federal government manages and owns approximately 87 percent of the land in Nevada. We have an opportunity to acquire some of this federal land for minimal cost. And I want private developers, in conjunction with the state Housing Division, to make homes available on this land. This land would be placed into a permanent state trust and would not be included in the price of the home, resulting in a much lower price for the home buyer. This innovative plan is something that no one else in the country has ever accomplished. It needs the support of many people, including our congressional delegation, the Bureau of Land Management, HUD, our local governments, financial institutions, and private home builders in this state who want to help us give something back to our citizens. Senators Reid and Ensign have laid the groundwork for acquiring federal land by working to maximize the use of their Public Lands Act, and I am grateful for their assistance, but I need your help also. I am asking this Body to pass a resolution in support of this important program, and I am requesting city and county officials to work with our Housing Division so that we can make this initiative possible. We must open this door of opportunity, because home ownership should never be an impossible dream for the working families of Nevada.

Over the last six years, we have accomplished great things. In this year, as we celebrate the centennial of Las Vegas and Sparks, let me remind you that here in Nevada we are a community of pioneers. We are a community where the word first is not uncommon: first in job growth, first in new business creation, and together, we were the first state in the nation to privatize our workers' compensation system. We created a first-of-a-kind prescription drug program for senior citizens, and together we conducted the first fundamental review of our state government to analyze the expenditure side of our system before looking at the revenue side. Nevada has been first in many things, and we have traveled this difficult road together. The quality of life of those who place their trust in us is better for it.

Tonight, I have laid out a blueprint for the future, investing in our education, in medical research, and in economic development; saving for a rainy day; caring for those who need us most and whose voices often go unheard; building our physical infrastructure to handle the prosperity these investments will bring; and providing homes for our families. My plan for you tonight is not a series of programs but a road map for the future. Let this be the bold legacy, the rich inheritance of hope, we leave for all the people of Nevada.

As I look to the future, I am excited about what we can accomplish. We can make all the difference to the hardworking ranchers in rural Nevada, to the small business owners in all of our communities, to the high-tech companies of our growing cities, to the first-generation minority and women business owners, to the state's senior citizens, and, perhaps most important of all, to the kindergartner who raises her small hand to her heart and recites the Pledge of Allegiance for the first time in a Nevada classroom, fully equipped, fully staffed, and ready to fully meet her educational needs.

For the fourth and the final time, let me humbly repeat these words: I am proud to be your Governor. God Bless America and God bless our great state of Nevada, and thank you and good evening and have a great session. Thank you very much.

Our community, like so many areas of Nevada, is rich in history and famous for its colorful past. However, Carson City is unique. No other community in our state can boast the prestigious title of "Capital City." This is a designation of which we are very proud. Whether you are a first-time visitor or a veteran who has first-hand knowledge of Carson City's distinctive qualities, we hope our "down home, Nevada-style" hospitality will impress you.

We would like to invite you to attend a reception co-hosted by Douglas County, Lyon County, Storey County, and Carson City on February 8, 2005, at the Carson City Nugget, 507 North Carson Street, between 5:30—8:00 p.m. We hope to welcome you to Carson City, provide an opportunity to introduce you to other elected officials, and highlight several displays which demonstrate our regional pride.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2— Declaring 2005 to be “The Year of Languages.”

WHEREAS, Under the guidance of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, language education programs throughout the United States are celebrating 2005 as “The Year of Languages”; and

WHEREAS, For over 200 years, citizens from other countries have settled in our communities, enhancing the diversity of this nation and underlining the importance of understanding different cultures and languages; and

WHEREAS, Americans have growing social, cultural and economic ties to the global community, offering great opportunities and presenting new challenges as we seek to communicate with and understand those from different linguistic and cultural backgrounds; and

WHEREAS, The underlying tenet of “The Year of Languages” is to celebrate the increasing importance of learning other languages for use in our schools and everyday life, not only to promote a greater understanding of others, but to enhance career opportunities and to provide life-long learning opportunities for people beyond school age; and

WHEREAS, Foreign language educators are working cooperatively to promote the benefits of language learning to students, parents, businesses, health and social services leaders, and policy makers throughout this State and the nation; and

WHEREAS, Language education in the 21st century includes a commitment to the study of long sequences of world languages beginning in early grades to allow students to develop the level of proficiency needed to communicate effectively with others from different cultures, both at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS, The benefits gained from studying other cultures and languages include improved cognitive, analytical and communication skills, improved academic achievement, expanded career opportunities, and greater international awareness and understanding; and

WHEREAS, This year of celebrating languages serves as a look to the future for young Americans who will be entering the workforce at a time when international awareness, cross-cultural understanding and linguistic capacity are increasingly important for enhancing career opportunities and for their success as citizens of a broader world; and

WHEREAS, Each month “The Year of Languages” initiative will focus on different areas, including the importance of international engagement, the interrelationships between languages and other subject areas or professions, higher education learning, exploring different languages and cultures within our communities, adult learning and language use, parents’ roles in providing language opportunities, early language learning and maintenance of our heritage languages such as Native American languages and American Sign Language; and

WHEREAS, The success of “The Year of Languages” depends on the support and involvement of local foreign language teachers and guidance counselors, those who have access to the students, parents and community members to whom this effort is intended to reach; and

WHEREAS, Language educators are urging the public to recognize the value of delivering better education to students, of expanding the cultural and literary horizons of adult learners and of strengthening America’s position and security around the world; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That the Legislature of the State of Nevada does hereby recognize 2005 as “The Year of Languages”; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the efforts of organizations such as the Sierra Nevada World Language Collaborative, a 26-year-old organization of Washoe County foreign language educators that meet to share teaching ideas and to promote the study of foreign languages in our schools are hereby recognized and encouraged; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the residents of the State of Nevada are urged to become familiar with the services and benefits offered by language education programs in the State and to support and participate in these programs to gain proficiency not only in English, but in other languages as well.

THE FIFTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Friday), February 11, 2005

Assembly called to order at 11:05 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Leslie, Ocegüera, and Parks, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Dixie Jennings-Teats.

Before our prayer, I'd like to share a few words of context. My husband and I lived in Malaysia and Indonesia for five years, in coastal fishing villages about 100 miles from the villages and cities devastated by the tsunami in Aceh. I know all of us here today hold in our thoughts and prayers the people in the 11 nations affected by the tsunami. I am also aware of the hundreds of thousands of people who have lost their livelihoods from the destruction of the fishing economy and whatever farmland there was in the areas contaminated by salt water.

During this time many of our Asian brothers and sisters celebrate the lunar New Year, and have the custom of giving red paper envelopes filled with money to children for blessing and prosperity. Let us pray for that same kind of blessing and prosperity for the children and their families affected by the tsunami and the children and their families here in Nevada.

Let us pray:

Guide our feet, Lord, while we run this race. Remind us of all those in need of prayers for health, longevity, prosperity, and happiness. Keep us as flexible as bamboo bending, not breaking, in times of stress or conflict. In the decisionmaking of this Assembly, give the members the inner strength that comes from this kind of flexibility, strength to work and create together for the good of all. We ask for Your blessing.

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Motion carried.

GENERAL FILE AND THIRD READING

Senate Joint Resolution No. 2.

Resolution read.

Remarks by Assemblymen Buckley, Angle, Carpenter, Giunchigliani, and Anderson.

Conflict of interest declared by Assemblywoman Angle.

Assemblyman Ocegüera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I think the Minority Leader of the Senate said it pretty well yesterday. Over the years we see a lot of resolutions, and I do not think any, with the exception of Yucca Mountain, is as important with regard to the federal government and states' rights as this one. Recently, the President, in an attempt to reduce the soaring federal deficit, has recommended in his budget that money generated by federal land sales in Clark County be funded to the national treasury. Specifically, the proposal is to siphon off 70 percent of our lands sale revenue, or some $700 million a year, to pay for the staggering $527 billion deficit.

Since the Southern Nevada Public Land Management Act was adopted in 1998, land sales in southern Nevada have generated approximately $1.6 billion. That is much higher than anyone ever anticipated. Five percent goes to our schools, 10 percent for water infrastructure, and 85 percent for environmental restoration, parks and recreation projects, and sensitive land acquisition throughout the state, including $300 million specifically for Lake Tahoe, one of Nevada's treasures.

Now Washington wants to take it away from us. If the Bush budget is adopted, it will be devastating for Nevada. Projects like the Clark County Shooting Range, the Spring Mountains Information Center, improvements at Lake Mead and Red Rock, our treasure in southern Nevada, and the purchase of 770 acres of Incline Lake property east of Lake Tahoe, among others, will be jeopardized.

Not long ago, Interior Secretary Gale Norton came to Nevada and praised our program and how it was working: the idea of taking money and earmarking it for special programs and uses, and the way it was operating here. She did not mention, however, that the President was so impressed by our program that he planned to take all of our money away.

Mark my words, they will come after Clark County next. Next time it will be Lincoln County and northern Nevada land sales as well. Nevada has done enough. We already receive much less in federal funding than we contribute in taxes. We only get about 70 cents on the dollar returned to Nevada.

Furthermore, the federal government owns about 86 percent of land in our state, more than any other state in the continental U.S. This is land that cannot be developed and remains outside our tax rolls, which is a terrible deterrent to economic development and us controlling the destiny of our state.

Nevadans are proud Americans. We want to do our share. We pay our taxes. We play by the rules. We work hard. We support lowering the federal deficit, but do not do it at the expense of Nevada. Enough is enough. The money from the sale of land in Nevada should stay in Nevada to preserve our Nevada treasures, to build our infrastructure, and to educate our children. Nevada deserves no less. I urge your support of this resolution.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN ANGLE:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. As you know, I am an advocate for the Constitution, a strong supporter of the Tenth Amendment, state sovereignty, and state rights, but I have a conflict of interest and I will not be able to vote on this bill.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To me this is a pretty simple issue. The money that comes from the sale of lands in Nevada ought to stay in Nevada. So I support this resolution.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GIUNCHIGLIANI:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I guess my colleague from Elko took what I was going to say. What goes in Nevada stays in Nevada, but that wasn't really what I was going to say. I think the Majority Leader summed it up. Our lands are 84 percent already owned by the federal government. We have tried years and years and years to come up with some creative ways to get the government out of our business. Luckily, Senators Ensign and Bryan, at that time, actually wrote the Public Lands Act bill, which gave us some dollars back for our public. It is time that we pass this resolution, saying, "Stop trying to raid our coffers." We are spending millions of our own taxpayer dollars to fight them on Yucca Mountain, for example. Every time we turn around it is the federal government trying to take money out of our pockets. It is time for them to live within their own means and not come to Nevada for our dollars. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I guess it would be nice to indeed just say we all have that kind of conflict. I rise in support of this resolution. None of us likes to remind the federal government of the uniqueness of Nevada and Nevada land. Because of when we became a state, we are one of the few states in the United States that has such an onerous ownership of public lands. It detracts from everything we do. The availability of land makes us one of the highest metropolitan states in the United States. We do not think of us as a metropolitan area, and yet that is the reality of life because we are hemmed in by the national government in terms of what our rights and the rights of the citizens of this state are. So, clearly, this resolution only reaffirms us to an equal position with the other 49 states, and it would be negligent of our obligations not to support this resolution. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Roll call on Senate Joint Resolution No. 2:

YEAS—41.

NAYS—None.

NOT VOTING—Angle.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 having received a constitutional majority, Mr. Speaker declared it passed.

Assemblyman Anderson moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblyman Anderson.

Assemblyman Anderson requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

Indeed it would be hard to top the eloquent language in the resolution, which clearly states the purpose and intent of such a noble group. I, of course, chose my shirt today in honor of this auspicious occasion and the group that we honor today for the sixteenth time. That means over the last 32 years we have had a legislative day for this group that has appeared in the Nevada Legislature. Once again we see them here because of their concern for “widders.” Widders are near and dear to our hearts and clearly one of the questions which are in front of us.

My love of history compels me to remind the Body that E Clampus Vitus (ECV) Organization originated in the 1800s and became famous in the gold fields of California in the 1850s. The chapter quickly sprung up through the Mother Lode, in places like Downieville, Mokelumne Hill, and Sierra City. One of the purposes of the EVC was to provide relief for miners, widows, and orphans. Some might say that the interest in “widders” had some personal overtones and of course, such relationships were natural to happen.

Traveling salesmen called “drummers” often found it hard to sell their wares in these communities unless, of course, brother EVC members were entertained. An early saying in the gold camps was, “Clampers only patronize brother Clampers.” Therefore a good business practice would be to belong to such a group. In fact, some members, I believe, of our Body may be joining this group today for such a purpose. Sometimes the salesmen would end up in a rowdy drinking organization in order to facilitate the sale of his product and, of course, these members would take advantage of this opportunity, so when the sales drummer’s poke would be empty, generally speaking, the party came to an end.

As more people came out West, more staid fraternal organizations came into existence. The new lodges tended to be more clannish and serious when compared to the rowdy Clampers. To poke fun at the pomp and ceremony of these later organizations and the fancy sashes and bejeweled vests worn by some of their members, the Clampers made fun of these groups by cutting can lids into odd shapes and pinning them to their own simple vests. They called this “wearing your tin,” a practice continued to this day; although badges, ribbons, and enameled pins have taken the place of those tin cup lids.

The organization was revitalized in San Francisco in 1931. Today, E Clampus Vitus is a nonprofit organization, for me, that is involved in humanitarian and public help programs, while maintaining a steadfast program of historic preservation. There are numerous active chapters throughout the southwest dedicated to preserving western and mining history. This “serious” side of the organization works to find, research, and dedicate plaques to sites, incidents, and people in western history that might otherwise be overlooked. In fact, my family members maintain that I will never drive by one of these sites without making them all stop and read the plaque.

In their fun and frivolity and their ability to poke fun at themselves, they take on this serious business of continuing to have a good time and look after the needy “widders” who are out there, to keep our social lives alive, to care for the communities in which we live, and to make sure that if there are any traveling salesmen who need a good opportunity to see their poke go dry, they will be happy to fill it up.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Resolution adopted.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Stake President William Brewer.

Heavenly Father, we approach Thee in love and gratitude today for the many blessings that Thou hast poured out upon us. We are grateful for the bounty of this land, and the standard of living that we enjoy. We pray that we might ever be mindful of our blessings, and of those who are not as fortunate. Soften our hearts and help us to reach out to them in love and kindness.

We thank Thee for the freedoms that we enjoy in this great land and for the privilege of governing ourselves. Help us as citizens and those who lead us in our government to do that which is right and which will be of the greatest good to all the people. We are thankful for these legislators, gathered in this Assembly, who have left their homes, families, and careers in order to be of service to the people of Nevada. Heavenly Father, we ask Thee to bless this Assembly this day, that Thy Spirit will enlighten and inspire these who govern, and help them to make decisions and create laws that will be in accordance with Thy will. Bless them with wisdom, patience, and a cheerful nature as they go about their labors. Bless us as a people to support and sustain them by observing the law and by carefully protecting our freedoms through recognizing and following through on our responsibilities as citizens.

We love Thee, Father, and ask for these blessings in the name of Thy Son, Jesus Christ.

Madame Speaker pro Tempore presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Christensen and Horne, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Bishop Doug Christenson.

Our beloved Heavenly Father, we come before Thee with gratitude and thankfulness in our hearts. We thank Thee for the Savior Jesus Christ and His example of a perfect life that we try to emulate.

We thank Thee for this beautiful land in which we live. We thank Thee for providing this country with all its freedom. We are grateful for our forefathers who have fought for those freedoms and we pray for the men and women who are now in harms way defending those fundamental freedoms. Wilt Thou return these men and women home safely when the time is right. We pray for their families that they will be comforted and blessed during this time of sacrifice. We thank Thee for our government and its leaders. Wilt Thou guide and direct them as they make decisions to lead us into the future.

We thank Thee for the beautiful state of Nevada. We recognize Thy hand in all the creations that we see around us. We thank Thee for these men and women who lead us in this state. Please bless them with health and strength as they perform their duties. Bless them as they govern and search to do that which is right for the citizens of this state. Thou knowest that there is much evil in the world today. Please bless this government that they will be mindful of the youth and work on their behalf to protect and bless their lives. Heavenly Father, we pray that Thou wilt be with the families of this good Legislature. Protect them and watch over them.

We pray unto Thee, Heavenly Father, to be with each citizen and heal those that are in need. We pray that Thou wilt continue to lift the hearts of the wonderful people of this state that they will strive to help their brother, sister, and neighbor. Pour out Thy spirit upon each individual, that their choices may be guided to do what is right and righteous. We pray for families. There is much evil trying to tear down the family today. Wilt Thou strengthen each father and mother so that they can raise their children in righteousness. Bless the children that they will follow in the good example of their parents.

We ask Thee, now, Heavenly Father, to be with this Body. Bless them this day that their minds and bodies will be strong as they work to benefit the people. Protect them from harm and accident so that they can return to their families soon.

We love Thee with all our hearts. We pray that Thou wilt forgive us of the things that we do wrong. Bless us that each day we will strive to be more worthy of Thy blessings. Again we express our thankfulness to Thee and pray for these blessings in the name of our Savior, Jesus Christ, amen.

AMEN.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 5—Commemorating the 100th anniversary of Las Vegas and designating the year 2005 as the “Las Vegas Centennial Celebration.”

Commemorating the 100th anniversary of Las Vegas and designating the year 2005 as the “Las Vegas Centennial Celebration.”

Whereas, Hidden for centuries from all but Native Americans, the oasis that would become known as Las Vegas Valley was protected from discovery by the surrounding harsh and unforgiving Mojave Desert until 1829 when it was sighted by Rafael Rivera, a scout for the New Mexico trader, Antonio Armijo; and

Whereas, The abundance of artesian spring water discovered in the Valley shortened the trade route along the Old Spanish Trail from Santa Fe, New Mexico, to Los Angeles, California, and the area became known as “Las Vegas,” Spanish for “The Meadows”; and

Whereas, In 1844, famed explorer Captain John C. Fremont camped near the springs, described the route and noted the name “Las Vegas” in his expedition journal, which would later be published and distributed and help make the Valley known to the world; and

Whereas, The first non-Native American settlement in the Valley was a fortified mission built in 1855 by Mormon colonists who were quickly overwhelmed by the rigors of desert life and occasional Indian raids and who abandoned the site 2 years later; and

Whereas, After filing unsuccessful mining claims near present-day Boulder City, Octavius Decatur Gass, considered a founding father of Las Vegas, established a working ranch in 1865 near the remains of the Mormon fort on what is now downtown Las Vegas; and

Whereas, The Gass ranch was acquired in 1881 by Archibald Stewart and was sold 21 years later by his wife Helen to Montana Senator William A. Clark, who subsequently used the land to complete the railroad line between Los Angeles, California, and Salt Lake City, Utah; and

Whereas, By 1905, the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad was completed and a railroad town was laid out on 110 acres bounded by Stewart Avenue, Garces Avenue, Main Street, and 5th Street, which is now Las Vegas Boulevard; and

Whereas, On May 15, 1905, the Railroad auctioned lots in the townsite called "Las Vegas," establishing the humble beginning of a city that would become a thriving business mecca and the entertainment capital of the world; and

Whereas, The Las Vegas Centennial Celebration Committee is dedicated to educating the public and commemorating and celebrating the history and culture of Las Vegas; and

Whereas, The Centennial Celebration is a year-long event meant to include both residents and tourists by creating a wide range of activities, projects and events; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of Nevada, the Assembly Concurring, That the members of the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature do hereby commemorate the 100th anniversary of the founding of Las Vegas and designate the year 2005 as the "Las Vegas Centennial Celebration"; and be it further

Resolved, That the Las Vegas Centennial Celebration Committee is hereby commended for its efforts to ensure that the residents of Nevada are aware of the historic events that established and developed Las Vegas, for preserving the history of Las Vegas through Centennial legacy projects that will honor the past and for establishing endowments for historic preservation projects in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That the Las Vegas Centennial Celebration Committee is hereby urged to continue the year-long celebration of Las Vegas as one of the great American cities, as documented by Insignia Films in their award-winning American Experience series; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Mayor Oscar B. Goodman, Chairman of the Las Vegas Centennial Celebration Committee.

SEVENTY-THIRD SESSION, 2005

I first came to Carson City as a member of the Assembly in 1969. I can still recall the thoughts that raced through my mind on that long, lonely drive from Las Vegas. That was my first trip. I didn't want to leave my family. We had two babies and I had a law practice. I was worried about my new life, and my new responsibilities. When I finally arrived in our state Capitol, my new home was a room in the Frontier Motel. It was a scary time, a real adjustment. But as the Legislature began, my fears turned to excitement with the realization that I would have an opportunity to change things for the better.

In the 36 years since I made that trip, much has changed in our state. Our population has grown to nearly two-and-one-half million. Las Vegas has become one of the strongest economic engines in the nation, with the 10 largest hotels in the world. Mining is back. Reno, Sparks, Pahrump, Carson City, Elko, Yerington, Fernley, and Dayton have all grown dramatically.

But certain things have not changed since I made that long, lonely trip. All of us here tonight still have that same opportunity to make life better for the people we serve and represent. As I look around the room today, I see this Legislature as a snapshot of Nevada. We have doctors, ranchers, and a nuclear physicist. We have high school teachers, elementary school teachers, and lawyers. We have police officers, a fire captain, and a member of the Army Reserve. We have a radio station manager, a newspaper publisher, a waitress, and many others. In short, we have citizens from all walks of life who have come together to make a difference for the people of Nevada.

As I reflect on my time in Carson City, my mind and heart quickly go to the man who I believe was the best public servant this state has ever known, Governor Mike O'Callaghan. Mike worked every day to make life better for others. Mike died in church last year, making the distance he traveled to heaven just a little shorter. The lessons he taught us are forever. We are elected as Democrats and Republicans, but serve as Nevadans. We need to work as a team if we want positive results. Which brings to mind another Nevadan, someone not in my political party but someone I admire, Governor Kenny Guinn. We may not be in the same party, but I have great respect for him and the work he has done, both as Governor and all the things he did before he got here.

Speaking of members of the other political organization, John Ensign and I have set a good example of bipartisanship. We have demonstrated that it is possible to put partisan differences aside for the good of Nevada. For example, Senator Ensign and I worked together on legislation that allows our state to take the proceeds from the sale of public lands in southern Nevada and use that money to protect Nevada's parks, trails, natural areas, and other special places. It's a Nevada solution to address our Nevada challenges.

Unfortunately, President Bush wants to take the money from Nevada and hand it to the federal government. This money has been earmarked for our needs. It should stay here, and the Nevada congressional delegation is working to prevent the Bush administration from stealing this money. I congratulate and applaud the Legislature for the actions you have taken in resolving that the money should not come back to Washington.

That is not the only area where we are working together in Washington to make Nevada an even better place. Individual states have always regulated hunting and fishing within their boundaries, but a recent federal court ruling is endangering this right by preventing states like Nevada from setting different hunting and fishing standards for residents and non-residents. Lawmakers from both sides of the aisle in Washington, Senator Ensign and I included, disagree with the court and are seeking to overturn it through legislation I have introduced. It is Nevadans who work to protect fish and game here; it is Nevadans who support wildlife conservation through their work and their taxes; and it is Nevadans who should get to set limits on who hunts and fishes within our boundaries.

Senator Ensign and I have also joined in introducing the Voter Integrity and Verification Act. It would require every state to meet Nevada's high election standards. Nevada is leading the country ensuring every vote is counted, and I believe that if every Nevada voter has a paper ballot receipt, every voter in America should have one as well. I believe this is crucial legislation, and I will do everything I can to see that it passes.

Now, I don't too often meddle in your business, but while we're on the subject of voting, please come together and do something about voter registration before we do something about it in Washington. With all the new technology, there is no reason why Nevada should close the door to registration one month before Election Day. This is about giving Nevadans a voice in our government and that is something we should all work and agree on, Republican, Democrat, or Independent.

And there is another area where we should all agree. The people of Nevada voted overwhelmingly last November to raise their minimum wage. Their voices could not be clearer. Minimum wage is decades behind cost of living. Don't make families wait another two years. You can pass this legislation and help hardworking Nevadans, like those workers here today, get ahead with jobs that pay enough to make ends meet.

Finally, let me say a few words, in closing, on Social Security. There are times in public service when you have to stand and fight. I'm willing to work with the President when he is on the right track, but when he gets off track, as he has on Social Security, my Democratic colleagues and I will not shy away from expressing our view of what is right and what is wrong. President Bush likes to say Social Security is in crisis as he travels across the country. Well, the Academy Awards are this Sunday night, and if they gave an Oscar for "crisis creation," I'm certain the Bush White House would win in a landslide. The truth is, Social Security is not about to go bankrupt. If we do nothing, seniors will get 100 percent of their Social Security benefits for nearly the next 50 years. And even after that they would continue to get 80 percent of their benefits after that. We do need to address Social Security's long-term problems, and Democrats in Congress want to work with the President to strengthen the program, but we must do it right. Let me be clear: privatization is not the answer. The President's plan will not strengthen Social Security, it will destroy Social Security. The Bush plan will result in cuts to a retiree's benefits by a third, or more, and force us to borrow nearly $5 trillion, most of it from foreign countries like China and Japan. I want to work with the President to address Social Security's long-term challenges, but a crisis it is not. We need to find ways to help Americans save. But we will never agree to a privatization plan that damages Social Security by making deep cuts in benefits and amassing immoral debt increases. Social Security is America's promise of a secure retirement to those who work hard and play by the rules. It is a promise we should all work to keep. I hope you will send that message loud and clear to the President by passing a resolution expressing the Nevada State Legislature's opposition to any changes in Social Security that result in benefit cuts.

As I now reflect on that 400-mile trip that took me from Las Vegas to Carson City over three decades ago, I realize my life has taken me further than I ever dreamed. From city attorney, to county responsibilities, to duties with the state, and now a member of Congress; from Searchlight to Washington, D.C. It has been a long trip with, I am told, a few bumps along the way. But I only remember the pleasurable vistas on my life's journey. I've never forgotten what inspired me during my first days in government or the lessons I learned from Mike O'Callaghan, that we as public servants have the opportunity to make life better for those we represent. You see, the American Dream, to me, is not just another phrase. It is reality. Each day of my life I have lived the American Dream. I am grateful to the people of Nevada for permitting me to live that dream and to continue the trip I began here 36 years ago.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1.

Remarks by Assemblymen Buckley and Mabey.

Assemblywoman Buckley requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Everyone remembers a moment in their lives when they were in school when history became alive, that you weren't bored anymore—something grabbed you. I remember one of those first times for me was when I learned about the Great Depression. It was hard to imagine the ordeal that the country went through, having not lived it; the stock market crash; the high rates of unemployment; the suicides, people jumping out of buildings when they lost all of their savings. At that time, over half of our nation's elderly were living in poverty, and any of them who had savings found the savings were suddenly gone.

But out of hardship came vision. Franklin Delano Roosevelt said, "We can never insure one hundred percent of the population against one hundred percent of the hazards and vicissitudes of life, but we have tried to frame a law which will give some measure of protection to the average citizen and to his family against the loss of a job and against poverty-ridden old age." And so began the Social Security Act. For over 60 years, Social Security has been a program of many successes, which ultimately created a country where our senior citizens do not live in abject poverty. 314,120 Nevadans depend on Social Security. In a study by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, 67,000 of Nevada seniors are lifted out of poverty because of Social Security. Forty-five percent of elderly people in Nevada would be poor if it was not for Social Security, and 79 percent of these seniors are women who would live in poverty but for Social Security. There is no doubt that Social Security is one of America's most successful programs. There is also little doubt that things are different today; people are living longer and demographics are shifting now so that more retirees will be financed by the future generations. The Congressional Budget Office projects that Social Security can pay full benefits to 2052 and about 80 percent of promised benefits after that. That problem must be solved.

Individual accounts do nothing to reduce the shortfall of funds, as even a recent White House memo indicates. What does the privatization plan do? It diverts money out of the Social Security Trust Fund. Because so much of the fund is now being used to fund current retirees, widows, widowers (no Clampus pun intended), the disabled, and children, money being diverted must be replaced.

And what would it cost? The estimates range from $1 trillion to $9 trillion over the next decade. No matter which figure is accurate, it means one of two things: massive government debt on top of our massive deficit, or massive benefit cuts. This is the wrong way to go for America. This is the wrong way to go for our seniors.

Privatizations turn Social Security from a guarantee into a gamble. Stock markets go up and down. There is no way to tell when the market is going to go up or down, unless you are Martha Stewart. If you retire when the stock market is down, you lose. If you get cancer when the market is down, you lose. Placing Social Security savings into Wall Street is a risky gamble.

Others have summed it up a lot quicker. Here is my favorite: Social Security is like a car with a flat tire. You should fix the tire and not borrow money to buy another car.

So I would ask that you support this resolution urging Congress to protect our seniors, our disabled, and all of those who depend on Social Security, by urging Congress to strengthen Social Security and not to gamble with it.

ASSEMBLYMAN MABEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in opposition to AJR 1. I appreciate the elegant remarks by my colleague from Assembly District 8. I am concerned about Social Security. That is my form of retirement, or one of them. But I don't know that privatization is so risky. Those who are employees of the State and county use the PERS system. Most of their funds are in Index funds, which are stock and bond funds, the same which would occur, as I understand it, with privatization. When this was started back in 1935, I can't remember the number of employees per recipient, but it was, say, eight or nine. Now it is down to two or three. Something is needed. I understand that it's not an immediate need, but I think it is something that needs to be looked at, and excluding privatization of Social Security funds to be placed in safe index bond or stock funds, to me, does not seem risky. In my opinion, we need to continue to work on this. I would agree it doesn't have to be hasty, but I think this needs to be one of the things that are looked at, privatization of Social Security funds. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

United States Representative Jim Gibbons delivered his message as follows:

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA
SEVENTY-THIRD SESSION, 2005

Thank you, it is good to be home. Madam President, Mr. Speaker, Minority and Majority Leaders, constitutional officers, members of the Legislature, and special guests, thank you for that warm Nevada welcome, and it is, indeed, good to be home. Let me begin by also thanking each of you for your service to Nevada. You are 63 members from all walks of life, reflecting the uniqueness of our great state. The talent that is in this room is diversified, and your combined backgrounds offer the expertise needed for solving the many, many issues facing our state. Thank you for taking on that challenge. As you know, when you decided to serve in the Nevada Legislature, you had to give up precious time with your family and time that you could be spending on a career. You have all made that choice, and let me say, Nevada is a better place because of that choice.

As one who has also served in these chambers, I understand the obstacles you face, particularly in going from your committee hearings to your respective house floors for a vote. Now, if you have any problems getting through the crowded halls filled with lobbyists, I suggest you find either Senator Rhodes, Assemblyman Carpenter, Assemblyman Marvel, or especially Pete Goicoechea. They are all used to handling some pretty rambunctious steers and it shouldn't be a problem at all, or a challenge, for them to clear a path in the hallways.

Let me begin tonight by applauding Governor Guinn's vision and leadership for providing the best services and quality of life possible for Nevada's residents by first replenishing the Rainy Day Fund; also, ensuring that our children's educational needs are met, and providing incentives for keeping and attracting the best educators to our state, as well as establishing reasonable measures of accountability. In addition, his proposals for increasing Nevada's access to health care benefits, protecting the Millennium Scholarships, and providing affordable housing are so important to the future and well-being of our state. Most importantly, the Governor's proposal to give back to the hardworking taxpayer some of the excess surplus is most deserving. After all, ladies and gentlemen, it is their money. So, thank you, Governor Guinn, for that proposal.

As I begin my fifth term in Congress, I look fondly back at my days serving our citizens in this Body and want to offer one simple thought. That is, each one of you is here tonight because people elected you to represent them. Elections in America make us all stronger, no matter the outcome. Whether people exercise their right to vote, whether for a candidate or a cause, America, Nevada, and our citizens win. All around the world today, we are seeing more free and fair elections taking place. The more free elections held around the world, the better off we are here at home. To that end, we must never forget the sacrifice, many times the ultimate sacrifice, which our servicemen and women have made in defense of liberty and this nation.

Now, some would say that our form of government isn't perfect, but perfection is what we as Americans and Nevadans strive for, and after all, that is not a bad goal to have. America must continue to set the highest standards, whether it is in our national defense and security, our system of education, our health care, or in the charitable giving we do at home and abroad. The struggles we faced nearly two-and-a-half centuries ago are just taking shape in countries far away from here, far from this chamber, this very institution of democracy. And the outcome of these many elections must not go unnoticed. In the Ukraine, when an election was clearly rigged to benefit one candidate over another, the people rose up and demanded their voice be heard in a new, free, and fair election, and, ladies and gentlemen, that happened. The pro-democracy candidate ended up winning because his platform promised freedom to the people who so desperately wanted it.

Afghanistan is a country that had seen nothing but war and bloodshed for decades and decades on end. In 1996, they fell under the rule of the brutal Taliban regime and became a breeding and training ground for exporting violence and terror. The people in Afghanistan are now served by democratically elected officials, rather than by butchers, thugs, rapists, and murderers. For the first time in modern history, Afghan women, ladies and gentlemen, are free to go to school, free to go to work, and free to vote. Amazing. Yes, the people of Afghanistan still face tremendous security and economic challenges. More struggles certainly lie ahead for the Afghan people. Both men and women in Afghanistan are just beginning to taste the freedom; freedom that we often, in this country, take for granted. And let me tell you, I have traveled all over the world and met people from many different cultures. One point that they all have in common is a taste of freedom is never enough. It is addicting, and they never willingly give it up. And because we have new allies in Afghanistan, and in the Afghan government, we will stand by them and assist their leaders in advancing liberty, freedom, and economic opportunity.

We must also take note of the historic election by the Palestinian people. A real and meaningful peace between Israel and a neighboring Palestine state is now, for the first time in most of my life, a real possibility. We must continue to embrace such efforts and assist in any way we can.

And, of course, we just witnessed the true empowerment of democracy in the amazing Iraqi elections. I recently received a note from Maj. Frank Turek, a Reno man serving in Iraq. His words describe the impact of that election better than I ever could. With your indulgence, I would like to read you a portion of that letter:

"In the months leading up to the 30 Jan 05 Iraqi democratic elections, I was not completely confident that the Iraqi people would support an election. Up until the day of the elections, no one really knew who would turn out to vote. The days leading up to 30 January were filled with an inexplicable tension. What message would the Iraqi people have for the world? For themselves? Halfway into the morning of 30 Jan, there still had been no dramatic indication of voter turnout. The afternoon produced a dramatic turn of events. Not only were Iraqis turning out to vote, they were banding together in groups of thirty or more to show their defiance toward the insurgents. Their unanticipated approach to band together in groups with the unspoken, tacit agreement that if they were to die they would die together, but vote they would, said more than anyone could imagine.

It was such a powerful statement that it might have been the act that stopped the insurgents from initiating more hostilities. It was such a moving tribute to the Iraqi resolve. Without fanfare, without hype, without computers, without fancy up-to-the-minute lights and camera coverage—just a simple walk to an empty room somewhere, with a few cardboard ballot stations, pencils, and a plain old box into which old-fashioned paper ballots were deposited, to be counted by hand—Iraqis voted for the first time in their lives. Over 10 million Iraqis walked to ballot boxes. Seventy-two percent of eligible, registered voters walked the gauntlet of fear, defying their tormentors head-on.”

I can add nothing to our brave friend’s moving words. I can simply be thankful that he is there for us and for the people of Iraq.

We have and will forever honor our heroes, those serving today and those veterans who rose to the occasion during the calling of their generation. Our nation, and indeed our state, has lost many brave soldiers in our current war on terror. Ladies and gentlemen, I carry this card every day. This card has the name of every Nevadan who has lost their life in the fight against terrorism. This is something that I carry with me every day to remind myself of the tremendous price of freedom. These courageous Americans, like so many before them, gave the one and only life God gave them, to us, and to millions of others, so that we all may live in a world that is more peaceful, more free from the tyranny they were called on to defeat. In honor of those Nevadans who gave their lives to provide us a safer America and a freer world, Senator John Ensign and I passed legislation naming the new post office north of Reno in Golden Valley the “Guardians of Freedom Memorial Post Office.” My staff and I worked with the North Valleys High School Junior ROTC and the Army National Guard from Stead to come up with the name of that post office. Members of the North Valleys High School ROTC are here with us tonight, and I’d like to thank them for their help.

Others with us tonight also deserve recognition. We have Major General Giles Vanderhoof, Command Master Chief Dave Bisson, and Colonel Walter Givhan from the 99th Airbase wing at Nellis Air Force Base. We also have Lieutenant Colonel John Summers, Commander of the Hawthorne Army Depot. They are with us tonight. To each of you, thank you for your service that you provide us, and especially for the leadership that you provide our servicemen and women. Thank you. You, along with our military personnel based all across America and around the world, remain in our thoughts and prayers.

On another front, this year Congress will take up the next round of Base Realignment and Closure, also known as BRAC. Just over a year ago, in anticipation of this round of BRAC, I formed the Nevada Military Advocacy Commission, with the support of our entire congressional delegation and the Governor. Our mission is to see that Nevada’s bases are properly protected from any closures or major funding or infrastructure cuts. Cuts in Nevada bases would harm us economically, and more important, our nation militarily. This commission, which is made up of some of Nevada’s most notable civic, community, business, and veterans’ advocacy groups, has spent a year studying the importance of our military installations. We toured bases. We examined the economic benefits that our bases provide Nevada. We held briefings on the environmental and encroachment issues that concern our bases’ top commanders. We also explored infrastructure and family-support efforts that are so critical to housing our troops and our families.

As we enter this next round of BRAC, I want to take a moment and thank those who serve on this vital committee for their continued hard work and for their dedication to Nevada’s role in our national defense. Some of these dedicated folks also serve right here, with you, in our state government. Senators Mike McGinness and Bernice Mathews, and Assemblymen David Parks and Tom Grady, thank you for helping protect our military infrastructure in Nevada. You, along with our executive committee members, Randy Black, Senior, Don Snyder, Bob Shriver, and Giles Vanderhoof truly deserve the gratitude and thanks of all Nevadans. Nevada has one of the strongest economies in the nation. My work will continue in this congressional session to see that not only Nevadans continue to prosper, but that our entire country can share in these strong economic times.

One thing we all know is that our economic strength cannot continue in Nevada unless we produce the best and brightest workforce from our educational system. If we cannot demonstrate our ability to produce a viable workforce, new businesses looking to come to Nevada will certainly look elsewhere.

Currently, Nevada enjoys some of the lowest unemployment rates in the country and even in our state’s history. Much of the credit goes out to people like Senators Steven Horsford and Warren Hardy. Senator Horsford is the president and CEO of the board of trustees for Nevada Partners, a non-profit organization that provides free, industry-specific job training to many Nevadans. Steven also oversees the Culinary Training Academy, a collaboration between gaming and the Culinary and Bartenders Union, which prepares more than 2,500 people each year for positions in our state's hospitality industry. Senator Hardy is, of course, well known for his leadership with the Associated Builders and Contractors. ABC is constantly working not only to train those who are helping build Nevada, but to fight for affordable health care for their members, advocate for their right to repair, and negotiate prevailing wage job classifications for open shop contractors. Ladies and gentlemen, these two Senators come from different backgrounds, advancing different legislative priorities based on different political philosophies. However, they are both well-respected because they each possess that heartfelt conviction about these issues and they each care very deeply for our current and future workforce in Nevada.

Because of talents such as these, we have a great opportunity to not only capture businesses seeking to call Nevada home, but also to improve, strengthen, and expand those businesses that have been creating good jobs, right here, for generations. We all have a stake in ensuring that Nevada puts education first, and we need to work together in a nonpartisan manner to find and promote ideas on how to achieve true academic excellence. What we do know is that it takes good teachers, involved parents, strong financial support, and, for the sake of our kids and their future, our commitment in dollars must to be accompanied by strict standards and accountability.

I had the honor of working with the Department of Education to amend the No Child Left Behind Act to provide flexibility to our schools here in Nevada. When this Act was signed into law, many of Nevada's rural teachers came to me and said that it was nearly impossible to gain certifications as highly-qualified teachers in every subject they teach. You see, in our rural areas, many of these teachers instruct multiple grade levels, and some in nearly every subject. They genuinely needed more time than the law provided to gain their certifications. We worked with the Administration to provide that needed flexibility, and now Nevada's schoolchildren won't lose their truly highly qualified teachers.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce Charlotte Petersen, the Superintendent for Humboldt County, who greatly helped that effort to modify the No Child Left Behind Act to accommodate our rural schools. Charlotte, thank you for your valuable service to our children. In the session ahead, I will work to amend the Act further to provide flexibility for our first-and-second-generation American students. Nevada's Hispanic population continues to grow, and many of our students speak English as a second language. A majority of these students are very bright, but they are being forced to test in only English, and their skills are not often reflected in their scores. We must work to provide these kids, as well as their parents and teachers, some peace of mind by allowing them additional time to gain command of the English language. I will work with my colleagues in Congress to amend this important Act, so we can provide these students the flexibility to take their preliminary tests in their native language. In doing so, we will further live up to the intent of the legislation, as well as the title, by leaving no child behind.

Each biennium, ladies and gentlemen, you come to Carson City with fresh numbers on population growth and new school openings. Last September alone, Clark County opened over a dozen new schools, and more will be needed in each of the years ahead. Additionally, we have to provide for those schools that are already open and operational. We need to keep up with that growth and maintenance, and we need to find alternative sources of revenue. In this Congress, I will be proposing an amendment to the Southern Nevada Public Lands Management Act, which will keep the money in Nevada by increasing the amount targeted toward educating our kids. Like the No Child Left Behind Act, I supported the Southern Nevada Public Lands Management Act. Former Senator Richard Bryan and now Senator John Ensign deserve a lot of credit for their vision and leadership as the original architects of that legislation. But now, as we have seen this Act carried out over the last seven years, I want to share with you some important statistics.

Since the first land sale in 1998 under this Act, through January of this year, Nevada's General Education Fund has increased by $79 million. That revenue is from the sale of more than 28,000 acres of land for development in southern Nevada. Now, had the original percentage of revenue earmarked for education been 35 percent, the number I would like to achieve, rather than the 5 percent that it is at today, Nevada's general education fund would have increased by sevenfold. Think about it. Instead of $80 million, it would be closer to $600 million. And consider this. By the time you meet again in the Session of 2007, we will have sold off an additional one-to-two billion dollars' worth of land in southern Nevada. Under my plan, that would yield an additional $350 million to $700 million for our permanent education fund. But it can only and will only happen if we work together and we act now to amend this legislation.

Folks, when people in Washington, D.C. ask me about Nevada and how is it we are able to work as neighbors with the federal government, I tell them that the federal government is not our neighbor, it is the neighborhood. Currently, the federal government keeps 85 percent of the proceeds of the sale of each and every acre to be used for parks, trails, wildlife restoration, and important environmental improvements. That work is critical, and it must continue.

Unfortunately, however, an enormous amount of that funding is also being used to acquire large amounts of private land around the state. Right now, the federal government owns and regulates a surprising 91.9 percent of Nevada lands. Since enactment of this legislation, the BLM, as I said earlier, has sold about 28,000 acres. Yet at the same time they've used the proceeds from these sales for the approved purchase of more than 156 square miles of private lands elsewhere in Nevada. For comparison, let me say that's equivalent to the size of the Las Vegas Valley, and that includes North Las Vegas and Henderson as well. What happens then is we put our financially-strapped rural counties in a worse situation by taking even more of their land off their tax rolls. And these rural counties need a reasonable property tax base, just as Clark does, just as Washoe does. They need funds for essential services for their citizens, services like police and fire, hospitals, highway and roadway maintenance and transportation, education, libraries, water and sewer services, and other infrastructure needs that everyone in every community expects government to provide.

The federal government, centered some 2,600 miles away, owns and regulates 9 out of every 10 acres in this state. Ladies and gentlemen, I say enough is enough. You know, I have a lot more faith in you to decide Nevada's future than I do the federal bureaucracy. Let me say that some skeptics of my proposal say that it is too risky to try and amend the Act, and others claim that by instituting necessary reforms, we will open up a "Pandora's box," thus allowing others to try to take the money from Nevada. Well folks, I think we know that this is already happening. The administration is trying to use the money from this account to pay down the national debt. I oppose that effort. I will also tell you if they aren't successful and they don't get their way, I can see politicians from other western states, like California and Oregon, who will try to tap into this account for their own priorities. My plan, my proposal, keeps the money in Nevada—where it belongs.

It sends the signal that, yes, we will open more lands for development in an environmentally responsible way and we will build more homes, and businesses will come and our communities will grow. We know that in the years ahead, many new residents will be coming to Nevada. They will be coming with their children, and they will be bringing with them demands for a strong education system. Let's work together. Let's keep this money here. Let's invest it in our children, not on additional federal land grabs.

This, and increasing Nevada's share of the federal Payment In Lieu of Taxes, is a high priority for me, and it should be a high priority for everyone. Folks, it's quite simple. If our rural counties go bankrupt, it is our populated counties and their citizens who will be stuck with the tab. It was an honor for me to meet with Chancellor Jim Rogers to discuss this issue a few months back and to gain his support for my proposal. Today, each one of your offices received a letter from Chancellor Rogers expressing his support for this proposal. I hope you will join us in supporting this effort. Thanks to Senators John Ensign and Harry Reid, this Act has already been amended to do great things for Nevada, from funding the Lake Tahoe Restoration Act, to the proposed effort to replenish the Southern Nevada Water Authority's turf buyback program. Let's work together to put that money to further use here in Nevada. After all, we all would like to see growth pay for growth. That can't occur when the funds are used by the federal government or to buy up huge allotments of land throughout the state. It does, however, occur when we invest in education, invest in roads, trails, parks, and affordable housing—all here in Nevada.

Of course, there will be many more issues for me to work on in Congress, like our nation's energy needs. I look forward to once again working to pass meaningful legislation that will make us less reliant on foreign sources of energy; legislation that will help promote new fuels like bio-diesel and alternate renewable energy like geothermal and solar. This effort of advancing energy independence is not only critical to our economy, but critical to our national defense as well.

The same applies to our mining industry here in Nevada, ladies and gentlemen. Our economy cannot afford onerous regulations being passed down onto our mining industry to the levels where they can no longer afford to operate in Nevada or even in the United States. If we allow this to happen, those operations, and more importantly, those jobs, will go to foreign nations. We all know of the troubles we've had repeatedly over the years by relying so heavily on foreign sources of energy. Every day we see gas prices rise due to OPEC's increase in the price of a barrel of oil. OPEC holds America hostage. This country does not want to end up being held hostage for the metals and minerals that are used to manufacture everything from the cars we drive, to the computers we use, to the very lights in this building. In Nevada, mining is part of who we are and why our forefathers settled here. Nevada is, after all, the "Silver State." Not only does mining play an enormous role in our economy, it plays an enormous role in households across Nevada.

With me tonight is the Jamarillo family. Stephanie Jamarillo's grandfather worked in the mining industry in Pioche, nearly a century ago. Her father worked throughout Nevada in the mining industry, as well. Now, as a third-generation Nevada miner, Stephanie works for Eagle-Pitcher Minerals and has since 1997. Her husband Ramon is a second-generation Nevada miner. He has been with Coeur Rochester now for nearly a decade. Together, they have two children, Drew and Riley. These kids, ladies and gentlemen, have a home, they have food on the table, they have a working mom and dad, and, hopefully, a great future in Nevada all because of our mining industry and the support we lend them as political leaders. Ladies and gentlemen, please help me welcome from Lovelock this evening, the real face of the mining industry in Nevada, the Jamarillo family.

Let me add that the mining industry is advancing because of scientific breakthroughs. Through the great work of the Mackay School of Mines and the Desert Research Institute, Nevada is at the forefront of these advances. Last year, I had the privilege of seeing some of the fascinating work being done by researchers and scientists at the DRI Dandini campus in Reno. Dr. Stephen Wells hosted me for a lunch following the tour, but I'm sure he will tell you that it was hard getting me out of the lab coat and goggles and into the cafeteria. Let me say, though, through innovative technologies and some of the most brilliant scientific minds on the planet, DRI has come up with their CAVE project. CAVE will serve as a cutting-edge laboratory with an environmental virtual reality visualization lab. It will be the centerpiece of their work. This project is only the third of its kind in America, but it is the very first dedicated to environmental research. The benefits of this program are quite diverse, from helping our military train on different terrain and under varying elements, to assisting our federal and state fire-management agencies in determining characteristics of wildfires. I will continue to work in Congress to help fund projects like this, because our investment in projects like DRI's CAVE project will ultimately lead to profits tomorrow; not just monetary profits for DRI, but the economic profits that come with Nevada emerging as a leading center for scientific research. Dr. Wells, you have a CAVE project that has earned my support and the support of Congress, and I hope it earns the support of the Legislature. Dr. Wells, thank you for being here.

On these, and all other issues, we will work hard to make sure Nevada's voices are heard in the halls of Congress, and so that each of you and those you represent can have faith in our form of government.

Before I conclude my remarks tonight, I would like to mention a few wonderful leaders who are no longer with us since I was here two years ago. President Ronald Reagan, whom I looked to as a role model and whose vision and optimism inspired so many of us. Even with his death, he brought this country together again as he so often did as President. Governor Mike O'Callaghan, the man who embodied Nevada's can-do spirit, and who cared about every single citizen in this state without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, or political party.

Closer to home, we lost our friend, Sparks Mayor Tony Armstrong. Tony's son, Richard, Richard's wife, Monica, and Tony's wife, Debbie, are here with us tonight. Tony Armstrong and I had been close friends since we were kids in school, growing up in Sparks. We visited each other regularly over the years. We supported each other in our professional and political endeavors and we always reflected fondly on our youth growing up in Sparks. Tony always had that twinkle in his eye, especially in recent years when he would come up to me and tell me how his pilot training was going, or how his golf game was improving. He was so proud that he was learning to fly. Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have to admit, I've earned a couple of medals for valor while flying, but I was never brave enough to get into an airplane that Tony Armstrong was piloting. Golf cart, yes; plane, no; and we would also laugh and laugh about that. That was the way Tony was. I visited Tony on the evening before he was taken from us, and most of you have probably heard, his concern was never for himself, but rather for the people he was leaving behind, particularly the good citizens of Sparks whom he represented, and his dear family he loved so much. Many of us lost a friend in Tony Armstrong. Oftentimes, in public office, we all sometimes find that we focus too heavily on the sacrifices that we make. But we also can never forget to acknowledge the support of our loved ones. Debbie, we honor your presence, your grace, and your undying love for your dear Tony. I invited you so that we could pay tribute to your husband, but also so we can pay tribute to you, and the sacrifices you and so many other spouses and loved ones make in sharing their dearest friends and partners with the communities they represent.

To every elected official here in this marvelous chamber, I hope you will join me in recognizing the contributions your loved ones make to support your service. To Debbie and all our spouses and families, thank you.

Ladies and gentlemen, I firmly believe there is no higher honor than being elected to represent your community. With that honor comes responsibility to represent them honestly and to the best of our ability. If we fulfill that responsibility, then and only then can we can be proud of our service. More importantly, though, those who elected us can be proud of their choice.

Ladies and gentlemen, good night, may God continue to bless America and this great state. Thank you.

Assembly Bill No. 87

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblymen Giunchigliani, Hettrick, Hardy, Smith, Gansert, Carpenter, Ohrenschall, and Horne.

Assemblyman Ocegüera moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GIUNCHIGLIANI:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of Assembly Bill 87. If you look at Section 1 of the legislation, it spells out the intent of this bill, but I think the first line captures exactly what it is talking about: "No full-time worker should live in poverty in the state of Nevada." That is what this legislation is attempting to rectify. This bill is modified exactly word for word, based on the Initiative Petition that was gathered in signatures and put on the ballot last time around. AB 87 received 68 percent of the vote. What that translated to was 545,490 votes in support. George Bush, when he was re-elected president, only received 418,690 votes.

The people of Nevada spoke loudly and clearly that it is time to end poverty in this state. The $5.15-an-hour minimum-wage workers in Nevada make less money than they would if they were on welfare. The CPI in the legislation has a protection for businesses. The 3 percent cap actually says that they will never have to absorb an inflation policy. In other words, like in the 1970s when inflation went up so high and so strongly, the businesses here in Nevada will be protected by this language. It is not uncommon for our statutes to have CPI references. Twenty-eight statutes, just from a quick scanning of the Nevada Legislature, currently refer to a CPI. The CPI adjuster is intended to ensure that wages do not stay stagnant for the minimum wagers as they have done in the past. They have been sitting for eight years waiting on the federal government to take some action. The federal government still has not taken action. It is time that Nevadans took it into their own hands and that is what I am asking you to do today.

We do not need to put this into the Constitution if, more appropriately, this will allow it to be in the statute. That way, down the road, if there are problems with wanting to raise it or how some language comes about, this legislative Body has the opportunity to take a look at it rather than have it go to another vote of the people. Pay no mind if this bill does not pass in the Senate, because I feel confident it will pass in here because I know you will join me in making sure that our minimum wage workers at least are able to pay their apartment rents, because they cannot afford a house. If it does not pass in the Senate, believe me, it goes back to a vote of the people and it will pass and it will be higher than 68 percent.

It is a resounding support for something that has broad-based support. There were small business people who came before the hearing, calling on us to raise the minimum wage. In fact, you can find that it helps businesses because that discretionary income, that little additional money, allows them to purchase some of the goods and the products that then puts the money back into the system. This is the right thing to do. It is our responsibility to do it. Do not be afraid of the indexing. When I started to compute what our CPI has been, in 2000 it was 3.4, that was just about the highest it had been since 1990. In 2001 it was 2.8, in 2002 it was 1.6, and in 2003 it was 2.3. That meant 11 cents, ladies and gentlemen. That is all it would go up. At no computation do I find it going basically higher than 19 cents.

So all it is saying is, at least, allow these individuals, these working men and women, to throw them a rope. Give them a little bit of assistance. I ask you to join my colleagues, all of us together, to do what the public has said they want to do. That is, support the minimum wage increase by voting yes for AB 87. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ASSEMBLYMAN HETTRICK:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I have to rise in opposition to this bill. I would be happy to support the bill if it contained only the minimum wage increase of $1, or whatever number, within the bill. I have three problems with the bill. Indexing, while it is a cap, is also a guarantee, but no one guarantees the employer that he will get anything. No one guarantees the employer that he will even have a return on his investment, yet he would be required not only to pay the increase in the minimum wage, but also to increase it by CPI every year, but he has no guarantee while that occurs. I do not think that is appropriate.

The health insurance wording that is in this bill will actually make it cheaper for some employers to drop health insurance and pay a dollar. We asked to fix that language, but no change was made. To me this is counterproductive. Why didn't we fix this so that we could vote for it? The tip language will raise the minimum wage for minimum wage workers who receive tips. They don't need that increase. They receive significant money from tips. At the same time, a true minimum wage worker, the person working in the back of a restaurant, or some other place, will get only the minimum wage increase. You are going to force the employer to pay an increase in wages to someone who already makes a fine living off tips for no reason. It makes it even harder for the employers to support this language. I would be happy, and I think many of the members in my caucus would be more than happy, to support this bill if all it did was increase the minimum wage. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I appreciate the opportunity to rise and address these issues. I appreciate my Minority Leader's observations, and I have some of my own. I appreciate some of the comments of my colleague from District 9 in that this does not need to go into the Constitution should we pass this into statute, and I appreciate that. My own observations are the minimum wage is not intended to be enough to allow financial independence. It is, in reality, a stepping stone into work in life. It allows those who want to work to get a job and to have motivation to move up the ladder of earning power. There is a philosophic difference between earning a wage and deserving a raise. Those expecting a mandatory raise from minimum wage to another are harboring a hope, perhaps, that will not lift them to financial independence. Economic motivation drives us to better ourselves and our working situations. Employers who want to retain their good employees pay them more than minimum wage, now.

Health care insurance coverage is far more expensive than a $1-an-hour raise. We have heard testimony in committee that it would cost the state of Nevada $900 a month for one person to have health insurance. Now, a person earns approximately $800 a month at $5.15 an hour and will make almost $1,000 a month at the increase of $6.15 an hour. Even with more conservative numbers in the cost of health insurance, with $500-a-month premium, it would be a $6,000-a-year effective raise to the employee. This seems to me, actually, to be a disincentive for an employer to offer health insurance to the employees on minimum wage. Then we would be exacerbating the working poor from obtaining health insurance. There is an effectual increase in all wage when the minimum wage is increased. This will lead to increased costs to employers and a bump in the hierarchy of pay scales and differentials. My district, District 20, voted overwhelmingly in favor of the minimum wage increase and I feel, though there are negative aspects to this initiative, the people of my district will be represented in their choice. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. First, I would like to recall some comments by a member of the public during testimony on this bill. He said, "I'm here to give a voice as well as a face to the issues at hand of being a member of the working poor. I could possibly tell you about all the greatest accomplishments I've had over the years, but that is not important. My daddy used to tell me you could be the greatest fisherman in the world, but when you fall out of the boat you are a swimmer. That is what this is about—swimming. For every move you make is a move to keep your head above water. Every decision is a major decision. Five dollars and fifteen cents an hour just lets you tread water. I've heard comments such as, 'What difference could $1 possibly make?' Well, when you're making $10,000 a year, $2,000 could make a dramatic difference in a family's life."

Mr. Speaker, raising the minimum wage does not cost jobs. In fact, all credible economic studies show that increasing the minimum wage could increase employment. Research has shown that higher wages actually increase employment by proving businesses' ability to attract, retain, and motivate their workers. Eight of eleven states with the minimum wage above the federal level, last year, exceeded the national average for job creation. We fund workforce development organizations as well as have many local organizations who consistently talk about recruiting and attracting high-paying jobs to our state. Mr. Speaker, I believe this is a good place to start. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. On face value, I, too, support the minimum wage but there are a couple of aspects of this bill with which I have problems. The first is the indexing, which was mentioned by our Minority Leader. The second is, this legislation uses the federal minimum wage as a benchmark. Right now, there is a proposal that the federal minimum wage be raised by $2 an hour. So, in fact, if that were passed, our minimum wage could go from $5.15 to $7.15, plus with this legislation, another dollar would be $8.15. I think that could have a substantial impact on small businesses and our economy. I'm hoping that we can take the positive aspects of this bill and pass that so we will have a positive outcome for businesses and the individuals who are paid minimum wage. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of A.B. 87. I think it is time we did raise the minimum wage a dollar. The reason, I think, I am going to vote for this most of all is that I hope that it gives people on welfare now an incentive to get off welfare and get a job. I think that we are making pretty good progress to take people off of welfare and keep them off of welfare but I think in the last number of years we've slid backwards. Now it is easier for them to be on welfare than it is to get a job. My main reason for voting for this is that it will take those people off of welfare and get them a job. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GIUNCHIGLIANI:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Thank you for allowing me to speak a second time. I just want to make it clear that under this bill, if you raise the minimum wage from $5.15 to $6.15 an hour, and the federal government does not take action this year, it will only go up the 2.6 percent, which is less than 18 cents. Then you would have it at $6.33. If, at that time, the federal government did choose to finally raise the minimum wage, by say $2, it would only be the percentage of the CPI the next time around, applying to it. It would not be the additional dollar. I think that helps protect the businesses and I think the way the initiative was written, it was to say we believe that there should be some benefit to both the employer and the employee. So, I think the safeguards that are there to protect on the side of the indexing. Again, it is just pennies in this matter, but it is enough to allow people to do as my colleague from Elko said, get back to work or stay employed, rather than having to be part of our working poor. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I support this for many reasons. But most of all, in view of the fact that the voters voted overwhelmingly for it, it is our response to the will of the people to not make them wait for another vote, yet again, when they have spoken clearly. I believe, also, that it is on our behalf a recognition of the dignity of the working man and woman and of honest work in Nevada, which has been the key to any Nevadan going up in the world. Our state is full of stories of people who have come here and just by working very hard, have succeeded. So, let us keep on trying to help the people continue to do that.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of A.B. 87. I would like to reference the Minority Leader when he spoke of tips. If I misstate, please correct me. We don't allow employers to use tips in considering minimum wage. We have that in statute. If we start changing that now, that is just bad public policy. I stand in support of A.B. 87 and I ask that you do, too. Thank you.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, February 28, 2005

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day adopted Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 7.

MARY JO MONGELLI
Assistant Secretary of the Senate

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

By Senators Horsford, Mathews, Washington, Amodei, Beers, Care, Carlton, Cegavske, Coffin, Hardy, Heck, Lee, McGinness, Nolan, Raggio, Rhoads, Schneider, Tiffany, Titus, Townsend, and Wiener; Assemblymen Arberry and Munford:

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 7—Recognizing and commemorating the month of February as African-American History Month in Nevada.

WHEREAS, In 1915, Dr. Carter G. Woodson, noted African-American scholar and historian, and son of former slaves, founded the association known today as the Association for the Study of African American Life and History, and in 1926, he initiated Black History Week as the second week in February, to coincide with the birthdays of Frederick Douglass and Abraham Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, For many years, African Americans in the United States celebrated that week, and in 1976, as part of the nation's bicentennial, the week was expanded into the month of February and is now celebrated throughout North America in an effort to bridge the gap created by American history's failure to accurately acknowledge, portray and record the contributions and inventions of African Americans; and

WHEREAS, The original purpose of Dr. Woodson's efforts was to launch a serious platform to neutralize the apparent ignorance and deliberate distortion of the history of the African American and to create a scientific study that would give a more objective and scholarly balance in American and world history; and

WHEREAS, In North America, the celebration of African-American History Month includes lectures, exhibitions, banquets and a host of cultural activities presented throughout the month as a time to examine the collective ingenuity, creativity, cultural and political experience of African Americans; and

WHEREAS, Not only is the month of February significant because of the births of African-American pioneers Frederick Douglass, W.E.B. DuBois, Langston Hughes and Eubie Blake, it is also the month in which such institutions as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the first Pan-African Congress originated, and historians may recall that the first African-American Senator, Hiram Revels, took the oath of office in February 1870; and

WHEREAS, African-American History Month takes on a paramount significance as we approach the 21st century because civil rights laws in combination with such celebrations have exposed the legal consequences of overt discriminatory practices and racial harassment, and the struggles for, and achievement of, independence by African countries in the 20th century have shown the strength, humanity, ingenuity and contributions of the African to human civilization; and

WHEREAS, These revelations have not succeeded in neutralizing prejudicial attitudes that generate discriminatory acts, and even though behavior may be controlled by laws, attitudes can only change through education and the elimination of ignorance; and

WHEREAS, In the words of historian Ralph L. Crowder, the observance of African-American History Month "must be a testimony to those African pioneers who struggled to affirm the humanity of African peoples and a challenge to the present generation to protect and preserve . . . the humanity of all peoples of African descent"; and

WHEREAS, African Americans in the State of Nevada have a long and active history of protesting against racial prejudice and social injustice through writing, community organization and oration and have had among their leaders people such as the Reverend Bill Stevens of Las Vegas, who in the 1940s went daily to restaurants that discriminated against African Americans to attempt to order a meal or a cup of coffee, and Alice Smith, who founded the Reno-Sparks branch of the NAACP in 1945 and organized many religious and community activities throughout her life; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That the members of the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature do hereby recognize and commemorate the month of February as African-American History Month in honor of the contributions of African Americans that reflect a proud legacy of courage and dedication which has helped to guide our nation's success and prosperity; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Legislature recognizes that there continues to be a need to acknowledge the importance of minorities in both the history and future of this State and that the recognition and observance of African-American History Month is a step in that direction; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the residents of this State are encouraged to join in this observance and reflect on past successes and challenges of African Americans in the United States, and especially in the State of Nevada, as we all look to the future and strive to continue to improve society so that we live up to the ideals of freedom, equality and justice.

Assemblyman Arberry moved that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 7 be taken from the Resolution File and placed on the Chief Clerk's desk.

Remarks by Assemblyman Arberry.

Motion carried.

Remarks by Assemblymen Horne and Perkins.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I want to say a few remarks about Black History Month, even though it is March 1 today, which is a good segue because I would hope that we would all eventually start moving into recognizing the contributions that African-Americans make, Asian-Americans make, Native Americans make to the building of our nation. The contributions are vast. I was told to keep it short so I will. The contributions are enormous from all the groups of people that make up this great nation. We should go through our every day recognizing that our country is not monolithic. It consists of a whole lot of different people who have a whole lot of different contributions that make this the greatest nation in the world. I ask you to please support SCR 7. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN PERKINS:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I, too, will keep this short, as we have waited for this to arrive. I think our colleague from Las Vegas said it very, very clearly. We can go back to the history of this country and the very framing of this country, and the contributions by the African-Americans during that period of time. It is written right into our Constitution, the entire debate that occurred, although not one that we can probably be proud of today. Throughout history, whether it was in the late 1700s when we were creating the United States of America, or throughout the 1800s, 1900s, even to modern day, there have been extraordinary contributions; too many people to list in terms of what they have done for us as a country, as a society, and as a people. It is truly an honor for us to be able to adopt a resolution of this sort and make that recognition. Thank you.

Resolution adopted as amended.

WHEREAS, Theodor Seuss Geisel was born on March 2, 1904, in Springfield, Massachusetts; and

WHEREAS, Theodor Seuss Geisel graduated from Dartmouth College in 1925 and began writing humorous articles and creating cartoons for various magazines; and

WHEREAS, His first children's book, And to Think That I Saw It on Mulberry Street, was rejected by 43 publishers until, in 1937, a friend published the book for him; and

WHEREAS, In May of 1954, Life magazine published a report concerning illiteracy among school children, stating that, among other things, children were having trouble learning to read because the books were boring; and

WHEREAS, This comment inspired Theodor Seuss Geisel's publisher, Bennett Cerf, to compile a list of 400 words that he felt were important, asking Mr. Geisel to cut the list to 250 words, the number of words a first-grader could absorb, and using only those words, to write a book that would excite children; and

WHEREAS, In 1960, Bennett Cerf bet Mr. Geisel $50 that he could not write an entire book using only 50 words, and from that challenge came the famous children's book Green Eggs and Ham, which was also an instant success; and

WHEREAS, From that point on, Theodor Seuss Geisel became known as "Dr. Seuss," and children became enthused about reading every Dr. Seuss book available; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Seuss died on September 24, 1991, but his legacy of children's books will live forever as an inspiration to children everywhere to learn to read and to share in the laughter, enjoyment and knowledge that a book can provide; and

RESOLVED, That children and adults are encouraged to read a favorite book together on this date and share the joy of reading; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Terry Hickman, President of the Nevada State Education Association, and Ken Lange, Executive Director of the Nevada State Education Association.

Assemblyman Anderson moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblyman Anderson.

Assemblyman Anderson requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I believe the Members will find at their desks a hat. Could I ask the "Cat in the Hat" to stand with me for a moment? The importance of this particular resolution is almost self-explanatory. Today, with the permission of the Body, it is my intention to read a short, short section of One Fish Two Fish Red Fish Blue Fish to my grandson who is in Missoula, Montana, who is watching his grandfather today over the Internet. Connor:

"From there to here, from here to there, funny things are everywhere. One fish two fish red fish blue fish. Black fish blue fish old fish new fish. This one has a little star. This one has a little car. Say! What a lot of fish there are. Yes. Some are red. And some are blue. Some are old. And some are new. Some are sad. And some are glad. And some are very, very bad. Why are they sad and glad and bad? I do not know. Go ask your dad. Some are thin. And some are fat. The fat one has a yellow hat. From there to here, from here to there, funny things are everywhere. Here are some who like to run. They run for fun in the hot, hot sun. Oh me! Oh my! Oh me! Oh my! What a lot of funny things go by."

And I forgot to do the very basic thing that you need to do whenever you are reading to children, that is, to show the illustrations, which, of course, is what Dr. Seuss is most famous for.

"Some have two feet and some have four. Some have six feet and some have more. Where do they come from? I can't say. But I bet they have come a long, long way. We see them come. We see them go. Some are fast. And some are slow. Some are high. And some are low. Not one of them is like another. Don't ask us why. Go ask your mother. And now good night. It is time to sleep. So we will sleep with our pet Zeep. Today is gone. Today was fun. Tomorrow is another one. Every day, from here to there, funny things are everywhere.”

Mr. Speaker, I would note that there is a Dr. Seuss hat on the desk that are gifts for the members. Depending upon your choice, you may keep them, if you wish. Of course, if you do keep them for yourself, the value of the hat is approximately $6 and, therefore, it is a reportable expense. If you choose to give it to a child, as mine will be given to a child, then you should check that box. You can wear the hat and leave it on your place after adjournment, so all of you would put on your silly hat, from Dr. Seuss and the Cat in the Hat, if you wish.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I thank you for this opportunity. I think this is the sixth time I have had an opportunity to read a section of one of the classic Dr. Seuss books to the members of the Assembly and I thank you for your indulgence.

Resolution adopted.

Assemblyman Anderson moved that all rules be suspended and that Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 6 be immediately transmitted to the Senate.

Chief Justice Becker delivered her message as follows:

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA
SEVENTY-THIRD SESSION, 2005

Thank you, Lt. Governor Hunt, Senator Raggio, Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of the Senate and the Assembly, honorable constitutional officers, my esteemed colleagues of the Supreme Court and trial judiciary, and honored guests. It is my privilege and my honor to be able to present to you a synopsis of the tremendous efforts taken by the 150 men and women of Nevada's judiciary over the last biennium and our goals for the future.

First, however, I would like to introduce my colleagues, the Justices of the Nevada Supreme Court: Justice Bob Rose, Justice Bill Maupin, Justice Mark Gibbons, Justice Mike Douglas, Justice Jim Hardesty, and Justice Ron Parraguirre. I also want to convey the judiciary's appreciation of the Legislature's kind words and thoughts on the passing of our colleague the Honorable Myron E. Leavitt. He is sorely missed. Judges from the district courts, justices' courts, and municipal courts are also with us today and I would like them to stand and be recognized. Although you interact more with members of the Supreme Court, you should know that a District Judges' Association exists in Nevada and they are ably represented this year by their president, the Honorable Michael P. Gibbons of the Ninth Judicial District Court in Douglas County. Not to be outdone, the justices of the peace and municipal judges also have an association, and this year's president is the Honorable Cedric Kerns of the Las Vegas Municipal Court.

The courts also work with two other entities: the State Bar of Nevada, represented by President Anne Price McCarthy and Executive Director Allen Kimbrough, and the William Boyd School of Law, whose Dean, Richard Morgan, is also here today. Finally, I would like you to see the faces of the Supreme Court's executive staff: Janette Bloom, Clerk of the Court; Joe Carpenter, Legal Counsel Criminal Division; Leslie Davis, Legal Counsel Civil Division; Kathleen Harrington, Director of the Supreme Court Law Library; and Ron Titus, Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

What is a judge? The best description of the job I have found is not new; it was written in 1780 and it comes from the Constitution of the State of Massachusetts:

"It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as free, impartial, and independent as the lot of humanity will admit."

There was a time when the "lot of humanity" did not include women and minorities. Indeed, when Drew Pearson and Robert Allen wrote a book about the United States Supreme Court in 1936, they entitled it Nine Old Men. As I stand here today, I am proud to say that the judiciary of Nevada has achieved a level of diversity unparalleled in the state's history. We are the "lot of humanity." I am an example of that diversity. Not just because I am a woman, but because of my family background. I am the granddaughter of three immigrants. Two were Irish Catholics, one was a Russian Jew. My fourth grandparent, who was born in America, was the son of German Jewish immigrants. When I was young, my Irish grandmother was visiting at the same time as one of my Russian great-aunts. Both had immigrated in their teens, so their English was spoken with heavy English accents. They were watching Fifties wrestling on the TV. One was cheering and swearing in Yiddish while the other was matching her in Gaelic. They understood, and enjoyed each other's company, despite their divergent cultural backgrounds.

Every day, judges from diverse backgrounds make decisions affecting people's lives. Every day we are faced with complex decisions: should the death penalty be imposed, were the parties given a fair trial, how long should a child remain in foster care, who gets custody of the children. We resolve them to the best of our ability based on the law and the evidence presented in an individual case. The Honorable Felix Frankfurter, one of the most recognized jurists in American history, said that because judging involves fallible creatures it is essential to get [people] who bring to their task, first and foremost, humility and an understanding of the range of problems and of their own inadequacy in dealing with them; loyalty . . . to nothing except the effort to find their path through precedent, through policy, through history, through their own gifts of insight to the best judgment that poor, fallible creatures can arrive at in the most difficult of all tasks, the adjudication between man and man, between man and state, through reason called law.

Such is the life of a judge. But there are many moments of joy, marriages, adoptions, and occasionally, an unusual request. A few years ago, I received a call from a friend. Knowing that I could perform marriages, she asked if I could marry Sloopy and Casey. I was very puzzled, because, you see, Sloopy and Casey are birds, cockatiels to be exact. My friend went on to explain that her granddaughter had seen the birds, and as my friend put it, she saw them vo-de-o-do-ing in their cage and asked if Sloopy and Casey were married, hence the reason for the phone call. I later unofficially presided over their joining. It must have had some meaning, however, because although Sloopy and Casey had been a couple for three years prior to the ceremony, they had no children. After the ceremony, they proceeded to hatch 17 chicks. Who knew?

So what does judging in general have to do with the state of the Judiciary? Our melting pot culture, combined with our unique governmental system, is what distinguishes us from other nations. A key factor in that government is the Judicial Branch and its relationship with the Legislative and Executive Branches. George Washington once wrote that: [T]he due administration of justice is the firmest pillar of good Government . . . [the judicial department is] essential to the happiness of our Country, and to the stability of its political system.

Our system of justice and the creation of three branches of government, Executive, Legislative, and Judicial, is a defining aspect of this great nation and state. Each year, judges from around the world attend courses at the National Judicial College to study America's judiciary. Since the fall of the Soviet Union, Russian Federation judges have attended seminars and classes, interacting with Nevada judges, in order to create a viable judicial branch in their country. Our system, which has stood the test of time for over 200 years, is a shining example of democracy in action. It exemplifies the Rule of Law: a society governed by law, not violence and terrorism. Because of our example, the Ukraine Republic adopted the Rule of Law. During their recent turmoil, all sides agreed to, and abided by, a legal decision of the Ukraine Supreme Court, thus avoiding military conflict. It is for this reason that other nations study our judicial system.

Yet a judicial system cannot stand alone. It exists with the cooperation and support of the Legislative and Executive Branches. Democracy, as we know, is a fluid concept. As noted by Ilka Chase: Democracy is not an easy form of government, because it is never final; it is a living, changing organism, with a continuous shifting and adjusting of balance between individual freedom and general order.

The Legislative and Executive Branches of this State, including the counties and cities, have been strong supporters of the Judicial Branch. Without you, Nevada's judiciary would still be locked in the 19th century. Your assistance was essential to the development of new programs and methods of managing cases with a united purpose of promoting access to justice for all Nevadans.

I want to tell you a story that illustrates this point. Sixteen years ago, justices of the peace and municipal judges had no authority to suspend misdemeanor sentences. We had little ability to tackle recidivism through programs to combat domestic violence and drunk driving. We discussed the matter with the counties and cities, prosecutors, and defense counsel, and all agreed that expanding the authority of the judges made sense. We came to you, the Legislature, to seek that authority and you granted it. Such programs, with intensive judicial monitoring, have lowered recidivism rates for misdemeanor crimes. Many of the legislators who sit here today made this possible and are still serving; legislators like Senators Coffin, Raggio, Rhoads, Titus, and Townsend, and Assemblymen Arberry, Carpenter, and Marvel.

But you need to know more. You need to know what Legislative, Executive, and Judicial efforts have meant to people. So I'll give you one example. Eighteen years ago there was no mental health court. However, all branches of government came together for a common cause. A loose consortium of downtown leaders, nonprofits, the Las Vegas Municipal Court, the Las Vegas City Council, City Attorney's Office, the Clark County Public Defender, and the State Division of Mental Health, specifically Carlos Brandenburg, formed to try a new method of handling mentally ill individuals.

This is the true story of one of those individuals. I'll call him "John," though that is not his real name. I tell this story only to illustrate my point. Although there is humor in the story, there is nothing humorous about how mental illness affected John. John was arrested for stealing t-shirts from a downtown casino. He stole because he was unemployed as a result of his mental state. You see, when John was booked into the jail, he told officers he was from the planet Mars. A mental health social worker interviewed him and concluded John wasn't joking; he believed he was from Mars. Before his probable cause hearing, the prosecutor, public defender, and I were all informed of the circumstances. John indicated that he understood the charges against him and that stealing was illegal on Mars, too. He wanted to plead guilty, but was concerned that his spaceship would be towed if he stayed in jail too long. I inquired if the ship was disguised in some fashion and John told me yes, it looked like an old station wagon with California plates and he gave me a license number. We located the vehicle with the help of the hotel security where it was parked and, with their cooperation, saw that it wasn't towed. With the assistance of the social workers and nonprofits, we determined John wasn't dangerous, even when confronted about his beliefs. We were able to get John a job with an employer who understood John's delusion. John became independent again, working, paying taxes, and never coming before the law again. We, the Judicial, Legislative, and Executive Branches, in partnership with the community, gave John his life back.

In the 18 years since John's case, the judiciary has undergone substantial changes; changes made possible by the partnership between the three branches, locally and statewide. These are just some of the programs and processes created by the judiciary with the assistance of the Legislature, Governor, and local governments: Self-help Centers in the Washoe County and Clark County Family Divisions, with outreach to other counties and Carson City.

Last year, a quarter of a million people were assisted in accessing the courts. Over three million forms were accessed through the Centers' websites. Violence Intervention Programs—courts provide space for volunteers who assist victims of domestic violence with protective orders, shelter, and counseling information. Drug court programs servicing counties throughout the State resulted in 70 percent or greater decreases in recidivism rates, saving taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars. Last year alone, over 30 drug-free babies were born to participants in such programs. Court annexed short trial, arbitration, and mediation programs to facilitate the expeditious and cost-effective resolution of small civil suits. Fast-track criminal appeals, settlement conferences and panel hearings in the Supreme Court resulting in a 40 percent decrease in the Courts' backlog. Implementation of the Uniform System of Judicial Records, providing information on court operations and resources necessary to court management in the 21st century. Because of this system, the Supreme Court is able, now, to publish the annual reports. Reports like the one distributed to you earlier in this session, and available on our website, provide a wealth of information on the operations and needs of the Judicial Branch. Technology and case management systems enabling the nation's busiest courts to tackle overwhelming caseloads more efficiently. Creation of standardized forms for family matters and protection orders under the auspices of the Supreme Court Pro Se Assistance Council and the Supreme Court and District Court Law Library Commissions. Creation of standards and case-processing procedures for family cases that have become a model for family courts around the country. Support for legal services programs whose volunteer attorneys have provided millions of dollars of free legal services to economically disadvantaged citizens. Creation of rules and training for court staff and law librarians governing provision of services to self-represented litigants. Increased programs and representation for abused and neglected children under the auspices of Clark County Legal Services led by Assemblywoman Barbara Buckley. Implementation of the recommendations of the Supreme Court Jury Improvement Commission, whose work was recently recognized by American Bar Association President Robert Gray as a model for jury improvement in the nation.

I could go on, but the point has been made. Many judges, among them my colleagues on the Court, were instrumental in these programs. Governor Guinn and other members of the Executive Branch were also key advocates. Legislators like Speaker Perkins, Assemblywoman Giunchigliani and Assemblyman Hettrick, Senators Beers, Cegavske, and Mathews played their part, and the local mayors, councilpersons, and commissioners were essential components. These programs are the result of enormous commitment by government as a whole.

Daniel Webster said: "Justice, Sir, is the great interest of man on earth. It is the ligament which holds civilized beings and civilized nations together."

The Legislative and Executive Branches are the personal trainers whose support allows the judicial ligaments to stretch. Still, every ligament can only stretch so far without rupturing. Growth in caseloads and lack of resources have already strained our judicial ligaments, along with our tendons and muscles. We wish to walk freely, not hobble on canes or crutches, and so we call upon you once again for help.

Over the last four years, caseloads in the Washoe-Reno-Sparks and Greater Las Vegas Judicial Districts have grown by over 40 percent. In some instances, the growth in filings has exceeded growth in the general population. In addition, the complexity of the cases has increased, requiring more judicial hours per case. This affects the ability of courts to process cases in a timely fashion. The American Bar Association standard regarding disposition times for criminal cases indicates that a court should dispose of 100 percent of its criminal cases within one year. Clark County, for example, disposes of only 63 percent of its criminal cases in one year and is falling further behind. And, although the Family Divisions of the Washoe County and Clark County District Courts are meeting standards for timely processing of domestic cases, the increased caseloads make it impossible to maintain those standards. The civil case dispositions also fall short of meeting ABA standards. Percentages alone do not give an adequate picture. We are talking about delays in thousands of cases.

These courts have implemented tremendous changes in case processing to improve case dispositions, but the growth is simply outstripping all of their efforts. The National Center for State Courts indicates that a trial judge's caseload should be about 1,400 cases per judge. In Washoe County that figure is 1,800 cases per judge and in Clark County each judge has 2,400 cases. For appellate courts, the standard is approximately 100 cases per justice. The Nevada Supreme Court's case per justice is 240 cases.

In the face of this overwhelming growth, we are seeking new judges and an increase in funding of the senior judge program to avoid causing Nevada's citizens increased delays in the resolution of their cases. No victim, litigant, business entity, or injured party should see a case linger for lack of judicial resources.

The rural courts are not without their problems. Our rural judges spend days traveling between communities. Citizens regularly travel over 100 miles roundtrip to access a courthouse. Juveniles must be driven hundreds of miles to facilities in other counties. My colleagues in rural communities face unique challenges. Take jury selection, for example. Even Mark Twain noted how difficult it can be to select a jury in a small community. He said: "... a jury of twelve men were impaneled—a jury who swore that they had neither heard, read, talked about, nor expressed an opinion concerning a murder which the very cattle in the corrals . . . the sagebrush and the stones in the street were cognizant of."

Judges in rural areas know the litigants, the jurors, and the community. Each and every decision that judge makes will impact on that community. It is an awesome responsibility and I wish to publicly acknowledge their dedication and service to Nevada.

Last session, this august Body funded a study of the rural criminal justice system. A large facet of that study involved the courts. Thanks to the efforts of Senator McGinness and others, a comprehensive look at the needs of the rural justice system was accomplished. Issues such as lack of adequate local juvenile facilities, counselors, secured court facilities, and management staff were reviewed.

As a result of the study's recommendations, several bills will be introduced this session to address these issues, among them the construction of a new courthouse in Ely and the establishment of a rural court Coordinator position in the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Finally, I want to mention another report that you will be seeing in a few days. In 2003, then-Chief Justice Deborah Agosti undertook a formidable task. She created a Commission composed of judges, business leaders, representatives of local government, and legislators, including Senator Amodei and Assemblyman Anderson, to determine an estimate of the costs to run the entire judiciary, not just the operations of the Supreme Court. Her efforts, together with those who served on the Commission, resulted in a comprehensive look at the cost to operate our statewide judicial system and how it is funded.

It has long been known that the Supreme Court's operations represent less than 1 percent of the State's total budget, but such information was not available about the total Judicial Branch because funding and expenses are divided between the State and the local governments. As a result of the Commission's efforts, we now know that the entire Judicial Branch would only make up 5 percent of the State's budget. When the Judicial Branch is compared to the combined budgets of the State and local governments, the Judicial Branch represents an even smaller percentage of the total expenditures.

But the Commission was just a first step. From here, we ask the help of the Legislature, community leaders, local governments, and the judiciary in taking the next step, implementation of the Commission's recommendations and formation of a second commission to determine the optimum method for funding the judiciary in the future.

I have spoken today of the past and the future, of all we have accomplished and all we can accomplish. This is the goal of the judiciary; to serve Nevada's citizens by providing a fair, impartial, cost-effective, and expeditious method of resolving disputes, protecting children, adjudicating guilt and, where possible, rehabilitating individuals into self-sufficient, productive citizens. Together we can achieve this goal. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN PERKINS:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. Assembly Joint Resolution No. 2 proposes to amend the Constitution of the State of Nevada to authorize the Legislature to provide for a statewide lottery. The net proceeds from the lottery must be disbursed to the school districts to supplement, and not replace, the money that school districts would otherwise receive from the state for textbooks, classroom supplies and materials, and the reduction of class size.

If approved in identical form by both the 2005 and 2007 Sessions of the Legislature, the proposal will be submitted to the voters for final approval, or disapproval, at the 2008 General Election.

I had the privilege of chairing the Interim Education Committee over the past year and a half or so, and served with many of you in this Body. As we traveled to classrooms throughout the state of Nevada, I think we discovered that our classrooms were in crisis. The Department of Education ranks Nevada students near the bottom of the list in virtually every category. I, for one, am tired of seeing Nevada at the bottom of those lists. We as a state are failing our students by not providing basic tools for success. One of the most fundamental tools in a student's education is his or her textbook. We all had textbooks when we were in school. I, myself, had them the entire time I grew up in Henderson and attended school there, finishing my K-12 education at Basic High School in Henderson.

Today, in Nevada, the lucky students are learning from old, torn, and tattered textbooks, much like this one. Covers are coming off. This book, particularly, ladies and gentlemen, is a history book that is about seven or eight years old. I do not know about you, but a lot has happened in the last seven or eight years. It is a history book about the history of Nevada. We have had a lot of things happen in Nevada in seven years. The last governor who was mentioned in this book is Bob Miller. If our students wanted to learn about the current administration, they are not going to find it in this book. That is a seventh-grade social studies textbook. It is seven years old, and it is falling apart.

Many of our students are, at best, learning from hard-to-read, Xerox copies of these old textbooks. In many cases, there are no textbooks at all. No Xerox copies. Students are oftentimes learning from worksheets. How can we, as a state, increase the goals and standards for our children and then turn around and give them nothing to learn from? It is just not right. We need to fix it and fix it now.

This resolution to create a Nevada state lottery will provide the revenues, the dedicated and directed revenues, which are necessary for these types of things. Our schools need help, our children need textbooks, and our elected officials need to step up and become leaders. I challenge both Democrats and Republicans to pass this Nevada state lottery bill to provide a stable, directed funding source for textbooks.

We found out during testimony that one in three citizens in Clark County buys lottery tickets. They cannot buy them in Nevada so they are buying them somewhere else. We also found in testimony that two locations where the most lottery tickets are purchased in California are right across the border at Prim, Nevada, and right across the border from Reno, in California. So Nevadans are going there to buy their lottery tickets. They are supporting California education by doing that. I say we keep Nevada money in Nevada and support our students with this funding source. Its time is overdue, Madam Speaker pro Tempore, and I would encourage this Body to support this resolution.

ASSEMBLYMAN MABEY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. While the cause is noble, that being to raise more funds to purchase textbooks for our children, the means for doing so is not. The lottery is another form of gambling. Our state does not need another form.

I appreciate the fact that if AJR 2 passes both Houses and is signed by the Governor, it will be placed on the ballot twice. Certainly the voice of the state will be heard. A lottery is voluntary; however, history has been a great teacher. Unfortunately, those who least can afford it spend proportionately more on lotteries. In effect, the poor suffer more on the hope of sudden wealth. If the children need more textbooks, we need to fund them. I know that ghosts from sessions past may accuse me, and my party, for not stepping up to the plate, but I will disagree. It is anachronistic for me to argue against something that will benefit me and my children, and yet I will never have to pay. Some say a meal tastes better if someone else is buying. Today I would rather buy my own, not on a lottery. Do the ends justify the means? Not this time. I will be voting no. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I rise in support of AJR 2. I think it is important to remember, I am going to go out on a limb and say of the members of this Body, all of us had textbooks when we were coming up. Yet, there are those of us who would argue against our children having the very same things that we had through education. They may not come right out and say, "I don't want our kids to have textbooks." I do not believe that, but their actions, when they vote, say that. You cannot say, "I am for education, I am for books, I am for teacher pay, and I am for all this," and then whenever a proposal comes up, you vote no. Is there another proposal to help supplement getting textbooks and supplies in our schools right now which is coming? I have not seen one. No one has come to me and said, "Instead of the lottery, I propose a bill to add more money into getting textbooks into our classrooms." Not one person has come to me and said that. But people have said, "This is a bad idea. I know the cause is good and it is to support books in our classrooms, but we need to find another way." Well, you have a way sitting right in front of you. The people have overwhelmingly said that they want it. We are not going to give it to them by just this vote. We are just giving them the opportunity to vote yes for it. I urge your support for AJR 2.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN ANGLE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I rise in opposition, also, to AJR 2. I will take exception to my colleague who said there are no other proposals. There will be another proposal as soon as we get it out of Legal, and that is to use the money that is built up in interest on funds within the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report to do the same thing. We also have an excess in revenues this year that we could use for those. There is plenty of money out there if we really want to do the right thing. The bill also covers class-size reduction, which we know costs $250 million every two years. I believe that if we were to go to a different type of class-size reduction that wouldn't cost us nearly as much, but as long as we are spending that kind of money on class-size reduction I am afraid that this money will not go to books but will go to class-size reduction and we will still be in the same place that we are now. My cousins also work for the New Jersey lottery, and they have told me that most of the money in their lottery goes to the bureaucracy that supports the administrative costs. I want this money to go to our children, not to administrative costs. I do not think that we need to gamble with our children's education on a lottery. Thank you very much, Madam Speaker pro Tempore.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

Thank you, Ms. Speaker pro Tem. I rise in support of AJR 2. When I first saw AJR 2 I got a little bit excited. I thought about the reason that I ran for office a few years ago. The reason I ran for office was because my daughter, then in the second grade, came home with a bag, and in that bag was a math book. In that math book there was a note to me that she could keep the book for three days and then it needed to be returned because it needed to go to the next student. I remember getting really upset about that. I called the school and talked to the principal. The principal told me that the reason why we do not have books for students is because we did not have enough politicians, her word, that cared enough to make a difference. I told her, come the next election cycle, I would be running for office so that I could come here and make a difference. Today is that day that I am trying to make a difference. When I looked at the opportunity of this bill to make sure we had books in our classrooms, I knew then that I would be voting yes today. My daughter still has those struggles in her classes today. She still comes home with printed documents, and we do not have the opportunity to refer back to previous chapters because she does not have a book. I will agree with my colleague from Las Vegas when he spoke about us having books when we were all children. I remember that being really exciting for me. I know our book bags weighed a ton, but we were proud to carry around those books. It made us feel like we were students. Today, I do not believe a lot of our kids feel that way because they are going around with paper documents that represent their books. I will be pressing this green button today and I hope that my colleagues will join me. Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I appreciate the opportunity to address this august Body. I need to clear up a misconception that was heard in committee or reported out of committee. There was a spirit of actual cooperation when you dug deep enough the last session or one of the many sessions. We actually funded books with what I would call, for lack of a better word, a “fence” around it, to $64 million in one year, and $66 million the other, for an average of $65 million. Even I can do that math. That averages out to the children, per child, of $160 approximately. We heard testimony in committee that how we needed $176 million in elementary, and significantly more than that in secondary, education. We actually did fund books, but perhaps not enough. I would say that in this age of technology, those backpacks are going to get smaller and smaller because many of those books are going to be on CD, and we’re putting in a constitutional amendment with this particular bill that talks about books, and the reality is those books are going to get smaller and smaller so that even dinosaurs such as myself will be able to read a book on a computer.

I had the opportunity to go through the halls and up the stairs and down the stairs in the building and saw many computers sitting out. From my standpoint of not necessarily being technologically savvy, I recognize that most computers can do a CD, no matter how old they are, that are still functioning. I think that one of the things we have to do is look at the reality of getting computers that are, “too slow, too old” to be given to our children in this state from whatever organization—private, nonprofit, governmental—and make sure we have the opportunity to have CDs because they will be much cheaper than a heavy book. And we have all had our children come home with big backpacks or walk the halls with big backpacks.

In reality, we have had more cooperation than we sometimes would like to admit. I don’t think we need a constitutional amendment to put in place a lottery, which I consider a regressive tax on people who are least able to afford it. So, I will be voting no, but I will be on the record for supporting education and I do love books. Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. In this educational age, we demand more and more of our students and teachers. There does not seem to be a month that goes by where we do not mandate a test on what students are doing in terms of their academic performance. I think it’s wrong to expect our students and teachers to succeed if we don’t give them the tools to enable them to succeed. Creating a state lottery that is directed at buying textbooks and instructional supplies and devoted to smaller class size is the right way to go. Ask any parent of children who are in school what they need for their children, and it is smaller class sizes so the teacher knows the name of their child, and books and instructional supplies, whether it is CDs, the wave of the future, or textbooks, either one. All this measure does is allow the people to decide whether this is the right way to go. Lotteries are not new. The most recent State of the State magazine has a nice little article on lotteries and gaming. Right now, there are only eight states without lotteries. It certainly has spread across the country.

I heard with some concern—since I devote my life outside of this building to helping people with limited means, I thought I'd be instructive and get the demographic information on who plays lotteries and how much it preys on the poor. So I'd like to share some of that. A Washington Post survey shows that middle-income Americans are the most likely group to play the lottery. Two out of three Americans with household incomes between $25,000 and $45,000 per year play the lottery at least once a year. Americans earning $45,000 to $65,000 play even more often, with 3 of 4 playing occasionally, while one-third wagers once a month. A 1999 Gallup poll on gambling in America shows 57 percent of American adults have bought a lottery ticket in the previous 12 months, with those with incomes from $45,000 to $75,000 being the most likely to play. Those with incomes less than $25,000 were least likely to play.

Of the states that do have lotteries, at least nine of them have collected demographic information on who plays the lottery. I have statistics here from California, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas, and West Virginia. It doesn't bear out the argument that the poor are more likely to play. Those stats are not proven true in any one of these states. If you make the argument, "Well, you have less money, so, if you are paying $30, it's a bigger part of your salary;" well, that, of course, is true. But that, of course, is true on rent. Should government set how much rent people of lower incomes should pay? Well, on mobile homes we know. What about casino gaming? Should we set rules on that as well? This is a voluntary choice in Nevada. We believe in the entrepreneurship and independent spirit that people have the choice in what they want to do. This just creates one more outlet for people to be able to use their discretionary income. What better place to send it than to our schools that need our help?

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. I rise in support of AJR 2. I do not think there's any question the money will go to a needy cause. We know that education is certainly in need in our state. There is a lot of support for the lottery in my district. And I think there are a lot of people out there who are kind of like me: they aren't going to go down and play 21 or even put a nickel into a slot machine, but they will buy a lottery ticket. We can see the statistics bear that out. So, for this reason, I think we should keep that money here in Nevada and put it to good use. Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore.

ASSEMBLYMAN PERKINS:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore for a second time. I just wanted to talk about a couple of things that have been talked about in this debate. First, let me thank the Body for having a good, spirited discussion about this. That's healthy and this is not a partisan issue. Certainly, I think, you will have some Republicans who vote for this and some Democrats who do not. So I thank you for that.

A couple of points I want to make: Nevadans already buy lottery tickets. They already buy them. We are not going to keep them from doing that. They are going to buy them from California. California kids will have a schoolbook and our kids will not. That is the first thing I wanted to say. Secondly, this has to go to the voters. The voters have to approve this before anything can be done. Let us trust the voters. If it is something they want, then they will approve it. If it is something they do not, they will obviously reject it. It is already been talked about. It is voluntary. Gambling has been legal in Nevada since 1931. This is just another gaming product. It is layered upon the various other games that already exist. So, again, gambling is something this state has embraced for many, many decades.

We should spend some of our surplus this year on textbooks. Absolutely we should. We should make sure that is funded at a higher level than it is funded at currently. But that is a today fix. A lottery cannot go into effect for three years. If it meets the cycle of passing this session, next session, going to a vote of the people in 2008, and then it would be up to the 2009 Legislature to implement. So, actually, 4 years. That is a long-term solution. The short-term solution is for us to spend appropriately in this session.

You know, on opening day we had a year 2000 audit that said our K-6 teachers, on average, spend $500 out of pocket on classroom supplies. I mentioned to you that I would bring a bill for us to send them all $500 to do that because it is what we should do. We do not pay our teachers enough for them to go into their pockets for this. It is crazy. That, again, is the short-term solution. The long-term solution being the money that would come from the lottery. We have not touched upon how much the projections are. The projections are somewhere between $40 million and $70 million a year would be generated by a state lottery, coming back to the state, not the gross numbers. That would be the return to the state. It is also up to future Legislatures to determine how this would happen. What the administrative costs would be. You can cap that in a future Legislature. Whether it is run by the state, whether it is run by a private company, whether it is run by a public/private partnership, all the details can be implemented by a future Legislature. You have your administrative costs, the winner's money, and the money that comes back to the state. All those percentages can be adjusted by this Legislature.

It is also not as much about changing our entire Constitution. We are talking about repealing one section that was put in there in the late 1800s that is probably not as relevant today as it was then. After all, we changed from a prohibition on gaming in the late 1800s to enabling that in 1931. Again, ladies and gentlemen, let me just urge you, put this in front of the voters. Let them decide. The money would be there for textbooks for our classrooms and for classroom supplies for our students. It would be a great investment. Let the voters decide.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, March 9, 2005

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day adopted Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9.

MARY JO MONGELLI
Assistant Secretary of the Senate

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9—Congratulating Dr. Donald K. Grayson for being selected as the recipient of the Nevada Medal given by the Desert Research Institute.

WHEREAS, Contributions to the sciences of archaeology, paleoecology and biogeography, and studies of the natural prehistory of the Great Basin, are of great importance to the residents of the State of Nevada; and

WHEREAS, The recipient of the 2005 Nevada Medal is Dr. Donald K. Grayson, a well-respected scientist who is known for his continued investigation of how the mammalian fossil record from archaeological and late Quaternary paleontological sites can contribute to effective scientific study of the long-term effects of climate change on species distributions and ecological associations, and how these historical insights contribute to effective management of biodiversity preserves; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Grayson is best known for his innovative research showing that climate change, and not “overkill by early human hunters,” led to the demise of large mammals like the woolly mammoth in North America some 10,000 years ago; and

WHEREAS, His extremely popular book, The Desert’s Past: A Natural Prehistory of the Great Basin, published by the Smithsonian Institution Press, explains how the modern Great Basin has come to be; and

WHEREAS, Other contributions include Dr. Grayson’s masterful study of the Donner Party who were stranded in the Sierra Nevada during the winter of 1846 on an ill-fated journey to California, which confirmed that biological predictors of mortality could accurately determine who would live and who would die, shedding new light on the importance of family ties in human societies; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Grayson’s research is driven more by questions than by time periods or geography, and the bulk of his work has involved the latest Pleistocene and Holocene of the Great Basin and Pleistocene southwestern France, all areas where he plans to continue working in the future; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Grayson joined the Department of Anthropology at the University of Washington 30 years ago, where he remains a Professor of Anthropology, Adjunct Professor at the Quaternary Research Center and Adjunct Curator of Environmental Archaeology at the Burke Museum of Natural History and Culture; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Grayson’s most important contribution not mentioned above is the large number of successful graduate students he has supported over the years; and

WHEREAS, The greater and longer-lasting measure of Dr. Grayson’s success is measured in the productivity of his students; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada Medal is an honor conferred by the Desert Research Institute of the University and Community College System of Nevada and sponsored by SBC Communications Inc. in recognition of outstanding achievement in science and engineering; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Grayson’s continued contributions toward understanding the interrelationships between people and the biotic landscapes with which they interact have been recognized and, as such, he is being honored this year as the recipient of the Nevada Medal; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That the members of the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature hereby congratulate Dr. Donald K. Grayson for being named the recipient of the 2005 Nevada Medal given by the Desert Research Institute; and be it further

RESOLVED, That SBC Communications Inc. is hereby commended for its continued sponsorship of the Nevada Medal, which offers well-deserved recognition to persons who have demonstrated outstanding scientific, engineering and technical achievements; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the residents of the State of Nevada will long be grateful to Dr. Grayson for his contributions to the sciences of archaeology, paleoecology and biogeography, and in particular consideration of his long-term studies of the natural prehistory of the Great Basin; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Senate prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Dr. Donald K. Grayson, the Desert Research Institute of the University and Community College System of Nevada and SBC Communications Inc.

Senate Bill No. 38.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblyman Carpenter.

Assemblyman Carpenter requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. Senate Bill No. 38 relates to the distribution of local government taxes. The measure changes the distribution of the excess portion of the consolidated taxes within a county that in the proceeding five fiscal years has either a negative average percentage change in population or an average assessed valuation of taxable property attributable to the net proceeds of mines greater than $50 million. In those eligible counties, the bill reinstates the one-plus formula for distributing the excess portion in the consolidated taxes. The one-plus formula uses a percentage of population growth, plus a factor of one, to distribute the excess formula. The bill is effective on passage and approval. The provisions of the bill apply retroactively to January 1, 2005, but do not affect previous distributions to local governments. Thank you.

All present except Assemblymen Hogan and Pierce, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Paul Bennings.

The earth is one native land, one home, and all mankind are the children of one Father. God has created them, and they are the recipients of His compassion. Therefore, if anyone offends another, he offends God. It is the wish of our Heavenly Father that every heart should rejoice and be filled with happiness, that we should live together in felicity and joy. The obstacle to human happiness is racial or religious prejudice, the competitive struggle for existence and inhumanity toward each other.

Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1 of Article 4 of this Constitution,

The number of registered voters required to file the petition must be determined at the time the copy of the petition is filed with the Secretary of State pursuant to this Section. The person who intends to circulate ~~[it]~~ the initiative petition that proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute shall file a copy of the petition with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than January 1 of the year preceding the year in which a regular session of the Legislature is held. After its circulation, it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 30 days prior to any regular session of the Legislature. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall transmit such petition to the Legislature as soon as the Legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in Section 1 of this Article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the Legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law. If at the session of the Legislature to which an initiative petition proposing an amendment to a statute is presented which the Legislature rejects or upon which it takes no action, the Legislature amends the statute which the petition proposes to amend in a respect which does not conflict in substance with the proposed amendment, the Secretary of State in submitting the statute to the voters for approval or disapproval of the proposed amendment shall include the amendment made by the Legislature.

United States Senator John Ensign delivered his message as follows:

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA
SEVENTY-THIRTY SESSION, 2005

Thank you, Governor, Madam President, Madam Speaker Pro Tem, Mr. Speaker, Majority and Minority Leaders, constitutional officers, members of the Legislature, and special guests. Thank you for inviting me to join you tonight. It is always great to be here in our state's capital with so many friends. For the eighteenth year, we are the fastest-growing state in the nation. Although there are challenges that come with that growth, I am incredibly proud of how Nevada has led the nation in innovation and vision on so many different fronts.

One of my proudest legislative accomplishments, which has literally become the envy of Washington, D.C., is the Southern Nevada Public Lands Management Act, which I wrote with then-Senator Dick Bryan when I was in the House of Representatives. It has exceeded all possible expectations. When we first brought environmentalists, land users, wilderness groups, local, state, and federal governments together, our most optimistic estimates were that about $50,000 per acre would be achieved with the auction of these public lands. Seven years and a booming economy later, land is being auctioned off at $300,000 per acre thus far, bringing our great state more than $2 billion in proceeds. It really is quite remarkable. Our general education fund has received more than $78 million, and water infrastructure has benefited by more than $144 million. We have improved parks and trails, acquired environmentally sensitive lands, and worked to conserve beautiful natural resources across Nevada.

I am especially proud of legislation I authored that amended the Southern Nevada Lands Act, which guarantees $300 million for water clarity, erosion control, and fire suppression at Lake Tahoe. The Spring Mountain Range and Mount Charleston in southern Nevada are slated to receive a $50 million jump-start for infrastructure and fuel reduction to help heal some of the challenges faced there. The success of the Southern Nevada Lands Act is so much more than what we thought it would be because southern Nevadans made the land valuable. They have put in the infrastructure and they have put in the sweat equity to make land so valuable. That is why the funds generated by those land auctions must stay in the state of Nevada. I am thrilled that through the Budget Committee, on which I sit, we were able to stop any attempts to steal our proceeds for the federal coffers. I also received commitments from powerful allies on the Appropriations and Energy Committees to join our fight if another attempt is made to raid our funds. You can rest assured that I will work tirelessly with Senator Reid and the rest of the delegation to stop any further efforts to take these funds from Nevada. Additionally, Senator Reid, Congressman Gibbons, and I worked with countless interested parties to get the Clark County Lands Bill and the Lincoln County Lands Bill signed into law by President Bush. Both pieces of legislation will greatly contribute to the quality of life for residents in both counties.

Senator Reid and I have invited every county in Nevada to consider pursuing a lands bill to address growth, environmentally sensitive areas, and recreation. Several counties are now working on bills as we speak. I extend that invitation again tonight to those counties who have not yet formulated a plan to take advantage of this historic precedent. It is tough work, but bringing together diverse and interested groups, working through difficult issues, and seeing the result of that work is truly remarkable. We had a vision about how to grow southern Nevada and take care of precious resources at the same time. Today, that vision is paying off.

The vision of Nevada educators is something I have also become very familiar with over the past several years. I have met with school administrators, teachers, and parents in school districts across the State. I have asked them to share with me the successes and struggles that they face. They have come up with some very thoughtful and innovative approaches that I have taken back to Washington, as we work to improve the No Child Left Behind Act and the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act. We have come a long way.

Last time I spoke with you, I told you that the No Child Left Behind Act was absolutely not an unfunded mandate. I was so sure of myself because I fought for a provision in the law to allow school districts to opt out of having to comply if there was anything that we required that we did not fund. Well, over the past two years, I have challenged every single district in this state and every single person who has claimed that it is an unfunded mandate, that if you believe that, show me where there is an unfunded mandate. Not one person, to this date, has shown an unfunded mandate. Not one single person, not one single school district. Now, I know that the No Child Left Behind Act is not a perfect piece of legislation, but it is not an unfunded mandate. I will continue to work with educators across this state to make it a better legislation for our students to improve our schools. It is our children's education and future that should be all of our top priority.

Nevada has also been at the head of another class for the past 20 years, as our state has been showing the nation how to plan for retirement. I am not talking about some of the beautiful retirement communities around the state. Since 1984, Nevada's public school teachers and state employees have had the opportunity to invest a portion of their paychecks in the Public Employees' Retirement System of Nevada (PERS). As a matter of fact, they are exempt from paying into Social Security. I have asked hundreds of teachers over the years how they would feel about giving up the opportunity to contribute to PERS and instead be enrolled into Social Security like the rest of us. Let's just say that the response was not very positive. That is because PERS has averaged almost an 11 percent rate of return since its inception. During that time, Social Security has had a 2 percent rate of return; 11 percent versus 2 percent. Pretty obvious.

PERS is not a perfect system either. Like Social Security, PERS is susceptible to the whims of elected officials because there are no protected personal accounts.

As we all know, the current Social Security Trust Fund really is just a farce. It is made up of nothing but IOUs, paper IOUs, that are just promises for future generations to pay taxes for future retirees. That's because since the beginning of Social Security, politicians have been spending that money as if it was their personal rainy day account. Enough is enough. We must come up with a better, stronger system that saves and strengthens Social Security for tomorrow. The new system is about empowering Americans who earn money by working long hours and sacrificing family time, with the right to own their money and the right to make their decisions about how their money will grow. They should know that their hard-earned money in their retirement accounts is secure in a personal account that cannot be spent to pay for Congress's fiscal irresponsibility. They should feel secure knowing that their retirement money, locked in their own personal account, can also be passed on to their children. After all, it is their hard-earned money, and part of living the American dream is having something to leave behind for the next generation. That should not just be true for wealthy families. We can make it true for all Americans.

The personal account, which, again, is completely voluntary, will only be comprised of a portion of a worker's payroll taxes. The majority would go into the Social Security system to ensure that a safety net is in place. There would also be limits on how much and where the money could be invested. Personal accounts alone, however, will not fix the entire problem, but they work toward the goal of providing a safe and secure retirement future with the opportunity for financial growth. Without the personal accounts, we only delay a future crisis because the system, in its current form, is completely unsustainable. Today, Senators, members of Congress, and all federal employees have true personal accounts in addition to Social Security; it is called the Thrift Savings Program. We all choose where to put our money from a list of five index funds. The money in my account is mine when I retire. I own it. Nobody else can dip into it or borrow from it. It is mine. Every single American worker deserves to have ownership over their retirement account. The retirement systems that benefit federal employees and Nevada state employees are innovative and visionary plans, and we should use the same vision as we work to save and strengthen Social Security today.

It is that kind of vision that makes us so proud of this state. But even more special to me than the innovation that thrives in Nevada are the people who make it all possible. I think of people like Mike O'Callaghan, who loved this state with every fiber of his being and who dedicated his life to making it a better place to live for all of us. I think of people like Tony Armstrong, Mayor of Sparks, who brought humility to public office and showed us that we serve our constituents best when we serve with our hearts.

Since I last spoke with you two years ago, no one has shown more bravery and courage than Nevada's servicemen and -women who have sacrificed so much to defend our freedom. Sadly, twelve sons of Nevada have given their lives in their service to this nation in Iraq and Afghanistan. While we mourn their losses, I continue to be inspired by the heroism and complete commitment of our armed forces. And Nevadans have led on that front, too. Corporal Daniel Routson from Winnemucca was awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal with Combat "V." Last July, a 20-man insurgent force dressed as Arab civilians ambushed his platoon. Corporal Routson drove his unarmored civilian vehicle through a hail of enemy fire in pursuit of fleeing insurgents. His actions resulted in the capture of two foreign fighters. And then there is Lance Corporal Miguel Melara, a 2003 Douglas High School graduate, who was wounded in November during the intense battle for the city of Fallujah. With shrapnel wounds to his lip, forehead, neck, and leg, the young Marine was given the option of leaving Iraq. He chose to stay with his comrades. Lance Corporal Melara finished his tour and is stationed, now, at Camp Pendleton until he is deployed again at the end of the summer. I know that all Nevadans are thankful for these exceptional men and the countless other brave men and women in uniform from Nevada in our Armed Forces who have exhibited unbelievable strength and courage. Having been to Iraq twice, attended many funerals, and visited with injured servicemen at Walter Reed Hospital, I have seen their sacrifices and the effects firsthand. And the fruits of their sacrifices are also being witnessed across the world.

As Martin Luther King, Jr. once urged, “Let freedom ring.” Today, that glorious ring of freedom is being heard in Iraq, where democratic elections have been held and where thousands of Iraqis recently protested against foreign fighters while chanting, “No to terrorism.” It is being heard in Afghanistan where a free government, elected by their people, is running that country, and not terrorists or regimes of hate. And it is being heard in Lebanon, where hundreds of thousands of Lebanese are demanding that Syrian troops leave their country. Make no mistake about it. This is not an American freedom being forced down the throats of unwilling nations and reluctant people. This is a freedom yearned for and sought by nations and people who want a better life for themselves and their children and their grandchildren. As President Bush said, this is a “freedom granted by a Higher Being.” All of God’s children deserve to be free, and the United States of America will never stop supporting freedom. We are all so fortunate to live in the greatest nation in the history of the world. God bless you, God bless Nevada, and God bless America. Thank you.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that the following proclamation be entered in the Journal:

PROCLAMATION OF THE NEVADA STATE ASSEMBLY

WHEREAS, March 22, 2005, the Nevada Assembly once again embraces its rich heritage and storied past by holding a floor session in its former Chambers in the historic State Capitol Building, the second since the 55th Regular Session of the Legislature adjourned sine die over 35 years ago, on April 24, 1969; and

WHEREAS, The earliest sessions of Nevada's Territorial and State Legislatures, from 1861 through 1869, were conducted in Carson City in either hotels or the original Ormsby County Courthouse, which led Assemblyman John S. Mayhugh, of Aurora in Esmeralda County, to introduce legislation providing for the erection of a State Capitol Building, which was passed after waves of legislative protest and signed into law on February 23, 1869; and

WHEREAS, The Capitol Building in Carson City served as the home of the Nevada State Legislature for nearly 100 years and 51 regular sessions, from the 5th Regular Session in 1871 through the 55th Regular Session in 1969; and

WHEREAS, A century of change and challenge in Nevada was addressed in these Chambers every two years (including one annual session in 1960), during which time the State's population experienced sharp increases and decreases depending on the fortunes of mining and the price of minerals, ranging from a total state population of just over 42,000 in both 1870 and 1900, to 488,738 in 1970; and

WHEREAS, The number of Assembly members in these Chambers, which was originally called the Assembly Hall, ranged from a high of 53 in the sessions of 1913 and 1915, to a low of 30 members in the sessions of 1893 through 1899; and

WHEREAS, Women first graced these Chambers as elected members when Mrs. Sadie D. Hurst was elected to the Assembly from Washoe County in 1918 and served during the 1919 Session with distinction; and

WHEREAS, As the 1969 Session neared its end, the Speaker of the Assembly noted that, despite the excellent design, quality of building materials, and stately beauty of the Capitol Building, the State and its legislative requirements had outgrown the Assembly and Senate Chambers that had served so well; and

WHEREAS, It was with feelings of gratitude and respect for the past and hopes for the future that Assembly Speaker Howard F. McKissick, Jr., a native Nevadan and distinguished attorney from Reno, bid farewell to these Chambers on the last night of the 55th Legislative Session, on April 24, 1969, by stating, "Let us then hold fast to the memory of those who went before us and, grateful that we have had an opportunity to participate in events that have taken place here, let us go forward with confidence to our new duties in our new Assembly chamber in the soon-to-be completed Legislative Building. . . (and) let us take with us the same pioneer spirit of all the Assemblymen of the State of Nevada who have helped shape our destiny, the willingness to enforce what is just, and the courage to change what is wrong;" now, therefore, be it

PROCLAIMED, That the members of the Nevada State Assembly of the 73rd Session look back with deep pride and appreciation on the hard work, courage, and vision of all those men and women who served the people of the state of Nevada as members of the Nevada Assembly in the Capitol Building; and be it further PROCLAIMED, That Nevada's rich political history and heritage must be treasured, preserved, and brought back to life periodically through celebrations such as today's historic floor session in the former Chambers of the Nevada Assembly in the State Capitol Building.

Dated this Twenty-Second Day of March, 2005

RICHARD D. PERKINS,
Speaker of the Assembly

Assemblywoman Buckley requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal:

NEVADA STATE ARCHIVIST GUY ROCHA:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your kindness in having me back for an encore performance. Before I begin my presentation, I want to respectfully acknowledge one of my former teachers in Las Vegas and now a freshman member of your august Body, Harvey Munford. Mr. Munford did so much for the students at Clark High School in promoting harmonious human relations in the midst of great racial tension and violence in 1969 and 1970. My younger sister, Victoria, and I were very fortunate to have Mr. Munford touch our lives, and now he and I have reconnected after almost 36 years. His constituents and the people of Nevada, I suggest, are equally as fortunate.

For those of you who weren't here two years ago, I regaled the Body with the story of how a law was passed in 1895 to prohibit the sale, gift, or disposal of liquor in the State Capitol Building. Reformers were finally able to ban the alcohol concession known as "The Well;" halt the prodigious amount of alcohol consumption while legislating; and presumably enhance the quality of the legislation.

I was asked many times at the end of the 2003 regular session if the session was the most contentious, mean-spirited, rancorous legislative session in Nevada history. My answer was that it was among the worst in that regard, but not necessarily the worst; perhaps the worst in the modern era.

I thought of the 1899 session when a U.S. Senator, William M. Stewart, vying for the votes of legislators—when legislators picked our U.S. Senators—had hired notorious gunmen as bodyguards. One bodyguard, Dave Neagle, had been acquitted in the 1889 shooting death of former California Supreme Court Chief Justice David S. Terry as the bodyguard of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Stephen J. Field.

In addition, charges of bribery and other improper manipulations were made on both sides. A missing Assemblyman—the Sergeant-at-Arms failed to find him although he had been present in the morning session—swung the election to Stewart in a key Assembly vote.

However, the colorful story I share with you today takes us back to this very chamber in the final day, March 4, of the 1875 session. Arguably, this legislative day may have the dubious distinction of the being the worst legislative day in Nevada history:

Territorial Enterprise/Saturday, March 6, 1875: The afternoon and evening sessions of the Assembly, last Thursday, were in some respects the most disgraceful that ever occurred in a deliberative body. While the roll was being called on the Appropriations bill, the list was twice snatched from the hands of the Clerk, and it was only after a few resolute members had volunteered to protect that officer that the call was finished and the result declared. One of them ([Douglas County Republican Assemblymember Henry] Van Sickle), who years ago

brought the very worst of Nevada's desperados to a final reckoning through the agency of a double-barreled shotgun, took his place beside the Clerk, and quietly announced that he would kill in his tracks the first man who attempted to interfere with the proceedings of the Assembly. This intimation from a man who had "seen service" was more potent than the Speaker's gavel, and for some time comparative peace prevailed in the House. This was in the afternoon. In the evening a regular saturnalia was inaugurated, which could be suppressed neither by the menace of Van Sickle nor the vehement protests of the Speaker. Some of the members smiled at the rulings of the presiding officer and his efforts to preserve the peace, and in questions of privilege requested that gentleman step into the lobby and in a rough and tumble fight settle certain contested questions of parliamentary usage. The irate Speaker [Republican W.C. Dovey of Lyon County], physically unable to maintain his rulings in the manner suggested, communicated the information, in as quiet a manner as possible, that were the desk of the presiding officer supplied with a couple of Spencer rifles, he would reduce the names of the roll-call fifty percent in five minutes, and that the only embarrassment in the House during the brief remainder of the session would be in removing the dead. But the rifles were not at hand, and for the next five or six hours the time of the Speaker was pretty equally divided in gesticulating wildly with the gavel and dodging inkstands. During the evening the members found entertainment in throwing books at each others' heads, and requesting opponents to step into the street and exchange shots. One member, after first requesting the Speaker, who had called him to order, to "take a walk," expressed a willingness to fight the entire body, and at the same time brushed aside the skirts of his coat and disclosed the handle of a revolver and what seemed to be a tomahawk or butcher's cleaver. A shower of books greeted the belligerent representative, and he subsided through sheer inability to determine the first point of assault. Finding that the session was to be closed in this manner, most of the members had provided themselves with extra supplies of books, ink-stands, and mucilage pots, and for some hours any one rising to his feet and attempting to make a motion was incontinently knocked down, or compelled to seek protection from a merciless general assault by crawling under his desk. Finally, the outsiders took a hand in the sport, and to the projectiles were added stove-wood and spittoons. But all that transpired in this line was not the result of overflowing good-humor. Blows were exchanged in some instances with venom. [Lincoln County Republican Assemblymember J.B.] Van Hagan, in reply to some remark, hurled a copy of the compiled laws of Nevada at the head of [Roop and Washoe counties Democratic Assemblymember H.H.] Hogan. As the volume opened in its flight, Hogan was not knocked down. The latter started for his assailant but a hand-to-hand fight was prevented by some lady in the lobby. About 11 o'clock a wood-chopper from the head of Clear Creek dropped into the Chamber, and, believing that a free fight was about to be inaugurated, offered a bystander a month's wages if he would turn off the lights and give him a five minutes discussion with the members with an ax. At one time it was proposed to raise an alarm of fire, and wash out the chamber with a stream from a fire steamer; but better counsel prevailed, and the members were allowed to "fight it out on that line." It is marvelous that some of them were not killed, for behind the apparent levity which kept the air full of books and ink-stands, was a feeling of rancor which suggested pistols and bowie-knives. As described to us by half-a-dozen witnesses, the scene was the most disgraceful ever enacted within a legislative chamber, and when the minute for adjournment came, the Speaker descended from his stand with an undisguised look of thankfulness that his life had been spared. The closing scenes in the Senate were less turbulent, yet the proceedings were characterized by a sullen discourtesy on the part of many of the members which we hope may never again be observed in a Nevada Legislature. Had the [Lt. and] acting Governor [Jewett W. Adams] appeared during the evening in the Assembly, the chances are that he would have been thrown out of a window. Those who witnessed the scenes in the Assembly say that they were indescribable; and here, in respect to the people of Nevada, we will let the curtain drop on the seventh session of the Nevada Legislature.

And that is the rest of the story. So, in closing, just remember, it wasn't all that bad in the 2003 Legislative Session.

Mr. Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I have some dignitaries I would like to introduce from the rostrum, as well. I would also like to change seats with Speaker pro Tempore so she can round out our session today. With us over here are many folks who have actually served in these Chambers. We have the Honorable Louis J. Capurro, Jr., the Honorable Randy Capurro, the Honorable Harold Jacobson, the Honorable Lawrence E. Jacobson—Jake, it is good to see you—the Honorable Coe Swobe, glad you could make it down, the Honorable Art Valentine, Justice Mark Gibbons, Theresa Moiola, representing Controller Augustine, and last but not least, Governor Guinn, amongst our ranks. You are the only one who is still active, in spite what the Las Vegas Review-Journal says about you.

I would like to thank Mr. Rocha as well. He has always made history very entertaining and provided those little pieces of information for us that really kind of bring us together.

We put this session in the old Chambers together last session for the first time because I thought it was important for all of us to understand where we came from. There was a whole number of people that came before us. We are only caretakers of the seats we now hold, and we have a great responsibility to the citizens of this state as we sit here and deliberate the business that will affect all of us.

I want to also thank the staff. This is no small undertaking to move our operation over here with the recording information. They are going to spend a great deal of time cleaning up what we just did today when they get back and make sure everything is entered properly in the computers, the sound system, and the like. If you were here just a few days ago, you would have seen this was just basically an empty room. They have really put this together for us.

The traditional desks that are sitting mostly in the front row, and the arrangement, when the Assembly met in these Chambers, they were not only your desks, but they were your offices. As you can tell, there is not a lot of additional space in this Capitol Building. The work and meetings you had with your constituents happened right here at your desk. We are quite spoiled in the digs that we have now and the ability where we are able to do the business of the people. I think bringing recognition to the process that came before us, even if it was a little raucous in the late 1800s, and even if the "Well" was named after the watering hole that existed back then.

I wanted to make sure that everybody had the opportunity to do this again this session. I know that a number of you have guests you would like to introduce. We have microphones, one at the Minority Leader's desk, one at the Majority Leader's desk, and one at both ends. If you have a guest you would like to introduce, I need you to come forward to a microphone and the Chair will recognize you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. First I would like to thank the Speaker for convening this effort. I think it is so much different to think back on how things happened before technology, before our time, just on a bit of a contested vote, seeing the differences between not having a board, not having a display. It is quite interesting and quite different to see how well we have it today compared to how our predecessors operated. I would also like to thank the Speaker.

This is the first time a woman has acted as Speaker in these Chambers. Last session it was noted that I was the first female Majority Leader to ever speak in these Chambers, and now we have another record by having our colleague, Speaker pro Tempore up there at the front, and it is great to see you up there.

Madam Speaker pro Tempore requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Thank you very much. I am in good company. I appreciate the Speaker giving me this opportunity, but you as well, and all the men and women in this room. It is an honor, a privilege, to be here, and I think, too often, we get stuck in our little halls and we remember we are public servants, but unfortunately, with the press of everything, we don't always get to acknowledge that. I want to thank you for giving me the opportunity as well.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS, AND NOTICES

By the Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 8—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to specify that the number of signatures required on a petition for referendum or a petition for initiative is to be determined when, before circulating the petition for signatures, a copy of the petition is filed with the Secretary of State.

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That Section 1 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 1. 1. A person who intends to circulate a petition that a statute or resolution or part thereof enacted by the Legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, before circulating the petition for signatures, shall file a copy thereof with the Secretary of State. He shall file the copy not earlier than August 1 of the year before the year in which the election will be held.

2. Whenever a number of registered voters of this State equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election shall express their wish by filing with the Secretary of State, not less than 120 days before the next general election, a petition in the form provided for in section 3 of this article that any statute or resolution or any part thereof enacted by the Legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, the officers charged with the duties of announcing and proclaiming elections and of certifying nominations or questions to be voted upon shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding election at which such question may be voted upon by the registered voters of the entire state. The number of registered voters of this State equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election required to file a petition must be determined at the time the copy of the petition is filed with the Secretary of State pursuant to subsection 1. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest.

3. If a majority of the voters voting upon the proposal submitted at such election votes approval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall stand as the law of the State and shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside, suspended or in any way made inoperative except by the direct vote of the people. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall be void and of no effect.

And be it further

RESOLVED, That Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1 of article 4 of this constitution, but subject to the limitations of section 6 of this article, the people reserve to themselves the power to propose, by initiative petition, statutes and amendments to statutes and amendments to this constitution, and to enact or reject them at the polls.

2. An initiative petition shall be in the form required by section 3 of this article and shall be proposed by a number of registered voters equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in not less than 75 percent of the counties in the State, but the total number of registered voters signing the initiative petition shall be equal to 10 percent or more of the voters who voted in the entire state at the last preceding general election. The number of registered voters equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election required to propose an initiative petition must be determined at the time a copy of the petition is filed with the Secretary of State pursuant to subsection 3 or 4.

3. If the initiative petition proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than January 1 of the year preceding the year in which a regular session of the Legislature is held. After its circulation, it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 30 days prior to any regular session of the Legislature. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall transmit such petition to the Legislature as soon as the Legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in section 1 of this article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the Legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law. If at the session of the Legislature to which an initiative petition proposing an amendment to a statute is presented which the Legislature rejects or upon which it takes no action, the Legislature amends the statute which the petition proposes to amend in a respect which does not conflict in substance with the proposed amendment, the Secretary of State in submitting the statute to the voters for approval or disapproval of the proposed amendment shall include the amendment made by the Legislature.

4. If the initiative petition proposes an amendment to the constitution, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than September 1 of the year before the year in which the election is to be held. After its circulation it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 90 days before any regular general election at which the question of approval or disapproval of such amendment may be voted upon by the voters of the entire state. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation, on three separate occasions, in each county in the State, together with any explanatory matter which shall be placed upon the ballot, the entire text of the proposed amendment. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on the petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit the question of approval or disapproval to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election in the same manner as such question was originally submitted. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, it shall, unless precluded by subsection 5 or 6, become a part of this constitution upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court.

5. If two or more measures which affect the same section of a statute or of the constitution are finally approved pursuant to this section, or an amendment to the constitution is finally so approved and an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified which affect the same section, by the voters at the same election:

(a) If all can be given effect without contradiction in substance, each shall be given effect.

(b) If one or more contradict in substance the other or others, the measure which received the largest favorable vote, and any other approved measure compatible with it, shall be given effect. If the one or more measures that contradict in substance the other or others receive the same number of favorable votes, none of the measures that contradict another shall be given effect.

6. If, at the same election as the first approval of a constitutional amendment pursuant to this section, another amendment is finally approved pursuant to this section, or an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified, which affects the same section of the constitution but is compatible with the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit at the next general election the amendment given first approval as a further amendment to the section as amended by the amendment given final approval or ratified. If the amendment finally approved or ratified contradicts in substance the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall not submit the amendment given first approval to the voters again.

Assemblywoman Koivisto moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments.

Motion carried.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 9—Commending the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program and the law enforcement officers who are specially trained to provide instruction in the D.A.R.E. curriculum, and designating March 21 to 25, 2005, as Law Enforcement Youth Drug Education Week in Nevada.

WHEREAS, Illegal drug use and the abuse of prescription drugs and alcohol have the potential to destroy the hopes, ambitions and lives of users and to negatively impact the safety and health of families, schools and communities with an associated increase in violence and risky behavior; and

WHEREAS, As long as drugs remain available to young people, antidrug education must be a priority, because only through consistent and ongoing antidrug messages from family, friends, schools and governments, and the supported efforts of these youth to remain drug free, can adolescent drug use be substantially reduced; and

WHEREAS, Since its development in 1983, the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program, based on the premise that prevention is the only long-term answer to substance abuse, has offered a curriculum to millions of students from kindergarten through grade 12 that helps students raise their self-esteem to resist peer pressure, teaches them how to make decisions on their own and encourages them to identify positive alternatives to drugs; and

WHEREAS, Expanded in 1994 to include lessons that focus on reducing violence through the use of anger management and conflict resolution and by building interpersonal and communications skills, the D.A.R.E. curriculum is constantly being revised to blend the latest in prevention science with the largest prevention delivery network in the world; and

WHEREAS, The D.A.R.E. program relies on accurate information and an upbeat approach to give young people the skills they need to recognize and resist the subtle and overt pressures that may cause them to experiment with drugs or become involved in gangs or violent activities and to inspire them to become contributing members of their communities; and

WHEREAS, A unique feature of D.A.R.E. is the introduction into the classroom of law enforcement officers from the community who are certified school resource officers and who, through the utilization of on-the-job experiences and specialized training, have dedicated themselves to helping the young people in this State to remain drug and violence free; and

WHEREAS, Nevada's law enforcement community has made a commitment to educate the youth of Nevada concerning the dangers of gangs, violence and drug use, and as members of our communities, and through their daily work routine, these law enforcement officers continually strive to work with the children in our school system to teach such awareness in classrooms throughout the State; and

WHEREAS, The presence of these dedicated men and women in our schools permits students to interact with law enforcement officers, and the relationships that develop open lines of communication between law enforcement and these children, setting the stage to defuse dangerous situations that may arise on school campuses; and

WHEREAS, As they introduce valuable lessons through role-playing, group discussions, question-and-answer sessions and workbook exercises in the classroom setting, these officers become visible role models to the students and provide opportunities for them to seek support in other areas of their lives where they may feel threatened or afraid or pressured to engage in harmful behavior; and

WHEREAS, By holding true to the ethics of police service, these members of the law enforcement community have shown their dedication and loyalty to the residents of the State of Nevada; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE SENATE CONCURRING, That the members of the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature commend the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program for its part in lowering the percentage of drug use and participation in gangs and violent activities among the youth of our nation while providing them with positive and healthful alternatives; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the residents of the State of Nevada applaud the dedication of the Nevada law enforcement officers whose expertise in the classrooms of our State as they present the D.A.R.E. program is critical to the well-being of our children and their future; and be it further

RESOLVED, That March 21 to 25, 2005, is declared Law Enforcement Youth Drug Education Week in Nevada, in conjunction with the Nevada State D.A.R.E. Conference to be held in Carson City; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Sergeant Mark Sharp, State D.A.R.E. Administrator, John Lybbert, State D.A.R.E. Coordinator and Mike Pardovich, President of the D.A.R.E. Officers Association.

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA SEVENTY-THIRD SESSION, 2005

Thank you very much for that lovely applause. I appreciate it very much. Mr. Speaker, Madam President, members of the Legislature, Constitutional Officers, Supreme Court Justices, honored guests, thank you very much for inviting me to speak with you this evening. I appreciate the opportunity. I know how very busy you all are. I promise not to take up too much of your very valuable time, but I must say I do look forward to this biannual ritual. It is wonderful to come here and it is wonderful to see all of you. I think it is very important to share with you what is happening in Washington, how it impacts your work, and how what I am doing impacts the work you are doing as well.

A few weeks ago I had an opportunity to share an extraordinary experience with my fellow Nevadans. I had an opportunity to participate in the dedication ceremony of the Winnemucca statue. I can tell you, I have attended many ceremonies in Washington D.C., but I cannot remember being moved by a single one until our Sarah Winnemucca ceremony. We were in the nation's Capitol Rotunda where there were over 300 Nevadans lead by the Governor and his wife Dena, and we were paying tribute to a woman, and there are very few statues of women in our nation's Rotunda, and a Native American woman. It was a proud day for the state of Nevada, and I know you will enjoy your dedication ceremony here in April as much as we enjoyed it in Washington, D.C. It was truly spectacular.

I am now in my fourth term of serving in the United States House of Representatives. I still come home almost every weekend and I still sit on three committees. What I would like to do tonight is share with you what we are doing on each of those committees so you have a better understanding of the work that I am doing on behalf of the people whom we equally and mutually represent in this state.

As you all know, I sit on the Veterans' Affairs Committee and—you have heard this before—we have the fastest-growing veterans population in the United States right here in Nevada. There are 240,000 veterans in the state of Nevada. Almost 200,000 reside in southern Nevada, where we have almost no veterans' medical care for them. I have 80-year-old veterans standing in 100 degree temperatures waiting for a shuttle to pick them up to take them to one of ten locations where they can get clinical help and healthcare help. We share hospital facilities with Nellis Air Force Base, but the active duty get preference over the veterans; 1,500 veterans from southern Nevada have to go to southern California to get their healthcare needs met. We were in desperate need of VA facilities in southern Nevada.

I am very pleased to report that President Bush's budget contained $199 million for a full-service VA medical center in southern Nevada. There will be a full-service hospital. There will be a full-service outpatient clinic. There will be a long-term care facility for those veterans who are no longer able to care for themselves. The land has been transferred from the Interior Department to the VA; $25 million was appropriated last year for startup money. The architects have been selected and we are going to pass that $199 million appropriation, break ground in 2006, and have this thing completed by 2009. I have always felt and have said that I feel like the mother hen. I am going to sit on this nest until this egg is hatched. I am very happy to say I am feeling some rumblings. I am looking forward, not only to turning over that first spade of dirt in order to start the process, but I am looking forward to being there to cut that ribbon, and I hope that all of you will be there along with me. This is important for the veterans whom we represent.

As pleased as I am that we have $199 million set aside in our budget for a veterans medical center, I am equally disappointed with some of the proposals that are included for our veterans, and I want to share those with you because, not only will I oppose them, I am going to fight them tooth and nail. There is a proposal that there should be a $250 enrollment fee for our veterans to access health care in this nation. There is also a proposal to double the co-pays for prescription medication for our veterans. I think our veterans have sacrificed enough, and I don't think we should be balancing our budget on the backs of our veterans. These costs should not be included and I will fight them, I promise you that.

I also sit on the Transportation Committee. The House recently passed a $285 billion transportation bill, which funds highway programs for the next six years—every highway program in the United States for the next six years. Nevada's share will rise to $1.5 billion. That is $300 million more than we had the last time. Nevada's per capita federal highway funding now ranks sixth out of the 50 states. While I cannot tell you every project throughout the state of Nevada, I would like to share with you what will be done in Congressional District 1, because so many of you will be a part of that and have constituents who are affected by this. There will be $10 million for the I-15 Las Vegas Beltway Interchange; $10 million for US 95 Las Vegas Beltway Interchange; $8 million for the widening of I-15 and an interchange at Apex Road; $8 million to widen US 95 in the northern stretch of the Las Vegas Valley; $6 million to build a new Intermodal Transportation Terminal in downtown Las Vegas; $5 million for Smart Signs and traffic flow monitoring equipment; and $2 million for Bus Rapid Transit on Boulder City as we have introduced in North Las Vegas. These improvements and innovations are going to help the quality of life in our state, the quality of life of our citizens, help improve the air quality, and we could not have done this without the help of the Regional Transportation Commissions, north and south, and NDOT. They have done a remarkable job educating your congressional delegation of what the transportation needs are in this state, and in comparison to the DOTs and Regional Transportation Commissioners that I have met throughout the United States, ours are head and shoulders above all the others. You ought to know that, because we should all be very proud of their help.

My third committee assignment is the International Relations Committee. I sit on the Middle East Subcommittee. My area of jurisdiction is Iran, Iraq, Afghanistan, and the entire Middle East. Needless to say, it has been in the news in the last few years. I want to talk to you about a few of the countries. Although we could spend an entire speech on this, I am going to go through this very rapidly, but it is important for you to know what is going on in our nation's capital when it comes to these particular nations, because they impact all of us in a very direct way.

Iraq. No matter what you thought about going into the war, or what you think about it now, we have troops on the ground, men and women serving in a very dangerous theater of war. Sixty percent of Nevada's National Guard has been deployed. Our Nevada Army Reserves and Nevada Marine Reserves are among the highest percentage deployed in the nation. Deployment out of Nellis is an extraordinarily high percentage of those who are stationed at Nellis. I have attended, I am very sorry to say, a number of memorial services for our fallen soldiers. These are youngsters, 19–20 years old. In talking with their parents, I can tell you, I was struck by the fact that their families are so very proud of their children and proud of the sacrifices they have made on behalf of this great nation. Now, I can't end this war on my own, and I can't win it on my own, but what I can do is make sure that our troops have the best equipment, the best protection, and the best training that we can provide for them.

I do have a serious concern. Our military personnel are stretched to the limit. It is very, very thin, while we have other serious hotspots throughout the world. Iran is a looming problem. North Korea is a looming problem. While bringing democracy to Iraq is a very laudatory goal, we must be mindful of the other challenges. In my opinion, China is a threat that we will be facing in the next decade. They are an economic power, and rapidly becoming a very strong economic power, and they are a very strong military power and becoming stronger by the day. We cannot afford to deploy our forces and weaken our forces to the point that, if a nation like China makes a move that is a danger to the rest of the world, we will be unable to stand up and do what we must do. So, while I know of the importance of democratizing a region that has not known democracy, and in the long run I appreciate how important it is, I think it is equally important to realize that we need an exit strategy, know what it is that our goals are, go for our goals, and get out.

Everyone knows of my interest in the Middle East. With Arafat in control of the Palestinian Authority there was no chance for peace in the Middle East. With Arafat's death and the election of Abu Mazin, I think, for the first time in many, many years, we have a real opportunity to bring peace in a two-state solution in a very troubled part of the world. I envision a Jewish state of Israel living side-by-side with a Palestinian state, in peace, with secure borders, and Israel's right to exist recognized by the Palestinians and all of its Arab neighbors. I think that there is a genuine move in that direction, and we need to do everything in Congress to ensure that both parties come to the table, make a deal, and the United States acts as a guarantor to make sure that deal is carried out. I am very cautiously optimistic that this time has come. I think we have a very short window of opportunity. We need to take this time to do it and I think we will, and I think we can, and both peoples will be better off for it, and the world will be more at peace.

One of the worst offenders of human rights, religious freedoms, equal rights for women, and a country that has no democratic institutions, is Saudi Arabia. It is the biggest exporter of terrorism and the financier of terrorists for the last 30 years. It is no accident that 15 of the 19 terrorist attackers of the World Trade Center and the Pentagon were Saudis. This week, the United States Congress actually voted to continue foreign aid to the Saudis. I happen to believe $56 a barrel is enough foreign aid for the Saudis. We continue to pretend that this radical fundamentalist state is our ally and is our partner in our fight against terrorism. There is only one reason and one reason alone that we continue this fiction, and that reason is oil. We are dependent on foreign oil, Saudi oil, for our energy needs. Our nation must develop an energy policy for the 21st century. We must develop renewable energy sources that will make this nation energy self-sufficient so that our children, our grandchildren, and future generations of Americans won't be dependent on foreign oil to satisfy our energy needs, and isn't dependent on nuclear energy, which has a deadly by-product, nuclear waste, that has never been figured out how to safely dispose of. Burying it in the Nevada desert is not the answer.

As you are all well aware, last week the Department of Energy acknowledged that employees at Yucca Mountain, allegedly, although I believe there is good evidence of it, faked the scientific documents relating to the work on the proposed dump. Now, this documentation must have been really falsified for the Department of Energy to have to come clean and come public. This, coupled with the starving of the funds and the cutting of the funds that our senior Senator has done so beautifully; the radiation standards, which, according to the Circuit Court of Appeals judgment last May, they miscalculated the radiation standards by a mere 290,000 years, which I think is a bit much; and transportation issues we have never figured out. We have never done the study on how we are going to safely transport 77,000 tons of toxic nuclear material across 43 states safely without any accident or terrorist attack. With all of these things, even the nuclear industry is beginning to look at alternatives for storage of nuclear waste. What is their alternative? Leaving it on-site, in dry cast storage, exactly what Senator Bryan suggested over a decade ago.

I believe that Nevada has a potential to lead the nation in renewable energy with our solar, geothermal, and endless supply of wind. Our state's renewable portfolio standard, which this Legislature passed a few terms ago, should be serving as a national model. It should be part of our nation's energy policy. You should all be congratulated on the foresight and the vision to have implemented that legislation before it became trendy. I, for one, not only applaud you, I have given you the ultimate compliment by stealing your idea and introducing it in the United States Congress.

You have heard this before. I represent the fastest-growing congressional district in the United States, with the fastest-growing senior population. Issues that affect my senior citizens are very important to me. So, when the United States Congress passed the so-called Prescription Medication Bill last year, in the middle of the night, we started voting at 3:00 and ended at 6:00 a.m., we passed a sham of a legislation. It doesn't provide affordable prescription medication for most seniors. It is outrageously expensive. It has yet to be implemented and the cost has now gone from $500 billion to close to $1 trillion. It is a gift, plain and simple, to the pharmaceutical companies. It actually has a provision that was passed by the United States Congress—without my help—that forbids the federal government from negotiating for lower prices, just as the VA gets to negotiate for lower prices because they are negotiating in bulk. We have legislation that prohibits such negotiation. To add insult to injury, the Congress voted against the reimportation of prescription medication from Canada. Let us be clear on this: we are talking about the same medication, the same pharmaceutical companies, selling their products for 50 percent less in Canada than they do here in the United States. I am very pleased to see that this Legislature is now looking at a bill that would allow seniors to access safe, affordable prescription medications in Canada. This is an innovative plan that would save seniors real dollars. I am a strong supporter of reimportation in Congress. I am a strong supporter here. I certainly hope that you do look at this and pass it.

Another issue that affects seniors is Social Security. You see my button. It says, "Do not gamble with Social Security." We in Nevada understand a gamble, but we know a sure bet, and we know a not sure bet, and Social Security privatization is not a sure bet. In Nevada, we have 327,000 people who receive some sort of Social Security benefits. 221,000 are retired workers, 40,000 are disabled workers, and there are 24,000 children who receive Social Security benefits in our state alone. We have a problem with Social Security. Anybody who doesn't acknowledge it I think is wrong. It is not a crisis. Medicare is a crisis, Social Security is not. The Social Security Trust Fund is solvent and will continue to pay full benefits until at least the year 2041. If Congress does nothing, absolutely nothing, after 2041 seniors will receive 80 percent of the Social Security. But Social Security will not remain solvent for long if we divert $2 trillion dollars to create the so-called private accounts. The President of the United States acknowledges that private accounts will do nothing to protect the solvency of the Social Security system. Our seniors will not remain solvent if their benefits are slashed by 40 percent in anticipation of reaping large, large profits from their private investment accounts, and their private investment accounts won't be solvent if there is a downturn in the stock market and their account loses its value. If this had been implemented and was in place in the year 2000 and you retired, you would have made out like a bandit. If you retired in 2002, your portfolio would have been down by 40 percent. Now, which one of us is going to gamble this nation's seniors' futures on something as uncertain as our stock market? Social Security is an American success story. It safeguards older Americans' independence and economic security. It is a safety net for millions of seniors. We should not destroy a program that is working. We should fix it. We should extend it. We should not dismantle it and we should not privatize it.

I voted against the President's budget and I am going to share with you why, because you need to know if this budget had been passed the way it was proposed, it would have hurt Nevada and it would have hurt the people we all represent. The Legislature, all of you, would have had, and will have, many additional problems to deal with if, in fact, this budget passes. I am going to share some of those cuts with you now. There was $12 million in cuts to Nevada's Homeland Security funding. The formula does not take into account the 40 million visitors we have every year in this state. If, God forbid, we experience a terrorist attack, not only would we be responsible for our residents, we are responsible for those visitors as well. $1.2 million cuts in grant funding to help Nevada with bioterrorism prevention and medical response. Total elimination of the COPS program, which has put more than 400 police officers on Nevada streets. North Las Vegas is dependant on the COPS program and it has been zeroed out. $3.7 million in cuts to WIC. $12 million cuts to Head Start and to help abused kids in Nevada. Shortchanges to the Leave No Child Behind Act by $9.4 billion, including $7.2 billion for Title 1 programs, and it freezes funding for after-school programs. That hurts growth states like Nevada in a disproportionate way, because of our extraordinary growth. For the second year in a row, it eliminates all national dropout prevention program money. Nevada has one of the highest dropout rates in the nation. We need that dropout prevention money. We need it desperately. It eliminates Even Start, which is early child education, adult literacy, and parenting education, a program where roughly half of the participants are Latino. It eliminates GEAR UP, which helps high-risk students achieve success in high school and prepares them for college. For a woman like me, who comes from a family where her father has a ninth-grade education and her mother barely graduated high school, I don't think I am very much different from the kids who are dependant on this program to get out of high school successfully and get into college. It eliminates TRIO and Upward Bound, which has helped 2.2 million students in Nevada and nationwide transition from high school to college. The Bush budget eliminates all the Perkins Loans for college. It eliminates loan forgiveness for those who become teachers and law enforcement officials, or who serve in the military.

We have 172,000 Medicare recipients in the state of Nevada. The proposed reductions in Medicaid spending would put an extraordinary burden on our state's programs. We cannot afford to let this happen. Under the Bush budget, Nevada will see the loss of more than $28 million in cuts for housing, employment counseling, and transition assistance in small business funding. Micro loans that help women-owned and minority small businesses have been zeroed out. For the third time in a row, the Bush administration has eliminated all funding for the SBA's Flagship 7 (a) loan program. We will fight, as we did in the last two sessions, to make sure that that funding goes back in. There are significant cuts to the Community Development Block Grant program, which provided more than $24 million to Nevada last year, including funding for programs to help Nevadans cope with HIV/AIDS, and that stands to lose an additional $3.5 million. Nevada faces a $1.7 million cut in clean water funding. That impacts Lake Mead and Lake Tahoe, which get millions of dollars of grants from this program. Southern Nevada Public Land Management Act (SNPLMA), the Bush budget diverted $700 million, or more, annually from the Nevada Land Sales to pay for other spending. $300 million for Lake Tahoe restoration funded through the proceeds from this act, and it provides financial resources to pay parks and trails and to enhance recreational opportunities and conservation measures. This is a bad cut and we have fought as a united congressional delegation to stop it. We have dodged the bullet so far in the Congress. In the House of Representatives we are not done yet. In running a sea of red with deficit spending as far as the eye can see, I can bet my life on the fact that they are going to keep coming after that money, time and time again. This delegation is united in protecting the state of Nevada and protecting those funds that have done such an extraordinary job for our state.

The NCAA bill was recently introduced. When March Madness began, the NCAA bill came back to rear its ugly head. As you all know, that would hurt the state of Nevada. It singles out the state because we are the only state in the nation that has legal betting on collegiate sports. Rather than going after the illegal betting, which is a $380 billion thriving business in this country, they are going after the legalized gaming in the state of Nevada where you have to be 21 to place a bet and you have to be present in order to place it. We have fought back this bill every session since I started in Congress and we will do the same again. Now I am co-chairing, with Congressman Gibbons, the Congressional Gaming Caucus. We will use that as a vehicle to rally the troops in Congress and protect the state of Nevada once again.

Now, while Congress has been fixated on steroids hearings and, unfortunately, the tragic, gut-wrenching, and what should be a private family medical decision in Florida, we actually have a great deal of extraordinarily important issues to be tackling. We have Social Security, Medicare, affordable prescription medication, energy, war, burgeoning deficits, and huge trade imbalances. I am convinced that we must work together, in a bipartisan manner, to come up with real and lasting solutions to these problems before they envelop us and swallow us up. It is time for this nation to start thinking about what is in the long-term best interest for our great country, not what is polling well for the next election.

I want to thank all of you for, first, patiently listening to what I have to say. I appreciate being here and visiting with all of you. I have many very, very dear friends in this House, this Body, this Legislature. I appreciate the work that you do on behalf of the constituents we represent. I want you to know, Republican or Democrat, I have an open door in our nation's capital. You are welcome anytime, anyplace, anywhere, and let us work together on behalf of the people we represent, this great state of Nevada, this great country of ours. I thank you very much for being there, being here, and making this world a better place to live. Thank you all.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 11—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to effect a freeze on property taxes for senior citizens.

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That Section 1 of Article 10 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation, and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, real, personal and possessory, except mines and mining claims, which shall be assessed and taxed only as provided in Section 5 of this Article.

2. Shares of stock, bonds, mortgages, notes, bank deposits, book accounts and credits, and securities and choses in action of like character are deemed to represent interest in property already assessed and taxed, either in Nevada or elsewhere, and shall be exempt.

3. The Legislature may constitute agricultural and open-space real property having a greater value for another use than that for which it is being used, as a separate class for taxation purposes and may provide a separate uniform plan for appraisal and valuation of such property for assessment purposes. If such plan is provided, the Legislature shall also provide for retroactive assessment for a period of not less than 7 years when agricultural and open-space real property is converted to a higher use conforming to the use for which other nearby property is used.

4. Personal property which is moving in interstate commerce through or over the territory of the State of Nevada, or which was consigned to a warehouse, public or private, within the State of Nevada from outside the State of Nevada for storage in transit to a final destination outside the State of Nevada, whether specified when transportation begins or afterward, shall be deemed to have acquired no situs in Nevada for purposes of taxation and shall be exempt from taxation. Such property shall not be deprived of such exemption because while in the warehouse the property is assembled, bound, joined, processed, disassembled, divided, cut, broken in bulk, relabeled or repackaged.

5. The Legislature may exempt motor vehicles from the provisions of the tax required by this Section, and in lieu thereof, if such exemption is granted, shall provide for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation of motor vehicles, which rate shall not exceed five cents on one dollar of assessed valuation.

6. The Legislature shall provide by law for a progressive reduction in the tax upon business inventories by 20 percent in each year following the adoption of this provision, and after the expiration of the 4th year such inventories are exempt from taxation. The Legislature may exempt any other personal property, including livestock.

7. No inheritance tax shall ever be levied.

8. The Legislature may exempt by law property used for municipal, educational, literary, scientific or other charitable purposes, or to encourage the conservation of energy or the substitution of other sources for fossil sources of energy.

9. No income tax shall be levied upon the wages or personal income of natural persons. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, and except as otherwise provided in subsection 1 of this Section, taxes may be levied upon the income or revenue of any business in whatever form it may be conducted for profit in the State.

10. The Legislature may provide by law for an abatement of the tax upon or an exemption of part of the assessed value of a single-family residence occupied by the owner to the extent necessary to avoid severe economic hardship to the owner of the residence.

11. The annual property tax upon a residence owned and occupied by a senior citizen who has paid property taxes in this State during each of the previous 10 years must be limited to an amount not greater than the tax upon the assessed value of the property in the year in which the person:

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 12—Recognizing March 25, 2005, as Greek Independence Day in Nevada.

WHEREAS, Ancient Greece was the birthplace of the democratic principles and thought that fundamentally shaped the growth of democracy in world history, and our own democratic system of government traces its earliest roots back to the beliefs in freedom and representative government forged in classical Greece over 2500 years ago; and

WHEREAS, Greek literature, philosophy and theology form the foundation of western culture, and ancient Greece was the birthplace of the Olympic Games which today have become a celebration of international brotherhood, competition, sportsmanship, goodwill and peace, and demonstrate to all people of the world the unity of our common humanity; and

WHEREAS, After losing their independence in 1453, the Greeks bravely endured almost four centuries of foreign occupation, preserving their culture, language and religion in the face of oppression; and

WHEREAS, In 1821 at the monastery of Agia Lavras, Bishop Germanos of Patras chose the Feast of the Annunciation of Theotokos, one of the holiest days for Greek Orthodox Christians, to deliver the message that a new spirit was about to be born in Greece as he raised the banner of revolution to mark the beginning of the war of independence against the Ottoman Empire; and

WHEREAS, After a long, hard-fought struggle that lasted 8 years and involved countless sacrifices from the people of Greece for the cause of freedom, the independence of Greece was finally recognized with the signing of the Treaty of Andrianople on September 2, 1829; and

WHEREAS, In the late 19th Century, many Greek families sent their sons to the United States to earn wages and eventually return to Greece to buy land there, and in the pursuit of this dream, some of these immigrants made their way west to labor on the railroads and in the mines of Nevada; and

WHEREAS, Although, in the spirit of patriotism, many Greeks working in America returned to their motherland during the Balkan Wars to fight on behalf of their country, immigration to America resumed after World War I with the new dream of establishing homes and businesses, and these Greek Americans brought with them the cultural and social traditions of Greece which have helped create the diversity that gives strength to this Country; and

WHEREAS, The ideals of ancient Greece have influenced modern culture with important contributions in art, drama, literature, philosophy, government, mathematics, science and architecture, and the Greek Americans of today continue this legacy as they add their unique talents and traditions to the mosaic that is the United States of America; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE SENATE CONCURRING, That the members of the 73rd Session of the Nevada Legislature do hereby recognize March 25, 2005, as Greek Independence Day in Nevada and join the entire Nation as it celebrates “Greek Independence Day: A National Day of Celebration of Greek and American Democracy”; and be it further

RESOLVED, That all residents of Nevada are called upon to remember and cherish the democratic principles and love of freedom that are our heritage from ancient Greece and to show appreciation for the many contributions that Greek Americans have made to our Country and our State.

WHEREAS, Archeological evidence reveals that old European civilization flourished in Macedonia between 7000 and 3500 B.C. and the name "Macedonia" is the oldest surviving name of a country on the continent of Europe; and

WHEREAS, Through out its history, the present-day Greek territory of Macedonia has been a crossroads for both traders and conquerors moving between the European continent and Asia Minor and each of these transiting powers left its mark on the region, giving rise to a rich and varied cultural and historical tradition; and

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Dr. S. S. Rogers.

Dear Father, I come to You in the mighty name of Jesus, thanking You and praising You for our great nation. I thank You for the plans You have given our fathers, by which to govern our nation and for the divisions and the powers, so that we make sure destiny does not rest in the hands of one person. I pray for these in authority. I, therefore, lift up our Congress, our House of Representatives, our Senators and our Assemblymen. I pray that You will give power to the Legislative Body to be lawful and just. Father, I ask You to give them wisdom to make decisions that will strengthen the purpose of our nation. I desire that they would make right decisions concerning the policies, the social welfare, and the economics of our nation. I pray that You would cause Congress to be motivated more by the hands of You than by partisan or by personal concern. Remember that God is the hand of trust and our Creator.

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

2. For the purposes of this section, “taxing entity” means any political subdivision or other legal entity, other than the State, which has the right to receive money from any ad valorem taxes levied in a county.”.

GENERAL FILE AND THIRD READING

Assembly Bill No. 489.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblymen Buckley, Hettrick, Giunchigliani, Carpenter, Christensen, and Mr. Speaker.

Assemblyman Ocegüera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal:

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

I rise today in support of Assembly Bill 489, which has frequently been referred to as the hybrid tax proposal. This bill has been nicknamed so because it is the product of many, many discussions about various tax relief proposals, about the impact of those proposals on property owners and on critical services, such as education and public safety. This is not an easy issue. There are over 300 taxing districts in Nevada and millions of parcels subject to the tax. Each county has totally different circumstances, and proposed solutions may have very different consequences for each county.

After sorting through all these factors, we are considering today Assembly Bill 489, which I believe makes sense for a number of reasons. First, it provides meaningful relief to homeowners. Under the severe economic hardship provision of our Constitution, the property tax bills of all owner-occupied, single-family residences will not increase more than 3 percent. It also provides meaningful relief for everyone else. All other property, including businesses, will not see their property tax increase more than twice the Consumer Price Index or the ten-year average of assessed valuation, whichever is larger. This will protect those rural counties who have not seen the growth in property tax value as has been seen by the urban counties. This measure looks to the future. There will be an interim study of the property tax structure in our state. It is anticipated there will be additional proposals introduced for changing the Nevada Constitution, to allow more leeway to deal with situations in different counties, and to meet the changing needs and circumstances in our state.

Looking to the different provisions in the bill, let us first look at severe economic hardship and the constitutional requirement that what we do must be uniform and equal. In 2002, the people of the state of Nevada spoke and allowed relief for owner-occupied residences. The situation then was a foreshadowing, and similar to what is going on right now. When the people voted to amend the Constitution, the situation was that assessed valuations were beginning to rise. We began to see aberrant effects, such as those in the Lake Tahoe area forced to see incredible increases because of the beautiful area up there, but due to the restrictions on growth and building, as well. Clearly, it was the duty of the Legislature and is our duty now to give impact to the constitutional amendment passed by the voters. In 1867, the Nevada Supreme Court defined what they meant by uniform and equal. In a case at that time, they held that mining was not exempt from taxation. Today, our society is much different and much more complex than was ever considered in those days. The courts must recognize the difficulty of providing tax relief to the citizens that is uniform and equal. What we have been able to do, because of the constitutional amendment, is to develop a fair definition of severe economic hardship and help everyone else equally. Ultimately what we chose, since we are not bound by a mathematical precision, was what we found to be fair, after many, many hearings. We chose the 3 percent level because we believe that level, close to CPI, is a reasonable indication of hardship. It is roughly proportional to the usual annual increases in salaries for many employees and for social security recipients. Setting the property tax relief at 3 percent ensures that property tax increases will not outstrip increases in benefits, thereby avoiding the severe economic hardship that our voters feared.

The Constitution left the definition of severe economic hardship up to the Legislature, and the courts should defer to the very difficult decisions that we have to make. Surely, the courts will understand that our decision was not lightly undertaken or easily made and was reached after hours and hours of testimony, looking at a variety of possible solutions, along with pages and pages of financial data on the impact.

We cannot ignore the financial difficulties faced by many Nevadans, similar to many Americans, with personal savings at an all-time low, personal debt burdens being at an all-time high. In other words, our citizens demand and need our relief that we would adopt today. This same reasoning applies to the selection of the method of tax relief for all other properties. In reaching that, we were guided by many of the same principles that we used for owner-occupied residences. Again, we are balancing achievement of equality with taxation, with the costs and burdens of the administration of a property tax relief plan. We did not want to create a plan that was mean tested, which would require millions of dollars in administration costs. We right now provide exemptions for veterans, regardless of income. This allows relief to be immediate without costing millions of dollars in the cost of administration as well. Other states have instituted percentage caps as a reasonable means of providing tax relief, and many of those states also have a uniform and equal mandate in their constitutions. The Legislature is also mindful of the volatility of the real estate market and felt that subjecting tax payers to the whims of that market, especially with the market conditions we are experiencing, is not reasonable. Rather, by choosing a cap that represents the ten-year average growth in a county, we felt that number more fairly represented the actual growth in property values and would effectively smooth out the spikes and be a fair way of achieving property tax relief for those properties.

Over time, and in the end, the caps will balance out the growth and extraordinary market factors, and achieve uniformity and equality. When determining uniformity and equality, we will ask the courts to look at the big picture as we have done these many months. Finally, we had very difficult decisions on how to treat new growth; that is, properties that were not on the tax roll before, and just came on. And we chose that all of us with existing houses and businesses bought or built them knowing that we would be taxed on the full value of improvements and new growth would be subject to the same rules. Since owners of new properties have built or purchased their homes or businesses knowing what the initial tax burden will be, they have no expectation or immediate need for a leveling cap. After one short year, new properties are then old and able to take advantage of the same property tax relief granted for everyone else.

In summary, I would urge your support of Assembly Bill 489. We had a difficult, difficult time in the last several months trying to achieve equality and fairness statewide. I'm proud that our Body came together in a bipartisan journey, with representatives from every county in the state coming together for the good of our state, to give immediate relief so that the assessors know what to do when these bills go out and do the right thing for Nevada. And with that, Mr. Speaker, I would urge the Body to support Assembly Bill 489.

ASSEMBLYMAN HETTRICK:

I would like to refer everyone here to the bill itself, Assembly Bill 489. I would urge you to look at the preamble. The preamble lays out the very reason why we are considering this bill and have been for the last two months. This issue has been on our minds for much longer than that because we all started hearing from our constituents some time ago. What I would like to do, Mr. Speaker, is purposely read into the record three of the paragraphs. I urge my colleagues to look at all of the preamble. I'm going to start with paragraph 9.

"A new property tax system must be considered which will allow relief to the residents whose property tax values have increased to such an extent as to jeopardize their ability to continue to live in their homes, while also accommodating the needs of rural communities where assessment values are decreasing and the burden on local governments in all counties that must provide for increased demands on services;

"It is critical that a solution to this property tax crisis is found which takes into consideration the disparities among the different counties in Nevada, and which is fair and equitable to all property owners in the state and to local governments, whether large or small, rural or urban; and

"The provisions of this act are necessary to ensure that the property owners of this state are protected from severely spiking property tax bills that will otherwise threaten their ability to continue living in their homes during the next two years while the Legislature studies our current property tax statutes to determine the appropriate remedy to the current property tax crisis."

I think that is absolutely the crux of what we are trying to do here today. We are saying that we have crafted the fairest, most equitable bill we can, that addresses every property owner in this state. We have done that in a fashion that still will support local government, schools, and the services that the citizens of Nevada expect us to provide. I urge my colleagues to support this bill. I think it is indeed a bipartisan effort. I appreciate the opportunity to work with my colleagues in this chamber on crafting this bill, and I believe it will receive bipartisan support. I urge everyone to vote for this bill.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GIUNCHIGLIANI:

I, too, rise in support of this Assembly Bill 489. I was one of those first people that said, "Oh, we have to have a means test." If we are going to deal with the value of property, I want to make sure that my older homes are protected. But I was convinced, even by my own mother at one point, that the issue comes down to the value of the home, the one most priceless that you are able to build, maybe even with your own hands. The value luckily goes up. But that is on a fixed income. And since my dad passed away, that is it. That is all she has. And if the taxes go up too high, she has no ability to maintain that property. I have to thank the Incline individuals for convincing me otherwise because I was not of that mindset at the time.

That is why I think this bill is the great equalizer, despite what you are going to hear in the halls or the debate that may take place after we leave this room, this piece of legislation levels the playing field. As the Majority Leader said, the voters put in "severe economic hardship." We have not been able to define it. Last session, there was an attempt to do so, but we did not get there. This bill finally does get there. It says if you are in your home, and you're an owner occupied home, no matter what your means may be, we recognize that too huge a price inflation should not be a reason that you could risk losing your home. So the 3 percent, to me, was far more valuable, to my constituents, and to your constituents as well. The Minority Leader pointed out the preamble. I wanted to read subsection 3 of section 1. "Increased land values translate into increased property tax bills, which is an unexpected financial burden to many property owners, a large number of whom are forced to live on fixed incomes, which typically only increase minimally each year."

There are actually studies now showing, maybe in the private and public sector, that salaries might go up 3 percent this year, or something along those lines. We actually have a personable debt burden that has grown accordingly. Unfortunately, that increase in debt leads to a housing debt. The American dream of being able to own your own home is in jeopardy. What we are trying to do, here in Nevada, is not overreact and not underreact, but try to bring something in that worked best for Nevadans. I think this legislation also helps us recognize that believe that you do need services for government. You pay taxes for a reason. Education will see a little shortfall; thank God it was not as much as we thought it was going to be, but that is a state obligation by Constitution and we have an obligation this session to make up that potential shortfall. The very individuals who may complain about not wanting to pay government taxes may become the very individuals who need some of those services down the road, whether it be transportation, whether it be Senior Rx programs, whether it be local programs, whether it be our police and our fire, making sure that their homes are protected from fire and that they are protected from any kind of security issues. All of that takes money. What this does is it takes a reasonable approach, it slows that huge spike, as we called it, the spike buster, and makes sure that government can grow, but grow within its means; that it has to react as well as our constituents do. Three percent, considering the fact that they were looking at some cases of 20 and 30 percent, is a huge, huge decrease in capturing and reducing the amount of spending that they will be able to do, while still making sure that services are protected. And that has to be our obligation when we look to it. We can't just sit up here with blinders on and say, "It doesn't matter to me what happens at the local government level." It does, because those are closest to our constituents and that is what we need to make sure is at least protected and provided for.

Assembly Bill 489, again, is a piece of legislation that I commend my colleagues for working on as hard as they did. I called it the great healer, Mr. Speaker, because I think after the contentiousness of last session, this actually brought us together. It would be unusual to see a property tax debate bring us together, but I think it showed we were actually individuals who could step up to the plate and put aside our differences to see that no one person's idea was better than anyone else's. We had to sit down at the table and come up with a resolution. That is what this bill does. I hope that the individuals across the hall see it for what it is. It is a level playing field, it does give true tax relief, and it is permanent. There is a constitutional amendment that we still have to deal with. There are many other pieces, but this is the number one part of the puzzle and I urge your support.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

I rise in support of Assembly Bill 489. As a resident of rural Nevada, I was most concerned that what was going to happen was that the tax reform, if you want to call it that, was going to put a great burden on our local communities and the rural areas. We all know that those areas and local governments, for the most part, have been very conservative through the years and have had to be that way. If this legislation would have further eroded their ability to provide those services, it would have been a very detrimental thing to our rural communities. Although I was not in on the drafting of this, I must congratulate my two colleagues for doing a lot of work on this. I feel that we have arrived at a balance here. It may not be perfect. We all know that most things in this life are not perfect, so we have to work on it, but I am supporting this because I think that the means for providing those services will still be there. The rurals may have to cut a little more, but I think they can get by because they have been used to doing that. So, for those reasons, I urge my colleagues to support Assembly Bill 489.

ASSEMBLYMAN CHRISTENSEN:

I will be voting yes on this measure. I just wanted to share a couple of thoughts with my colleagues. It is obvious that Nevada is known worldwide as a great place to bring a family and to start or expand a business. I do want to share a thought, and that is that we are all stewards of this continuing trend. We can, through our actions here, keep that going. We can also bring it to a screeching halt as we have seen happen in other states. I do believe it is dangerous to bifurcate property taxes, as I see happening in this bill; primary residence versus everything else. I know that my homeowners will welcome this tax relief, while home and apartment renters, small business owners leasing apartment space, could be negatively affected by this, as time goes on, again, depending on our actions here. A 3 percent cap to residences is a big stride in the right direction. I do want to congratulate those who worked on that. I just wanted to share my concern that I do hope, as soon as we can, that we keep property tax together to where we do not have two different forms and we can quickly bring that back together and show the world that, whether someone is coming here for their primary residence or to bring their business here, we as a Legislature fully stand behind them, that the taxation environment here is predictable.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GIUNCHIGLIANI:

I just wanted to clarify, as I got caught up in this, that this bill does assist both businesses and primary residences. We do have to deal within the confines of uniform and equal to make sure that we do what the voters said, which was for severe economic hardship for owner-occupied residences. So we are keeping in line with what the Constitution calls for. In addition to that, we actually had some testimony today from many businesses. One particular chamber of commerce has 200,000 employees. Their employees are either mobile home owners or residential owners. In that capacity, they will receive the 3 percent benefit. So, at least they are being taken care of. In addition to that, if those businesses happen to have the type of spikes, we never heard any testimony they were encountering the same kinds of increases that the residential property owners were. If they were having a 20 or 30 percent, they are actually lowered, so we are not treating them differently. The amount might wind up being a little bit different. Right now, our property owners, our residents, do not have the ability to go in and make some argument before a board of equalization. I would say that we have some further work to do in trailer bills to take a look at whether or not we should define it so that maybe more small businesses could qualify for that same kind of abatement that the larger companies tend to be successful at getting.

There is much more to be done, including the constitutional amendment that allows us to create uniform and equal by counties, which is part of what we get stuck with. This causes some of the causes of the spike buster to have to occur so we could make sure the rural counties were not negatively impeded. We just did a quick analysis; only one business saw a 19 percent increase in Clark County. All the rest were at 1 to 3 percent. Our homeowners were seeing 10 to 40 percent. I do think this bill takes accommodation to the individuals who were the most egregiously hurt by the property tax increases.

Mr. Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

As Chair of the committee, let me offer my thanks to the Minority Leader, Majority Leader, the committee members, and others who worked on this. It truly has been a bipartisan effort. We have overcome great odds, I believe, in accomplishing this, and it is a breath of fresh air when you compare the work this session to last session. As the presiding officer here, I appreciate that a great deal.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblywoman Buckley requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

Today, we remember a woman who was an inspiration to so many people. Most of us only knew Polly Gonzalez as a longtime news anchor on Channel 8 in Las Vegas. She was much more than that. First and foremost, Polly was a dedicated mother of two beautiful little girls. It was that love for those two little girls that took them to Death Valley yesterday so Polly could show them the rare sites of a normally dry, desolate desert blooming with life as it was blanketed with flowers. In addition to serving as a role model to her children, Polly was an inspiration to the entire community. As the first Hispanic anchor in Las Vegas, Polly took every opportunity to send a message to young girls and Latinos across southern Nevada: with education and hard work, they, too, could grow up and be as successful as she was. Today, we honor Polly's passion for life, her children, her work, and her community. She will be sorely missed on the air in Las Vegas and the people whose lives she touched in her own special way.

THE FIFTY-SECOND DAY

CARSON CITY (Wednesday), March 30, 2005

Assembly called to order at 4:50 p.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Reverend Ruth Hanusa.

Dear God, we pray for the people of Indonesia who once again have had their world shattered by earthquakes and aftershocks. Be with the family and friends of those who have died, and give them both strength and hope to pick up the pieces of their broken lives. Be with the aid workers who labor on our behalf. Give them energy and gracious spirit as they tend to the many kinds of wounds. We pray for ourselves as well, for times when we are shaken, things get turned upside down and our cages get rattled. In these times, give us laughter, keep us gracious and grant us the wisdom to take our work seriously and ourselves not too seriously.

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Jon Porter, United States Representative, delivered his message as follows:

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA
SEVENTY-THIRD SESSION, 2005

Thank you very much. It is great to be home. I can remember a few years ago, I see some very familiar faces, sitting in the Senate. I think Randolph would say, "Jon, we really have to listen to that federal delegation. When there is a member here from Washington we really have to go." I would say, "Are you sure we have to go?" Randolph said, "No, we don't have to go listen to those guys from Washington." Randolph, thanks for being here today. It means a lot to me.

I know you have a lot of business to do, and I appreciate your hospitality, and I appreciate the honor of being here with all of you who are doing such a great job for the State of Nevada. It is like coming home, as I mentioned.

Let me tell you, every day, I am so proud of Nevada. I have the opportunity to sing the praises of everyone in this room to local governments, our constituents, to our business community, and to our families. We have a chance, here in Nevada, to set the stage for the rest of our country. I have, many times, visited some of our men and women in uniform, in Bethesda or in Walter Reed Army Hospital. I know that our prayers go out to all those individuals, their families and loved ones, and especially those who have paid the ultimate sacrifice by giving their life. I visited these folks in the hospital. One gentleman was run over by a tank; many have lost their arms and limbs. It is heartwarming to see how proud they are to serve their country.

I would traditionally say that I was a Congressman from the state of Nevada. They would say, "That is nice, Congressman. How are things in Nevada?" Of course I would talk a bit about their family and what was happening. Finally one individual said, "Have you ever been to Las Vegas?" He had a twinkle in his eye. I represent the state of Nevada, even though my district is in southern Nevada, I represent everyone. I am proud to say that I represent the whole state. But, I will tell you what I learned from that individual as he had a twinkle and said, "I want to come to Las Vegas sometime," and another gentleman down the hall said, "I was there before I went in the service and I got married there," or "I am going to go to Las Vegas and have a party." I now introduce myself as the Congressman from the state of Las Vegas. Please, to my friends in northern Nevada and my friends in Boulder City, Henderson, and North Las Vegas, I represent all of you, but I think it is interesting to note that there are so many people out there who are watching what is happening in Nevada, so I like to mention Las Vegas. If we can put one little sparkle in the eye, I think that is the way to do it because they all want to visit us and see what is happening.

I brag about Las Vegas, I brag about North Las Vegas and northern Nevada. But you know what? It is all real. Look what has happened in Nevada. We are the bellwether for the rest of the country. We have created close to 70,000 new jobs in the last year, another 10,000 new jobs are going online this month, or the end of April, at the Wynn Resort, the best housing starts in the country, and the unemployment rate is under 4 percent, which is unheard of. Look what we have done as a community with strength in our local government, our state government, a resilient business community, and families that have worked together. We have weathered so many storms, looking back at least the 30 years I have been here. I am very proud and will continue to be proud of Nevada and what we have accomplished.

You know what? There is also something else I would like to brag about. We have a delegation in Washington, five of us, who work very well together. We don't always agree, but we work well together, whether it be making sure that we can continue to receive our Southern Nevada Public Lands funds, fighting to make those funds stay here, making sure that Medicaid dollars keep coming to Nevada, education dollars, we work together. That is what it is all about here in Carson City. Your successes have been about working together as a team. I am so proud to say that my colleagues are there for you all the time. I know I am the fifth member and you have probably heard a lot of things you do not want to hear about, but I want to spend a moment and explain to you how well we work together as a delegation. If we look at the history of Yucca Mountain, 20 years ago who would have guessed that we would have been able to stop it as we have today? That has come because of prior federal delegations that have been there, this Legislature, and business leaders. But you know what? Even Brian Sandoval, in the halls of justice, has been successful in setting back the Yucca Mountain project. Something is happening April 5. I was just appointed as chairman of a subcommittee. I am honored to be the chairman of the subcommittee, but I have jurisdiction over every federal agency, whether it be IRS—we love the IRS—whether it be DOE, BLM, any federal agency and the federal workforce. Just a few weeks ago there was a revelation: allegations that there were falsified documents having to do with the science, the data collected at Yucca Mountain. On April 5, our delegation, Senator Reid, Senator Ensign, Shelley Berkley, Jim Gibbons, the Governor, and Brian Sandoval will have another opportunity, as I chair the committee, to hear about the allegations against the Department of Energy and the U.S. geological survey. How there has been, supposedly, falsification of data regarding water, the seepage, and the safety at Yucca Mountain. We are going to have all sides of the story, but my jurisdiction is over federal employees. My jurisdiction is to make sure that we have the best federal employees and that they tell the truth. This issue, regarding the falsified documents, is the tip of the iceberg. We expect that there may well be additional information. One more opportunity for us as a state to work together to stop the Yucca Mountain project.

As we look at other serious challenges for the state of Nevada, and I touched on Medicaid funding, with the delegation we are fighting the reduction of funds into Nevada and education dollars, making sure we get our fair share. As you know, that has been a challenge, as we are one of the fastest-growing states in the country. We are one of the fastest-growing school districts in the country, with 2,000, statewide, new teachers. We need to make sure that we can retain these teachers. It has been a passion for me for many years to provide for our professional teachers, the training for our students, and our families. Right now, I will applaud George Ann Rice who is going to be retiring soon from the Clark County School District. George Ann Rice came to me with a program and we were able to allocate about $1.5 million to help retain teachers. We need to hire 2,500 new ones, but we are also losing “X” amount of teachers a year. This program is in place. It has been in place for about a year, and I encourage, as it goes before the committees here in Carson City, that you continue funding it. It is about the retention of teachers and providing for mentors to help teachers. Especially those new teachers who have just moved here from Iowa, Minnesota, or California, as they get to know our state of Nevada and our school districts. It is working well and I would like to take a moment to applaud George Ann Rice, who has done really a tremendous job.

I have been reading with interest what is happening with all-day kindergarten. There is no question; in Nevada we need all-day kindergarten. I know there are substantial funding challenges, but I also know the importance of making sure that these kids get one extra chance, especially those kids who are low-income or have other cultural challenges. I know that funds right now are a challenge, so what I am doing as a member of the Education and Workforce Committee is working with our committee, twofold. One is to provide an additional tax incentive to these families for music, arts, and for all-day kindergarten, to try to help them get their kids into the schools. We are also working with the health grants to help the state of Nevada to possibly find some additional funding for all-day kindergarten. I encourage the program and I applaud you because I know it has been a major debate, especially in the last couple of weeks. Thank you.

As we talk about Nevada and where we have been, it is an honor for me and will continue to be an honor for me, to send the message that we have unique challenges in Nevada. I was speaking to a member of Congress the other day from Virginia, a friend of mine, and we were comparing notes about education. He said, “Jon, how many new kids in the school districts in Nevada last year?” I said, “About 17,000.” It was kind of a quick conversation, but he said, “Jon, you know, we had 1,700.” I said, “Do you understand, 1,700 compared to 17,000?” and he gave me this blank stare. He did not quite grasp the magnitude, but whether it is education, mental health, public land issues, funding social services, what we have to continue to do as members of Congress is make sure that our colleagues, and you are a part of that message, understand the unique challenges for the state of Nevada, especially with our growth. Although we have so much to brag about, and we are so proud to be Nevadans, we need to make sure from a federal perspective that we continue to fund the programs and reduce the number of unfunded mandates that continue to come down to you from Washington, D.C.

You know, it is an evening filled with tax debate, and I know you want to get back to finish your meetings tonight. As I mentioned, giving Randolph a hard time, I remember I did not want to show up for these meetings. So know that I appreciate and I applaud all of you for taking the time to be here. I look forward to answering any questions that you might have after the meeting, but let us look back to where we have been as a state. In the '70s we had major strife with labor relations. Today, our relations with labor is a model for the rest of the country. We look at what we have done with Yucca Mountain for the last 20 years. We look at what we have done in setting a standard for an economy that is starting to move across this country because our rooms are full and we are getting people back to work. So many of my colleagues would love to have some of the challenges that we have here in Nevada.

Let me conclude by saying thank you all very much. As you enter your debates and you finish the next few weeks and the next month or so, keep in mind that in Washington we can learn from your ability to work together, because at the end of the day, you come together and do what is best for Nevada. Thank you all very much. I am honored to be here and I look forward to seeing you all again in the near future. May God bless America and bless the state of Nevada.

Conference Amendment No. CA1.

Amend sec. 2, page 3, line 2, by deleting “7,” and inserting “7.5,”.

Amend sec. 3, page 4, lines 38 and 44, by deleting: “time-share project,”.

Amend the bill as a whole by adding a new section designated sec. 3.5, following sec. 3, to read as follows:

“Sec. 3.5. The Legislature hereby finds and declares that many Nevadans who cannot afford to own their own homes would be adversely affected by large unanticipated increases in property taxes, as those tax increases are passed down to renters in the form of rent increases and therefore the benefits of a charitable exemption pursuant to subsection 8 of Section 1 of Article 10 of the Nevada Constitution should be afforded to those Nevadans through an abatement granted to the owners of residential rental dwellings who charge rent that does not exceed affordable housing standards for low-income housing. The Legislature therefore directs a partial abatement of taxes for such owners as follows:

1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 or required to carry out the provisions of sections 5 and 7 of this act, if the amount of rent collected from each of the tenants of a residential dwelling does not exceed the fair market rent for the county in which the dwelling is located, as most recently published by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, the owner of the dwelling is entitled to a partial abatement of the ad valorem taxes levied in a county on that property for each fiscal year equal to the amount by which the product of the combined rate of all ad valorem taxes levied in that county on the property for that fiscal year and the amount of the assessed valuation of the property which is taxable in that county for that fiscal year, excluding any increase in the assessed valuation of the property from the immediately preceding fiscal year as a result of any improvement to or change in the actual or authorized use of the property, exceeds the sum obtained by adding:

(a) The amount of all the ad valorem taxes:

(1) Levied in that county on the property for the immediately preceding fiscal year; or

(2) Which would have been levied in that county on the property for the immediately preceding fiscal year if not for any exemptions from taxation that applied to the property for that prior fiscal year but do not apply to the property for the current fiscal year, whichever is greater; and

(b) Three percent of the amount determined pursuant to paragraph (a).

2. The provisions of subsection 1 do not apply to:

(a) Any hotels, motels or other forms of transient lodging;

(b) Any property for which no assessed valuation was separately established for the immediately preceding fiscal year; and

(c) Any property for which the provisions of subsection 1 of section 4 of this act provide a greater abatement from taxation.

3. The amount of any ad valorem taxes levied in a county which, if not for the provisions of subsection 1, would otherwise have been collected for any property for a fiscal year must, except as otherwise required to carry out the provisions of section 6 of this act, be deducted from the amount of ad valorem taxes each taxing entity would otherwise be entitled to receive for that fiscal year in the same proportion as the rate of ad valorem taxes levied in the county on the property by or on behalf of that taxing entity for that fiscal year bears to the combined rate of all ad valorem taxes levied in the county on the property by or on behalf of all taxing entities for that fiscal year. The provisions of this subsection and section 6 of this act must not be applied in any manner that reduces the amount of the partial abatement to which an owner of property is entitled pursuant to subsection 1 for any fiscal year.

4. The Nevada Tax Commission shall adopt such regulations as it deems appropriate to carry out this section.

5. For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Ad valorem taxes levied in a county" means any ad valorem taxes levied by the State or any other taxing entity in a county.

(b) “Taxing entity” means the State and any political subdivision or other legal entity in this State which has the right to receive money from ad valorem taxes.”.

Amend sec. 4, page 6, line 37, after “3” by inserting: “or subsection 1 of section 3.5”.

Amend sec. 5, page 7, lines 24 and 33, by deleting “3” and inserting “3, 3.5”.

Amend sec. 6, page 8, line 20, by deleting “3” and inserting “3, 3.5”.

Amend sec. 7, page 8, line 34, by deleting “3” and inserting “3, 3.5”.

Amend sec. 7, page 8, line 36, after “2.” by inserting: “The exemption set forth in subsection 1 from the partial abatements provided in sections 3, 3.5 and 4 of this act does not apply to any portion of a rate that was approved by the voters before the effective date of this act.

3. A question that is placed on the ballot pursuant to subsection 1 must clearly indicate that any amount which is approved by the voters will be outside of the caps on an individual’s liability for ad valorem taxes.

Amend the bill as a whole by adding a new section designated sec. 7.5, following sec. 7, to read as follows:

“Sec. 7.5. The Nevada Tax Commission shall adopt regulations which:

1. Provide a simple, easily understood form to be filled out by the owner or operator of a business to apply to the county assessor to request that the property of the business be valued pursuant to the income approach to measure any obsolescence of the property for tax assessment purposes.

2. Clearly set forth the methodology for applying the income approach to valuation for tax purposes of property used in a business when necessary to measure the obsolescence of the property in language that is likely to make the methodology easily understood by any business owner.

3. Provide a procedure for a business to use the form required by subsection 1 in the most efficient manner possible to supply the information necessary to enable the county assessor to apply the income approach to the property of the business.”.

Amend sec. 8, page 9, by deleting line 9 and inserting: “owner if not for the provisions of sections 3 to 5, inclusive, of this act.”.

Amend sec. 9, page 9, by deleting lines 15 through 20 and inserting:

“1. A local government may not increase its total ad valorem tax rate for a fiscal year above its total ad valorem tax rate for the immediately preceding fiscal year without the approval of the Nevada Tax Commission, based upon the recommendation of the Committee on Local Government Finance. An application for such approval must be submitted to the Nevada Tax Commission.

2. The Nevada Tax Commission shall adopt such regulations as it deems appropriate to carry out the provisions of this section.”.

Amend sec. 11, page 10, line 9, by deleting “If” and inserting: “Notwithstanding any provision of section 7 of this act to the contrary, if”.

Amend sec. 11, page 10, line 14, by deleting “3” and inserting “3, 3.5”.

Amend sec. 12, page 10, line 23, after “2.” by inserting: “It would have passed section 3.5 of this act irrespective of any other portion of this act which may be deemed unconstitutional or otherwise invalid.

3.”.

Assemblyman Perkins moved that the Assembly adopt the report of the first Conference Committee concerning Assembly Bill No. 489.

Remarks by Assemblymen Perkins and Hardy.

Assemblyman Ocegüera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal:

ASSEMBLYMAN PERKINS:

Thank you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore. For the benefit of the freshmen, this is our first conference committee report that we are dealing with, and it represents the same as final passage of a bill. When we adopt this conference committee report, it will be sent to the Senate, and it is anticipated that they will adopt it as well. The bill goes directly to the Governor, so this is really an important action that we are taking today.

Assembly Bill 489, as amended by the Senate, came back to us and we rejected those amendments. In this conference committee report, we are adopting those amendments and we have added some additional ones. An additional thing that happened in the conference committee last night was a deletion of the term “timeshare project.” The conference committee determined that the inclusion of timeshare projects was an error, so it is just cleanup language.

Another thing that was added was a piece for renters. We found out that, particularly in Clark County, from last year to this year, rental properties, for example, a one-bedroom apartment, went up $150 per month, primarily due, we believe, to the increase in property taxes. This offers a rental piece too. The cap on rental properties is permitted within the charitable exemption portion of Subsection 8 of Section 1 of Article 10 of the Nevada Constitution. That was added last night as well.

The third major piece was to allow small business access to the appeal process, that some larger businesses already seem to have the ability to avail themselves of, for obsolescence or full cash value of their properties. That is put into the amendment so that the Tax Commission writes regulations to allow this to happen in an easier fashion, without a whole slew of staff lawyers and that sort of thing.

Assembly Bill 489, Madam Speaker pro Tempore, is Nevada’s solution for a Nevada problem. We all came here knowing we had to solve this crisis, and, quite frankly, we did it. I love this state and its diversity in culture, the economy, rural, urban, and the lifestyles. All of this diversity that Nevada has is part of its strength, but we also found in this debate that it became one of our biggest challenges. Trying to craft a solution that is not a one-size-fits-all, but instead a customized Nevada-style solution, was very difficult for us. But I can stand here today and tell you that we have accomplished that. It was not a quick fix. It guarantees real property tax relief for Nevadans. It is not a perfect bill, but I do not think there is such a thing as a perfect bill, particularly in as complex a situation as this.

I think of the senior citizens throughout this state who have followed this debate and were concerned about being driven out of their homes because their property taxes were going through the roof. Can you imagine those persons sitting at home worrying about this all the time, not knowing, when the tax bill comes into law, if they were going to be able to keep their homes? Ladies and gentlemen, they will be able to keep their homes. What you will do today is going to ensure that it happens.

The young family starting out, trying to live the American Dream and afford a home, this helps them, too. The property taxes will be capped in a fashion that allows them to afford their first home. It affects rural and urban in a very customized fashion. I have already mentioned we have received a great deal of input from our rural colleagues here, and we really worked together to make sure that we were not going to harm one part of the state. We know this is primarily a Clark County issue with some pockets in Douglas, Carson City, and Washoe, but we couldn't adversely affect the rest of our state. I believe we have done a very good job of not doing that.

You might remember that our original discussion had a threshold as well, a cap below the threshold and a larger cap above. That does not exist in this bill. We are treating Nevadans alike. Originally, we had a 3 percent for severe economic hardship on owner-occupied residences and then a ten-year rolling average for everybody else to try to make sure we fell within our constitutional bounds, believing that the average was fair and necessary to protect things like public safety and our school construction bonds. This has now been capped so that it cannot exceed 8 percent. There was a concern raised that this might put our bonds in jeopardy, but I think that we have received a great deal of information since then that shows us that is not the case. I believe that we really do have a strong bill.

There may be a trailer bill that will follow this bill. That is not uncommon in a very complex piece of legislation. A trailer bill just follows up with technical changes and things that people like Carole Vilardo will find out when she reads through the bill, and I am sure she will be talking with us at great length, since we are still here we can get these things fixed before we leave. Hi, Carole. Thanks for your help.

From my perspective, we have acted thoughtfully and quickly enough to provide important relief before this year's tax bills arrive. With the passage of this conference committee report, we have just solved the most pressing crisis facing our state. You can all be proud that you have represented your constituents well. I guarantee you, if other states encounter a similar crisis, they will look to Nevada and our work as a model on how to accomplish a solution.

I want to also thank the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader, and you, Madam Speaker pro Tempore, for your hard work, not just in the conference committee last evening, but throughout the efforts with this. It has been a pleasure to work with all of you, and I am thankful for your brain power and your efforts to really make sure that the people's house was taking care of our constituents.

I want to thank the Growth and Infrastructure Committee and the others who contributed to this solution. I want very much to thank our staff, if they are still alive. The bags under their eyes were getting deeper. Brenda Erdoes and her Legal staff have done an amazing job. Russ Guindon, the Fiscal staff for the Growth and Infrastructure Committee, and his assistants kept grinding the numbers for us and delivering the charts that we have needed to make these decisions. Linda and Susan at Growth and Infrastructure, thank you. To our Front Desk folks and Sergeants-at-Arms, who have put up with the start/stop approach to this when we were trying to get this done, we thank you and our constituents thank you. This is going to be something that is very strong for our state.

I stand before you today with great pride because we did want to make this a different session. We wanted this to be a session of bipartisanship, of action, and that has culminated in what we are about to do today. As your elected leader, I have not experienced more pride in the position that I hold in front of you than I do today. In summary, this is thoughtful, meaningful relief that we have all looked for. I encourage your support.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

I will be supporting the conference committee report and their recommendations. I look forward to the ongoing discussion on property tax assessment vis-à-vis a constitutional amendment to protect individuals and the business environment of the state. We have, in effect, a consensus and a compromise, and I feel that the people of this great state deserve an opportunity, what I would call a reasonable constitutional amendment. I look forward to that discussion. I have appreciated working with all of you and I admire everybody who has had a role in this process. Constituents, people in the process in this building, we have done something that we can feel good about, and we have protected the people that need to be protected. Thank you all.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Anderson requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I have rather a large group introduction to do today. First of all, I want to introduce the individual guest sitting at my desk, Jim Bennett, the former chief of the clans here for the Society for Scottish Clans. He is also the gentleman who, when I did my student teaching, had to put up with me. I have a very careful and close kinship with him. He also taught across the hall from me for many years. Secondly, coming up on April 6 is Tartan Day. The current chief of the Nevada Society for Scottish Clans, Chester Buchanan, is sitting with Ms. Angle. Other dignitaries here from the Scottish American Military Society are Kevin Welsh, who some of you may recognize, Bill Glenn, and Chuck McCloud.

Tartan Day – April 6, Local, National, and International, By Chester Buchanan:

Tartan Day was conceived by the U.S. Senate in 1998 in recognition of the valuable contributions of Scots and Americans of Scottish descent to the foundation and development of the United States. The date was selected to commemorate April 6, 1320, when Scottish nobles and barons signed the Declaration of Arbroath, declaring to Pope John XXII that Scotland was a sovereign nation and not under the rule of England. Also, it was the first document to put forth the concept of a “contractual monarchy,” which meant that they would force Robert the Bruce out if he attempted to sell

Scotland to England. The declaration, like our Declaration of Independence, is seen by many as the founding document of the Scottish nation. The following extract from the declaration (translation from 14th century Latin) that is often quoted has great appeal not only to Americans, but to people throughout the world. "It is in truth not for glory, nor riches, nor honours that we are fighting, but for freedom – for that alone, which no honest man gives up but with life itself."

I would ask you to welcome the members of the Society for Scottish Clans in Nevada, and remember their Tartan Day, April 6.

Assemblyman Carpenter moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Carpenter and Anderson.

Assemblyman Carpenter requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I think that we all need to strive for the ideals of Sarah Winnemucca—to not have anything in our hearts that would not be proper. We need to have the ideal that we are all created equal. We need to always treat everyone with respect and do the best we can for our fellow man.

Living and growing up in rural Nevada, Native Americans have always been my friends. In school they were my classmates. We played together in basketball and football. Later on, in my adult life, Native Americans have always been my friends, my employees, and officials whom I have worked with in day-to-day life as we try to improve things for all of us. I would like to mention three or four who have had a great influence on my life. There was J.V. Walker, one of the greatest high school athletes during the 1940s. J.V. Walker paid the ultimate sacrifice in the Korean War. George Adams worked for my uncles. He was a world champion bronco rider. Then there is Annette Cavanaugh, who was raised in poverty on the reservation in Owyhee, but went on to be, and is now, our superintendent of schools in Elko. I think we all have to recognize the great work of Sarah Winnemucca and the great understanding she had and all of the things she had to put up with to try to better her people.

Before I present the resolution to Benjamin Victor, I would like to recite to the people in this Assembly a few of his accomplishments. Mr. Victor is the artist who sculpted the Sarah Winnemucca statue. I must say that he beat out our Elko native, Sarah Sweetwater, and we were disappointed with that, but after seeing Mr. Victor and his family here, and seeing the statue, I think it was a good choice. We always need to remember that if it hadn't been for Sarah Sweetwater there to give him a little push and make him do better, he might not have won. Benjamin won the commission to sculpt the Sarah Winnemucca statue, a monumental representation of the state of Nevada's addition to the national statutory hall in Washington, D.C. last month. He is the youngest artist to have ever received such an honor. Benjamin resides in Aberdeen, South Dakota, where he is now on the staff of Northern State University. He has been commissioned to complete fourteen assignments during his young life of twenty-five years.

Benjamin is married and has two children who are with us today: his wife Julie, and children Caleb and Audrey. Please give them an Assembly welcome.

The unveiling of the statue will be at the Capitol at 5:30 p.m. tonight. You are all welcome to be there and I think it would be a nice gesture on our part if we could be there.

One of the people who has been a great influence in my life is one of our own, Cindy Benjamin, of the Front Desk. Cindy, please stand and we will recognize you. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wish to rise in support of the resolution. I think this is a resolution and recognition that has long been wanting. While we have taken up the cause of Ms. Winnemucca in proposing this in the past, I think it is most fitting that the statue graced the nation's capital as a representative of the spirit and the long indebtedness this state owes to the native people of our state. These first Americans, as they should recognize, are the people who have allowed our society to infringe upon them. Ms. Winnemucca's contribution at a critical time period in our history is emblematic of the way this particular native group has helped us survive in this otherwise desolate state. It is their caring and understanding that has really made it possible for us to survive, again and again. For that contribution, by recognizing Ms. Winnemucca and the native inhabitants of our state, I think this is an honor long overdue.

Resolution adopted unanimously.

When our duties and responsibilities prevent us from enjoying the day or days of rest for which we yearn, we ask this of You, O Lord: Help us see in the face of those around us, others who also looked forward to refreshment. Let us find ways to encourage one another and to appreciate one another, legislators, staffers, clerks, secretaries, guards, lobbyists, attachés, and all whose responsibilities keep them from enjoying the gift of family and rest this weekend.

428.060 1. If it appears to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners that the county of residence of an indigent person applying for relief is another county in this State, the board shall provide temporary relief for the indigent in accordance with the policies and standards established and approved by the board of county commissioners and within the limits of money which may be lawfully appropriated thereby for this purpose pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425, and section 1 of this act, and shall notify immediately the board of county commissioners of the county of residence of the indigent person.

3. The board of county commissioners receiving the notice may cause the indigent person to be removed immediately to that county, and shall pay a reasonable compensation for the temporary relief afforded. If the board of county commissioners chooses not to remove the indigent person, the county affording relief has a legal claim against any money lawfully available in that county for the relief necessarily furnished, and may recover it in a suit at law.

Sec. 7. NRS 428.090 is hereby amended to read as follows:

428.090 1. When a nonresident or any other person who meets the uniform standards of eligibility prescribed by the board of county commissioners or by NRS 439B.310, if applicable, falls sick in the county, not having money or property to pay his board, nursing or medical aid, the board of county commissioners of the proper county shall, on complaint being made, give or order to be given such assistance to the poor person as is in accordance with the policies and standards established and approved by the board of county commissioners and within the limits of money which may be lawfully appropriated for this purpose pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425 ~~and~~ and section 1 of this act.

2. If the sick person dies, the board of county commissioners shall give or order to be given to the person a decent burial or cremation.

3. Except as otherwise provided in NRS 422.382, the board of county commissioners shall make such allowance for the person's board, nursing, medical aid, burial or cremation as the board deems just and equitable, and order it paid out of the county treasury.

4. The responsibility of the board of county commissioners to provide medical aid or any other type of remedial aid under this section is relieved to the extent provided in NRS 422.382 and to the extent of the amount of money or the value of services provided by:

428.185 1. In addition to the taxes levied pursuant to NRS 428.050 and 428.285 and section 1 of this act and any tax levied pursuant to NRS 450.425, the board of county commissioners of each county shall levy an ad valorem tax at a rate which must be calculated by:

(a) First multiplying the tax rate of 1.5 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation by the assessed valuation of all taxable property in this State, including new real property, possessory interests and mobile homes, during the next fiscal year.

(b) Then subtracting the amount of unencumbered money in the Fund on May 1 of the current fiscal year.

(c) Then setting the rate so that the revenue from the tax does not exceed the amount resulting from the calculations made in paragraphs (a) and (b).

2. The tax so levied and its proceeds must be excluded in computing the maximum amount of money which the county is permitted to receive from taxes ad valorem and the highest permissible rate of such taxes.

3. The proceeds of this tax must be remitted in the manner provided for in NRS 361.745 to the State Controller for credit to the Fund.

Sec. 9. NRS 428.285 is hereby amended to read as follows:

428.285 1. The board of county commissioners of each county shall establish a tax rate of at least 6 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation for the purposes of the tax imposed pursuant to subsection 2. A board of county commissioners may increase the rate to not more than 10 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

2. In addition to the levies provided in NRS 428.050 and 428.185 and section 1 of this act and any tax levied pursuant to NRS 450.425, the board of county commissioners shall levy a tax ad valorem at a rate necessary to produce revenue in an amount equal to an amount calculated by multiplying the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the county by the tax rate established pursuant to subsection 1, and subtracting from the product the amount of unencumbered money remaining in the fund on May 1 of the current fiscal year.

3. For each fiscal year beginning on or after July 1, 1989, the board of county commissioners of each county shall remit to the State Controller from the money in the fund an amount of money equivalent to 1 cent on each $100 of assessed valuation of all taxable property in the county for credit to the supplemental fund.

4. The tax so levied and its proceeds must be excluded in computing the maximum amount of money which the county is permitted to receive from taxes ad valorem and the highest permissible rate of such taxes.

Sec. 10. NRS 439B.330 is hereby amended to read as follows:

439B.330 1. Except as otherwise provided in NRS 439B.300 and subsection 2, ~~[of this section,]~~ each county shall use the definition of “indigent” in NRS 439B.310 to determine a person’s eligibility for medical assistance pursuant to chapter 428 of NRS, other than assistance provided pursuant to NRS 428.115 to 428.255, inclusive.

2. A board of county commissioners may, if it determines that a hospital within the county is serving a disproportionately large share of low-income patients:

- (a) Pay a higher rate to the hospital for treatment of indigent inpatients;
- (b) Pay the hospital for treatment of indigent inpatients whom the hospital would otherwise be required to treat without receiving compensation from the county; or
- (c) Both pay at a higher rate and pay for inpatients for whom the hospital would otherwise be uncompensated.

3. Each hospital which treats an indigent inpatient shall submit to the board of county commissioners of the county of residence of the patient a discharge form identifying the patient as a possible indigent and containing the information required by the Department and the county to be included in all such forms.

4. The county which receives a discharge form from a hospital for an indigent inpatient shall verify the status of the patient and the amount which the hospital is entitled to receive. A hospital aggrieved by a determination of a county regarding the indigent status of an inpatient may appeal the determination to the Director or a person designated by the Director to hear such an appeal. The decision of the Director or the person he designates must be mailed by registered or certified mail to the county and the hospital. The decision of the Director or the person he designates may be appealed to a court having general jurisdiction in the county within 15 days after the date of the postmark on the envelope in which the decision was mailed.

5. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of this section and subsection 3 of NRS 439B.320, if the county is the county of residence of the patient and the patient is indigent, the county shall pay to the hospital the amount required, within the limits of money which may lawfully be appropriated for this purpose pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425 ~~[-]~~ and section 1 of this act.

6. For the purposes of this section, the county of residence of the patient is the county of residence of that person before he was admitted to the hospital.

Sec. 11. NRS 439B.340 is hereby amended to read as follows:

439B.340 1. Before September 30 of each year, each county in which hospitals subject to the provisions of NRS 439B.300 to 439B.340, inclusive, are located shall provide to the Department a report showing:

- (a) The total number of inpatients treated by each such hospital who are claimed by the hospital to be indigent;
- (b) The number of such patients for whom no reimbursement was provided by the county because of the limitation imposed by subsection 3 of NRS 439B.320;

(c) The total amount paid to each such hospital for treatment of such patients; and

(d) The amount the hospital would have received for patients for whom no reimbursement was provided.

2. The Director shall verify the amount of treatment provided to indigent inpatients by each hospital to which no reimbursement was provided by:

(a) Determining the number of indigent inpatients who received treatment. For a hospital that has contracted with the Department of Human Resources pursuant to subsection 4 of NRS 428.030, the Director shall determine the number based upon the evaluations of eligibility made by the employee assigned to the hospital pursuant to the contract. For all other hospitals, the Director shall determine the number based upon the report submitted pursuant to subsection 1 of this section.

(b) Multiplying the number of indigent inpatients who received each type of treatment by the highest amount paid by the county for that treatment.

(c) Adding the products of the calculations made pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) for all treatment provided.

If the total amount of treatment provided to indigent inpatients in the previous fiscal year by the hospital was less than its minimum obligation for the year, the Director shall assess the hospital for the amount of the difference between the minimum obligation and the actual amount of treatment provided by the hospital to indigent inpatients. If a decision of a county regarding the indigent status of one or more inpatients is pending appeal before the Director or upon receiving satisfactory proof from a hospital that the decision is pending appeal before a court having general jurisdiction in the county pursuant to subsection 4 of NRS 439B.330, the Director shall defer assessing the hospital the amount that may be offset by the determination on appeal until a final determination of the matter is made.

3. If the Director determines that a hospital has met its obligation to provide treatment to indigent inpatients, he shall certify to the county in which the hospital is located that the hospital has met its obligation. The county is not required to pay the hospital for the costs of treating indigent inpatients until the certification is received from the Director. The county shall pay the hospital for such treatment within 30 days after receipt of the certification to the extent that money was available for payment pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425 and section 1 of this act at the time the treatment was provided.

4. The Director shall determine the amount of the assessment which a hospital must pay pursuant to this section and shall notify the hospital in writing of that amount on or before November 1 of each year. The notice must include, but is not limited to, a written statement for each claim which is denied indicating why the claim was denied. Payment is due 30 days after receipt of the notice, except for assessments deferred pursuant to subsection 2 which, if required, must be paid within 30 days after the court hearing the appeal renders its decision. If a hospital fails to pay the assessment when it is due the hospital shall pay, in addition to the assessment:

(a) Interest at a rate of 1 percent per month for each month after the assessment is due in which it remains unpaid; and

(b) Any court costs and fees required by the Director to obtain payment of the assessment and interest from the hospital.

5. Any money collected pursuant to this section must be paid to the county in which the hospital paying the assessment is located for use in paying other hospitals in the county for the treatment of indigent inpatients by those hospitals. The money received by a county from assessments made pursuant to this section does not constitute revenue from taxes ad valorem for the purposes of NRS 354.59811, 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425, and section 1 of this act, and must be excluded in determining the maximum rate of tax authorized by those sections.

Sec. 12. NRS 439B.410 is hereby amended to read as follows:

439B.410 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 4, each hospital in this State has an obligation to provide emergency services and care, including care provided by physicians and nurses, and to admit a patient where appropriate, regardless of the financial status of the patient.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 4, it is unlawful for a hospital or a physician working in a hospital emergency room to:

(a) Refuse to accept or treat a patient in need of emergency services and care; or

(b) Except when medically necessary in the judgment of the attending physician:

(1) Transfer a patient to another hospital or health facility unless, as documented in the patient's records:

(I) A determination has been made that the patient is medically fit for transfer;

(II) Consent to the transfer has been given by the receiving physician, hospital or health facility;

(III) The patient has been provided with an explanation of the need for the transfer; and

(IV) Consent to the transfer has been given by the patient or his legal representative; or

(2) Provide a patient with orders for testing at another hospital or health facility when the hospital from which the orders are issued is capable of providing that testing.

3. A physician, hospital or other health facility which treats a patient as a result of a violation of subsection 2 by a hospital or a physician working in the hospital is entitled to recover from that hospital an amount equal to three times the charges for the treatment provided that was billed by the physician, hospital or other health facility which provided the treatment, plus reasonable attorney's fees and costs.

4. This section does not prohibit the transfer of a patient from one hospital to another:

(a) When the patient is covered by an insurance policy or other contractual arrangement which provides for payment at the receiving hospital;

(b) After the county responsible for payment for the care of an indigent patient has exhausted the money which may be appropriated for that purpose pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.285 and 450.425 ~~and~~ and section 1 of this act; or

(c) When the hospital cannot provide the services needed by the patient.

No transfer may be made pursuant to this subsection until the patient's condition has been stabilized to a degree that allows the transfer without an additional risk to the patient.

5. As used in this section:

(a) "Emergency services and care" means medical screening, examination and evaluation by a physician or, to the extent permitted by a specific statute, by a person under the supervision of a physician, to determine if an emergency medical condition or active labor exists and, if it does, the care, treatment and surgery by a physician necessary to relieve or eliminate the emergency medical condition or active labor, within the capability of the hospital. As used in this paragraph:

(1) "Active labor" means, in relation to childbirth, labor that occurs when:

(I) There is inadequate time before delivery to transfer the patient safely to another hospital; or

(II) A transfer may pose a threat to the health and safety of the patient or the unborn child.

(2) "Emergency medical condition" means the presence of acute symptoms of sufficient severity, including severe pain, such that the absence of immediate medical attention could reasonably be expected to result in:

(I) Placing the health of the patient in serious jeopardy;

(II) Serious impairment of bodily functions; or

(III) Serious dysfunction of any bodily organ or part.

(b) "Medically fit" means that the condition of the patient has been sufficiently stabilized so that he may be safely transported to another hospital, or is such that, in the determination of the attending physician, the transfer of the patient constitutes an acceptable risk. Such a determination must be based upon the condition of the patient, the expected benefits, if any, to the patient resulting from the transfer and whether the risks to the patient's health are outweighed by the expected benefits, and must be documented in the patient's records before the transfer.

6. If an allegation of a violation of the provisions of subsection 2 is made against a hospital licensed pursuant to the provisions of chapter 449 of NRS, the Health Division of the Department of Human Resources shall conduct an investigation of the alleged violation. Such a violation, in addition to any criminal penalties that may be imposed, constitutes grounds for the denial, suspension or revocation of such a license, or for the imposition of any sanction prescribed by NRS 449.163.

7. If an allegation of a violation of the provisions of subsection 2 is made against:

(a) A physician licensed to practice medicine pursuant to the provisions of chapter 630 of NRS, the Board of Medical Examiners shall conduct an investigation of the alleged violation. Such a violation, in addition to any criminal penalties that may be imposed, constitutes grounds for initiating disciplinary action or denying licensure pursuant to the provisions of subsection 3 of NRS 630.3065.

(b) An osteopathic physician licensed to practice osteopathic medicine pursuant to the provisions of chapter 633 of NRS, the State Board of Osteopathic Medicine shall conduct an investigation of the alleged violation. Such a violation, in addition to any criminal penalties that may be imposed, constitutes grounds for initiating disciplinary action pursuant to the provisions of subsection 1 of NRS 633.131.

Sec. 13. NRS 450.425 is hereby amended to read as follows:

450.425 1. The board of county commissioners of a county in which a county hospital is established may, upon approval by a majority of the voters voting on the question in an election held throughout the county, levy an ad valorem tax of not more than 2.5 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation upon all taxable property in the county, to pay the cost of services rendered in the county by the hospital pursuant to subsection 3 of NRS 450.420. The approval required by this subsection may be requested at any primary or general election.

2. Any tax imposed pursuant to this section is in addition to the taxes imposed pursuant to NRS 428.050, 428.185 and 428.285 ~~[-]~~ and section 1 of this act. The proceeds of any tax levied pursuant to this section are exempt from the limitations imposed by NRS 354.59811, 428.050 and 428.285 and section 1 of this act and must be excluded in determining the maximum rate of tax authorized by those sections.”.

THE SIXTY-FIFTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Tuesday), April 12, 2005

Assembly called to order at 11:07 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rabbi Myra Soifer.

As this busy day in the Nevada Assembly is about to begin, let us pause, take a deep breath, and prepare. Jewish tradition teaches that in the far-off, longed-for time when our world will finally and ultimately be perfected, there will still be one kind of prayer required of us, and that is prayers of thanksgiving. Even in an ideal world, it will be incumbent upon us to give thanks.

As you begin your work for the people and the state of Nevada, may gratitude be the foundation of your efforts—gratitude for our country and state, gratitude for your privilege to serve, and gratitude to the people who have trusted you with that task.

When a Jew arises each morning, there is a prayer of thanksgiving that he or she traditionally speaks. Though you here have been awake and hard at work for many hours already, perhaps this moment can be a reawakening to the challenges and good work before you. May you begin today's session with the kind of grateful wonder that ought to arise within each one of us as a new day dawns. And so I share with you a prayer from our morning liturgy, adapted for this chamber:

Modim Anachnu Lach . . .

You enter these chambers to voice and enact the commitments of your heads, hearts, and souls. In this august company, with these, your colleagues, may you offer your best to one another and all the citizens of this state. While the pressures of life and schedule may stifle your nobler impulses, may your sense of all that is holy in your work here lift you beyond those stresses and nurture your ideals and best intentions. May you devote yourselves this morning to details grand and mundane. May your hearts be lifted, your thoughts deepened, and your souls like the eagle soar. In gratitude, may you begin your work and end your day. As you promote blessing, may you, too, be blessed.

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Ocegüera moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Chief Clerk of the Assembly

THE SIXTY-SEVENTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Thursday), April 14, 2005

Assembly called to order at 11:17 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblyman Christensen, who was excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rabbi Jonathan Freirich.

Three times each day, Jews are directed to spend a few moments communing with our concept of the infinite, whatever that may be for each individual, to center ourselves, and remind us of the values that are at the core of our potential success as people and citizens. The vehicle for this process is in the form of 19 fixed meditations or groups of praise and supplication. This text is adapted from one of those meditations, the one focused on understanding.

“The infinite graced us, finite beings that we are, with the power to know; our lives teach us understanding. May creation continue to provide us now with knowledge, understanding, and intelligence. Praised is the miracle of the universe, that has graced us with knowledge.”

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Motion carried.

Amendment No. 268.

Amend the bill as a whole by deleting section 1 and adding new sections designated sections 1 through 3, following the enacting clause, to read as follows:

“Section 1. Chapter 487 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

1. If a sheriff’s office or other law enforcement agency discovers that, or receives notification that, a vehicle has been abandoned on public lands, the sheriff’s office or other law enforcement agency shall:

(a) Make all practical inquiries to ascertain if the vehicle is stolen by checking the license plate number, vehicle identification number and other available information which will aid in identifying the registered owner of the vehicle; and

(b) If the vehicle has not been reported as stolen and the sheriff’s office or other law enforcement agency is able to determine the identity of the most recent registered owner of the vehicle, notify the Department of those facts.

2. Upon the receipt of a notice from a sheriff’s office or other law enforcement agency pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection 1, the Department shall send by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, a written notice to the most recent registered owner of the vehicle stating that the owner must remove or cause the vehicle to be removed from the public lands within 30 days after the date on which the notice was sent.

For the purposes of this subsection, the determination of the sheriff’s office or other law enforcement agency that notified the Department pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection 1 is conclusive as to whether the abandoned vehicle was removed within the 30-day period.*

4. If the registration of a vehicle is suspended pursuant to subsection 3, the Department shall reinstate the registration upon receipt from the registered owner of the vehicle of:

(a) An affidavit setting forth that he caused the removal and disposition of, or proof that he paid the cost of removal and disposition of, the vehicle discovered abandoned upon public lands; and

(b) If applicable, proof that he redeemed any lien placed pursuant to NRS 487.270 on the vehicle discovered abandoned on public lands.

5. If a sheriff's office or other law enforcement agency is notified by a person or another governmental entity that a vehicle has been abandoned on public lands, the sheriff's office or other law enforcement agency shall, insofar as practicable and authorized by law, inform the person or entity making such notification of the actions taken by the sheriff's office or other law enforcement agency pursuant to this section.

Sec. 2. NRS 487.210 is hereby amended to read as follows:

487.210 As used in NRS 487.220 to 487.300, inclusive, and section 1 of this act, unless the context otherwise requires ~~[-, "abandoned"]~~ :

~~[1-]~~ (a) If the vehicle is discovered upon public lands, that the owner has discarded.

(b) If the vehicle is discovered upon public or private property other than public lands:

Sec. 3. NRS 487.220 is hereby amended to read as follows:

487.220 1. Every person who abandons a vehicle is responsible for the cost of removal and disposition of ~~[such]~~ the vehicle.

2. An abandoned vehicle is presumed to have been abandoned by the registered owner thereof. The registered owner may ~~[not]~~ rebut this presumption by showing that ~~[he]~~ :

(a) He transferred his interest in the abandoned vehicle ~~[unless he complied with the provisions set forth in NRS 482.399 to 482.420, inclusive.]~~ as indicated by a bill of sale for the vehicle that is signed by the registered owner; or

(b) The vehicle was stolen, if he submits evidence that, before the discovery of the vehicle, he filed an affidavit with the Department or a written report with an appropriate law enforcement agency alleging the theft of the vehicle."

[From the Associated Press]

April 15, 1947—Jackie Robinson played his first major league game, for the Dodgers. He went 0-for-3, but scored the deciding run in a 5-3 victory over the Boston Braves in Brooklyn. He was the first black to appear in the majors since 1884.

As we approach Passover, which starts on Saturday evening, April 23, I thought it appropriate to read something adapted from the opening of the Passover Seder, the festive meal that Jews celebrate together to open the holiday.

I would hold up some unleavened bread, or matzah, and say: This is the bread of our poverty, which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt. Let all who are hungry come and eat. Let all who are in need come and celebrate with us. Now we are here—next year we hope to see redemption. Now we are slaves. Next year we will be free.

May it be the will of the universe, that just as the Israelites experienced freedom from the Egyptians, so may all of us find and give the relief of freedom from all kinds of oppression and distress. May all of us work to bring out communities from the narrow straits of difficulty to abundance, from darkness to light, and from enslavement to redemption, speedily in our days. May the model of Jackie Robinson remind us all that we each have a hand in the bringing of equality and justice to all, and let us say:

AMEN.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblywoman Buckley moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Assemblyman Marvel moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Marvel, Angle, and Oceguera.

Assemblyman Marvel requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN MARVEL:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is a pleasure for me today to be here to present this resolution to Bob Tallman. As the resolution states, Bob is the voice of rodeo, but he is also the voice of the state of Nevada. He has traveled extensively in just about every state in the Union. He has been overseas. He has been to Australia. Every place he goes he promotes Nevada, so I would call him, perhaps, one of the foremost ambassadors we have ever had in the state of Nevada.

As you know, Bob is the first Nevadan inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame, and it is just a little bit more prestigious than what we have here in the Assembly.

Bob has announced at every major, national, or final rodeo from high school rodeo to the wrangler's rodeo in Las Vegas. He has been down there 18 times. I think most of the people in Las Vegas have been to the National Finals Rodeo. He has been 28 years at the Reno Rodeo, which is quite a record, I would say, and he keeps coming back. As a matter of fact, I think my colleague from Fallon had his first start announcing rodeos in Fallon.

Bob has done more than just being a rodeo announcer and raiser of great bucking bulls. He has raised over $300,000 for a cancer pediatrics center at the Anderson Hospital in Houston, Texas. Plus, he has kept a fund for any contestant who has been injured in a rodeo.

They say that Bob is the first true Nevadan who has been elected to the Cowboy Hall of Fame. I heard the other day that my nephew, Joe Marvel, will be inducted in July of this year.

Bob, at one time, had radio station programs. They tell me that Bob was, probably, only second to Paul Harvey in his audience. I think that was quite an achievement in itself. I just can't elaborate enough on what Bob has done for rodeo, the state of Nevada, the children of the state of Nevada, and, you might say, for the nation.

It is such a pleasure having him here today. He is so well recognized that Governor Guinn had a proclamation declaring a Bob Tallman Day; Dallas, Texas, had a Bob Tallman Day; and we even had one in the city of Winnemucca. Bob, you have made us proud in Nevada and you have made us proud in Winnemucca. It is a great pleasure having you with us today. It is sad that Bob's mother and dad couldn't be here today. His dad is not in real good health, but John and Irene Tallman are very good friends of mine. I think his wife, Chris, is probably raising bulls in Texas today. She is taking care of the ranch. He just recently had his daughter, Nicole, married off. For some of you old-timers, you might remember his grandfather. He was an Assemblyman in 1936 and 1938, then was elected to the Senate in 1940, and served in that capacity until 1952. I think he was the Lieutenant Governor at that time. He had quite a commendable record while he served in the Legislature.

I have sitting here with me David and Sue Abel from Elko, Lee and Tracy Smith, and we have members of the Reno Rodeo Association. Would you all stand up, please? It is great to have you with us. Without further ado, I would like to make this presentation to Bob on behalf of the Assembly. It is a pleasure having you with us today. Congratulations.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN ANGLE:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I want to rise in support of ACR 18, having lived 11 years in Winnemucca. Bobby Tallman was a hero for our children there, and I want to thank you, Bobby Tallman, for putting Nevada on the map, Winnemucca especially, and for being a role model for our children.

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is kind of funny. I have been going to the National Finals Rodeo since 1991, and one year I was riding along in a car going to the awards ceremony at the Gold Coast, and Bob Tallman pulled up beside me with Boyd. He looked over and I was with riding with a young lady friend. I had a cold Coors Light, believe it or not, in my hand. I was in the passenger seat, of course. Bob pulled me up on stage at the Gold Coast later and he said, "Look at this, this young kid from Fallon is elected to the Nevada Legislature, has a pretty blond, and a cold Coors Light. It doesn't get much better than that." I couldn't believe it.

Bob, congratulations. It is wonderful to see you here. You have done so many wonderful things for the state. I appreciate it.

Resolution adopted.

Assemblyman Marvel moved that all rules be suspended and that Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18 be immediately transmitted to the Senate.

Motion carried unanimously.

By Assemblymen Parnell, Allen, Anderson, Angle, Arberry, Atkinson, Buckley, Carpenter, Christensen, Claborn, Conklin, Denis, Gansert, Gerhardt, Giunchigliani, Goicoechea, Grady, Hardy, Hettrick, Hogan, Holcomb, Horne, Kirkpatrick, Koivisto, Leslie, Mabey, Manendo, Marvel, McClain, McCleary, Mortenson, Munford, Ocegura, Ohrenschall, Parks, Perkins, Pierce, Seale, Sherer, Sibley, Smith, and Weber; Senators Horsford, Amodei, Beers, Care, Carlton, Cegavske, Coffin, Hardy, Heck, Lee, Mathews, McGinness, Nolan, Raggio, Rhoads, Schneider, Tiffany, Titus, Townsend, Washington, and Wiener:

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 19—Recognizing the value of and the need for the study of the arts in public education.

WHEREAS, The study of the arts in public education stimulates the school setting and enhances the morale of pupils, as well as the quality of the school environment; and

WHEREAS, Because studies indicate that there is a direct correlation between the study of the arts and aptitude in math and science, and because pupils tend to understand history and culture better through the study of the arts, arts education promotes the academic curriculum in a meaningful way; and

WHEREAS, The study of the arts also develops the personal confidence of pupils as they acquire skills by participating in concerts, musical productions and plays, by writing books and poems, and by participating in other cultural events, such as art shows and photography exhibits; and

WHEREAS, It has been recognized that the study of the arts can expand the horizons of even very young children and often leads to a lifelong thirst for knowledge of other cultures, other countries and other philosophies; and

WHEREAS, Organizations such as the Chicago Arts Partnerships in Education have proven that the study of the arts contributes to the overall development of young people in a powerful way by teaching them creativity, teamwork, discipline, self-expression, critical thinking, problem solving, understanding of others as well as other skills; and

WHEREAS, Studies in Chicago and Minneapolis have proven that test scores rise dramatically in schools that integrate the arts into the curriculum, with the greatest impact on disadvantaged learners; and

WHEREAS, In recent years, many public school districts have drastically reduced budgets for arts education in an effort to save money, which fails to acknowledge the important role of the study of the arts in developing in children a passion for learning; and

WHEREAS, For many children, the only opportunity to learn about the arts is through school programs; and

WHEREAS, Studies have shown that the integration of the arts into the school curriculum also energizes and challenges teachers, providing opportunities for rewarding professional developmental experiences; now, therefore, be it

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Minister Bruce Henderson.

Lord, we woke up this morning to a blanket of snow. We ask the question Your Psalmist asked nearly twenty times. "How long, O Lord?" How long until we get a real spring? So, I pray today for spring to come inside—inside these walls and inside our hearts. Please give us renewed enthusiasm, compassionate spirits, and glowing smiles. You make life better. May we also. I pray gratefully in Your name.

AMEN.

Assembly Bill No. 248.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblywoman Buckley.

Assemblyman Ocegüera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Assembly Bill 248 requires the Department of Human Resources to apply to the United States Secretary for Health and Human Services for an amendment to our state Home and Community Based Waiver under Medicaid. Basically, the amendment would authorize the department to cover assisted living services for senior citizens who are residing in housing built by our public-sector housing resources, such as being funded by low-income housing tax credits, HOME (Department Investment Partnerships Program) dollars, CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) dollars, and the like. How it would work is that the Bureau of Licensure and Certification would address the services that are provided, the quality of care; the Housing Division's responsibilities are intended to relate primarily to the issues the Division normally addresses, and that is whether it is actually serving low-income residents.

The second part of the bill reserves $50,000 annually from the Fund for a Healthy Nevada to allow the Department of Human Resources to provide funding to finance non-profit assisted living projects, as well as the services that are needed on assisted living projects.

We have a dichotomy in our state. If you are wealthy, you can afford a lot of options as you age. There are many ways to avoid nursing homes, such as some beautiful assisted living projects that are available in our state. But if you do not have $3,000 to $4,000 a month to pay for them, and all you have is your Social Security check, you have two choices: stay in your home past the point that it has become dangerous or go into a nursing home. This bill is intended to give more choices to many of the people we represent. It will further the non-profit assisted segment, similar to our non-profit housing developers. This will focus on assisted living. It is to give a little bit of seed money to allow these projects to go forward and it will require our state to apply for a waiver so that these projects can get the services they need to make them work. It's one step to try to provide more options, so that seniors can age in place with dignity, without being forced to move to a nursing home when they age.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblywoman Giunchigliani requested that her remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. April 19 marks the national observance of Equal Pay Day, the day when men and women across the country recognize the wage gap between working men and women. The month of April has been chosen to indicate how far each year a woman must work to earn as much as a man earned in the previous year.

Tuesday symbolizes the day when a woman's wages catch up to a man's wages from the previous week. It has been 42 years since the passage of the Federal Equal Pay Act of 1963 and 41 years since the passage of Title VII of the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964, and American women continue to suffer disparities in wages that cannot be accounted for by age, education, or work experience.

If women were paid the same as men who work the same number of hours, have the education, the same union status, are the same age, and live in the same region of the country, the annual family income of each of these women would rise by $4,000, and the number of families who live below the poverty line would be reduced by half.

According to statistics released in 2004 by the U.S. Census Bureau, year-round, full-time working women in 2003 earned only 76 percent of the earnings of the year-round, full-time working men. The gap between median earning of full-time, year-round workers widened in 2003, with women's earnings 76 percent of men's, down from 77 percent in 2002. The last time the female-to-male earnings ratio declined was 1998 to 1999.

Median earnings for women of color continue to be lower, in general, than earnings for men as a whole. In 2003, African-American women's earnings were 66 percent of men's earnings, Latinas' earnings were 55 percent of men's earnings, and Asian-American women are the only group that fares better, with earnings at 80 percent of men's.

Women in Nevada do slightly better than the national average. According to the data from the 2002 Current Population Survey on median annual earnings of full-time workers, Nevada women earn 77 percent of men's earnings.

Equal Pay Day is also about equal work, and also about the old phrase, "What's in a name?" I want to commend the Assistant Majority Leader today for bringing a bill forward that deals with the sensitivity of the issue of "What's in a name?"

Today in Congress, the Paycheck Fairness Act is being re-introduced to strengthen equal pay protection through better enforcement, and the Fair Pay Act will be filed to address the problem of lower wages in fields dominated by women and people of color. Four decades since the passage of the Equal Pay Act, these pieces of legislation are still necessary to keep paychecks from coming up too short.

There are several organizations in the gallery today, Mr. Speaker, if they would please stand. They are wearing the color red. I unfortunately did not get the memo in time, but I do appreciate the loan of the scarf. Some of the organizations represented here are the American Association of University Women; Business and Professional Women; League of Women Voters; Nevada Women's Lobby; Progressive Leadership Alliance of Nevada; SNEA/AFSCME Local 4041; Culinary Union No. 226; and the Culinary Health Trust Fund. I would like to make those guests welcome and thank them for reminding us that our work is still not done. Thank you.

5. If the governing body so revokes its approval, neither the governing body nor the charter school is liable for any damages relating to the denial of services to the child.

6. This section does not preclude the formation of a charter school that is dedicated to provide educational services exclusively to pupils:

(a) With disabilities;

(b) Who pose such severe disciplinary problems that they warrant an educational program specifically designed to serve a single gender and emphasize personal responsibility and rehabilitation; or

(c) Who are at risk.

3. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, the governing body of a charter school may make all employment decisions with regard to its employees pursuant to NRS 391.311 to 391.3197, inclusive, unless a collective bargaining agreement entered into by the governing body pursuant to chapter 288 of NRS contains separate provisions relating to the discipline of licensed employees of a school.
