Sec. 11. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 12. NRS 116.31031 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31031 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if a unit's owner or a tenant or ~~[guest]~~ an invitee of a unit's owner or a tenant violates any provision of the governing documents of an association, the executive board may, if the governing documents so provide:

(a) Prohibit, for a reasonable time, the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant from:

(1) Voting on matters related to the common-interest community.

(2) Using the common elements. The provisions of this subparagraph do not prohibit the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant from using any vehicular or pedestrian ingress or egress to go to or from the unit, including any area used for parking.

(b) Impose a fine against the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant for each violation, except that a fine may not be imposed for a violation that is the subject of a construction penalty pursuant to NRS 116.310305. If the violation poses an imminent threat of causing a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety or welfare of the units' owners or residents of the common-interest community, the amount of the fine must be commensurate with the severity of the violation and must be determined by the executive board in accordance with the governing documents. If the violation does not pose an imminent threat of causing a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety or welfare of the units' owners or residents of the common-interest community, the amount of the fine must be commensurate with the severity of the violation and must be determined by the executive board in accordance with the governing documents, but the amount of the fine must not exceed $100 for each violation or a total amount of $1,000, whichever is less. The limitations on the amount of the fine do not apply to any interest, charges or costs that may be collected by the association pursuant to this section if the fine becomes past due.

2. The executive board may not impose a fine pursuant to subsection 1 against a unit's owner for a violation of any provision of the governing documents of an association committed by an invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant unless the unit's owner:

(a) Participated in or authorized the violation;

(b) Had prior notice of the violation; or

(c) Had an opportunity to stop the violation and failed to do so.

3. The executive board may not impose a fine pursuant to subsection 1 unless:

(a) Not less than 30 days before the violation, the person against whom the fine will be imposed had been provided with written notice of the applicable provisions of the governing documents that form the basis of the violation; and

(b) Within a reasonable time after the discovery of the violation, the person against whom the fine will be imposed has been provided with:

(1) Written notice specifying the details of the violation, the amount of the fine, and the date, time and location for a hearing on the violation; and

(2) A reasonable opportunity to contest the violation at the hearing.

~~[3.]~~ 4. The executive board must schedule the date, time and location for the hearing on the violation so that the person against whom the fine will be imposed is provided with a reasonable opportunity to prepare for the hearing and to be present at the hearing.

~~[4.]~~ 5. The executive board must hold a hearing before it may impose the fine, unless the person against whom the fine will be imposed:

(a) Pays the fine;

(b) Executes a written waiver of the right to the hearing; or

(c) Fails to appear at the hearing after being provided with proper notice of the hearing.

~~[5.]~~ 6. If a fine is imposed pursuant to subsection 1 and the violation is not cured within 14 days, or within any longer period that may be established by the executive board, the violation shall be deemed a continuing violation. Thereafter, the executive board may impose an additional fine for the violation for each 7-day period or portion thereof that the violation is not cured. Any additional fine may be imposed without notice and an opportunity to be heard.

~~[6.]~~ 7. If the governing documents so provide, the executive board may appoint a committee, with not less than three members, to conduct hearings on violations and to impose fines pursuant to this section. While acting on behalf of the executive board for those limited purposes, the committee and its members are entitled to all privileges and immunities and are subject to all duties and requirements of the executive board and its members.

~~[7.]~~ 8. The provisions of this section establish the minimum procedural requirements that the executive board must follow before it may impose a fine. The provisions of this section do not preempt any provisions of the governing documents that provide greater procedural protections.

~~[8.]~~ 9. Any past due fine:

(a) Bears interest at the rate established by the association, not to exceed the legal rate per annum.

(b) May include any costs of collecting the past due fine at a rate established by the association. If the past due fine is for a violation that does not threaten the health, safety or welfare of the residents of the common-interest community, the rate established by the association for the costs of collecting the past due fine:

(1) May not exceed $20, if the outstanding balance is less than $200.

(2) May not exceed $50, if the outstanding balance is $200 or more, but is less than $500.

(3) May not exceed $100, if the outstanding balance is $500 or more, but is less than $1,000.

(4) May not exceed $250, if the outstanding balance is $1,000 or more, but is less than $5,000.

(5) May not exceed $500, if the outstanding balance is $5,000 or more.

(c) May include any costs incurred by the association during a civil action to enforce the payment of the past due fine.

~~[9.]~~ 10. As used in this section:

(a) "Costs of collecting" includes, without limitation, any collection fee, filing fee, recording fee, referral fee, fee for postage or delivery, and any other fee or cost that an association may reasonably charge to the unit's owner for the collection of a past due fine. The term does not include any costs incurred by an association during a civil action to enforce the payment of a past due fine.

(b) "Outstanding balance" means the amount of a past due fine that remains unpaid before any interest, charges for late payment or costs of collecting the past due fine are added.

Sec. 12.5. NRS 116.310315 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.310315 If an association has imposed a fine against a unit's owner or a tenant or ~~[~~guest~~]~~ an invitee of a unit's owneror a tenant pursuant to NRS 116.31031 for violations of the governing documents of the association, the association:

1. Shall, in the books and records of the association, account for the fine separately from any assessment, fee or other charge; and

2. Shall not apply, in whole or in part, any payment made by the unit's owner for any assessment, fee or other charge toward the payment of the outstanding balance of the fine or any costs of collecting the fine, unless the unit's owner provides written authorization which directs the association to apply the payment made by the unit's owner in such a manner.

Sec. 13. NRS 116.31034 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31034 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 5 of NRS 116.212, not later than the termination of any period of declarant's control, the units' owners shall elect an executive board of at least three members, ~~[at least a majority]~~ all of whom must be units' owners. ~~[Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, the remaining members of the executive board do not have to be units' owners.]~~ The executive board shall elect the officers of the association. Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, the officers of the association are not required to be units' owners. The members of the executive board and the officers of the association shall take office upon election.

2. The term of office of a member of the executive board may not exceed 2 years, except for members who are appointed by the declarant. Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, there is no limitation on the number of terms that a person may serve as a member of the executive board.

3. The governing documents of the association must provide for terms of office that are staggered in such a manner that, to the extent possible, an equal number of members of the executive board are elected at each election. The provisions of this subsection do not apply to:

(a) Members of the executive board who are appointed by the declarant; and

(b) Members of the executive board who serve a term of 1 year or less.

4. Not less than 30 days before the preparation of a ballot for the election of members of the executive board, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause notice to be given to each unit's owner of his eligibility to serve as a member of the executive board. Each unit's owner who is qualified to serve as a member of the executive board may have his name placed on the ballot along with the names of the nominees selected by the members of the executive board or a nominating committee established by the association.

5. Each person whose name is placed on the ballot as a candidate for a member of the executive board must:

(a) Make a good faith effort to disclose any financial, business, professional or personal relationship or interest that would result or would appear to a reasonable person to result in a potential conflict of interest for the candidate if the candidate were to be elected to serve as a member of the executive board; and

(b) Disclose whether the candidate is a member in good standing. For the purposes of this paragraph, a candidate shall not be deemed to be in "good standing" if the candidate has any unpaid and past due assessments or construction penalties that are required to be paid to the association.

➥ The candidate must make all disclosures required pursuant to this subsection in writing to the association with his candidacy information. The association shall distribute the disclosures to each member of the association with the ballot in the manner established in the bylaws of the association.

6. Unless a person is appointed by the declarant:

(a) A person may not be a member of the executive board or an officer of the association if the person, his spouse or his parent or child, by blood, marriage or adoption, performs the duties of a community manager for that association.

(b) A person may not be a member of the executive board of a master association or an officer of that master association if the person, his spouse or his parent or child, by blood, marriage or adoption, performs the duties of a community manager for:

(1) That master association; or

(2) Any association that is subject to the governing documents of that master association.

7. An officer, employee, agent or director of a corporate owner of a unit, a trustee or designated beneficiary of a trust that owns a unit, a partner of a partnership that owns a unit, a member or manager of a limited-liability company that owns a unit, and a fiduciary of an estate that owns a unit may be an officer of the association or a member of the executive board. In all events where the person serving or offering to serve as an officer of the association or a member of the executive board is not the record owner, he shall file proof in the records of the association that:

(a) He is associated with the corporate owner, trust, partnership, limited-liability company or estate as required by this subsection; and

(b) Identifies the unit or units owned by the corporate owner, trust, partnership, limited-liability company or estate.

8. The election of any member of the executive board must be conducted by secret written ballot unless the declaration of the association provides that voting rights may be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105. If the election of any member of the executive board is conducted by secret written ballot:

(a) The secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause a secret ballot and a return envelope to be sent, prepaid by United States mail, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner.

(b) Each unit's owner must be provided with at least 15 days after the date the secret written ballot is mailed to the unit's owner to return the secret written ballot to the association.

(c) A quorum is not required for the election of any member of the executive board.

(d) Only the secret written ballots that are returned to the association may be counted to determine the outcome of the election.

(e) The secret written ballots must be opened and counted at a meeting of the association. A quorum is not required to be present when the secret written ballots are opened and counted at the meeting.

(f) The incumbent members of the executive board and each person whose name is placed on the ballot as a candidate for a member of the executive board may not possess, be given access to or participate in the opening or counting of the secret written ballots that are returned to the association before those secret written ballots have been opened and counted at a meeting of the association.

9. An association shall not adopt any rule or regulation that has the effect of prohibiting or unreasonably interfering with a candidate in his campaign for election as a member of the executive board, except that his campaign may be limited to 90 days before the date that ballots are required to be returned to the association. A candidate may request that the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association send, 30 days before the date of the election and at the association's expense, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner a candidate informational statement. The candidate informational statement:

(a) Must be no longer than a single, typed page;

(b) Must not contain any defamatory, libelous or profane information; and

(c) May be sent with the secret ballot mailed pursuant to subsection 8 or in a separate mailing.

➥ The association and its directors, officers, employees and agents are immune from criminal or civil liability for any act or omission which arises out of the publication or disclosure of any information related to any person and which occurs in the course of carrying out any duties required pursuant to this subsection.

10. Each member of the executive board shall, within 90 days after his appointment or election, certify in writing to the association, on a form prescribed by the Administrator, that he has read and understands the governing documents of the association and the provisions of this chapter to the best of his ability. The Administrator may require the association to submit a copy of the certification of each member of the executive board of that association at the time the association registers with the Ombudsman pursuant to NRS 116.31158.

Sec. 14. NRS 116.31036 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31036 1. Notwithstanding any provision of the declaration or bylaws to the contrary, any member of the executive board, other than a member appointed by the declarant, may be removed from the executive board, with or without cause, if at a removal election held pursuant to this section ~~[~~the~~]~~ ***:

(a) The number of votes cast ~~[~~in favor of removal~~]~~ constitutes ~~[~~:

2. The removal of any member of the executive board must be conducted by secret written ballot unless the declaration of the association provides that voting rights may be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105. If the removal of a member of the executive board is conducted by secret written ballot:

(a) The secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause a secret ballot and a return envelope to be sent, prepaid by United States mail, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner.

(b) Each unit's owner must be provided with at least 15 days after the date the secret written ballot is mailed to the unit's owner to return the secret written ballot to the association.

(c) Only the secret written ballots that are returned to the association may be counted to determine the outcome.

(d) The secret written ballots must be opened and counted at a meeting of the association. A quorum is not required to be present when the secret written ballots are opened and counted at the meeting.

(e) The incumbent members of the executive board, including, without limitation, the member who is subject to the removal, may not possess, be given access to or participate in the opening or counting of the secret written ballots that are returned to the association before those secret written ballots have been opened and counted at a meeting of the association.

3. If a member of an executive board is named as a respondent or sued for liability for actions undertaken in his role as a member of the board, the association shall indemnify him for his losses or claims, and undertake all costs of defense, unless it is proven that he acted with willful or wanton misfeasance or with gross negligence. After such proof, the association is no longer liable for the cost of defense, and may recover costs already expended from the member of the executive board who so acted. Members of the executive board are not personally liable to the victims of crimes occurring on the property. Punitive damages may not be recovered against the association ~~, but may be recovered from persons whose activity gave rise to the damages.~~

4. The provisions of this section do not prohibit the Commission from taking any disciplinary action against a member of an executive board pursuant to NRS 116.745 to 116.795, inclusive.

Sec. 15. NRS 116.3107 is hereby amended to read as follows:

elements, and each unit's owner ~~[is responsible]~~ has the duty to provide for the maintenance, repair and replacement of his unit. Each unit's owner shall afford to the association and the other units' owners, and to their agents or employees, access through his unit reasonably necessary for those purposes. If damage is inflicted on the common elements or on any unit through which access is taken, the unit's owner responsible for the damage, or the association if it is responsible, is liable for the prompt repair thereof.

2. In addition to the liability that a declarant as a unit's owner has under this chapter, the declarant alone is liable for all expenses in connection with real estate subject to developmental rights. No other unit's owner and no other portion of the common-interest community is subject to a claim for payment of those expenses. Unless the declaration provides otherwise, any income or proceeds from real estate subject to developmental rights inures to the declarant.

3. In a planned community, if all developmental rights have expired with respect to any real estate, the declarant remains liable for all expenses of that real estate unless, upon expiration, the declaration provides that the real estate becomes common elements or units.

Sec. 16. NRS 116.3108 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.3108 1. A meeting of the units' owners must be held at least once each year. If the governing documents do not designate an annual meeting date of the units' owners, a meeting of the units' owners must be held 1 year after the date of the last meeting of the units' owners. If the units' owners have not held a meeting for 1 year, a meeting of the units' owners must be held on the following March 1.

2. Special meetings of the units' owners may be called by the president, by a majority of the executive board or by units' owners constituting at least 10 percent, or any lower percentage specified in the bylaws, of the total number of voting members of the association. The same number of units' owners may also call a removal election pursuant to NRS 116.31036. To call a special meeting or a removal election, the units' owners must submit a written petition which is signed by the required percentage of the total number of voting members of the association pursuant to this section and which is mailed, return receipt requested, or served by a process server to the executive board or the community manager for the association. If the petition calls for a special meeting, the executive board shall set the date for the special meeting so that the special meeting is held not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received. If the petition calls for a removal election and:

(a) The voting rights of the units' owners will be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105, the executive board shall set the date for the removal election so that the removal election is held not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received; or

(b) The voting rights of the units' owners will be exercised through the use of secret written ballots pursuant to NRS 116.31036, the secret written ballots for the removal election must be sent in the manner required by NRS 116.31036 not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received, and the executive board shall set the date for the meeting to open and count the secret written ballots so that the meeting is held not more than 15 days after the deadline for returning the secret written ballots.

3. Not less than 15 days or more than 60 days in advance of any meeting of the units' owners, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws shall cause notice of the meeting to be hand-delivered, sent prepaid by United States mail to the mailing address of each unit or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner or, if the association offers to send notice by electronic mail, sent by electronic mail at the request of the unit's owner to an electronic mail address designated in writing by the unit's owner. The notice of the meeting must state the time and place of the meeting and include a copy of the agenda for the meeting. The notice must include notification of the right of a unit's owner to:

Not more than 30 days after each such meeting, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws shall cause the minutes or a summary of the minutes of the meeting to be made available to the units' owners. A copy of the minutes or a summary of the minutes must be provided to any unit's owner upon request and, if required by the executive board, upon payment to the association of the cost of providing the copy to the unit's owner.

7. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 8, the minutes of each meeting of the units' owners must include:

(a) The date, time and place of the meeting;

(b) The substance of all matters proposed, discussed or decided at the meeting; and

9. The association shall maintain the minutes of each meeting of the units' owners until the common-interest community is terminated.

10. A unit's owner may record on audiotape or any other means of sound reproduction a meeting of the units' owners if the unit's owner, before recording the meeting, provides notice of his intent to record the meeting to the other units' owners who are in attendance at the meeting.

11. The units' owners may approve, at the annual meeting of the units' owners, the minutes of the prior annual meeting of the units' owners and the minutes of any prior special meetings of the units' owners. A quorum is not required to be present when the units' owners approve the minutes.

Such notice must be:

Sec. 21. NRS 116.3115 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.3115 1. Until the association makes an assessment for common expenses, the declarant shall pay all common expenses. After an assessment has been made by the association, assessments must be made at least annually, based on a budget adopted at least annually by the association in accordance with the requirements set forth in NRS 116.31151. Unless the declaration imposes more stringent standards, the budget must include a budget for the daily operation of the association and a budget for the reserves required by paragraph (b) of subsection 2.

2. Except for assessments under subsections 4 to 7, inclusive:

(a) All common expenses, including the reserves, must be assessed against all the units in accordance with the allocations set forth in the declaration pursuant to subsections 1 and 2 of NRS 116.2107.

(b) The association shall establish adequate reserves, funded on a reasonable basis, for the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements. The reserves may be used only for those purposes, including, without limitation, repairing, replacing and restoring roofs, roads and sidewalks, and must not be used for daily maintenance. The association may comply with the provisions of this paragraph through a funding plan that is designed to allocate the costs for the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements over a period of years if the funding plan is designed in an actuarially sound manner which will ensure that sufficient money is available when the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements are necessary. Notwithstanding any provision of the governing documents to the contrary, to establish adequate reserves pursuant to this paragraph, including, without limitation, to establish or carry out a funding plan, the executive board may, without seeking or obtaining the approval of the units' owners, impose any necessary and reasonable assessments against the units in the common-interest community. Any such assessments imposed by the executive board must be based on the study of the reserves of the association conducted pursuant to NRS 116.31152.

3. Any past due assessment for common expenses or installment thereof bears interest at the rate established by the association not exceeding 18 percent per year.

4. To the extent required by the declaration:

(a) Any common expense associated with the maintenance, repair, restoration or replacement of a limited common element must be assessed against the units to which that limited common element is assigned, equally, or in any other proportion the declaration provides;

(b) Any common expense or portion thereof benefiting fewer than all of the units must be assessed exclusively against the units benefited; and

(c) The costs of insurance must be assessed in proportion to risk and the costs of utilities must be assessed in proportion to usage.

5. Assessments to pay a judgment against the association may be made only against the units in the common-interest community at the time the judgment was entered, in proportion to their liabilities for common expenses.

6. If any common expense is caused by the misconduct of any unit's owner, the association may assess that expense exclusively against his unit.

7. The association of a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992, is not required to make an assessment against a vacant lot located within the community that is owned by the declarant.

8. If liabilities for common expenses are reallocated, assessments for common expenses and any installment thereof not yet due must be recalculated in accordance with the reallocated liabilities.

9. The association shall provide written notice to each unit's owner of a meeting at which an assessment for a capital improvement is to be considered or action is to be taken on such an assessment at least 21 calendar days before the date of the meeting.

Sec. 22. NRS 116.31155 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31155 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, an association shall:

(b) If the association is organized as a trust or partnership, or as any other authorized business entity, pay to the Administrator a fee established by regulation of the Administrator for each unit in the association.

2. If an association is subject to the governing documents of a master association, the master association shall pay the fees required pursuant to this section for each unit in the association that is subject to the governing documents of the master association, unless the governing documents of the master association provide otherwise. The provisions of this subsection do not relieve any association that is subject to the governing documents of a master association from its ultimate responsibility to pay the fees required pursuant to this section to the Administrator if they are not paid by the master association.

3. The fees required to be paid pursuant to this section must be:

(a) Paid at such times as are established by the Division.

(b) Deposited with the State Treasurer for credit to the Account for Common-Interest Communities and Condominium Hotels created by NRS 116.630.

(c) Established on the basis of the actual costs of administering the Office of the Ombudsman and the Commission and not on a basis which includes any subsidy beyond those actual costs. In no event may the fees required to be paid pursuant to this section exceed $3 per unit.

4. The Division shall impose an administrative penalty against an association or master association that violates the provisions of this section by failing to pay the fees owed by the association or master association within the times established by the Division. The administrative penalty that is imposed for each violation must equal 10 percent of the amount of the fees owed by the association or master association or $500, whichever amount is less. The amount of the unpaid fees owed by the association or master association bears interest at the rate set forth in NRS 99.040 from the date the fees are due until the date the fees are paid in full.

5. A unit's owner may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to both an association and a master association.

6. An association that is subject to the governing documents of a master association may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to the extent they have already been paid by the master association.

7. A master association may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to the extent they have already been paid by an association that is subject to the governing documents of the master association.

8. Upon the payment of the fees and any administrative penalties and interest required by this section, the Administrator shall provide to the association or master association evidence that it paid the fees and the administrative penalties and interest in compliance with this section.

9. Any person, association or master association which has been requested or required to pay any fees, administrative penalties or interest pursuant to this section and which believes that such fees, administrative penalties or interest has been imposed in error may, without exhausting any available administrative remedies, bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover:

(a) Any amount paid in error for any fees, administrative penalties or interest during the immediately preceding 3 years;

(b) Interest on the amount paid in error at the rate set forth in NRS 99.040; and

(c) Reasonable costs and attorney's fees.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, May 28, 2009

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day passed, as amended, Senate Bill No. 427.

SHERRY L. RODRIGUEZ

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING AND REFERENCE

Senate Bill No. 427.

Assemblyman Oceguera moved that all rules be suspended, reading so far had considered first reading, rules further suspended, Senate Bill No. 427 considered engrossed, declared an emergency measure under the Constitution, and placed on third reading and final passage.

Motion carried.

GENERAL FILE AND THIRD READING

Senate Bill No. 427.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblymen Goicoechea, Oceguera, and Gansert.

Assemblywoman Gansert requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. As I look at the bill, especially the latter portion of Senate Bill 427, which is the collective bargaining portion, I think the one thing I really like about it is that it does require a real transparency between any agreement. As I look at section 13 on page 22, it states “Any new, extended or modified collective bargaining agreement” has to be fully disclosed in a public meeting, as I read that. I want to clarify and make sure that is the proper understanding. Once it has been reached, it has to be completely out in the public sector?

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. To my colleague, yes, that is exactly what it means. After the approval, then the fiscal impact and the impacts of that contract will be fully disclosed in a public hearing.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

That would be in a full fiscal hearing rather than just on a consent calendar or something like that? I think it is essential that we do get all the facts out before the public.

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

That is correct. We discussed at length that it should not be on a consent agenda and should be agendized so it can be discussed fully.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I have a continuation of that question to the Majority Leader. The contract itself will be available, just not the impacts, but the contract will be available in the hearings?

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

That is correct. Actually the contract is already public record. However, this would just make it more public. The contract would be available and then the fiscal impacts and a report on the fiscal impacts.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

The fiscal impacts would be over the life of the contract, the duration of the contract?

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

That is correct—depending on the length of contract. You would have to look at the length of the contract, whether it be for one year or if the parties agreed there was a multiple-year contract, then it would be for multiple years.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Last question—in subsection 7(b) of section 15, it talks about compensation of other governmental employees, both in and out of state. The governmental employees would be state and local governmental employees? It is at the top of page 21.

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

"To the extent appropriate" would be the modifying words there. So if it was appropriate to look to state accountants, an accountant is an accountant is an accountant, and an engineer is an engineer is an engineer; however, with some other professions, it may not be appropriate, so "to the extent appropriate" would cover that language.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Assemblyman Conklin moved to waive a portion of Assembly Standing Rule No. 23, which requires individual disclosure, for purposes of a group disclosure regarding Senate Bill No. 427.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE AMENDMENTS

Assembly Bill No. 229.

Amendment No. 960.

AN ACT relating to cigarettes; setting forth the testing requirements and performance standard for fire safety for cigarettes sold or offered for sale in this State; requiring a manufacturer of cigarettes to submit a written certification to the State Fire Marshal concerning the cigarettes that the manufacturer intends to sell in this State; imposing a fee for each cigarette listed in a certification; requiring packages of cigarettes to be marked to indicate compliance of the cigarettes with the testing requirements and performance standard; imposing civil penalties for various violations; creating the Cigarette Fire Safety Standard and Firefighter Protection Fund in the State Treasury; providing a penalty; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

This bill, which is modeled on requirements first adopted in New York in 2004, sets forth the testing requirements and performance standard for fire safety for cigarettes sold or offered for sale in Nevada. Section 10 of this bill prohibits the sale of any cigarettes in Nevada which do not meet the testing requirements or performance standard for cigarettes set forth in that section and which have not been certified in accordance with section 11 of this bill or properly marked in accordance with section 12 of this bill. Section 10 also sets forth the testing requirements for cigarettes and the performance standard they must meet, using the ASTM International Standard ASTM E2187-04, while allowing for alternate testing methods and performance standards approved by the State Fire Marshal, and sets forth other requirements manufacturers must meet, such as keeping reports of testing.

Section 11 of this bill requires a manufacturer of cigarettes to submit to the State Fire Marshal a written certification concerning each cigarette the manufacturer intends to sell in Nevada, certifying that the cigarette meets the testing requirements and performance standard set forth in section 10 of this bill, and to pay a fee of $250 to the State Fire Marshal for each cigarette listed in a certification. Section 11.5 of this bill requires the Executive Director of the Department of Taxation to establish a procedure to ensure that agents, wholesale dealers and retail dealers receive notice of the cigarettes that have been certified by manufacturers. Section 12 of this bill requires that cigarettes which have been certified be marked with the letters "FSC," signifying "Fire Standard Compliant."

Section 13 of this bill provides for the imposition of a civil penalty against a manufacturer, wholesale dealer, retail dealer, agent or other person who violates any provision of this bill. Section 14 of this bill authorizes the State Fire Marshal to adopt regulations to carry out the provisions of this bill. Section 15 of this bill authorizes the Department of Taxation to inspect any packages of cigarettes to determine if they have been properly marked as required by section 12 of this bill. Section 16 of this bill authorizes the Attorney General, the Executive Director of the Department and the State Fire Marshal, and their authorized representatives, and any law enforcement officer to examine the books, papers, invoices and other records of persons in possession, control or occupancy of any premises where cigarettes are placed, stored, sold or offered for sale in Nevada. Section 17 of this bill creates the Cigarette Fire Safety Standard and Firefighter Protection Fund as a special revenue fund in the State Treasury.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 477 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act.

Sec. 2. As used in sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act, unless the context otherwise requires, the words and terms defined in sections 3 to 9, inclusive, of this act have the meanings ascribed to them in those sections.

Sec. 3. "Agent" means a person authorized by the Department of Taxation to purchase and affix Nevada cigarette revenue stamps to packages of cigarettes.

Sec. 4. "Cigarette" means any roll of tobacco:

Sec. 5. "Manufacturer" means:

1. A person who manufactures or otherwise produces cigarettes or causes cigarettes to be manufactured or produced in any location and who intends the cigarettes to be sold in this State, including, without limitation, cigarettes intended to be sold in the United States through an importer; or

2. The successor in interest of any person described in subsection 1.

Sec. 6. "Retail dealer" means any person, other than a manufacturer or wholesale dealer, engaged in selling cigarettes or other tobacco products.

Sec. 7. "Sale" means any transfer of title or possession, conditional or otherwise, in any manner or by any means or agreement. The term includes, without limitation, cash and credit sales, the giving of cigarettes as samples, prizes or gifts and the exchanging of cigarettes for consideration other than money.

Sec. 8. "Sell" means to make a sale or to offer or agree to make a sale.

Sec. 9. "Wholesale dealer" means:

1. Any person other than a manufacturer who sells cigarettes or other tobacco products to retail dealers or other persons for purposes of resale; and

2. Any person who owns, operates or maintains one or more vending machines which dispense cigarettes or other tobacco products and which are located on premises owned or occupied by another person.

Sec. 10. 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person shall not sell or offer to sell any cigarettes in this State unless:

(a) The cigarettes have been tested in accordance with this section and meet the performance standard required by this section;

(b) The manufacturer has submitted to the State Fire Marshal, pursuant to section 11 of this act, a written certification in which the cigarettes are listed; and

(c) The packages that contain the cigarettes have been marked pursuant to section 12 of this act.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this section, all cigarettes that are sold or offered for sale in this State must comply with the following method of testing and performance standard:

(a) The cigarettes must be tested in accordance with the ASTM International Standard ASTM E2187-04, "Standard Test Method for Measuring the Ignition Strength of Cigarettes."

(b) The testing must be conducted on 10 layers of filter paper.

(c) The testing must be conducted by a laboratory which has been accredited pursuant to standard ISO/IEC 17025 of the International Organization for Standardization or which meets any other comparable accreditation standard required by the State Fire Marshal.

(d) The laboratory conducting the testing must have a program for quality control that includes a procedure for determining the repeatability of the test results. The repeatability value must not exceed 0.19.

(e) Not more than 25 percent of the cigarettes tested in a test trial may exhibit full-length burns in the test trial. Compliance with the performance standard required by this paragraph must be determined based on a complete test trial consisting of 40 replicate tests for each cigarette tested.

3. This section does not require additional testing if the cigarettes have been tested for any other purpose in a manner that is consistent with this section.

4. Any testing performed or caused to be performed by the State Fire Marshal to determine the compliance of a cigarette with the performance standard required by this section must be conducted in accordance with this section.

5. Any cigarette listed in a certification submitted to the State Fire Marshal pursuant to section 11 of this act which uses lowered permeability bands in the cigarette paper to achieve compliance with the performance standard required by this section must have not less than two nominally identical bands on the paper surrounding the tobacco column, at least one of which must be located not less than 15 millimeters from the lighting end of the cigarette. For cigarettes on which the bands are positioned by design, there must be at least two bands, one of which is located not less than ~~[13]~~ 15 millimeters from the lighting end of the cigarette and one of which is located not less than 10 millimeters from:

(a) The filter end of the tobacco column if the cigarette is filtered; or

(b) The labeled end of the tobacco column if the cigarette is nonfiltered.

6. If the State Fire Marshal:

(a) Determines that a cigarette cannot be tested in accordance with the requirements of subsection 2, the manufacturer of the cigarette shall propose an alternative method of testing and performance standard to the State Fire Marshal for approval and, if the State Fire Marshal approves the alternative method of testing and determines that the alternative performance standard proposed by the manufacturer is substantially equivalent to the performance standard set forth in paragraph (e) of subsection 2, the alternative method of testing and performance standard may be used to certify the cigarette pursuant to section 11 of this act; or

(b) Determines that:

(1) Another state has enacted requirements which are substantially similar to those set forth in this section for the fire safety of cigarettes and which include a method of testing and a performance standard that are substantially similar to those set forth in subsection 2; and

(2) The officials responsible for carrying out those requirements in the other state have approved the alternative method of testing and performance standard for a particular cigarette that the manufacturer has proposed as meeting the fire safety standards of the law of that state under a provision similar to this subsection,

➥ the State Fire Marshal shall authorize the manufacturer to use the alternative method of testing and performance standard to certify that cigarette for sale in this State, unless the State Fire Marshal has a reasonable basis for denying the authorization.

7. Each manufacturer shall maintain copies of the reports of all tests conducted on all cigarettes sold or offered for sale in this State for a period of 3 years after the completion of the testing and shall make copies of the reports available to the State Fire Marshal and the Attorney General upon written request. Any manufacturer that fails to make such copies available to the State Fire Marshal or Attorney General within 60 days after receiving a written request therefor is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $10,000 for each day after the 60th day that the manufacturer fails to make the copies available.

8. The State Fire Marshal may, by regulation, adopt by reference a subsequent ASTM International Standard Test Method for Measuring the Ignition Strength of Cigarettes if he determines that the subsequent method of testing does not result in a change in the percentage of full-length burns exhibited by any tested cigarette when compared to the percentage of full-length burns the same cigarette would exhibit when tested in accordance with the ASTM International Standard ASTM E2187-04 and the performance standard set forth in paragraph (e) of subsection 2. If the State Fire Marshal adopts the subsequent method of testing, it may be used as an alternative method for the certification of cigarettes.

9. This section does not prohibit:

(a) A wholesale dealer or retail dealer from selling his existing inventory of cigarettes on or after the effective date of this section if the wholesale dealer or retail dealer can establish that Nevada cigarette revenue stamps were affixed to the packages of cigarettes before the effective date of this section and the cigarettes were purchased by the wholesale dealer or retail dealer before the effective date of this section in a quantity comparable to the inventory purchased by the wholesale dealer or retail dealer during the same period of the immediately preceding year.

(b) The sale of cigarettes solely for the purpose of consumer testing. As used in this paragraph, "consumer testing" means an assessment of cigarettes that is conducted by a manufacturer, or under the control and direction of a manufacturer, to evaluate consumer acceptance of the cigarettes, using only the number of cigarettes that is reasonably necessary for that assessment.

10. As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "Program for quality control" means a program pursuant to which laboratory procedures are established to ensure that:

(1) The test results are not affected by operator bias, systematic and nonsystematic methodological errors or equipment-related problems; and

(2) The repeatability of the test results remains within the required repeatability value set forth in paragraph (d) of subsection 2 for all test trials used to certify cigarettes.

(b) "Repeatability value" means the range of values within which the repeat results of cigarette test trials conducted by a single laboratory will fall 95 percent of the time.

Sec. 11. 1. Each manufacturer shall submit to the State Fire Marshal a written certification of the cigarettes that the manufacturer intends to sell in this State attesting that each cigarette listed in the certification has been tested in accordance with and meets the applicable performance standard set forth in section 10 of this act.

2. The description of each cigarette listed in the certification must include, without limitation:

(a) The brand or trade name on the package;

(b) The style, such as light or ultra light;

(c) The length in millimeters;

(d) The circumference in millimeters;

(e) The flavor, such as menthol or chocolate, if applicable;

(f) Whether the cigarette is filtered or nonfiltered;

(g) The package description, such as soft pack or box;

(h) The marking pursuant to section 12 of this act;

(i) The name, address and telephone number of the laboratory that conducted the testing of the cigarette; and

(j) The date that the testing occurred.

3. The State Fire Marshal shall make the certifications that are submitted to him pursuant to this section available to the Attorney General for purposes consistent with sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act and to the Executive Director of the Department of Taxation for the purpose of ensuring compliance with this section and section 11.5 of this act.

4. Each cigarette certified under this section must be recertified every 3 years.

5. A manufacturer shall pay to the State Fire Marshal a fee of $1,000 for each brand family of cigarettes listed in the certification. The fee paid applies to all cigarettes within the brand family certified and must include any new cigarettes certified within the brand family during the 3-year certification period. All fees collected pursuant to this section must be deposited in the Cigarette Fire Safety Standard and Firefighter Protection Fund created by section 17 of this act. As used in this subsection, "brand family" means all styles of cigarettes sold under the same trademark and differentiated from one another by means of additional modifiers or descriptors, including, without limitation, "menthol," "lights," "kings" and "100s," and includes any brand name, whether or not occurring alone or in conjunction with any other word, any trademark, logo, symbol, motto, selling message or recognizable pattern of colors, or any other indicia of product identification identical or similar to, or identifiable with, a previously known brand of cigarettes.

6. If a manufacturer has certified a cigarette pursuant to this section and subsequently makes any change to the cigarette that is likely to alter its compliance with the performance standard required by section 10 of this act, the cigarette must not be sold or offered for sale in this State unless the manufacturer retests the cigarette pursuant to section 10 of this act and maintains the reports of the retesting in accordance with that section. Any altered cigarette that does not meet the applicable performance standard set forth in section 10 of this act must not be sold or offered for sale in this State.

Sec. 11.5. The Executive Director of the Department of Taxation shall establish a procedure to ensure that agents, wholesale dealers and retail dealers receive notice of the cigarettes that have been certified by manufacturers pursuant to section 11 of this act. The procedure may include, without limitation, listing the brands and styles of cigarettes which have been certified on an Internet website maintained by the Department.

Sec. 12. 1. Packages that contain cigarettes which have been certified by a manufacturer in accordance with section 11 of this act must be marked to indicate compliance with section 10 of this act. The marking must be set forth in not less than 8-point type and consist of the letters "FSC," signifying "Fire Standard Compliant," and be permanently printed, stamped, engraved or embossed on the package at or near the UPC label.

2. A manufacturer shall use only one marking and shall apply the marking uniformly for all packages, including, without limitation, packs, cartons, cases and brands marketed by that manufacturer.

3. A manufacturer that certifies a cigarette in accordance with section 11 of this act shall provide a copy of the certification to each wholesale dealer and agent to whom the manufacturer sells cigarettes. A wholesale dealer, retail dealer or agent shall allow the State Fire Marshal, the Executive Director of the Department of Taxation and the Attorney General, and their respective employees, to inspect the markings of cigarette packaging marked in accordance with this section.

Sec. 13. 1. Any manufacturer, wholesale dealer, agent or other person that knowingly sells cigarettes in this State, other than through retail sale, in violation of section 10 of this act is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100 for each pack of such cigarettes sold, except that the penalty against the person must not exceed $100,000 during any 30-day period.

2. A retail dealer that knowingly sells cigarettes in this State in violation of section 10 of this act is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100 for each pack of such cigarettes sold, except that the penalty against the retail dealer must not exceed $25,000 during any 30-day period.

3. In addition to any other penalty prescribed by law, any manufacturer of cigarettes that knowingly makes a false certification pursuant to section 11 of this act is subject to a civil penalty of not less than $75,000 or more than $250,000 for each false certification.

4. A person who violates any other provision of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act is subject to a civil penalty of not more than $1,000 for the first offense and not more than $5,000 for each subsequent offense.

5. A law enforcement officer, authorized representative of the Department of Taxation or authorized representative of the State Fire Marshal who discovers any cigarettes for sale in this State for which no certification has been submitted pursuant to section 11 of this act or which are not marked pursuant to section 12 of this act may seize the cigarettes. Cigarettes seized pursuant to this section must be destroyed after the true holder of the trademark rights in the cigarette brand is allowed to inspect the cigarettes.

6. Each violation of any provision of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto constitutes a separate civil violation for which the State Fire Marshal or the Attorney General may obtain relief. In addition to any other remedy provided by law, the Attorney General may file an action in a court of competent jurisdiction concerning a violation of any provision of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto, including, without limitation, petitioning for:

(a) Preliminary or permanent injunctive relief against any manufacturer, importer, wholesale dealer, retail dealer, agent or other person to enjoin the person from selling or affixing Nevada cigarette revenue stamps to any package of cigarettes that contains cigarettes which do not comply with the requirements of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act. Upon obtaining judgment for injunctive relief, the State Fire Marshal or Attorney General shall provide a copy of the judgment to all wholesale dealers and agents to whom the cigarette has been sold.

(b) The recovery of any civil penalty authorized by the provisions of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act.

(c) The recovery of any costs or damages incurred by this State because of a violation of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act, including, without limitation, enforcement costs relating to a specific violation and attorney's fees.

7. All money collected pursuant to this section must be deposited in the Cigarette Fire Safety Standard and Firefighter Protection Fund created by section 17 of this act.

Sec. 14. The State Fire Marshal may adopt such regulations as he determines necessary to carry out the provisions of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act.

Sec. 15. The Department of Taxation, in the regular course of conducting inspections of wholesale dealers, retail dealers and agents pursuant to NRS 370.001 to 370.530, inclusive, may inspect any packages of cigarettes to determine if they have been marked in accordance with section 12 of this act. If the packages of cigarettes are not marked as required, the Executive Director of the Department of Taxation shall notify the State Fire Marshal and may seize the packages of cigarettes pursuant to subsection 5 of section 13 of this act.

Sec. 16. The Attorney General, the Executive Director of the Department of Taxation and the State Fire Marshal, and their authorized representatives, and any law enforcement officer may examine the books, papers, invoices and other records of any person in possession, control or occupancy of any premises where cigarettes are placed, stored, sold or offered for sale in this State, including, without limitation, any stock of cigarettes on the premises. Each person in possession, control or occupancy of any premises where cigarettes are placed, stored, sold or offered for sale in this State shall cooperate in any such examination.

Sec. 17. 1. The Cigarette Fire Safety Standard and Firefighter Protection Fund is hereby created in the State Treasury as a special revenue fund. All money received for the use of the Fund pursuant to sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act or from any other source must be deposited in the Fund.

2. The interest and income earned on the money in the Fund, after deducting any applicable charges, must be credited to the Fund. All claims against the Fund must be paid as other claims against the State are paid.

3. The State Fire Marshal shall administer the Fund and may expend any money in the Fund to support fire safety and fire prevention programs.

Sec. 18. On or before January 30 of each odd-numbered year, the State Fire Marshal shall submit to the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau for transmittal to the next regular session of the Legislature a written report concerning the effectiveness of the provisions of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act and any recommendations for legislation to improve the effectiveness of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act.

Sec. 19. 1. The provisions of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act must, to the extent practicable, be interpreted and construed to effectuate the general purpose of those provisions to make uniform the laws of those states that have enacted similar legislation.

2. The provisions of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act must not be construed to prohibit any person from manufacturing or selling cigarettes that do not meet the requirements of section 10 of this act if the cigarettes are or will be stamped for sale in another state or are packaged for sale outside the United States and that person has taken reasonable steps to ensure that the cigarettes will not be sold or offered for sale in this State.

Sec. 20. 1. Any ordinance or regulation adopted by a local government which conflicts with any provision of sections 2 to 19, inclusive, of this act or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto is void and must not be given effect to the extent of the conflict.

Assembly Bill No. 430.

The following Senate amendment was read:

Amendment No. 958.

AN ACT relating to children's products; prohibiting the advertisement, sale, lease, sublet or distribution of children's products under certain circumstances; prohibiting certain commercial activity regarding unsafe cribs; providing that a violation of provisions relating to unsafe cribs or to children's products is a deceptive trade practice; providing a penalty; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 7 of this bill provides that a retailer of a new or used product intended for children under 12 years of age may not advertise, sell or offer for sale, lease, sublet or otherwise distribute the product if the product is subject to a recall notice, is subject to a warning indicating that the use of the product constitutes a health or safety hazard or has been banned or designated as a health or safety hazard by the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission or the manufacturer of the product. Section 7 also requires a retailer to subscribe to or arrange to receive recall notices and warnings issued by the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission and manufacturers from whom the retailer receives children's products. Section 7 further requires a retailer to comply with all instructions issued for the disposal, return, repair, retrofitting, labeling or remediation of children's products which are the subject of a recall notice or other warning. Section 18 of this bill makes it a deceptive trade practice for a person to knowingly and willfully violate any provision relating to unsafe cribs or to children's products that are subject to a recall notice or a warning, which therefore puts such violations within the purview of the provisions in chapter 598 of NRS that impose civil and criminal penalties. (NRS 598.092)

Sections 9-17 of this bill establish the Infant Crib Safety Act. Section 14 prohibits persons from remanufacturing, retrofitting, selling, contracting to sell or resell, subletting or otherwise placing in the stream of commerce a crib that is unsafe for use by an infant. Section 14 also describes the types of cribs that are presumed unsafe. Section 15 establishes civil penalties for persons who violate any provision relating to unsafe cribs. Section 16 exempts antique or vintage cribs from the provisions relating to unsafe cribs if such a crib is accompanied with a written notice provided by a commercial user stating that it is not intended for use by an infant. Section 16 further releases from liability any commercial user who complies with the notice requirement. Section 17 authorizes any person to maintain an action against a commercial user who violates any provision relating to unsafe cribs.

THE HONORABLE BARBARA BUCKLEY, Speaker of the Assembly, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Assembly Bill No. 146 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 146, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to business; providing for the establishment of a state business portal by the Secretary of State; revising the provisions relating to the issuance of state business licenses and transferring certain responsibilities concerning state business licenses from the Department of Taxation to the Secretary of State; making an appropriation; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 146 would authorize the Nevada Secretary of State to create a business portal to facilitate transactions between the government and private businesses. The bill also transfers certain responsibilities for issuing business licenses from the Department of Taxation to the Secretary of State's office.

If this were where the bill ended, in the authorization for the Secretary of State to create this portal, I would gladly sign the legislation and be pleased the state was improving the ease of conducting business in Nevada. Unfortunately, the bill contains other provisions I do not believe improve the business climate in Nevada and, in fact, outweigh any benefits from the creation of the business portal.

Assembly Bill 146 would double the annual licensing fee the State of Nevada charges businesses. The legislation would also create a new business license fee for each additional physical location of a business in our state. It is because of these fee increases, greatly expanding the amount of money being collected from Nevada businesses, that I cannot support this otherwise sound legislation.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 146.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Assembly Bill No. 543 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 543, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to taxation; temporarily redirecting a portion of the taxes ad valorem levied in Clark and Washoe Counties to the State General Fund; revising the provisions governing the imposition and use of a supplemental governmental services tax in certain counties; temporarily redirecting a portion of certain taxes imposed in Clark County to the county general fund; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 543 pertains to reallocations of county revenues and also authorizes an increase in the governmental services tax. Because this bill is funded in part by tax increases that I disagree with, as articulated in my veto message of Senate Bill 429, and also because this bill reallocates county revenues in an amount greater than I recommended in the Executive Budget, I cannot support this bill.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 543.

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 552, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to taxation; increasing the fee charged by the State for collecting certain local sales and use taxes; establishing the required time for payment to the State of certain proceeds from taxes on revenue from the rental of transient lodging; making permanent a temporary reduction in various allowances for the collection of sales and use taxes and taxes on intoxicating liquor, cigarettes and other tobacco products; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 552 pertains to state collection allowances for various taxes. I agreed to increases in these types of allowances in the 25th Legislative Special Session with the understanding that the increases would expire on June 30, 2009. A continuation of those increases was not included in the Executive Budget and I therefore cannot support this bill.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 552.

AN ACT relating to state financial administration; making appropriations from the State General Fund and the State Highway Fund for the support of the civil government of the State of Nevada for the fiscal years beginning July 1, 2009, and ending June 30, 2010, and beginning July 1, 2010, and ending June 30, 2011; providing for the use of the money so appropriated; revising the provisions governing the line of credit from the Local Government Pooled Investment Fund; making various other changes relating to the financial administration of the State; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 562 is the general appropriations bill. Because this bill is funded in part by tax increases that I disagree with, as articulated in my veto message of Senate Bill 429, I cannot support this bill.

> AN ACT relating to education; ensuring sufficient funding for K-12 public education for the 2009-2011 biennium; apportioning the State Distributive School Account in the State General Fund for the 2009-2011 biennium; authorizing certain expenditures; making appropriations for purposes relating to basic support, class-size reduction and other educational purposes; authorizing temporarily the board of trustees of a school district to use money raised through its general obligations for the purchase of equipment for the transportation of pupils; revising provisions governing local funds available for certain school districts for the 2009-2011 biennium; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

I take no joy in rejecting this bill as it provides an appropriation for the distributive school account. However, this bill is part and parcel of the overall budget. Because that budget is funded by tax increases that I disagree with, as articulated in my veto message of Senate Bill 429, I cannot support this bill.

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, Senate Majority Leader, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Senate Bill No. 429 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 429, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to state financial administration; temporarily increasing the state business license fee; temporarily revising the rate of the payroll tax imposed on certain businesses other than financial institutions; revising the provisions governing the calculation of governmental services taxes due annually for used vehicles and allocating a portion of the proceeds of the basic governmental services tax for 4 years to the State General Fund and thereafter to the State Highway Fund; temporarily increasing the rate of the Local School Support Tax; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill would enact historic and unprecedented tax increases in the midst of one of the most severe economic recessions ever experienced in Nevada. Our state has been one of the most severely impacted states in the Union during this economic downturn. Our unemployment rate has increased from 4.3% in 2006 to 10.6% today. Nevada's construction and tourism industries have seen dramatic slowdowns. Business big and small have laid off employees, reduced employees hours, and curtailed employee benefits in an effort to keep their doors open. Home values have spiraled downward, leaving many Nevadans facing foreclosures at worst and realizing negative home equities at best. Our state revenues correspondingly have been negatively impacted by percentages never before seen. We face a multi-billon dollar budget deficit. Under these circumstances our government finds itself at a crossroads and must choose whether it will live within its means or raise taxes to support continued government spending. 1 am disappointed that our Legislature chose the latter course of action.

I have repeatedly stated that just as Nevadans must live within their means, so must their government. I proposed a balanced budget that limited tax increases on hardworking Nevadans and avoided mass layoff's of state employees. I promised to call a special session to restore responsible government spending when the economy recovers. I am convinced that the action taken by the Legislature in Senate Bill 429 will prolong the economic recession in Nevada and will dissuade employers from retaining current employees today and hiring new employees tomorrow. Senate Bill 429 is not in the best interests of Nevadans and sets an extremely dangerous precedent about how our state government responds to economic recessions.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 429.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

Remarks by Assemblymen McArthur, Leslie, and Carpenter.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SETTELMEYER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I still feel at this time—with 10 percent unemployment in the state, with Lyon County having 15 percent unemployment—it is the wrong time to almost double the payroll tax. In my opinion, this will still cause more people to become unemployed. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MCARTHUR:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in opposition to Senate Bill 429. The problem I have with this bill has little to do with politics; it has almost everything to do with the economic reality that we face today and what is going to happen over the next couple of years. Right now, we have a downward spiraling economy, we have declining tax revenues, we have businesses that are closing, we have people being laid off, we have big projects in Las Vegas that have been halted, and we have dealerships that are closing their doors as we speak today. This is just the wrong time to raise taxes. Raising taxes right now is just going to exacerbate the problem and is going to lead to more layoffs and more businesses closing. I think we need to realize that without the business community, without the private sector, there would be no government sector—no one to pay for it. I think we need to remember that when you hurt business, you are going to hurt our ability to pay for government.

The big concern I really have right now is that if we raise taxes now and this economy does not recover soon, which I do not believe it will, we are going to be facing one of the biggest budget crises we have, coming up in the next session. I know that a lot of people would like to be able to tax our way out of it, but we won't. It is going to be a matter of what are we going to be able to fund properly and we won't. It will be a matter of what are we going to cut and what are we going to have to actually get rid of. I think that this will be partly because we are going to be raising taxes now and putting off what we should have done. This will probably be the easy way out to balance this budget. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN LESLIE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of the override. I am supporting the override because I do not believe we can or should turn our backs on our citizens today. Government does have a responsibility to help those who cannot help themselves. Government also has a responsibility to provide for the essential services our constitution requires—education, public safety, and at least a minimum health and human services safety net. The budget is lean and the revenue plan is also lean. We have worked hard and long for four months in a bipartisan, bicameral manner to get to this point. We know that this budget, partly funded by this bill, won't get us out of last place in nearly every indicator there is, but at least we will not fall further behind. This bill has something in it that every one of us would change if we had the opportunity. That is the mark of a good compromise. It is a difficult vote for some today and I respect that. I respect every Legislator's duty to represent their constituents as they feel best, but as we get ready to vote this morning, this historic vote, let us reflect just for a moment on our system of government, with its checks and balances that allows us to represent our constituents as we see fit today.

We don't live under a dictatorship. I have, as a foreign exchange student, lived under a dictatorship. I am very glad that is not the system of government we have here today. We also do not live under a monarchy—one person does not get to decide our state's destiny. He doesn't, we do. So the override vote for me also represents a textbook example of what representative democracy is all about. We know how hard it is to reach a two-thirds majority in this house, where there are 42 opinions on just about every subject imaginable. So whether you agree with the Governor—that it is better to manage our fiscal crises by cutting children and pregnant women off their health insurance, by closing a university, by decimating our rural mental health system—or you don't agree with the Governor today, I hope you will be proud of what we are about to do and respect it. Our system allows us to say no to the highest elected official in our state and demonstrate our belief that we have a better plan to manage our state's fiscal crises. I urge your support.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of Senate Bill 429. I know this is a difficult vote, but I have been talking to the Lord and the Lord says it is still okay for me to vote for it. So that is what I am going to do.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, Senate Majority Leader,, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 431, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to state financial administration; authorizing expenditures by various officers, departments, boards, agencies, commissions and institutions of the State Government for the fiscal years commencing on July 1, 2009, and ending on June 30, 2010, and beginning on July 1, 2010, and ending on June 30, 2011; authorizing the collection of certain amounts from the counties for the use of the services of the State Public Defender; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 431 is the spending authorization bill. Because this bill is funded in part by tax increases that I disagree with, as articulated in my veto message of Senate Bill 429, I cannot support this bill.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 431.

Remarks by Assemblyman Goicoechea.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I really believe that most of us recognized early last fall that we were in for a very difficult economic time. As we came here in December for the special session, I think it became more and more apparent that we were really in trouble. As I met with my constituents throughout my district, they all recognized that we did not have the ability to make enough reductions or cuts to survive this. We shifted some money in the special session, again just to meet and fill those needs. Although I never totally reached accord as far as the type of revenue we needed, I did support and work with my colleagues, on both sides of the aisle, to develop a budget that would maintain the rural school districts and my community colleges in the district I represent. I can only say to the rest of the body that I thank you for the opportunity to work with you in a bipartisan effort to develop a budget that will at least sustain the essential services of this state. Thank you.

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 433, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to public employees; establishing the maximum allowed salaries for certain employees in the classified and unclassified service of the State; requiring employees of the State to take a certain number of days of unpaid furlough leave during the 2009-2011 biennium; providing exceptions to the furlough requirement; making appropriations from the State General Fund and State Highway Fund for the salaries of certain employees of the State; making certain appropriations contingent on specified projections of unappropriated balances in the State General Fund; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 433 is the state employee pay bill. Because this bill is funded in part by tax increases that I disagree with, as articulated in my veto message of Senate Bill 429, I cannot support this bill.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 433.

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblymen Gansert, Hardy, and Madam Speaker.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of Senate Bill 433. I want to take this opportunity to thank the state workers. I know they are having to do more. We were looking for a solution because payroll is such a great portion of our expenses. I believe that this bill with the furlough represents a good solution for the upcoming biennium. Again, I want to thank them for their work because it has been very difficult, I know, during the budget cuts that we put into effect last year and then moving forward. So, again, I thank you for your work.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support. When I was talking with my constituents, I was talking about the reality of having a fiscal budgetary hole. I used the words of a $1.5 billion hole. I suggested that we would have to make cuts and we would have to make a revenue source and meet somewhere in the middle. I used the words "sales tax" on that, and universally people would say, yes, that makes sense. This is a critical part of that piece—recognizing that our employment costs can be cut in such a way as not to risk job loss as much as it would otherwise. So I will be supporting this and appreciate the work people have done to allay the concerns about those furloughs and the issues and the creative ways we have looked at that. I thank this body for having worked together on that.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

It is pretty easy just to cut something. Establishing a furlough is much more humane. People don't lose their retirement eligibility—at least you get a day off. We established flexibility and when it could be taken so it can be broken up between the pay periods. I would like to thank the chairman of Ways and Means, the vice chair of Ways and Means and the Assemblywoman representing Carson City for their work on this bill, as well as our staff. With a little bit of work, we found a way to make this concept a reality and had no trouble answering 19 questions, because that is what we do every day.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I would like to thank you all for your extraordinary work on this budget over the last four months. I appreciate both parties working so hard on every budget item. I feel like we did the best we could under the circumstances. A 44 percent decline in revenue is a reality few states face and an experience I think none of us ever imagined just two years ago. Two years ago, we thought gaming was recession-proof. We thought the housing bubble would continue. We didn't think we would be here today. Cutting our budget in accordance with the Governor's wishes meant a 36 percent cut to our community colleges; a 50 percent cut to UNLV and UNR, basically closing one of those institutions; $690 million to K-12; a suggested 6 percent salary cut; a $93 million cut in health insurance; an elimination of all merit increases; and an elimination of the one-fifth retirement credit. The list goes on. The Gaming Control Board had a loss of their staff needed to regulate our state's most important industry to the point where the chairman of the Gaming Control Board indicated that he would not be able to do his work, on the behalf of us, if we did not restore his budget. There were cuts to the Agriculture budget and the Organic Board, who said the state would lose jobs if the board was not able to certify crops as organic in the state. We heard from every part of the state. We worked together. We put party aside. It made me, yet again, proud to be a Nevadan. If you look at the Washington, D.C.-style of politics, you have Democrats on one side and Republicans on the other. They do not work on budgets together. But we did. I am proud of all of you, and I am proud that we worked together for the betterment of this state.

On revenue, most of us agreed that we needed new revenue. We couldn't cut our way out of the crisis, and we couldn't tax our way out of the crisis. We had to use what we, as Nevadans, value—our common sense. We had to decide to govern for the good of our constituents and not by platitude. I am proud of the work we have done this session, and I am proud to be a Nevadan. Thank you all very much for your hard work, that made today possible. Thank you.

Madam Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE AMENDMENTS

Assembly Bill No. 461.

The following Senate amendment was read:

Amendment No. 945.

AN ACT relating to older persons; revising the provisions pertaining to the reporting of abuse, neglect, exploitation or isolation of an older person; providing for the establishment of a multidisciplinary team; making various other changes relating to older persons; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires certain governmental entities to forward to the Aging Services Division of the Department of Health and Human Services and to the Unit for the Investigation and Prosecution of Crimes Against Older Persons in the Office of the Attorney General a copy of the final report of the investigation of a report of abuse, neglect, exploitation or isolation of an older person. (NRS 200.5093) Section 1 of this bill: (1) adds the Repository for Information Concerning Crimes Against Older Persons to the list of entities that must be forwarded a copy of such a report; and (2) changes the period within which the report must be forwarded from 90 days after the completion of the report to 30 days after the completion of the report.

[~~Existing law allows a prospective witness who may be unable to attend or may be prevented from attending a trial or hearing to have his deposition taken, if his testimony is material, in order to prevent a failure of justice.~~

~~(NRS 174.175) At a trial or hearing, a part or all of a deposition may be used if it appears that: (1) the witness is dead; (2) the witness is out of the State of Nevada; (3) the witness is sick; (4) the witness has become of unsound mind; or (5) the party offering the deposition could not procure the attendance of the witness by subpoena. (NRS 174.215) Section 4 of this bill expands the list of prospective witnesses who may have their deposition taken to include persons who are 70 years of age or older. (NRS 174.175)~~]

Section 5 of this bill allows the Repository for Information Concerning Crimes Against Older Persons to include records of every incident of elder abuse reported to any entity and certain additional information related to each incident. (NRS 179A.450)

Section 6 of this bill allows the Unit for the Investigation and Prosecution of Crimes Against Older Persons to establish a multidisciplinary team to review any allegations of abuse, neglect, exploitation or isolation of an older person or the death of an older person as the result of abuse, neglect or isolation and prescribes its membership. (NRS 228.270) The establishment of such a team does not grant the Unit supervisory authority over any state or local agency that investigates or prosecutes allegations of abuse, neglect, exploitation or isolation of an older person or the death of an older person as the result of abuse, neglect or isolation.

Section 7 of this bill requires the Peace Officers' Standards and Training Commission to adopt regulations that require all peace officers to receive training in the handling of cases involving abuse, neglect, exploitation and isolation of older persons. (NRS 289.510)

Assemblyman Grady moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblyman Grady.

Assemblyman Grady requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I believe that the resolution speaks very strongly of the commander. He was a husband, a father, a military man, and a community leader. As the Majority Leader said on Tuesday as we adjourned in honor of the commander, he was a good person from Fallon. It was a tragic accident. He and his three daughters were killed about a mile from the airport in Fallon in a private plane last Friday night. Tomorrow they are having a memorial for him at NAS, Fallon. I thank the Speaker for allowing this resolution to come forward. We felt this was something we really wanted to do, not only for NAS Fallon and the family, but also to show our support of the military here in the Legislature. Thank you, Madam Speaker.

Conference Amendment No. CA6.

AN ACT relating to firearms; requiring a court to transmit certain records of adjudication concerning a person's mental health to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History for certain purposes relating to the purchase or possession of a firearm; establishing procedures for those persons to petition a court to regain certain rights relating to the purchase or possession of a firearm; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Federal law requires states to transmit to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System records of adjudication of mental illness or incompetence, involuntary admission to mental health facilities and other records which indicate a person is prohibited from purchasing a firearm. Federal law also requires states to implement a program by which a person who was previously adjudicated mentally ill or involuntarily committed can apply to have his right to possess a firearm restored and ties this requirement to certain federal funding for states under the NICS Improvement Amendments Act of 2007. (Public Law 110-180) Nevada law prohibits a person from owning or possessing a firearm if he has been adjudicated as mentally ill or has been committed to any mental health facility. (NRS 202.360)

Sections 1-4 and 13 of this bill require a court to transmit to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History a record of any court order, judgment, plea or verdict concerning the involuntary admission of a person to a mental health facility, the appointment of a guardian for a person who has a mental defect, a finding that a person is incompetent to stand trial, a verdict acquitting a person by reason of insanity or a plea of guilty but mentally ill, along with a statement that the record is being transmitted for inclusion in all appropriate databases of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System. (NRS 159.055, 174.035, 175.533, 175.539, 178.425, 433A.310)

Section 7 of this bill requires the Central Repository to take reasonable steps to ensure that the records transmitted to it by the court are included in each appropriate database of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System. In accordance with federal law, this section also provides a procedure for a person who is the subject of such a record to petition a court to have the record removed from the National Instant Criminal Background Check System and to have his right to possess or purchase a firearm restored.

Section 8 of this bill provides that the records transmitted by the court to the Central Repository are confidential, may not be used for any purpose other than for inclusion in each appropriate database of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System, and no cause of action for damages may be brought for transmission, failure to transmit, delay in transmitting or inaccuracies within such records.

Section 8.5 of this bill authorizes a person who is or believes he is the subject of a record of mental health held by the Central Repository to inspect and correct such records. This section, which is modeled after NRS 179A.150, also requires the Central Repository and the Director of the Department of Public Safety to adopt certain regulations relating to the inspection and correction of such records.

Section 11.5 of this bill requires a court, when appointing a general guardian, to determine whether a proposed ward is a person with a mental defect who is prohibited from possessing a firearm pursuant to federal law.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. NRS 174.035 is hereby amended to read as follows:

174.035 1. A defendant may plead not guilty, guilty, guilty but mentally ill or, with the consent of the court, nolo contendere. The court may refuse to accept a plea of guilty or guilty but mentally ill.

2. If a plea of guilty or guilty but mentally ill is made in a written plea agreement, the agreement must be in substantially the form prescribed in NRS 174.063. If a plea of guilty or guilty but mentally ill is made orally, the court shall not accept such a plea or a plea of nolo contendere without first addressing the defendant personally and determining that the plea is made voluntarily with understanding of the nature of the charge and consequences of the plea.

3. With the consent of the court and the district attorney, a defendant may enter a conditional plea of guilty, guilty but mentally ill or nolo contendere, reserving in writing the right, on appeal from the judgment, to a review of the adverse determination of any specified pretrial motion. A defendant who prevails on appeal must be allowed to withdraw the plea.

4. A plea of guilty but mentally ill must be entered not less than 21 days before the date set for trial. A defendant who has entered a plea of guilty but mentally ill has the burden of establishing his mental illness by a preponderance of the evidence. Except as otherwise provided by specific statute, a defendant who enters such a plea is subject to the same criminal, civil and administrative penalties and procedures as a defendant who pleads guilty.

5. The defendant may, in the alternative or in addition to any one of the pleas permitted by subsection 1, plead not guilty by reason of insanity. A plea of not guilty by reason of insanity must be entered not less than 21 days before the date set for trial. A defendant who has not so pleaded may offer the defense of insanity during trial upon good cause shown. Under such a plea or defense, the burden of proof is upon the defendant to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that:

(a) Due to a disease or defect of the mind, he was in a delusional state at the time of the alleged offense; and

(b) Due to the delusional state, he either did not:

(1) Know or understand the nature and capacity of his act; or

(2) Appreciate that his conduct was wrong, meaning not authorized by law.

6. If a defendant refuses to plead or if the court refuses to accept a plea of guilty or guilty but mentally ill or if a defendant corporation fails to appear, the court shall enter a plea of not guilty.

7. A defendant may not enter a plea of guilty or guilty but mentally ill pursuant to a plea bargain for an offense punishable as a felony for which:

(a) Probation is not allowed; or

(b) The maximum prison sentence is more than 10 years,

➥ unless the plea bargain is set forth in writing and signed by the defendant, the defendant's attorney, if he is represented by counsel, and the prosecuting attorney.

8. If the court accepts a plea of guilty but mentally ill pursuant to this section, the court shall cause, on a form prescribed by the Department of Public Safety, a record of that plea to be transmitted to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History along with a statement indicating that the record is being transmitted for inclusion in each appropriate database of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System.

(a) The defendant is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt of an offense;

(b) The defendant has established by a preponderance of the evidence that due to a disease or defect of the mind, he was mentally ill at the time of the commission of the offense; and

(c) The defendant has not established by a preponderance of the evidence that he is not guilty by reason of insanity pursuant to subsection 5 of NRS 174.035.

2. Except as otherwise provided by specific statute, a defendant who is found guilty but mentally ill is subject to the same criminal, civil and administrative penalties and procedures as a defendant who is found guilty.

3. If the trier of fact finds a defendant guilty but mentally ill pursuant to subsection 1, the court shall cause, on a form prescribed by the Department of Public Safety, a record of the finding to be transmitted to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History, along with a statement indicating that the record is being transmitted for inclusion in each appropriate database of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System.

(b) "National Instant Criminal Background Check System" has the meaning ascribed to it in section 6 of this act.

Sec. 3. NRS 175.539 is hereby amended to read as follows:

175.539 1. Where on a trial a defense of insanity is interposed by the defendant and he is acquitted by reason of that defense, the finding of the jury pending the judicial determination pursuant to subsection 2 has the same effect as if he were regularly adjudged insane, and the judge must:

(a) Order a peace officer to take the person into protective custody and transport him to a forensic facility for detention pending a hearing to determine his mental health;

(b) Order the examination of the person by two psychiatrists, two psychologists, or one psychiatrist and one psychologist who are employed by a division facility; and

3. The Administrator shall make the reports and the court shall proceed in the manner provided in NRS 178.467 to 178.471, inclusive.

4. If the court accepts a verdict acquitting a defendant by reason of insanity pursuant to this section, the court shall cause, on a form prescribed by the Department of Public Safety, a record of that verdict to be transmitted to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History, along with a statement indicating that the record is being transmitted for inclusion in each appropriate database of the National Instant Criminal Background Check System.

The order may include the involuntary administration of medication if appropriate for treatment to competency.

2. The defendant must be held in such custody until a court orders his release or until he is returned for trial or judgment as provided in NRS 178.450, 178.455 and 178.460.

3. If the court finds the defendant incompetent but not dangerous to himself or to society, and finds that commitment is not required for a determination of the defendant's ability to receive treatment to competency and to attain competence, the judge shall order the defendant to report to the Administrator or his designee as an outpatient for treatment, if it might be beneficial, and for a determination of his ability to receive treatment to competency and to attain competence. The court may require the defendant to give bail for his periodic appearances before the Administrator or his designee.

4. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 5, proceedings against the defendant must be suspended until the Administrator or his designee or, if the defendant is charged with a misdemeanor, the judge finds him capable of standing trial or opposing pronouncement of judgment as provided in NRS 178.400.

5. No new charge arising out of the same circumstances may be brought after a period, equal to the maximum time allowed by law for commencing a criminal action for the crime with which the defendant was charged, has lapsed since the date of the alleged offense.

Conference Amendment No. CA3.

AN ACT relating to health care; revising provisions governing the retention and destruction of health care records; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 1 of this bill requires that certain boards post a statement on their Internet websites that the health care records of patients who are less than 23 years of age may not be destroyed and that the health care records of other patients may be destroyed after 5 years.

Existing law requires certain providers of health care, including pharmacists, to retain the health care records of patients for 5 years after their receipt or production. (NRS 629.051) Section 2 of this bill [~~,~~] provides that this requirement relating to the retention of records does not apply to pharmacists. Section 2 also: (1) requires that certain disclosures regarding destruction of records be provided to patients; (2) prohibits the destruction of health care records for a person who is less than 23 years of age until the person attains the age of 23 years; and (3) requires the State Board of Health to adopt regulations relating to the required disclosures.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 629 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

1. The State Board of Health and each board created pursuant to chapter 630, 630A, 631, 632, 633, 634, 634A, 635, 636, 637, 637A, 637B, 640, 640A, 640B, 640C, 641, 641A, 641B or 641C of NRS shall post on its website on the Internet, if any, a statement which discloses that:

(a) Pursuant to the provisions of subsection 7 of NRS 629.051:

(1) The health care records of a person who is less than 23 years of age may not be destroyed; and

(2) The health care records of a person who has attained the age of 23 years may be destroyed for those records which have been retained for at least 5 years or for any longer period provided by federal law; and

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection 7 of NRS 629.051 and unless a longer period is provided by federal law, the health care records of a patient who is 23 years of age or older may be destroyed after 5 years pursuant to subsection 1 of NRS 629.051.

2. The State Board of Health shall adopt regulations prescribing the contents of the statements required pursuant to this section.

Sec. 2. NRS 629.051 is hereby amended to read as follows:

629.051 1. Except as otherwise provided in ~~[subsection 7]~~ this section and in regulations adopted by the State Board of Health pursuant to NRS 652.135 with regard to the records of a medical laboratory ~~[.]~~ and unless a longer period is provided by federal law, each provider of health care shall retain the health care records of his patients as part of his regularly maintained records for 5 years after their receipt or production. Health care records may be retained in written form, or by microfilm or any other recognized form of size reduction, including, without limitation, microfiche, computer disc, magnetic tape and optical disc, which does not adversely affect their use for the purposes of NRS 629.061. Health care records may be created, authenticated and stored in a computer system which limits access to those records.

2. A provider of health care shall post, in a conspicuous place in each location at which the provider performs health care services, a sign which discloses to patients that their health care records may be destroyed after the period set forth in subsection 1.

3. When a provider of health care performs health care services for a patient for the first time, the provider of health care shall deliver to the patient a written statement which discloses to the patient that the health care records of the patient may be destroyed after the period set forth in subsection 1.

4. If a provider fails to deliver the written statement to the patient pursuant to subsection 3, the provider of health care shall deliver to the patient the written statement described in subsection 3 when the provider next performs health care services for the patient.

5. In addition to delivering a written statement pursuant to subsection 3 or 4, a provider of health care may deliver such a written statement to a patient at any other time.

6. A written statement delivered to a patient pursuant to this section may be included with other written information delivered to the patient by a provider of health care.

7. A provider of health care shall not destroy the health care records of a person who is less than 23 years of age on the date of the proposed destruction of the records. The health care records of a person who has attained the age of 23 years may be destroyed in accordance with this section for those records which have been retained for at least 5 years or for any longer period provided by federal law.

Conference Amendment No. CA4.

AN ACT relating to securities; revising the provisions governing the examination of certain records by the Administrator of the Securities Division of the Office of the Secretary of State; increasing the amount of certain civil penalties for certain violations relating to securities; revising the provisions governing recovery of the costs of investigation and prosecution of certain violations; authorizing the Department of Motor Vehicles to issue a driver's license to a criminal investigator employed by the Secretary of State who is engaged in an undercover investigation; making various other changes relating to securities; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 2 of this bill: (1) changes the name of the entity that administers examinations for a sales representative from the National Association of Securities Dealers to the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority; and (2) requires a sales representative to pass either the Uniform Investment Adviser Law Examination or the Uniform Combined State Law Examination and the General Securities Registered Representative Examination. (NRS 90.340)

Sections 3 and 4 of this bill make technical changes to include references to the Investment Adviser Registration Depository and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. (NRS 90.350)

Section 5 of this bill removes the requirement in existing law that the Administrator of the Securities Division of the Office of the Secretary of State must obtain authorization from the Attorney General or his designee to examine the records of a person issuing securities who is not licensed but is required to be licensed. (NRS 90.410)

Section 7 of this bill increases the civil penalty that the Administrator may impose for a willful violation of chapter 90 of NRS from $2,500 for a single violation and $100,000 for multiple violations to $25,000 for each violation. (NRS 90.630) Section 7 also authorizes the Administrator to order reimbursement for the costs of a proceeding to impose sanctions, including investigative costs and attorney's fees, rather than applying to a court for an order for reimbursement of such costs.

Section 7.5 of this bill increases the civil penalty that a district court may impose for a violation of chapter 90 of NRS from $2,500 for a single violation and $100,000 for multiple violations to $25,000 for each violation. (NRS 90.640)

Section 8 of this bill provides that a court may order a person who is convicted of a willful violation of a statute, a regulation or an order of the Administrator to pay the costs of investigation and prosecution incurred by the Division and the Office of the Attorney General. (NRS 90.650)

Section 9 of this bill provides that chapter 239A of NRS, which contains provisions regarding disclosure of financial records to governmental agencies, does not prohibit the Administrator from requesting of a financial institution, and the institution from responding to the request, as to whether a person has an account or accounts with that financial institution and, if so, any identifying numbers of the account or accounts. (NRS 239A.070)

Section 9.5 of this bill increases: (1) the period that the court may delay the notification of a customer that a subpoena for the financial records of the customer has been issued from 60 days to ~~[120]~~ 90 days; and (2) the period for any additional extension of such a delayed notification from 30 days to ~~[60]~~ 45 days. (NRS 239A.100)

Sections 10 and 11 of this bill authorize the Department of Motor Vehicles to issue a driver's license for purposes of identification only to a criminal investigator employed by the Secretary of State who is engaged in an undercover investigation. (NRS 483.340)

ASSEMBLY PROCEEDINGS 5809

THE ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTEENTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Saturday), May 30, 2009

Assembly called to order at 11:35 a.m.

Madam Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Terry Sullivan.

Let us pray. Well, Lord, since "Cowboy Hall of Fame" day is here, it would be only proper to ask You for a blessing for all the cowboys in the world and all their horses and their cow dogs and certainly their family and friends. And, I believe, Lord, that You know that in our hearts we're all cowboys here. And You also know that in this case the word cowboy is gender neutral. And I want to especially ask for You, Lord, to forgive those makers of the Third House, for as they say, "They know not what they do."

Please make these final few days as short and pleasant as possible and for sure, give us the ability to continue to think clearly as we have in the past. We ask for these blessings and other matters in Whose Name we pray.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Motion carried.

Assemblyman Anderson requested that his remarks be entered in the Journal.

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I move the Assembly concur in Senate Amendment No. 961 to Assembly Bill 65.

This bill continues to trouble me. The amendment deletes $20 of fees to be collected for legal services. This is a very important piece of legislation and an opportunity to keep the judiciary alive and fund several different court functions. The concern that I have remains with this bill—I want to keep it very clear for the record—it sets the Judicial Branch of government adrift on the river by itself with no need to come to either this body or to the local county commissions in order to fulfill the physical need for their buildings, plans, and marshals. That concerns me because I think the operation of government works best when there is an interrelationship between all three branches and each is treated with respect.

I think, however, the bill carries, during these economic times, the opportunity to at least help the courts over a short period of time and the needed expansion in several counties. White Pine should get some help from this and the Second and Eighth Judicial Districts—Washoe and Clark Counties—with the need for extra judges which may be supported with this piece of legislation.

The need for judges is truly there. I have a real difficultly, however, in having the county commissions be responsible and the local taxpayer carry the burden of the court system, and I think that this is a mistake. However, I think the other is an overriding feature and needs to be supported. I am going to ask my colleagues to concur in this amendment.

Conference Amendment No. 10.

AN ACT relating to crimes; revising provisions relating to the crime of stalking; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law prohibits stalking and authorizes the issuance of a temporary or extended order restricting certain conduct related to the crime of stalking, aggravated stalking or harassment. (NRS 200.575, 200.591) ~~[This bill adds]~~ Section 1 of this bill includes within the definition of the crime of stalking a course of conduct which would cause a reasonable person to feel fearful for the immediate safety of a member of the person's family or household and which actually causes a victim to feel such fear. Sections 1, 3 and 4 of this bill add text messaging to the existing crime of stalking with the use of a communication device, which is punishable as a category C felony.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. NRS 200.575 is hereby amended to read as follows:

200.575 1. A person who, without lawful authority, willfully or maliciously engages in a course of conduct that would cause a reasonable person to feel terrorized, frightened, intimidated , ~~[or]~~ harassed , ~~[,]~~ or fearful for the immediate safety of a family or household member, and that actually causes the victim to feel terrorized, frightened, intimidated , ~~[or]~~ harassed ~~[,]~~ or fearful for the immediate safety of a family or household member, commits the crime of stalking. A person who commits the crime of stalking and in conjunction therewith threatens the person with the intent to cause him to be placed in reasonable fear of death or substantial bodily harm commits the crime of aggravated stalking. A person who commits the crime of aggravated stalking shall be punished for a category B felony by imprisonment in the state prison for a minimum term of not less than 2 years and a maximum term of not more than 15 years, and may be further punished by a fine of not more than $5,000.

3. A person who commits the crime of stalking with the use of an Internet or network site , ~~[or]~~ electronic mail , text messaging or any other similar means of communication to publish, display or distribute information in a manner that substantially increases the risk of harm or violence to the victim shall be punished for a category C felony as provided in NRS 193.130.

4. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of NRS 200.571, a criminal penalty provided for in this section may be imposed in addition to any penalty that may be imposed for any other criminal offense arising from the same conduct or for any contempt of court arising from the same conduct.

5. The penalties provided in this section do not preclude the victim from seeking any other legal remedy available.

(2) The activities of a reporter, photographer, cameraman or other person while gathering information for communication to the public if that person is employed or engaged by or has contracted with a newspaper, periodical, press association or radio or television station and is acting solely within that professional capacity.

(3) The activities of a person that are carried out in the normal course of his lawful employment.

(4) Any activities carried out in the exercise of the constitutionally protected rights of freedom of speech and assembly.

Sec. 2. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 3. NRS 176A.413 is hereby amended to read as follows:

176A.413 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, if a defendant is convicted of stalking with the use of an Internet or network site, ~~[or]~~ electronic mail , text messaging or any other similar means of communication pursuant to subsection 3 of NRS 200.575, an offense involving pornography and a minor pursuant to NRS 200.710 to 200.730, inclusive, or luring a child or a person with mental illness through the use of a computer, system or network pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection 4 of NRS 201.560 and the court grants probation or suspends the sentence, the court shall, in addition to any other condition ordered pursuant to NRS 176A.400, order as a condition of probation or suspension that the defendant not own or use a computer, including, without limitation, use electronic mail, a chat room or the Internet.

2. The court is not required to impose a condition of probation or suspension of sentence set forth in subsection 1 if the court finds that:

(a) The use of a computer by the defendant will assist a law enforcement agency or officer in a criminal investigation;

(b) The defendant will use the computer to provide technological training concerning technology of which the defendant has a unique knowledge; or

(c) The use of the computer by the defendant will assist companies that require the use of the specific technological knowledge of the defendant that is unique and is otherwise unavailable to the company.

3. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 1, if a defendant is convicted of an offense that involved the use of a computer, system or network and the court grants probation or suspends the sentence, the court may, in addition to any other condition ordered pursuant to NRS 176A.400, order as a condition of probation or suspension that the defendant not own or use a computer, including, without limitation, use electronic mail, a chat room or the Internet.

4. As used in this section:

Sec. 4. NRS 213.1258 is hereby amended to read as follows:

213.1258 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, if the Board releases on parole a prisoner convicted of stalking with the use of an Internet or network site , ~~[or]~~ electronic mail , text messaging or any other similar means of communication pursuant to subsection 3 of NRS 200.575, an offense involving pornography and a minor pursuant to NRS 200.710 to 200.730, inclusive, or luring a child or a person with mental illness through the use of a computer, system or network pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection 4 of NRS 201.560, the Board shall, in addition to any other condition of parole, require as a condition of parole that the parolee not own or use a computer, including, without limitation, use electronic mail, a chat room or the Internet.

2. The Board is not required to impose a condition of parole set forth in subsection 1 if the Board finds that:

(b) The parolee will use the computer to provide technological training concerning technology of which the defendant has a unique knowledge; or

(c) The use of the computer by the parolee will assist companies that require the use of the specific technological knowledge of the parolee that is unique and is otherwise unavailable to the company.

THE HONORABLE BARBARA BUCKLEY, Speaker of the Assembly, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Assembly Bill No. 22 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 22, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to trade practices; providing that certain persons may bring a civil action for various deceptive trade practices or other violations; providing that various actions related to certain persons with an inability to reasonably protect their rights or interests constitute a deceptive trade practice; allowing equitable relief for certain actions related to consumer fraud; revising provisions governing the State's system for the registration and protection of trademarks, trade names and service marks; making various changes regarding administration of the system by the Secretary of State; authorizing the Secretary of State to prescribe certain fees; prohibiting certain misleading and deceptive practices; providing remedies and penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 22 relates to deceptive trade practices. Although protecting consumers is a noble goal, this bill fundamentally alters the existing laws pertaining to deceptive trade practices in Nevada. For example, Assembly Bill 22 creates a private right of action for deceptive trade practices but shifts the traditional burden of proof in civil litigation. This would require the entity accused of a deceptive trade practice to prove their innocence, rather than requiring the accusing party to prove their case. Such a shift sets a dangerous precedent by altering the time-honored tradition of requiring a plaintiff to establish wrongdoing.

Additionally, this shift will dramatically increase the cost and frequency of litigation, particularly to defendants subject to these types of cases. For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 22.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Assembly Bill No. 25 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 25, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to motor vehicles; prohibiting the waiver of certain examinations of applicants for a Nevada driver's license who are licensed in another jurisdiction but have not attained 21 years of age; providing an exception; establishing fees for the administration of certain examinations for noncommercial drivers' licenses; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 25 would lower the age threshold from 25 to 21 years old to receive an exemption from testing requirements when a new Nevada resident receives a driver's license and already possesses a valid license from another state. This change is appropriate. Unfortunately, this bill also imposes a new $25 fee for administering examinations for driver's licenses in the State of Nevada. It also imposes a new $10 fee for subsequent examinations to the same person. This would nearly triple the cost of a driver's license for a senior citizen in Nevada, and more than double the cost to someone under the age of 65.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 25.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 119 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 119, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to planning; requiring the comprehensive regional plan in certain counties to include provisions concerning the sustainability of certain water resources; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill makes changes to regional planning in Washoe County with respect to water use. Regional planning in Washoe County is handled by the Regional Planning Commission and its Governing Board, both of which are composed of various local government officials. Existing law mandates that regional planning in Washoe County address various aspects of conservation, including the use and protection of water resources. NRS § 278.0274(2). Moreover, regional planning must address the availability of natural resources, including water, before approving any expanded development. NRS § 278.0274(4). Assembly Bill 119 is redundant and unnecessary as current law already limits development in areas that do not have adequate water resources. Furthermore, the Regional Planning Commission and its Governing Board, as bodies of local government, are the entities that are best equipped to represent the citizens of Washoe County and make determinations on responsible expansion of development and the resulting impact on limited water resources. Regional planning should be handled by local governments, who are the most knowledgeable with respect to local planning. Assembly Bill 119 represents an unnecessary intrusion into a well-established regional planning program.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 119.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 121 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 121, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to health care facilities; requiring certain hospitals in larger counties to establish a staffing committee; requiring certain health care facilities to make available to the Health Division of the Department of Health and Human Services a documented staffing plan: and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill mandates that each hospital in larger counties form a staffing committee to establish a staffing plan that addresses certain items such as nurse staffing ratios. A hospital's license to operate is conditioned on the submission of such a staffing plan.

Although Assembly Bill 121 purports to address hospital staffing needs to ensure adequate patient care, the bill instead unnecessarily legislates in an area that should be addressed by medical professionals and health care management. Assembly Bill 121 could dramatically increase the costs of health care without a corresponding increase in levels and quality of service.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 121.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 135 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 135, which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to state obligations; requiring the State Treasurer to review and the State Board of Finance to approve certain state financial obligations before the obligations are issued or incurred; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 135 would require any state agency or department issuing financial obligations to review the proposal with the State Treasurer and require the State Treasurer to issue a written report on the proposed obligations. This legislation provides an additional, unnecessary layer of government bureaucracy. While the goal of requiring additional review of certain government financial transactions is well intentioned, Assembly Bill 135 will likely have unintended consequences. For example, this bill will impede certain state agencies' ability to negotiate public-private partnerships for various projects. Also, the legislation is unclear as to the role the State Treasurer would play when the state enters into a design-build infrastructure project. These are critical contracts ensuring the taxpayers receive quality infrastructure at the best price possible, and I worry this legislation would restrict the state's ability to enter into such contracts.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 135.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 141 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 141, which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to mortgage lending; establishing a recovery fund for persons defrauded by mortgage brokers, mortgage agents or mortgage bankers; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 141 would create the Mortgage Education, Research and Recovery Fund to assist people defrauded by mortgage brokers, mortgage agents or mortgage bankers.

The collapse of the housing market in Nevada and nationally was clearly the first of many breakdowns in our economy that have led to our current fiscal struggles. Much of this collapse, however, was not due to fraud, but rather to poor lending practices within the scope of legal authority.

As such, I have signed Assembly Bill 149 and Assembly Bill 152 that came out of the 75th Legislative Session. These bills provide ample regulation pertaining to loans, as well as mediation for distressed homeowners. Although Assembly Bill 141 has laudable goals for the protection of consumers against fraudulent business activities, remedies are still available to victims through the court system, and the additional fees included in this legislation did not have the support of the industry.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 141.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 147 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 147, which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to purchasing by local governments; requiring local governments, under certain circumstances, to grant a preference to local bidders bidding on certain contracts for goods or services for a temporary period; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 147 would require local governments to spend more money on public works and other contracts by giving a 5 percent preference to local companies. While there is a justifiable interest in promoting local companies to support our economy and help local workers, Nevada's local governments will be hard pressed to meet this additional fiscal burden on contracting. During this difficult economic time for the state and local governments, it's not appropriate to place this burden on local governments in this way.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 147.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 246 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 246 which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to wildlife; providing for the issuance of an apprentice hunting license; prohibiting an apprentice hunter from hunting in this State unless he is accompanied and directly supervised by a mentor hunter; providing an exception from requirements concerning the completion of a course in the responsibilities of hunters; requiring the Board of Wildlife Commissioners to establish a program for the issuance of additional big game tags to be known as "Dream Tags" authorizing the Board to establish an additional kind of drawing for the existing allotment of big game tags and wild turkey tags; providing a penalty; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 246 would do several things, including create an apprentice hunting license, create the Silver State Tag Drawing program and establish a Dream Tag program to help aid wildlife and habitat conservation and restoration. These are all sound programs as concepts, and I support their general intent.

Unfortunately, I cannot endorse the unnecessary, burdensome structure created to implement the Dream Tag program. I am particularly concerned with the fact that the Dream Tag program would be administered by a specific non-profit corporation. I believe the Nevada Board of Wildlife Commissioners should have the flexibility to determine the best entity to administer the program. Assembly Bill 246 also creates an Advisory Committee to administer the funds generated by the Dream Tag Program. Again, I believe the Nevada Board of Wildlife Commissioners should have the authority to determine the best use of the avenues from the program. I am also concerned that adequate audits and oversight will not be utilized for the Advisory Committee, whereas the Board of Wildlife Commissioners and the Department of Wildfire are subject to routine audits. If these defects had been addressed in Assembly Bill 246, I would have been proud to sign the bill into law. However, the lack of flexibility and oversight in this bill, combined with unnecessary bureaucracy, has precluded my support.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 246.

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 267, which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to the taxation of property; requiring certain golf courses assessed as open-space real property to be designated as open-space real property under applicable zoning ordinances; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 267 is a bill that relates to the property tax assessment of golf courses. Under existing law, golf courses are assessed for property tax purposes as open-space real property. This bill does not change the existing tax assessment for most golf courses. However, it appears to target one particular business. It is bad public policy to enact legislation that singles out individual businesses.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 304 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 304, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to development; making various changes pertaining to the preservation of historic neighborhoods; revising certain provisions concerning the Southern Nevada Enterprise Community; requiring the City of Las Vegas and the Nevada Department of Transportation to cooperate to reopen a certain street; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 304 would force the Nevada Department of Transportation, the City of Las Vegas and the Southern Nevada Regional Transportation Commission to design and construct a grade separation to open F Street in Las Vegas.

It is estimated that the total cost of this design and construction project could approach $70 million. Of that, $20 million is required from the City of Las Vegas. The bill states that "the Nevada Department of Transportation shall work with the City of Las Vegas to seek other sources for the remaining portion of the construction costs based on the bridge design documents, including federal funding or additional revenue enhancements provided by the Nevada Department of Transportation."[emphasis added] This mandate upon the state to find the funding could easily result in an additional tax levy to fund this project.

Aside from the cost and mandate upon local government, this bill dictates the construction of a project without going through the project prioritization process as approved by the 2007 Legislature. NDOT is required to prioritize projects based on a cost benefit ratio and work with the local Regional Transportation Commissions and local agencies. This project should go through the normal process outlined in state law.

The Interstate 15 widening project has been ongoing for more than a decade. The project went through the normal process of public hearings and public notifications prior to the start of construction, as well as the City of Las Vegas public process to modify its master plan to close F Street. Additionally, the project was approved in a public meeting by the Nevada Board of Transportation with F Street being closed. It is counterintuitive to add up to $70 million to the cost of this project now after it had been fully vetted, approved and built.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 304.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 307 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 307, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to property taxes; revising provisions governing the publication of certain information relating to property taxes for counties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 307 would eliminate the long-standing requirement that the secured tax roll of each county be published annually in newspapers of general circulation and instead allow for the information to be made available through the Internet.

This change poses several potential problems and could very well restrict access to this vital information for some members of the public. While the Internet is obviously a very popular communications medium and is readily accessible in urban areas, there are large portions of Nevada's rural areas where Internet access is not available or available only in dial-up form. This would make it particularly difficult for citizens in these areas to access this information. Levels of Internet use also vary greatly based on race and income levels. Overall, I believe that putting this information exclusively online would restrict access for certain populations, rather than enhance it.

As can easily been seen in the ongoing dispute between residents of Incline Village and the Washoe County government, property assessment and taxation remains an issue that's important to the people of Nevada. As such, providing that information to them, rather than forcing them to seek it out, remains the preferable manner of public disclosure. The continued publishing of these rolls in newspapers of general circulation is the best way to accomplish this noble goal.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 307.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 319 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 319, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to education; prescribing certain rights for school employees; revising provisions relating to certain licensed employees who are reinstated after dismissal from employment; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 319 would implement a new procedure a school administrator would be forced to follow if he or she wanted to have a meeting with a school employee when that meeting may result in disciplinary action against the employee.

In an environment where school administrators are required to deal with a myriad of issues on a daily basis, creating a burdensome process for launching even the most preliminary inquiry into an allegation against an employee is unnecessary and would make it even more difficult for administrators to take the control of their schools necessary to ensure student success.

Requiring a 48-hour waiting period before any meeting could be held is also troubling. If someone had willingly done something inappropriate, giving that person a 48-hour window to "get their story straight" would seriously hinder any investigation that's necessary. It also establishes a barrier for an employee who would want to stand up and vigorously defend themselves against erroneous allegations, which also occur in school environments.

A 48-hour noticing requirement also removes any flexibility an administrator possesses to handle problems as they arise in their school, and more significantly, nip in the bud any problems before they escalate into larger and more cumbersome situations that expose the school to greater potential risk and liability.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 319.

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 381, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to trade practices; making provisions in certain contracts that require arbitration void and unenforceable under certain circumstances; requiring certain disclosures by arbitral organizations; requiring certain disclosures in agreements to arbitrate; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 381 changes the well-established practice in Nevada favoring the use of alternate dispute resolution procedures that allows the parties to a contract agree on a private, nonjudicial forum for the resolution of disputes.

Not only will this bill potentially affect existing contracts, but it will also likely force many disputes into our already overburdened judicial system when they could have been resolved through arbitration under existing law. This will drive up costs for all litigants and extend the length of disputes.

Overall, I believe this legislation makes unnecessary changes to a system that currently works as designed.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 381.

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

> AN ACT relating to state financial administration; revising certain requirements for the proposed budget of the Executive Department of the State Government; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 446 would change the depth and scope of the performance measures contained within the Executive Budget the Governor delivers to the Legislature prior to each biennial session.

The budgetary methods used in evaluating the performance of state government need improvement, and this legislation would work to that end if the Department of Administration was given the tools necessary to implement the bill as it was intended. Unfortunately, the Department's fiscal note was ignored when the Legislature approved this bill and no appropriation was made to implement the requirements of this legislation. As such, I do not believe the Department of Administration could reasonably fulfill the requirements of the law with the spirit in which the bill is intended.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 446.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 458 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 458, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to public financial administration; creating the K-12 Public Education Stabilization Account; reallocating money reverted from the State Distributive School Account; revising the provisions governing certain tax abatements and credits available for economic development; reallocating a portion of the property taxes levied on property in a redevelopment area; revising the provisions requiring certain redevelopment agencies to set aside revenue for low-income housing; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 458 is based on the laudable goal of creating a specific rainy day fund for K-12 education in Nevada. I agree that such a fund should be created. However, I disapprove of this bill because it does not create similar funds for other areas of state government. I proposed Assembly Bill 520, which would have created stabilization funds for not only K-12 education, but also for Higher Education, Health and Human Services and for general government services. I am disappointed that Assembly Bill 520 received only token attention from the Legislature. Because I feel that Assembly Bill 458 is not broad enough to adequately protect other areas of state government, I cannot approve this bill.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 458.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Assembly Bill No. 463 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 463, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to governmental administration; restricting a department, division or other agency of this State from employing a person as a consultant; providing certain exceptions; requiring certain entities to submit to the Interim Finance Committee a report concerning each consultant employed by the entity; requiring that contracts with temporary employment services be awarded by open competitive bidding; requiring that information concerning the use of consultants and temporary employment services be included and explained in the budget process by a state agency; requiring the Legislative Auditor to conduct an audit concerning the use of contracts with consultants by state agencies; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 463 would restrict state government's ability to hire consultants, including former state employees who now work in the private sector. While it is important to ensure there are strong protections against double dipping by state employees, this bill has two major problems.

First, granting the Legislative Branch of government, through the Interim Finance Committee, the right to oversee, approve or reject employment in the Executive Branch of government is an unwarranted encroachment on the autonomy of the Executive Branch and flies in the face of the separation of powers doctrine within the Nevada Constitution.

In addition, this bill appears to only impose these employment restrictions only on the Executive Branch of government. If there is something improper about hiring consultants or former state employees serving as consultants, this policy should apply to all areas of government, including the Legislature and the Nevada System of Higher Education.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 463.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 467 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 467, which is entitled:

AN ACT relating to governmental financial administration; revising provisions relating to the prevailing wage requirements; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 467 would expand prevailing wage requirements for lease-purchase and installment-purchase agreements entered into by local governments. This legislation will have a significant impact on local governments, driving up the overall cost of entering into lease-purchase or installment-purchase agreements. It also will significantly increase the amount of staff time and expense in implementing the prevailing wage requirements. Washoe County, for example, submitted that including prevailing wage requirements increases the overall cost of a project by 10 percent to 18 percent. Also, prevailing wage requirements consume between 25 percent and 50 percent of a project manager's time. And while this Legislature has reallocated revenues from the counties to the state help balance the budget, this bill asks for the counties, other local govemn1ents and, by extension, taxpayers, to pay above market rate for infrastructure acquired in lease-purchase or installment-purchase.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 467.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 473 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 473, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to prisons; requiring the Department of Corrections to adopt regulations relating to medical emergencies and the provision of medical and dental services to prisoners; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill purports to impose certain requirements on the Director of the Department of Corrections with respect to medical treatment for inmates. In reality, the additional requirements set forth in this bill are already encompassed within existing law.

For example, the bill requires the Director to establish regulations governing staff training in medical emergency response and reporting. However, existing law already requires the Director to take "proper measures to protect the health and safety of staff and offenders in the institutions and facilities of the Department." NRS § 209.131 (7). The bill also requires the Director to maintain an inventory of essential medical and dental equipment at each institution or facility. However, the Director is already required to establish standards for personal hygiene of offenders as well as standards for medical and dental services at each institution and facility. NRS § 209.381(2).

Furthermore, the head of the Department of Corrections is the Board of Prison Commissioners. NRS § 209.101(2). The Board of Prison Commissioners is authorized to promulgate any necessary regulations to carry on the business of the Department of Corrections. NRS § 209.111(3). Pursuant to this global authority, the Board of Prison Commissioners is already authorized to enact any of the requirements set forth in Assembly Bill 473, should it deem fit to do so. In sum, Assembly Bill 473 is redundant and unnecessary legislation.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 473.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS

RE: Assembly Bill No. 491 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 491, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to civil actions; providing that a certain amount of money held in a bank that is likely to be exempt from execution is not subject to a writ of execution or garnishment; providing a procedure to execute on property held in a safe-deposit box; revising the procedure for claiming an exemption from execution on certain property; making various other changes to provisions governing writs of execution, attachment and garnishment; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 491 would put up additional barriers to small businesses collecting debts legitimately owed to them. Nevada's laws already provide strong protections for debtors, and the average rate of debt collection in Nevada is about 20 percent. Making the "wildcard exemption" of $1,000 automatic instead of requiring the debtor for file for the exemption will make it even more burdensome for businesses to collect what is rightfully theirs.

Of additional concern is the effect this legislation could have on the already tight credit market. Debtors already have many protections from collectors, including 75 percent of their weekly wages, the existing "wildcard exemption" and many personal items, among other protections. Putting up additional barriers to creditors collecting their debts could lead to further restrictions on lending and hinder economic activity in Nevada.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 491.

RE: Assembly Bill No. 493 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 493, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to public retirement systems; requiring the Public Employees' Retirement Board to identify and report concerning investments of money from the Public Employees' Retirement System in certain scrutinized companies with certain business activities or connections to Iran's petroleum sector; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Assembly Bill 493 is a bill that relates to the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS). PERS is a constitutionally created trust fund. It is administered by a board of trustees for the benefit of its members and beneficiaries. In 1996, the voters of Nevada approved an amendment to the Nevada Constitution that effectively prohibits the PERS Retirement Board from basing its investment decisions on social policies, no matter how admirable.

This bill requires the PERS board to study and identify certain investments in companies that transact business with the country of Iran. Due to the constitutional issues, the finding of this study, or any study of this nature, cannot impact the investment strategy with respect to funds invested on behalf of the PERS Board. Simply put, this study is not necessary.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 493.

3. As used in this section, "salvage vehicle" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 487.770.

Sec. 32. NRS 487.600 is hereby amended to read as follows:

487.600 As used in NRS 487.600 to ~~[487.690,]~~ 487.687, inclusive, unless the context otherwise requires, the words and terms defined in NRS ~~[487.602]~~ 487.604 to 487.608, inclusive, have the meanings ascribed to them in those sections.

2. The bond may be continuous in form and the total aggregate liability on the bond must be limited to the payment of the total amount of the bond.

3. (b) A statement signed by the person under whose name the deposit is made and acknowledged before any person authorized to take acknowledgments in this State, requesting the Director to release the deposit, or a specified portion thereof, and stating the purpose for which the release is requested.

6. When a deposit is made pursuant to subsection 4, liability under the deposit is in the amount prescribed by the Department. If the amount of the deposit is reduced or there is an outstanding judgment of a court for which the licensee is liable under the deposit, the license is automatically suspended. The license must be reinstated if the licensee:

(a) Files an additional bond pursuant to subsection 1;

(b) Restores the deposit with the Department to the original amount required under this section; or

(c) Satisfies the outstanding judgment for which he is liable under the deposit.

7. A deposit made pursuant to subsection 4 may be refunded:

(a) By order of the Director, 3 years after the date the licensee ceases to be licensed by the Department, if the Director is satisfied that there are no outstanding claims against the deposit; or

(b) By order of court, at any time within 3 years after the date the licensee ceases to be licensed by the Department, upon evidence satisfactory to the court that there are no outstanding claims against the deposit.

2. 2. At the time of application for registration, the applicant must pay to the Division an administrative fee of $25 and deposit the required security with the Division.

3. Upon receipt of the security in the proper form and the payment of the administrative fee required by this section, the Division shall issue a certificate of registration to the applicant. A certificate of registration:

(a) Is not transferable or assignable; and

(b) Expires 1 year after it is issued.

4. A registrant must renew a certificate of registration issued pursuant to this section before the certificate expires by submitting to the Division an application for the renewal of the certificate on a form prescribed by the Division.

Sec. 35.3. 1. Each registrant shall deposit with the Division:

(c) A certificate of deposit in a financial institution which is doing business in this State and which is federally insured or insured by a private insurer approved pursuant to NRS 678.755. The certificate of deposit may be withdrawn only on the order of the Commissioner, except that the interest may accrue to the registrant.

2. The term of the bond, letter of credit or certificate of deposit, or any renewal thereof, must be not less than 1 year.

3. If the registrant deposits a bond, the registrant shall keep accurate records of the bond and the payments made on the premium. If the registrant changes the form of the security, the Commissioner may retain for not more than 1 year any portion of the security previously deposited by the registrant as security for claims arising during the time the previous security was in effect.

6. If the amount of the deposited security falls below the amount required by this section, NRS 598.840 to 598.930, inclusive, and sections 35.2, 35.4 and 35.5 of this act for that security, the registrant shall be deemed not to be registered as required by section 35.2 of this act for the purposes of this section, NRS 598.840 to 598.930, inclusive, and sections 35.2, 35.4 and 35.5 of this act.

If the registrant has posted a bond with the Division, the surety is then relieved of all liability under the bond.

4. The Division may, in lieu of bringing an action for interpleader pursuant to subsection 3, conduct a hearing to determine the distribution of the security to claimants. The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Atkinson and Stewart.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

I see this as commonsense legislation. Our citizens are failing the written exam at a rate of 54 percent in some areas. One of our offices in southern Nevada, which is the most populated office in the state, where 250,000 people took the exam for their first try, and 130,000 of them failed it. I think one of the issues is there is no accountability. We have recently seen that a lot of states—and in the West—have implemented a fee for taking the written and behind-the-wheel tests. They were in the same predicament as our state; they saw increased lines, they saw wait times to take these exams and retake these exams weeks out. Currently our DMV tells us those times are a couple of weeks. If someone is attempting to get a driver's license or take the exam, they have to wait weeks to get on that schedule because of the people that are taking the exam and retaking the exam instead of studying for it. Those states have seen those numbers dramatically change because with a fee, there is accountability.

We heard testimony in the Transportation Committee when this bill was first heard, and I think the numbers are staggering. There is no doubt in my mind why it passed this house 40 to 2 the first time; it is because most people saw that. We are hopeful that the fees will change peoples' behavior when taking this exam in our state. The Chief Clerk read that one of the reasons for not signing this bill into law was it would nearly triple the cost of drivers' licenses for seniors in Nevada. Let me tell you that seniors already have a driver's license so this doesn't affect them, and I do not see very many seniors going in at the age of 65 and getting a driver's license for the first time. The bill does not affect them, but it will affect our kids who need to take the exam for the first time, and it will make them a little more accountable.

The bill does three things in my opinion. It decreases the wait time to take an exam at the DMV. It also increases our Highway Fund. I do not think there is any secret to this Chamber or to this state that our Highway Fund can use all the help it can get. A lot of these dollars will go to the Highway Fund. As we know, the DMV has a 22 percent cap, so some of it will remain with the DMV to improve services, and the other will go to the Highway Fund. We will be able to bond with those funds and create some much needed capital to repair our roads. So with the indulgence of the body, I urge an aye vote to override the veto so we can get our DMV in order. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of this bill. As a senior who has a driver's license and who likes to ride on smooth roads I support this bill. Thank you.

Remarks by Assemblyman Conklin.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of the override. I have reviewed the Governor's comments in his report, which everyone has in front of them. This is the Mortgage Education, Research and Recovery Fund that assists people who are defrauded by mortgage brokers, agents, and bankers. According to the Governor, our current collapse is a result of poor lending practices, not fraud, and we have other bills to deal with that. And he is right. However, for the last four years, I have been working on mortgage lending issues. Many of you who sat in Commerce and Labor last session heard testimony after testimony about how Nevada ranked in the top ten states nationally, top five by the FBI for mortgage lending fraud, and that pattern exists today. In fact, we see over a 400 percent increase in mortgage fraud, according to the FBI which reported those statistics on the 28th of this month. This is not about the collapse and what has happened behind us; this is about taking a step forward and making sure that it doesn't happen again, and if it does happen, there is something for people who are left with nothing. I urge your support.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblymen Buckley and Denis.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker pro Tempore. Assembly Bill 458 establishes an education rainy day fund. The last two years have been brutal on our schools. Last session we debated ways to improve student achievement and decided on ways to achieve that. We enacted measures such as pay for performance, empowerment, full-day kindergarten for at-risk schools, funding for GATE, funding for career and technical education, funding for remediation to help our students. When the economy dipped, those programs were slashed. When the economy worsened, further cuts to our existing K-12 system happened; $173 million was taken from our schools, including $50 million in reduced textbook funding money. When the session began, the Governor proposed further cuts to K-12 education—$690 million; a proposed 6 percent salary cut; reductions in merit increases; reductions in the step increase for teachers who went back to school to get their graduate degree so they could become highly qualified; elimination of the one-fifth retirement credit; and the list goes on. The Legislature managed to restore some of these reductions, but there has got to be a better way. We have to have a rainy day fund so we are not slashing education when the economy is in trouble. Schools need stable funding. Students come to school when times are good and when times are bad. We have to stop taking money that is supposed to go to education and allowing it to be diverted for other causes. That is what Assembly Bill 458 does.

It is incomprehensible to me that the Governor would veto this bill. In his veto statement the Governor said he disapproves of the bill because it does not create similar funds for other areas of state government. That is because we did it in another bill. Assembly Bill 165 was enacted, which creates a stabilization fund for all government accounts. We created a separate rainy day fund for K-12 because of the unique way K-12 is financed. When sales tax is underestimated, the excess collections result in a surplus in the K-12 budget; right now that money reverts to the General Fund. When amounts are overestimated, the state makes up the difference. This education rainy fund would even out those cycles. The boom-and-bust cycle we experience in this state hurts us. It hurts our parents, it hurts our kids, it hurts our community, it hurts our state because it hurts our schools. We can do better. Our state deserves better. I urge your support to create an education rainy day fund in our state.

ASSEMBLYMAN DENIS:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker pro Tempore. I don't know that I need to add anything to that. Many of you know that I am the president of the Nevada Parent-Teacher Association and have been involved in trying to make education better here in Nevada for many, many years. As a parent with five kids, it is frustrating that every time we have a problem—we talk about education first. But what we tend to say in our advocacy circles—and when we talk to parents—is that usually means we are going to cut education first instead of really doing the right thing. I stand in support of this bill. It will do the right thing. It will help us get some stability so that when we put in place all these great programs that we advocate for—and that we have to cut every time we have a problem—we'll be able to continue to do those great programs and help our kids. This is really about our future and our children. Thank you.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Madam Speaker:

Your Committee on Ways and Means, to which was referred Senate Bill No. 418, has had the same under consideration, and begs leave to report the same back with the recommendation: Do pass.

MORSE ARBERRY JR., Chair

Assembly Bill No. 223.

The following Senate amendment was read:

Amendment No. 963.

AN ACT relating to state governmental procurement; establishing ~~[bidders' preferences]~~ a bidder's preference for local businesses ~~[and local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans]~~ with respect to state purchasing contracts; establishing ~~[bidders' preferences]~~ a bidder's preference for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans with respect to state public works contracts; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law, with respect only to contracts for public works for which the estimated cost exceeds $250,000, provides a mechanism by which a contractor who has paid certain taxes may earn a 5-percent preference in bidding on public works. (NRS 338.1389, 338.147, 338.1693, 338.1727) Sections 18-25 of this bill establish a limited preference in bidding on public works for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans. This new preference in bidding on public works does not overlap with the existing preference in bidding on public works because the new preference is limited to public works for which the estimated cost is $100,000 or less.

Under existing law, the State of Nevada imposes an inverse preference against a person who submits a bid or proposal on a state purchasing contract if that person is a resident of a state that denies a preference to bidders or contractors who are residents of this State. (NRS 333.336) Section 31 of this bill repeals that inverse preference.

In place of the former inverse preference, sections 5-13 of this bill establish ~~[two separate new preferences]~~ a 5-percent preference in bidding on state purchasing contracts ~~[: (1) section 10 adds a 5-percent preference]~~ for local businesses . ~~[; and (2) section 10 also adds a 7-percent preference for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans.]~~ Section 14 of this bill requires advertisements for bids or proposals to include notices of ~~[these]~~ this new ~~[preferences.]~~ preference.

Section 30 of this bill directs the Office of Veterans' Services to perform certain duties with respect to gathering information and making recommendations to the Legislative Commission concerning the ~~[preferences]~~ preference in bidding on public works for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans.

Conference Amendment No. CA5.

AN ACT relating to criminal offenders; revising provisions relating to the residential confinement of certain offenders; authorizing a court to provide for the forfeiture of credits for good behavior of a probationer under certain circumstances; revising provisions concerning certain credits to be applied to a period of probation or parole; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law provides that an offender who has been convicted of a category B felony is not eligible for residential confinement. Section 1 of this bill requires the standards adopted by the Director of the Department of Corrections concerning eligibility for residential confinement to provide that an offender who has been convicted of a category B felony is eligible for residential confinement if: (1) the offender is not otherwise ineligible for residential confinement; and (2) the Director makes a written finding that assigning the offender to residential confinement is not likely to pose a threat to the safety of the public. (NRS 209.392)

Existing law authorizes the State Board of Parole Commissioners to provide for the forfeiture of credits for good behavior of a parolee who violates a condition of his parole and, as appropriate, for the restoration of such credits. Section 4 of this bill authorizes a court to provide for the forfeiture of credits for good behavior of a probationer who violates a condition of his probation and, as appropriate, for the restoration of such credits.

Existing law provides that an offender who is sentenced to serve a period of probation for a felony and who demonstrates certain good behavior must be allowed certain deductions from his period of probation. Section 5 of this bill amends existing law to provide generally that a person who is sentenced to a period of probation for a felony or a gross misdemeanor and who is in compliance with the terms and conditions of his probation must be allowed a deduction from his period of probation of: (1) ten days for each month he serves and is current on any fee to defray the cost of his supervision and on any fines, fees and restitution ordered by the court; and (2) an additional 10 days for each month he serves and is actively involved in employment or enrolled in certain programs. (NRS 176A.500)

Existing law authorizes a court to order a probationer who violates a condition of his probation to a term of residential confinement and to direct the person to be confined, for not more than 6 months, to a community correctional center, conservation camp, facility of minimum security or other place of confinement operated by the Department of Corrections for the custody, care or training of offenders, other than a prison designed to house 125 or more offenders within a secure perimeter. Section 6 of this bill authorizes a court to direct such a person who was placed on probation for a felony conviction to be confined to any of those facilities and institutions, including a prison designed to house 125 or more offenders within a secure perimeter. Further, section 6 of this bill authorizes the Department of Corrections to select the facility or institution in which to place the person. (NRS 176A.660)

Section 3 of this bill amends chapter 213 of NRS, which governs parolees in a manner similar to section 6 of this bill. Section 3 provides that a parolee who is returned to confinement in a facility or institution of the Department of Corrections is authorized to earn credits to reduce his sentence pursuant to chapter 209 of NRS, with the exception of certain credits which are earned by an offender who is released on parole. (NRS 213.152)

Cowboy Hall of Fame

John "Boss" Carpenter

.....
Terry "Biscuit Roller" Sullivan

Assemblyman Hardy requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker, for allowing us to do the Cowboy Hall of Fame today. This is Cowboy Hall of Fame day. For a number of years, we have had this event. Wendell Williams and I started this, I don't know how many years ago, and when Wendell was no longer here, I recruited my cowboy friend, the "biscuit roller" Terry Sullivan, to help me carry on the tradition.

Today, we are going to have a few surprises, I hope and a few cute sayings, so with that, we are going to get going here. I do want to read the preamble to the Hall of Fame Proclamation that the lucky recipients will be receiving today.

> THE COWBOY WAY: Write it in your heart. Stand by the code and it will stand by you. Ask no more and give no less than honesty, courage, loyalty, generosity, and fairness . . .

This is the most important part—

> . . . and never forget your constituent's name;

With that, my cowboy friend, we'll present the first proclamation to some lucky recipient.

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our first inductee into the regular Cowboy Hall of Fame moved to Nevada, where he is doing his part to increase Washoe County's tax and voter base by having children two at a time.

> WHEREAS, David "Cleans up old Dumps" Bobzien was born in Washington D.C., is an Eagle Scout, was the Golden Pine Cone award recipient, and participated in 2 regular and 3 special sessions of the Nevada Legislature by following the cowboy rule of "Never kick a cow patty on a hot day"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

We've got some cowboy music to go with this. That's pretty nice. The next recipient is Ty Cobb.

> WHEREAS, Ty "Wanna' be a Politician" Cobb was born in Fort Belvoir, Virginia, published both Bragging Rights Over the Dow, Politics Should Be Played Hard, But Fair, and has served in the Nevada Assembly for 2 regular and 3 special sessions by following the cowboy rule of "More whiskey and fresh horses for my men"; . . .

I would just like to say that if only half the people that Mr. Cobb has had come to visit him here vote for him, he will be all right in the next election.

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our third inductee is a part-time chaplain for this body and is a cowboy who can walk by you and in less than five words leave you laughing.

> WHEREAS, Mo "Kids are Number 1" Denis graduated from Las Vegas Rancho High School, is an Eagle Scout and a Boulder Area District Award of Merit recipient, and has served his constituents since 2004 in 5 special sessions and 3 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "The quickest way to double your money is to fold it over"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

It is indeed my pleasure to announce the next recipient.

> WHEREAS, Heidi "A Fearless Leader and Real Lady" Gansert is a Reno native, graduating from Bishop Manogue High School, receiving an MBA from the University of Nevada, 4-time qualifier for the Boston Marathon, and serving her constituents for 3 regular sessions and 5 special sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Don't wake a sleeping rattler"; . . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our fifth inductee came to Nevada to address the calcium deficiency in our great state by providing some 30 percent of our milk and shipping huge amounts of cow manure to surrounding states, thus eliminating a lot of BS in Nevada.

> WHEREAS, Ed "My Cows Are Green" Goedhart shared being the valedictorian with his twin brother, Eric, in high school, represents the largest dairy in Nevada, and has served his constituents during 3 special sessions and 2 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Once given his goal, he'll be all over that like a chicken on a June bug"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

The next recipient is Don Gustavson.

> WHEREAS, "Mr. No Green Button" Gustavson was born in Culver City, California, educated at Western Nevada College, enjoys ballroom dancing, and being elected in 1996 through 2004 and then returning in 2008 served a total of 5 special and 5 regular sessions by following the cowboy way of "If you're gonna' drive cattle through town, do it on Sunday. There's little traffic, people are less disposed to cuss at ya', and you don't have to wear a helmet"; . . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our seventh inductee came to Nevada because it was the driest state he could find after spending his Navy life on the water.

> WHEREAS, Joe "Give Me the Gavel; I'm Here" Hogan served his country in the United States Navy, was educated through the Ft. Dodge, Iowa, public school system, and has served his constituents for 5 special sessions and 3 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Never joke with mules, cooks, or lobbyists as they have no sense of humor"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Our next recipient is Ruben "Country Gentleman" Kihuen.

> WHEREAS, Ruben "Country Gentleman" Kihuen, was born in Jalisco, Mexico, educated in Las Vegas at Rancho High School and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, enjoys movies and has served his district for 3 special sessions and 2 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Learn to speak kind words; nobody resents them"; . . .

Mr. Kihuen used to sit by me last session, and we used to have great conversations. Someday maybe he'll send me an invitation to his wedding.

TERRY SULLIVAN:

The ninth inductee into our Hall of Fame has been teaching the cowboy way to generations of Nevada youth.

> WHEREAS, Harvey "Tall Horse for the Urban Cowboy" Munford holds the record in basketball shooting percentage and blocked shots, drafted by the Los Angeles Lakers and the Los Angeles Rams, and has served his constituents for 5 special sessions and 3 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Size does matter; the bigger your belt buckle the better"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Mr. Munford asked me about three times a day if he was going to make the Cowboy Hall of Fame. He's a real cowboy. He showed me pictures of his horses, and I think he's the only guy who can get on them—they're so tall. Anyway, we do appreciate being able to put Harvey into the Hall of Fame; he does deserve it.

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Our eleventh inductee has earned his fame by being the son of someone really, really famous.

> WHEREAS, Tick "Stand Up Comedian with No Coat" Segerblom is a third generation Nevadan, son of Cowboy Hall of Famer Gene Segerblom, the Ruby Valley Gal, a graduate of Boulder City High School, coordinator of Dukakis for President, holder of the single season rushing record, and has served his constituents for 3 special sessions and 2 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "An onion can make people cry, but there's never been a vegetable than can make a person laugh"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
I believe that the next one will be James Settelmeyer.

> WHEREAS, James "Run of the Mill Cowboy" Settelmeyer was born in Carson City, Nevada, was educated in the Douglas County public school system, can ride a horse and talk at the same time, and has served his constituents for 3 special sessions and 2 regular sessions by following the cowboy law of "There's nothing better for a man's soul than bein' outside on a horse"; . . .

I don't know why he didn't wear his hat. He's always got his hat on. Maybe we ought to take that Cowboy Hall of Fame honor back because he didn't wear his hat.

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Next is the very proud Assistant Minority Leader and all-around gentleman who calls every woman he sees Diane.

> WHEREAS, Lynn "Politics is Like a Cattle Drive" Stewart was educated at Las Vegas High School and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, served his country in the United States Army during Vietnam, and has served his constituents for 3 special and 2 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Before you criticize someone, walk a mile in their boots. That way you're a mile away from 'em and you have their boots, too"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:
This is the happiest day of my life.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
I'm glad we made someone happy, anyway.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:
That's what he said when the bug bill passed.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
Maybe if our friend James is not feeling too well, we'll give him a special honor sometime during the day if he gets here.

This year, because this may or may not be the last Cowboy Hall of Fame, we thought we'd do something a little different and make sure those people who did serve in the Assembly will be honored. This part of the Cowboy Hall of Fame is for the tenderfoots—the wannabe cowboys. We'll start that part of our show right away, and Terry is going to do the first recipient.

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Our first greenhorn is a man who came west to herd cows, or at least that was in the back of his mind when common sense took over.

> WHEREAS, Paul "Mr. Higher Education" Aizley was born in Boston, but prefers Nevada because he can't even enjoy the views in New England because of all those trees, and served his constituents in the 2009 Nevada Legislature by following the cowboy rule of "The fastest way to move cattle is slowly"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
Our next recipient is Marilyn Dondero Loop.

WHEREAS, Marilyn "I Love the Rurals and Battle Mountain and I Understand Cowboy" Dondero Loop was born in Las Vegas, Nevada, graduated from Las Vegas High School and from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, award winner of "Leap Frog School House," and has served her constituents for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "Cowboy coffee ain't safe drinkin' and tea ain't the cowboy way"; . . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Our third greenhorn is another foreigner who traveled west because he wanted to patrol borders, and no one ever wanted to get into Minnesota.

WHEREAS, John "Keep the Girls off the Street and in the Houses" Hambrick was born in the other twin city of St. Paul, Minnesota, a graduate of the Border Patrol Academy, and serving his constituents for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "Scars are cowboy tattoos with better stories"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
You know if Senator Coffin would have gotten Mr. Hambrick on his bill, he may have had a better chance.
The next inductee into the Tenderfoot Cowboy Hall of Fame is April Mastroluca.

WHEREAS, April "Girl Scout Wanna' Be a Preacher" Mastroluca was born in Hayward, California, educated at Eldorado High School, could crochet a cowboy blanket, and has served her constituents for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "The shortest distance between two points is riding with a good friend"; . . .

Getting all these hugs from them pretty ladies makes it double important to do the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Our number five lucky-to-be-named greenhorn had already cleaned up crime in Illinois and California, so he came to Nevada to help the local yokels.

WHEREAS, Richard "Freeze! I'm F.B.I." McArthur served his country as a pilot during Vietnam, retiring from the F.B.I., and serving his district for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "Excuse me, sir, you're bleeding on my boots"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:
Our next inductee is Ellen.

WHEREAS, Ellen "Register that Damn Car" Spiegel was born in New York City, New York, author of numerous works, enjoys cooking, and has served her constituents for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "Forgive your enemies, just don't forget their names"; . . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:
Number seven being chosen for the Greenhorn Hall of Fame is already very special by being a native-born Nevadan and for always coming home from faraway places.

WHEREAS, Melissa "Give me $40, Daddy" Woodbury was educated at Boulder City High School, fluent in French, Spanish, and some English, has been to Africa, and has served her constituents for 1 special and 1 regular session by following the cowboy rule of "Never ask your Momma for money when your Daddy never says no."

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Now we are going to try and do something a little different if we are able to pull it off.

This is a special day for the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Every time I go over to the Senate to present a bill, they never give a damn about the bill—they just want to know why they haven't been inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. All of these esteemed Senators have served in the Assembly, so I felt it was only right that we should induct them into the Cowboy Hall of Fame so they will never have any regrets for serving in the Assembly. We're going to start, and my friend the biscuit roller will start the program.

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our first inductee to our Gone to the Senate Cowboy Hall of Fame brought fame to Carson City by being a member of the 1974 State Champion Basketball team from Carson High School and perfecting the art of the early departure.

WHEREAS, Mark "Show up and Leave the Speech Early King" Amodei was born in Carson City, graduated from Carson High and the University of Nevada, Reno, served his country as a Major in the United States Army, and has served his constituents for 9 special and 7 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "When in doubt, let your horse do the thinkin'"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

If I have a nice bill that I can't kill here, I send it over to the Senate and Senator Amodei makes sure it doesn't come back anymore.

The next inductee is Barbara Cegavske.

WHEREAS, Barbara "Teenage Driver's License Queen" Cegavske was born in Minnesota, attended Clark County Community College, has three pages on the legislative biography, and has served her constituents for 9 special and 7 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Put the pedal to the metal"; . . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Our third Gone to the Senate Greenhorn earned his place in the Cowboy Hall of Fame by his unceasing devotion to every special interest group in the state and bringing them all into ethical compliance.

WHEREAS, Warren "Ethics" Hardy was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, graduated from Rancho High School in North Las Vegas and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is a member of the LA Dodgers' Blue Crew, and has served his constituents for 7 special and 5 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Don't squat on your Spurs"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Our next inductee is John Lee.

WHEREAS, John "Bus Stop" Lee was born in Middlesex, England, wished he was born in Nevada, attended Rancho High School in North Las Vegas, is an Eagle Scout, has a Silver Beaver Award, and has served his constituents for 7 special and 6 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Don't worry, I've been in tighter spots than this"; . .

TERRY SULLIVAN:

The fifth member of this esteemed group is from a town that you have to be going to, to get there.

> Whereas, Mike "DJ for Country Music" McGinness is a native Nevadan from Fallon, educated in Churchill County schools and at the University of Nevada, Reno, has served his constituents for 10 special and 11 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Never give your horse more attention than your wife unless you like sleeping in the barn"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Mike has always been a great friend and a great rural guy.

The next recipient is Dennis Nolan.

> WHEREAS, Dennis "Buckle up Baby" Nolan is a native Nevadan from Las Vegas, educated at Clark High School, Southern Nevada Community College, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and is a paramedic, and has served his constituents for 9 special and 8 regular sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Ride 'em cowboy"; . . .

Dennis says we should have had a Shetland pony here for him.

TERRY SULLIVAN:

Now here's a cowboy that is a cowboy that has cowboyed around these halls forever.

> WHEREAS, Dean "Tuscarora Bull Rider" Rhoads was born in Tonasket, Washington, served in the National Guard, was educated at Cal Poly, and has served his constituents for 16 regular and 11 special sessions by following the cowboy rule of "The challenge is not always saying what you mean but to say it with as few words as possible"; . . .

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Our last recipient is Mike.

> Whereas, Mike "Give Me a Home Where the Buffalo Roam in a Gated Community" Schneider was born in McCook, Nebraska, was educated at Bishop Gorman High School in Las Vegas, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and has served his constituents for 9 regular and 9 special sessions by following the cowboy rule of "Never drink wine unless you're alone or with somebody."

I think we should give our esteemed Senators a round of applause. Thank you all for being here. We'll let the police escort you back.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Madam Speaker, I think there is one more proclamation here we have missed—if Mr. Grady will bring that forward.

I think all of us here understand and recognize that the big boss, John C, is about to give up this little rodeo we've got going here. With that, my sidekick and the third leg of the cowboy caucus here has a proclamation he'd like to read to him.

Assemblyman Grady requested that the following proclamation be entered in the Journal.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, cancer which results in temporary disability, permanent disability or death is an occupational disease and compensable as such under the provisions of chapter 617 of NRS if the cancer develops or manifests itself out of and in the course of employment of a person who, for 5 years or more, has been employed as a full-time firefighter or has been acting as a volunteer firefighter and who, during the course of the employment, was exposed to a known carcinogen that is reasonably associated with the disabling cancer. Existing law also sets forth a list of substances that shall be deemed to be known carcinogens that are reasonably associated with specific disabling cancers. (NRS 617.453) This bill ~~[provides that coverage for cancer as an occupational disease applies if a firefighter has been employed for 2 years or more. This bill also]~~ expands the list of substances which are deemed to be known carcinogens that are reasonably associated with specific disabling cancers. In addition, this bill requires each firefighter who is employed in this State in a full-time salaried occupation of fire fighting for the benefit or safety of the public and who qualifies for coverage for cancer as an occupational disease to submit to an annual physical examination . ~~[and]~~ This bill also requires the employer of the firefighter to pay for the physical examination.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

This session will be ending shortly—I don't predict when—but we know it will end for sure by tomorrow. I would like to speak about a matter of great importance to this body. We are going to be losing some of our members to term limits, and I thought it only appropriate to celebrate the service of some of our members who won't be returning. I'm not going to roast these members. Instead of speaking from sadness, I am going to speak as a celebration of their service. The members are a depository of so much institutional knowledge. We have Bernie Anderson, Morse Arberry, Harry Mortenson, Jerry Claborn, Mark Manendo, John Carpenter, Ellen Koivisto, Sheila Leslie, and Kathy McClain. They take with them a wealth of knowledge, talent, energy, and experience that will serve them in good stead wherever they next may go.

I am going to start with a couple of the members, and then maybe in the next floor session, we will continue on until we have talked about each one of them and what they've meant to Nevada.

I am going to start with Assemblyman Morse Arberry. "The Moose," Assemblyman "No Dough" Arberry, Assemblyman Morse Arberry—he's not only given 25 years of legislative service, he gave us all his hair! Now in his twenty-fifth year of legislative service, Morse Arberry has been an inspiration to me and so many others, combining a friendly, easygoing nature with incredible knowledge, compassion, and determination.

When I first arrived in 1995, Moose was already a ten-year veteran of the Legislature. That was our notable session where we were tied 21-21, Republican-Democratic control. I was fortunate enough to watch Moose share power with Assemblyman John Marvel. They did it as friends; they did it as colleagues. They were an inspiration to everyone else because they made it look easy to share power.

Moose has always been kind of a protective big brother to me. I think of all the things that really kind of sum Moose up. First, he's just so gentle. It doesn't mean you can't be tough, but we'll have a contentious hearing and we'll have witnesses out of control, and Moose will say, "My brother, just calm down a little bit." And no one takes offense because of the way he handles people. At the same time, though, Moose never forgets who elected him and who brought him here. He is always fighting for the underdog, whether it's the community colleges, minority issues, or creating opportunity for everyone in his district. He never forgets that and never forgets why he is here.

When I first started practicing law at Legal Aid, the first year all I did was evictions. Person after person would come into our office with an eviction notice, and it only took me a few days to realize the problem was they couldn't afford the rent because there wasn't enough affordable housing. If you are making $800 a month in social security, how are you going to afford a place to live when the average rent is $1,000? That is why most people were being evicted. Assemblyman Morse Arberry sponsored legislation to create Nevada's Account for Low-Income Housing, and I'll never forget that. It is probably one of the best pieces of legislation ever introduced, and as a result of that, thousands and thousands of units have been built around Nevada so that senior citizens have a place where they can live on their social security checks. Not many people even remember that now. They just see these units go up around the state. We have pictures of some of them coming a little later, so when you look at all these units and wonder what they are doing in this slide, it is because of Assemblyman Morse Arberry creating them for our state.

So here's a little bit about Moose for those of you who don't know him. He was born in Berkley, California, but grew up and spent most of his life in southern Nevada. He graduated from Western High School and earned a bachelor of science in engineering from Northern Arizona University. He worked for the City of Las Vegas for years in public works, engineering, building plans, and neighborhood services. In recent years, he has gone back to UNLV for business administration. He is the president and chief executive officer of a mortgage company in Las Vegas.

Moose asks me for legal advice every now and then, and it is always for someone else. It is always, "Hey, Barb, I have an employee, and they are just in a little bit of trouble." Or "I am getting somebody a mortgage, and they just have this bad thing on their credit report, and it wasn't their problem. How can I make it right for them? What can we do to help them?" He's always looking out for other people.

When he first arrived in the Assembly in 1985, he was assigned to serve on three committees: Judiciary, Education, and Economic Development and Tourism. It wasn't until his second regular session that Moose was able to even get on Ways and Means. It seems unlikely to all of us, but that's the way it was. Moose has chaired the Assembly Ways and Means Committee since 1993—a long time. The 2009 Session marks the ninth regular session that Moose either chaired or cochaired the Ways and Means Committee, which is an all-time Assembly record that will never be repeated by anyone else because of term limits. The previous record was set by Assemblyman Don Mello. His service on this committee has spanned an amazing 23 years, and during that time, he has alternated as either chair or vice chair of the Interim Finance Committee since 1993.

As I talked about before, he has many interests. Even this session, he sponsored A.B. 451 to establish an innovative program to provide reduced-rate lending to qualified businesses, giving preferences to minority-owned racial and ethnic minorities, women, and veterans. In earlier sessions, Moose sponsored measures, including a study of community colleges, appropriations for sickle cell anemia, funding to help relocate homeowners in North Las Vegas whose homes were sinking, and provisions to prevent patients from being dumped from one hospital to another. In 1987, he was the primary sponsor of the legislation to create a Martin Luther King holiday and the day after Thanksgiving as a legal holiday in the State of Nevada. As I talked about, the Account for Low-Income Housing that he created has allocated now, since he sponsored it in 1989, $86 million to create affordable housing in our state. It has been used for down payment assistance, rehab, new construction, and weatherization. It can't be overstated how much this has created. In Clark County alone, we have 18 apartment complexes for low income seniors and families as a result of what Moose did.

We also have a photo of how this helped other folks. We have a senior citizen complex in Battle Mountain, which was created by Moose's bill, and it's appropriately named after his good buddy John Marvel, as they sat side by side for so many years. The next photo is a rendering of McKnight Village II Senior Apartments—another thing Moose did. The next photo is the Senator Richard Bryan Senior Apartments. The next is a project that I worked on, using the funding created by Moose. This is the Silver Sky Assisted Living Project. This is the first nonprofit assisted living project ever built in the State of Nevada. So many senior citizens don't want to go to nursing homes—they cost $4,000 a month. They want to live independently, with dignity, and that is a result of this funding that was sponsored by Moose.

As you all know, besides his service here, Moose has a number of other outside interests, whether it is classic automobiles, boating, athletics, sports, or golf. I understand he already has his tee time scheduled for June 4, 2009, when we get out of here. There are one or two short stories about Moose.

A number of years ago, the Fiscal Analysis Division had its offices here in the building, and they had windows overlooking the grass outside. One day they noticed a man out on the grass all by himself, moving his body and his arms in strange ways. Was it tai chi? No. Was it a rain dance? No. Somebody then noticed Moose was playing basketball—without the ball. He was just loosening up, getting ready for the Legislature. The Fiscal staff was very impressed. They said his moves were as smooth as a gazelle. I think they were exaggerating.

Moose, when he first came here, had great friendships with Gene Porter and Wendell Williams. They have lots of stories to tell about that era. One of them was when they decided to rent a large A-frame house in Lakeview, in Carson City. When they got there, they backed their U-Haul up and took parts of the house with them. They managed to move their belongings into the house, they set up a workout room, they got it all fixed up. Then one day, Moose and Wendell went to the workout room in the house, and they found a dead mouse. They were too scared to pick it up, so they stopped working out because they couldn't go into the room to pick up the mouse. And then the snow came. These city boys from southern Nevada—they don't do snow. They were too afraid to drive to the Legislative Building, so they had to call their secretary to come pick them up in her four-wheel drive to take them to work that day. For the rest of the session, Reba Combs, Cindy Southerland, and Marilyn Jane took turns collecting them from their house on snowy or icy mornings to drive them to the Legislative Building.

At the end of that same session after packing up all their things and loading them into a U-Haul truck, they left the truck outside the Sedway Building. Someone noticed it there; they thought it was stolen, so they repossessed it. Moose came out the next day, and his U-Haul was gone. He has had some incredible experiences over his tenure.

I think if you want to talk about Moose the man, you have to talk about his daughter. He is always talking about Raina—how proud he is of her and what she is doing with her school and with her activities. It is when I see the biggest smile on his face.

You have been an incredible legislator, Moose. We love you.

If you want to share an embarrassing story about Assemblyman Morse Arberry, you have an opportunity now. Otherwise, we'll leave it on a high note. Moose is giving you the Moose shake.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

Those of you who have been around for a little bit have watched me and the chairman from District 17 always giving Moose a hard time about his age. When we first got here in 2003, he was old enough to be our daddy. Now that it is 2009, he is old enough to be our granddaddy. He is aging faster than the rest of us. He's losing his sight—he had to leave to go get surgery on his eye because he's going blind.

One story I want to tell you falls right in line with the fact that we're always teasing him about his age. We were sitting in the caucus room having a meal and he said, "Hey, Dude. Come here. Dude. Who's that right there?" And I was like, "Who?" And I can't remember who he had pointed to—maybe Chad Christensen, who had come into the room. I was like, "That's Chad Christensen. He's been here since '03." He said, "Really? Oh." I said, "How old are you, exactly, Moose?" So that has been a running joke, and every now and then he will throw it out there— "Who was that?" And I'll say, "That was the Speaker. That was the Speaker—Barbara. You've been serving with her for quite some time. You're all right. We got a little more time. June 1 and you get to go home where all the surroundings are familiar to you."

On a more serious note, I want to say to Moose, I love you, man. I'm going to try to get through this without crying—because he knows how much I care for him. He took me under his wing when I first said I wanted to run. Many of you know that when you first jump in there, sometimes it is difficult to even find that person who is willing to sit down and talk to you. As you've all been here, you hear many people come and tell you they are interested in running for office and the like. But he genuinely took the time and helped me through that process. Once I got here, not only was it not uncommon for me to go to his office and sit down and talk to him, but he would come to my office and sit down. "How you doin', dog? You okay?" He did that. He's a friend, and he recognizes when you need that, and he comes to you. And he has done that on several tough occasions. He recognizes it, and he comes to you to see how you are doing. I will always love you for that. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MUNFORD:

This is sort of things in reverse because I have known Moose since he was 15 years old in high school at Western. I had just gotten hired in the district, and I was sort of his mentor, so to speak, because I was working at Doolittle Recreation Center. Moose used to come up there all the time with all the other young men in the neighborhood. I was still young—well, I'm not too old now. I was a lot older than he was. They all thought I had just left the Lakers and I was in town, and they thought I was a basketball guru, so to speak, and they all wanted to challenge me. I was the one they wanted to play against. Moose, himself, was on a state championship basketball team in 1971. He was one of the major players. He was a good player in high school. That's where he got the name Moose because they always wanted him to go under the boards and be tough. "Come on, Moose! Come on, Moose!" And sometimes he came through.

Here I am now in the Legislature. I was his mentor, and now I go to him for advice, so he is sort of like my mentor, so to speak. And I voted for him. He was my representative for many years, and I voted for him for many years. We all became quite proud of him. He has had a good career up here, and I guess when it is all over, he'll continue to have a real impact and be a factor in our community. We all look forward to working with him someday again. Moose, thanks for everything. You are a good man.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

I rise in support of Moose Arberry. Moose, you were the brother who called me brother. Thank you, brother.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

I hope to do a little better than my colleague from District 34 and not cry. Moose, what can I say? I remember when I first came here, I was really intimidated by him for some reason. I couldn't understand why he kept calling me "dog." "That's right, dog." "Of course, dog!" I got to know him throughout the sessions, and he has been a good friend.

I want to tell another story about the "old" thing and how my colleague and I always make fun of him and talk about him. You know, that is another thing. There is not anyone else I know you can make fun of who goes along with you. I remember we were out to dinner one night and I told him, "Moose, you are so old; you wake up in the middle of the night to check your pulse." He came in the next day and said, "Dog, you told me that yesterday, and I woke up last night, and I checked my pulse." He said, "Y'all so crazy."

I don't know if he remembers this, but I certainly do. I remember going through some troubles after my freshman session and being in D.C. with him and my colleague from District 34 and receiving a few phone calls telling me that I probably shouldn't run again. I remember being out to dinner with Moose and him saying, "That's not going to happen. You're going to run again. You're not going to listen to anybody. That is your district. Your district voted for you, and they're the ones that should tell you when you should leave." So I owe it to you, Moose. I have no doubt that he is the reason I stayed and why I am still here today. I want to thank you for your friendship throughout the years, and I know it doesn't end today. He has truly been an inspiration to me, and I will never forget him. I love you, Moose.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

I also rise in support of Moose. I have had the honor of serving on Ways and Means with him for the last three sessions and the interims. You are a kind and gentle man. The Assemblyman from Boulder City mentioned that he is one of your brothers. Well, I know another one; his name is John Marvel. And when John Marvel was in the hospital, Moose went to the hospital and told them he was his brother and was able to visit with him. The resemblance is there. You took the time when John was ill, and I know how much he appreciated that and I appreciated that. That shows your kindness and your gentleness. I thank you for your service and for your friendship to all of us. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

I rise in support of my good friend, Morse Arberry. I had the pleasure of being a freshman here when both he and Wendell Williams and the Majority Leader shared a place together. I am not allowed to speak about any of those stories—and don't worry, I won't. Those will stay secrets between the two of us. I wouldn't want any of them to get out.

It was very, very interesting because of the group of three. The one individual out of that group that you never heard derogatory stories about was Mr. Arberry. I would ask, "Moose, can this possibly be true? Did I hear this story?" He would say, "You don't have the half of it." And he has kept a great secret.

My two colleagues who have already spoken have not had to go through this problem of Mr. Williams and Mr. Arberry being constantly confused by members of this body as to which one was who. It was like, "No, I am Williams." "No, I am Arberry." It was a constant discussion, even down to the kind of ties that could be worn at any particular moment in time and the hidden meanings that might be put into a tie. I have never seen anything like it.

The person who always stood above it, who always saw through the reality of what was important, was Morse Arberry. When I was a freshman, we had very, very small offices. It came close to Mr. Arberry's birthday. In my office, one of my daughters had given me one of her stuffed toys to put up on the wall. It was a moose—a big moose head. So when colleagues would ask how small my office was, I would say, "I don't have a small office. I have a big office. It has got a big moose head on the wall." They would come down there and see this little moose head sticking there. The staff determined that they needed it for his birthday. I had to go wrestle it back to give it back to my daughter so that she would not be upset with me about losing her moose head permanently.

Moose clearly understood the realities of the relationships that are here. He has been a good friend. I look across the aisle every day, and I give him candy to keep his sugar high going to make our days easier. Most of all, I have always known that he was the rock that made the financial part of this place work. When he said there was no money, he meant there was no money. When he said we'll see what we can do, it wasn't a halfway promise. He has always been a man of compassion, a man of great worth, and my friend. I am going to miss the relationship more than I can possibly say.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

I think the Legislature will be much poorer when we do not have Moose Arberry serving. I want to relate a story from last session, my freshman session. When I came up here, I thought I knew it all. I quickly learned I didn't know it all. There was this bill that everyone liked, and everyone thought it was really, really great. I looked at the bill, and suddenly I said, "This bill could be misused. It could hurt poor people." I went around and talked to some people I thought I should talk to, and they said, "James, didn't we tell you that you don't know it all? You really don't know it all. You don't know it all." I was not happy and I was bitter. One day I was in the stairwell, and I was going down the stairs, and who is coming up the stairs but Moose. Luckily, I had that bill in my hand, and I cornered him. "Moose, you've got to look at this bill. This bill could be misused. It could hurt poor people." He looked at it a minute, he skimmed over the language, and he said, "James, you may be a freshman, but you're right." The next week I came back up, and that bill didn't become law. I remember at the end of session, I was sad about this bill not passing and this bill didn't pass, but I always consider that a really big victory—that Moose listened to me and he read over what I asked him to, and he agreed with me. We were right on that one, and he really did help a lot of people on that one.

One other thing—I've been trying to avoid this all session, trying to avoid talking about my mother—but for 12 years she always considered you a great friend and admired you. I know every session she came back, I think because she got to work with you. So I would like to mention that as well, Moose.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

As someone who hopefully will have the privilege of continuing to serve on the Ways and Means Committee in a future session, I want to thank you for the opportunities you've given me, Moose. From my first session on Ways and Means, you treated me as an equal, and you have always given me so much opportunity and have taught me so much. In my future service, if I am able to return to this body, it will mean a lot to me and hopefully the state, because of the example you have set for all of us and how we conduct our business and how we treat people and how we consider our legislation and the budgets before us. I sat through so many hearings this session when we had more speakers than usual come before us. They packed the rooms, and we sat there and teared up together in a few of those hearings, listening to the stories of people wanting to save something in the budget. You were so kind and respectful. You've set such a good example.

The unfortunate thing is that the other day you told your vice chair what a great job she has done over the past years, and you gave her a present and you did the little song for her and told her that you're her gingerbread man. You know the old "Run, run, as fast as you can; you can't get away from the gingerbread man." Well, that was how Moose ended his time with Sheila and thanked her for her service. So the bad thing is I've been saying that forevermore, I'm going to be thinking of you running down the road like this, Moose. Thank you.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Thank you for your service. Let's move on to Bernie Anderson.

Bernie Anderson was first elected to the Nevada State Assembly in November of 1990, and at the end of his current term of office, he will have completed a full 20 years as a member of this honorable body, or as Bernie likes to call it, the People's House.

Anyone who knows Bernie will know he loves history, so I thought we would start with a little bit of the history of the other Andersons in the Nevada Legislature.

Bernie is actually the fourth Anderson to serve in the Nevada State Assembly, although they were not related to Bernie as far as we know. We had Harold Anderson of Elko, who served in 1949 and 1951 and was the Majority Floor Leader in his second session. We had Lawrence Anderson of Wells in Elko County, who served in the 1933 Session and chaired the Livestock Committee. Like Bernie, both of these gentlemen were Democrats. The first Anderson elected to the Assembly was J. M. Anderson from Gold Hill in Storey County. He served in the 1869 Session, belonged to the Union Party, and chaired the Assembly Committee on Trade and Manufactures. But the most illustrious Anderson ever to serve in the Nevada State Assembly is our own Bernard "Bernie" Anderson.

Bernie is a native Nevadan, having been born in Reno kind of a long time ago. He graduated from Bishop Manogue High School and later received his bachelor of science degree in education from the University of Nevada. We all know Bernie worked as an educator. A beloved teacher, he taught at Reed High School in Sparks, where he tortured—I mean taught—his students and shared his love of history, government, and the State of Nevada with his classes.

Bernie has lived in the City of Sparks most of his life and has been a long, proud resident and champion of Nevada's Rail City. He is particularly proud of his lovely family: his wife Clyda, daughters Cairn and Natha, and now his grandsons Connor and Teague.

During his 19 years in the Assembly, he served ten regular sessions and nine special sessions. He was Speaker pro Tempore in 2007 and 2009. There's a picture of his board on the overhead screens. You've got to love that board—that's where good bills went to live and bad bills went to die. It is Bernie's long and distinguished service on the Judiciary Committee that most identifies his legislative career. He has now chaired the Judiciary Committee a record seven regular legislative sessions and served as its cochair in 1995. The previous Nevada record for most sessions was four, held by a mentor to Bernie, the esteemed Assemblyman Bob Sader.

I remember when I first joined the Judiciary Committee. Like James, I was a freshman, so I knew everything. I sat between Mr. Anderson, to my left, and Mr. Carpenter, to my right, and I thought, "What the heck do these guys know about the law? I'm a lawyer." Well, I found out pretty quick. There really is no substitute when it comes to common sense and knowing what's right and what's wrong. That's all you need, and, boy, Bernie has it.

Any member of the Assembly who has served on the Judiciary Committee can attest to how many bills they get, but in every one of them, Bernie made sure the little guy was never forgotten. He combined compassion with firmness. Bernie is quick to let you know how he feels about things, which he attributes to his Irish roots. I remember how proud I was to get my hat that said, "I survived mornings with Bernie."

There are many important bills that Bernie sponsored over the years. Before highlighting just a few, I want to point out that Bernie was the primary sponsor of the bill to revise judicial discipline—he championed that issue. He sponsored the constitutional amendment that was approved by the Legislature in 1995 and 1997 and became law in 1998. That was so important. Before that, we had instances where no one was regulating the judiciary, and we had folks losing access to justice. Bernie took that on, despite the opposition.

This session he was able to gain passage and approval of A.B. 213, the cancer drug donation program. It is very similar—when it comes to showing his compassion—to his very first bill, A.B. 353, which provides special license plates to veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces who are awarded the Purple Heart. That was Bernie's first bill. Throughout his career, he sponsored legislation prohibiting the abuse, neglect, and exploitation of older people—A.B. 267. He and Assemblyman Carpenter and I spent four years on the child welfare system, studying it from beginning to end. It was great work, chaired by our chairman. There also was his shepherding of the drug courts. We can go on and on, whether it was public schools, education, state-owned land, the Sparks Heritage Museum, judicial discovery, automotive repairs, genetic testing, the death penalty. We don't have enough time to talk about all the measures that he is responsible for, although I do think we have to mention railroad safety—we can't forget those trains.

You either get Bernie Anderson or you don't. I get Bernie Anderson. No one has a bigger heart than Bernie Anderson. There is no one I would rather be in a foxhole with than Bernie Anderson.

For his incredible commitment to the State of Nevada—what a mark you have left on this state—thank you, Mr. Chairman.

ASSEMBLYMAN CHRISTENSEN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. Chairman, this being my fourth session, we haven't had a whole lot of interaction. I've never had the opportunity to serve on Judiciary. I was just thinking—listening to some of the history—that I really have to stand and give, perhaps, a different perspective of you than maybe others would have.

It has been exciting for me to have my family here during the session, which means that a number of the Christensen five have been running around here in the building and have come to know you, I would say, very well. This has given me an opportunity to spend more time with you as you have sat with me and shared your stories. I just wanted to share with the body that this man has shared with me some of the best fathering tips through the stories and experiences that he has shared with me, talking about his own father, and how he fathered, and his mother and what it was like growing up in his family.

Madam Speaker, as you have said, he is a wise man with a tremendously large heart. I have come to know that this session—I am glad this session—and just want to say, Mr. Chairman, that I feel like my skills as a father have been enhanced over these last few months because of your interest in me and your interest in my boys and their experience here. From the bottom of my heart, I just want to say thank you and I love you for that. I really appreciate your taking that time and ownership in the Christensen gang. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. Bernie and I have been friends for many, many years. Other than my wife, I don't think I have shared the mornings with anybody other than Bernie. Bernie, I think that on most things, we have agreed. The things we didn't agree on, we became even better buddies for that. I am going to miss you, Bernie, and I am going to miss those mornings. Good luck, and when you become the mayor of Sparks, I want an invitation to the inaugural. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN BOBZIEN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I am going to swear from the outset that I didn't coordinate these remarks with my colleague from southern Nevada. When I first decided I was going to run—as we all do—we have to do all of our meetings and we have to go talk to this person, talk to that person, and everyone else. I remember being utterly terrified of having to go talk to Mr. Anderson. I knew that there were some specific questions that he had for me that I wasn't quite sure how I was going to answer and resolve. But we had a good coffee. I remember coming away from that not really knowing where I stood with him. I always sort of feel that way—that I'm always kind of on edge with him.

Over the years, I have learned so much from him. I have a story from last session. At one point in the session, I decided I wanted to mix it up on a bill that was coming over from the Senate, because I had an issue with it. I was going to get some support for an amendment, and everyone was telling me, "Oh yeah. Just talk to this person; talk to that person. Keep everyone in the loop." I said, "Yeah, yeah, yeah. I'm doing that. I'm doing that. Yeah, yeah." "Did you talk to Bernie? Because it came out of his committee." "Oh, yeah, yeah. I sent him an email. It's all good." Wrong. So as a few of you remember, when that finally blew up and didn't go my way, I suffered one of the most severe beat downs that I have ever gotten. I came away from that just stinging. But I know now, looking back, that it was a very important lesson to learn. The times that he has left me with stinging comments and with tough criticism—I know now that it has just made me a better legislator.

I guess because I share a lot of background with Mr. Anderson, having grown up in an Irish Catholic family, I know that he has the same affinity for my family. And I thank him for the support that he has shown me and that Clyda has shown me and my family. For instance, my proudest day was being able to send them a picture of my two boys in the shamrock onesies that he had gotten them for St. Patrick's Day.

I know that he is always looking out for me. I have learned so many lessons from him, from his respect for the institution to making sure all of us understand that this is not about any one particular legislator. This is about the decisions that are made for the State of Nevada from this body and demanding the utmost respect for that dynamic. It is something that we are going to greatly, greatly miss. I don't throw this term around lightly, but Bernie, you are a father figure, and you can be damn sure I will be calling you up for years to come looking for your advice. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Looking at the folks in the house here, I probably go back with Bernie further than anyone. Bernie and I went to high school together. Bernie still accuses me of putting him upside down in a garbage can when we were playing football together. I still deny it because when I was lobbying, I never wanted to go before his committee just because of that reason.

Bernie, I think all of us appreciate not only what you have done here, but what you have done for the City of Sparks, your community, and your church. You are very dedicated to the church and the priests that have come through Sparks and are still there today. On behalf of all of us from the Bishop Manogue Catholic High School family, congratulations and good luck in the future.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

My freshman session, I'm not sure I would have been standing here giving kind remarks about Bernie. Madam Speaker, you spoke earlier about "getting" Bernie Anderson. I didn't "get" Bernie Anderson my freshman year, and I think that was intentional on his part. The man that I have gotten to know has been a phenomenal person. What I've learned—and what I didn't understand then—is that Bernie is huge on respect and huge on paying your dues. I think as a freshman, I thought that because I was elected, I had paid my dues. Bernie consistently reminded me that I hadn't. I think that made me dislike him in a way, but he didn't care. He knew there was something that I just couldn't get to with him, and he knew it, and he pressed my buttons every single time and reminded me. Some of the other freshmen always wonder why I always call them freshmen. Bernie never let me forget that I was a freshman in 2003 and that I wouldn't be elevated until he felt—he felt—I had paid my dues.

Now coming full circle, we were in Commerce and Labor about two weeks ago, and our chairman, Mr. Conklin, was testifying in another committee, so I had to chair the committee. Someone testifying was a little bit out of order, and I had to get a little stern with them. Bernie laughed and came over to me afterwards, when no one else was listening, and he said, "I have been wondering who I was going to be able to pass my gavel to. You are getting my gavel when I leave here." Bernie, though, I have to tell you, nobody can do it like you. You are taking your gavel with you. If we could find a way to bronze it for you, we'd do that for you, but I can tell you that no one can take your place. I will say that, Bernie, you've become a very good friend of mine and a very good mentor, and I think if people are trying to figure out what respecting this institution means, I am sure Bernie can write a book on it. Thank you for your friendship and thank you for your guidance throughout the years.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOEDHART:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. My very first session—I am a relative newcomer to this house—I had the honor of sitting on your committee. One of my favorite stories I always tell is that I had a colleague from District 26, and one morning it seemed kind of warm in that committee room. While you were speaking, the gentleman stood up, took off his jacket, and draped it on the back of his chair. All of a sudden, I heard you stop talking, and the whole room became very quiet. At that point in time, the colleague of mine kind of looked around and asked, "Why has everyone stopped talking? Why is everyone staring at me?" And that's when you said, "Hey, we have decorum in this committee, and no one takes off their jacket unless I tell them it is okay." So after he put his jacket on, a few minutes later Bernie says, "You know what? It's kind of warm in here. Everybody can take off their jackets." I will always remember that—it was so funny. You know how to run a committee. My hat's off to you. Thanks for embracing me my freshman term. I learned a lot that first session sitting in your committee. We will all miss you. Thank you, sir.

ASSEMBLYMAN MANENDO:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. My colleague from District 34 talked about beat downs. If you have not had a beat down from Mr. Anderson, then he doesn't love you. It's the old saying of tough love. I think everybody gets a beat down from the chairman at one point or another. I came here in 1995. It was a tied house. When you are a freshman—and he reminds everybody, again, that you are a freshman—you aren't on too many people's radar screens. We had these little, tiny offices about where the Republican leadership is now or close to Room 3100—those little cubby holes that we used to have. This man comes into the office. Of course, I knew it was Bernie, and sweat just started dripping down my face because I didn't know what was up. He just sat down and started talking. I never really had a chance to meet him other than when we came up here—I knew him a couple of sessions before but never really had a conversation with him. It was really nice because he actually took the time—he was the only one who took the time to come and talk to me, and I appreciated that. I know how busy you were, Bernie, because you were a freshman chairman, and you had a lot on your agenda. You had a lot on your plate to do, but you took the time to do that, and I never forgot that.

I think our colleague from District 6 might have played center, but the real center in my eyes is the man who, as in football, nothing happens without the ball being hiked to. Nothing happens in Judiciary unless the chairman is ready to move. You're a legend. I want you to know that in my 30 years living in the State of Nevada, I've never met somebody who has greater love and compassion for our state. I think that is something that we can always think about and live by—that you should really love your country, really love your state, but nobody loves the State of Nevada like Bernie Anderson. Thank you for your service, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Chairman.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

As the other legislator in the house who shares the City of Sparks with Chairman Anderson, I have to say thank you. I will join, probably, in many of the stories about being a bit intimidated as a freshman. I really appreciated my colleague from District 24 getting here, because it let me off the hook. It is like the family rivalry thing—that if the parent zeroed in on someone else, then it's not you. So when I got elevated to sophomore status, it was a huge relief.

You know, the one thing I want to say to you is that your public support of us has always been so meaningful. No matter whether I felt you were concerned with something I may have done or if we were in disagreement over a position, when we're together in public, you are always right there for us. Every time on the campaign trail, you would get up and sing my praises and be so supportive. I saw that with my colleagues all the time, and I see that here, as well. Thank you for that—for getting us to that point and for teaching us so much about this process and for what you've given to our city. You have given much to our city, and on behalf of the residents of that city, I want to thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I'm going to keep this very short, or I'll be the worst person in the house for tears on the floor—that would be the house that I live in outside of the building with my roommates.

Bernie, I have a list of things I want to thank you for; these are the most important ones. First and foremost, I want to thank you for A.B. 51 in the 2005 Session. I know how important that was to you, and it was ten times more important for me, because it gave me the greatest learning experience I have had in this building, from which everything else has stemmed. So I appreciate that. I appreciate you being, probably, the best friend I have in this building, in good times and in bad. I appreciate the fact that you understand that two fingers of Jameson means four, and I appreciate the fact—and I am very thankful for the fact—that you are the only man in this house that knows what the ears on a person's head can tell us. Thank you, my friend.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

I have served on the Judiciary Committee all four of my sessions here at the Legislature. You learn how to be a chairman from watching other chairs. I have learned more from Bernie than anywhere else, and that has been good and bad. And when I have displayed the bad habits, he is the first to tell me and let me know that I have done it. He is the consummate teacher. Even after his retirement, he has continued to teach. I have really appreciated that.

My colleague from Las Vegas is correct—that's love when he is giving you a beat down. That is because he cares enough, because he knows you can do better, and he's demanding that. Having served two of those sessions as his vice chair—and as the Majority Leader and the Speaker know having served as his vice chairs as well—Bernie demands a lot from you. You're a good vice chair because he gives you this authority to speak for the committee and himself; it is his way of teaching you how to do your job better. I will never forget that. I will never forget how he knows when he is going over the edge—and we have all seen him go over the edge from time to time. Having been the vice chair, people come to you when they have to talk to Bernie about something, because they don't want to talk to Bernie. My rule always is that I let them vent to me, but then eventually I tell them they have to go talk to Bernie. What people don't know is that Bernie beats himself up more than any one of us ever could when he does that.

For those of you who don't remember, he has this rule about cell phones ringing in committee. We all do. I've seen him dress down many a person when his phone has gone off. I have seen grown men who have worked in this building for 20 or 30 years turn sheet white when their phone rang. They got up and ran out because they were afraid of Bernie, and their phone just went off. One day Bernie's phone went off in committee—classic. There was this hush. At first Bernie is looking, "Somebody is ready to get in my sights." Then he realizes that it is his phone. The committee was at first quiet because they thought, "Oh no, what is going to happen now?" He knew that it was all on him, and he was so gracious. Everyone busted up in laughter, and he laughed right along with everybody. It showed the true Bernie—the one those of us who have gotten to know him better know, as a friend, as a mentor, and as a teacher. I love you, Bernie. Don't think that just because the session ends and you leave that you won't be hearing from me. Thank you very much.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Chairman Anderson, I think you've helped thousands of Nevadans through your work establishing the drug courts and helping people recover from their drug problems. I think that is something that needs to be noted. I have been very impressed in committee with all the different criminal law bills, how you try to balance being tough on crime with the constitutional rights of the accused. I've also been very impressed at how much you care for the rights of the incarcerated and making sure they have the medicines they need and that the prison system isn't doing anything that it shouldn't be doing. I also want to thank you for the opportunities you've given to me to grow, as a member, on your committee and on the floor. I'll miss you very much, Bernie.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN PIERCE:

I'm not a member of Judiciary, and Chairman Anderson has always been very kind to me. We've heard a lot of stories about Bernie being tough and that kind of thing. I think the thing that strikes me most is that I am a person of high emotion. When I sit here on the floor and something strikes me and tears well up in my eyes and I don't want anyone to know, I always know that all I have to do is turn around and look at Bernie—and he started crying before me. I love you for that. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. This is kind of hard for me to say. Bernie put me under his wing when I came up in 1999. Of course, I was like James Ohrenschall and thought I knew a lot of things and thought that I knew it all. Well right from the start, I was like my colleague from Sparks—he scared the daylights out of me, even though I was in my fifties or maybe even sixties. I would listen to him and think, "Is this guy the hangman's judge here or is he the chairman? I didn't know this guy had this much power."

Our friendship grew and grew. Bernie, I love you, and I am going to miss you so much. What I will really miss is that he has an uncanny power—especially every time I get down in the dumps or I get into trouble with the Speaker or I said something in my committee to get in trouble. I'm sitting here at my desk with my head in hands or I am up in my office with my hands and my face on my desk. I look up and I see this face looking at me, and it's Mr. Anderson. He looks at me and says, "Jerry, you screwed up, didn't you?" I said, "Boy, I did. Are you going to take me to the woodshed?" He said, "No, I'm not." And I said, "Well, I'm sure glad of that." So he says, "But did you learn anything?" I said, "I sure did. I don't think I will ever do that again." He said, "As long as you learned something, then okay, you won't have to go to the woodshed with me today."

I am going to miss you, Bernie. I am going to miss your phone calls, and most of all, I'm going to miss the conversations that we have every day. I love you. What I am going to miss the most of all, though, is when you come into a room. I feel so good when you come into a room because you have a bigger belly than I do. Thank you. I love you.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I just wanted to thank Bernie for helping me this past year and really teaching me a lot of things that I really can't tell you about right now. Just watching him closely and observing him and all the things he knows and the historical stuff he knows is just really phenomenal. We need to make sure he does stick around and teach us over the next few years. But the one thing I wanted to say that most impresses me is his support for you, Madam Speaker. I don't think you could have anyone more loyal. He would jump out the window. He'll jump on a grenade. The Chief Justice and every major lobbyist will go in that room and stare him down, and he'll stare them down—for you. It is just phenomenal. I have so much respect for what you've done for the institution and your loyalty to the institution and to the Speaker. Thank you very much for letting me see that.

ASSEMBLYMAN ARBERRY:

I want to share a quick story with you. When Giunchigliani was the chair of Labor and Management, Bernie was the vice chair. Back then we had phone booths in the building. When you needed to make a call, you would go in the phone booth. As soon as Chris would call roll, Wendell and I would sneak out, and she would send Bernie looking for us. Wendell and I would be in one of those phone booths together. We would be standing inside the phone booth watching Bernie walk back and forth—and security because she has everyone looking for us. We didn't want to be in the Labor and Management—we just hated Labor and Management. To share with you, Bernie—I learned more about education. I know your heart is about educators and your family. I will always miss you. You've been a fantastic partner. Thanks for the caramel candy. It kept me moving. Between you and John, it's been a whole lot of fun. I can write many, many good articles in this book, but we're putting a close to it. We do have a brand new chapter starting after this.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Let's move on to John Carpenter.

The Suzy Q is safely stowed in dry-dock in her home port of Elko, Nevada. Very soon the Assemblyman from Elko County will join her in his beloved northeastern Nevada with his wife of 56 years, Rosanne, and with regular visits from his children and their families that we saw a little bit more of this session. It's a very sad time, as we know; all of these great legislators will not be returning.

During our service, we have so many serious moments, tense moments. We can always count on our friend from Elko to give us a little levity. John served for 22 years through 12 regular and 10 special sessions. He is the dean of his caucus and second in overall seniority in the Nevada State Assembly. John is a native Nevadan born in Fallon in 1930 and a graduate of White Pine High School in Ely. Before coming to Carson, he was chairman of the Elko County Commission, served on the hospital board, the recreation board, and the convention and visitors authority. He is a long-time businessman and rancher in northeastern Nevada and is known as someone who keeps his word.

First serving as an Assemblyman in the 1987 Session, John has sponsored many bills involving various aspects of life in Nevada. He certainly enjoyed passing legislation through the Natural Resources Committee, including the '91 christening of the Suzy Q on her maiden voyage to improve watercraft safety. He has served on the Natural Resources Committee since 1991 and was the Republican chairman of that committee during the 1995 Session, when we had split leadership. He has served as an alternate on Public Lands but probably will be best remembered for his work on the Judiciary Committee.

You will recall in February we had a fabulous tribute where the Elko County Law Enforcement Center was renamed in his honor as the John C. Carpenter Law Enforcement Center. John sat on the Judiciary Committee his first session and for 11 sessions after that. As part of his work, he supported reforms in the corrections system, balancing the needs between the public and dangerous felons, including how folks could be rehabilitated. He fought for the establishment of minimum security camps in the rural communities, which provides needed wildfire protection as well as an economic boost for those small communities.

It never mattered to John while on the Judiciary Committee whether something would be considered politically dangerous—when we would consider issues such as what do you do about the issue of statutory rape when you have a 17-year-old boy or an 18-year old boy and a 16-year old girl. Should that young man be labeled a sex offender for life? It didn't matter what law enforcement said, whether they accused him of being soft on crime or wrong, John would just keep coming back, "Well, these two kids were just doing what kids do. Is this the right thing?" It didn't matter how much he got pummeled. He always cared if it was the right thing. I remember meeting John on the Judiciary Committee, and I thought, "What does this cowboy know about the law?" He taught me plenty. He called me his first session and said "Now, you're going to become my lady lawyer." He would come and say, "Hey, let's look at this line. What's this really mean?" He takes those bills home every night and reads every single word. He is never afraid of joining the Democrats—and never afraid of standing against the Democrats—because he is a Nevadan first and foremost.

He also brought us the Cowboy Hall of Fame, which we just celebrated—a welcome respite from our darker days. At his February tribute, many people talked about wanting to get into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. John, you did good for all the freshmen, letting them in so early. Bernie never would have done that. Probably the most amazing thing about Mr. Carpenter's career that most people probably don't know about is that in the September 2002 Republican primary in Humboldt County, there was an error on the ballot. There was no check next to John's name on the ballot. By the time the error was found, it was too late; the ballots had already been printed. Despite the lack of a voting circle next to John's name, John won over 72 percent of the ballot.

Can you imagine? Without having a check mark. So as the boss of the house saddles up for a final time for his ride home, we're just glad to know you, and the state is better for having you.

Thank you, Mr. Carpenter.

All right. Anybody have anything to say about this guy?

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

John Carpenter is a friend of mine. That is enormous to me, personally. As a freshman when I arrived here, I was assigned to Bob Sader's Judiciary Committee, and I had assumed that Judiciary would have been the last place that they would have placed me. I kind of thought that they would send me to Government Affairs since I had served on some charter committees and bylaw committees and local government groups—that it would be a better fit. Bob Sader told me, "Judiciary is the perfect place for you." "Whatever you say, Mr. Sader," whom I was very much intimated by. There were 22 freshmen in my class, and they were all, I think, in Judiciary except for the Majority Leader and Bob Sader, Mr. Porter, Mr. Williams, and the current Governor, although his wife was there for the longest part of that, which made it much easier in the beginning. Mr. Carpenter was the steady part of that.

Mr. Sader had a piece of legislation that came in front of us—and I'm sure John will recall—dealing with living wills, and it was very, very contentious and a very, very difficult emotional issue for a lot of people to understand in terms of whether we were sanctioning or giving somebody the right to commit suicide. Mr. Sader felt it was probably going to fail. It was very, very clear that Mr. Carpenter and I were going to be the deciding votes in the committee to get it out. Both of us have very, very strong feelings about suicide from our backgrounds that we commonly share, and so we did an investigation. I went and talked with John, and we had many heart-to-heart talks about how that particular bill was going to come out. As a result of that, John and I agreed that we could support the bill the way it was, and I went to see Mr. Sader and explained to him I thought we had the votes.

From that point forward, I served with him on Labor and Management, where I was the vice chair. We were dealing with contentious issues involving SIIS that everybody was up in arms about. We were together in Transportation. So as a freshman, all three of my committee days were spent with John Carpenter, and we continued on that road. He is my friend, so much that when I became the chair in 1995, I recognized that I had the good fortune of having you, Madam Speaker, as my vice chair. We had some very, very contentious issues, one dealing with Tailhook, as I recall. We knew that we were going to have a very, very strong committee, and how it was going to come out. It suddenly dawned on me that I had the perfect solution: when Carpenter, Anderson, and Buckley agreed, the committee was ready to go; if you weren't in the cab, you weren't along for the ride. When Carpenter was ready to go, we had everything we needed. John, for your friendship, number one, and for your constant support, for your level head, for your cowboy way, for everything you mean to the people of the State of Nevada and to me personally, thank you for your friendship and thank you for your great service to our state.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

It's no secret John and I have been friends and neighbors—probably longer than a lot of you in this body have been alive—but that doesn't really mean anything. Just walk down the street with John in any community in this state, and you will find out he has friends and neighbors. The other side of it is if you've been in the livestock industry at any time in the last 20 years, you've met with John Carpenter in one of his ranches. He's been all over the state.

I'll go back to my first session as a freshman here. Of course, I'd known John when he was on the Elko County Commission and I was just going on the Eureka County Commission. When I came here my first session, John and I would be discussing a bill, and pretty quick his patience would wear thin and he'd say, "Pete, read the damn bill." Just last week he told me, "Pete, read the damn bill." You can have the computers and all the shortcuts you want, but you know John Carpenter has read the bill, and if you're going to discuss it with him, you better read the thing.

Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ARBERRY:

Thank you, Speaker. John, it's been a long time. I remember when John came in, right after my first session. I was learning much about the cowboys and cowboy hats, and he was always a steady person, no matter how it went, no matter how everyone else would get all flustered. John was always cool so we looked at it, from the city side, as though he was one of us. Back in the day when Wendell had a bill about drive-by shootings, John came to Wendell and me and said, "Look, I know you guys are having problems in the inner city, but if you take our guns from us and we can't shoot as we are driving down the street, we're going to have a problem." Wendell and I looked at each other and said, "Well, we've got to take the rural areas out because I guess that's what they like to do."

When I was trying to get the Martin Luther King holiday back then, I was running around trying to get the votes. And I was really close—you know, you need 22 to get it passed. I went to John and said, "John, I need your vote." He said "Sure." About three days later he came back and he said, "You know, Mr. Moose"—and it was really nice back then that we let each other know when we couldn't support a piece of legislation. He said, "I can't vote for that bill." I said, "I understand, John, with no more words said." I left it at that. The day of the vote, he looked at me and gave me that cowboy nod; the vote went down 42 to 0. He was letting me know that he was a good man and he didn't mind crossing the barrier, no matter how much pressure was probably being put on him and the other rural boys. They all came with John, and I was proud of that.

Another thing I wanted to share about John was that when Virgil gave me the cow, they would always try to invite me to ride on the train or the camel rides. I learned about cowboy poetry, and coming from Las Vegas, this is as far north as we normally go. Over the years, he always wanted me to come and venture to the other areas. Well, John, maybe sometime in the near future I will have to do that because we'll have some time on our hands. I will never lose sight of you, and I will always be there for you.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Thank you very much, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of Mr. Carpenter. John, I feel like you are kind of a bridge to the old Nevada, to a kinder, gentler period that I think a lot of us grew up in. I know we will lose that when you leave.

There are a couple of stories I wanted to tell. When I first got elected as a freshman, I had a talk with my mother and asked, "Well, you know, you have been around here 12 years. Who can I turn to for advice? Who can I trust?" You were at the top of that list. She said, "You can always trust John Carpenter. You can always turn to him. He is a man who keeps his word and he will tell it to you like it is." And I found that out to be true, here in my two sessions serving with you.

I have had some fun experiences serving with you on the Natural Resources Committee. I have learned a lot about diseases that affect cattle and I have learned a lot about other parts of cows and sheep. My colleague from District 32 had a bill this session that I particularly liked. Actually, I think I supported it initially because I had studied some of this in constitutional law and thought, "It will be a great test case. We are going to give our state courts jurisdiction over a federal agency. This is the stuff we dream about in our constitutional law classes." I talked to Mr. Carpenter and I said, "John, you know, I am with you. I am with the rurals. We are going to stick it to the feds. I am with you on this bill. We are going to have a great test case and we are going to prove that we are right. State's rights supreme." I think it was John who turned to me and said, "I am all for the test case but not if they come into Elko and take my cattle and make my cattle the test case."

I learned a lot from you John and I will miss you a lot and I hope that we will stay in touch.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I, too, rise in support of John Carpenter, although John Carpenter doesn't need any support. He stands alone with his character, with his knowledge, and with the great standards that he has. I love John Carpenter's laugh. You can always hear him coming before you see him. I love his good, rugged Nevada looks. Most of all, I love the cowboy sayings he has left behind. I remember last session that he once said, "Never ask your barber if you need a haircut." You know, that sounds kind of dumb at first but if you think about it, wow, that's really heavy. Or how about, "It don't take no rocket scientist to spot a goat in a herd of sheep."

I think we need to make a change in the dictionary and near the word Nevada or across from the word Nevada we just need to put a picture of John Carpenter.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. First of all, I do want to say that out of all ten of the legislators that are leaving us, you know you played a big role in all of our hearts with little things that you have done. I could say tons of things about each and every one of you, but I chose to save mine for Mr. Carpenter, because I can only do tears once a week, especially after Saturday.

I just wanted to say that Mr. Carpenter has been great to me. It started my freshman year. I was the good person coming back on Monday mornings and it was me and Mr. Carpenter and I would be saying, "Hurry up, because I want to get to the building. I've got time to smoke." And he would say, "How about them girl scouts?" He was trying to keep my mind occupied all the way, to get to the building, because it was a long ride for me as a freshman. He invited me to the cowboy breakfast every morning, so I made as many as I could. My sophomore session, I came back and the first thing I wanted to make sure that I got to be a part of was coming in, in the mornings, and having a real breakfast, sitting down, and talking about the day.

You know, some days I have bad days, and some days I have good days. He always stopped to say, "Take a deep breath. It is not the end. Just relax. It's all good." Really, where that all came from was Mr. Carpenter always just telling me to just relax. So, I think I have learned a lot about our entire state. I have learned how to have some patience and not be so passionate about things and I will tell you that you will be the one person who I will always think about. When I was a freshman and I came in here, everybody used to talk about Joe Dini and I was like, "Who is that?" Or they used to talk about Governor O'Callaghan and I would be like, "Where were we? I wasn't here." I will run this by the freshman—you will someday be in the same spot. And so, Mr. Carpenter, you are the one person that I will talk about in, hopefully, my next three sessions.

I just want to tell you that you have made a big difference in my life and you have saved me a lot of quarters for every time I said those words. I tried to save some money. I just want everyone to know that each and every one of you has made an impact on my life and my ability to be a legislator. But, Mr. Carpenter, I personally want to thank you for taking the time to help me learn the cowboy way and be part of Nevada.

ASSEMBLYMAN SETTELMEYER:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. There is an old cowboy poem I kind of modified a little bit for Mr. Carpenter, if you can stay with me with it:

The stain of alkali, sand, and mud, smeared grease, and crimson blood,
Battered and bent from constant use, still you stood the dang abuse.
A true companion through all these years, riding broncs and branding steers,
I dedicate this to John C. for the useful things that he did,
and the things he has yet to do.

Pushed up big and knocked down flat,
Has been the lot of John C.s' Stetson hat.

Carrying oats to a piebald bronc, security for drinks and a honky tonk,
Mistreated, abused, on a round-up spree,
Walked on, tromped on, old J.C.

He's been everywhere a man can go,
from Alberta to Texas, to Mexico,
We've all grown old as we've trailed along,
but you, J.C, are still going strong.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I guess, first off, I have to go back, again, when I was lobbying for the League of Counties and we used to get together and say, "Okay, we have this problem. And we have this problem. Who is going to go talk to whom?" No one wanted to go talk to Mr. C because we knew he would never change his mind or at least he would never tell us he was going to change his mind. So, when you counted votes, and Mr. C had originally told you no, you might as well just say he was a no until he pressed the button, then we would know what he really felt about it.

John, it was always great when my friend from Eureka and I came in here, together, and I guess it was John that said, "I will take the two of you from the brush and turn you into legislators." We did it every morning and every afternoon when we could—we would be with Mr. C. But I will tell you, unless you have been in this corner, just to listen to some of the conversations between the boss and Ms. Woodbury—we could write a book. The one good thing about John . . . Pete and I like to, once in a while, have a cocktail. John always has his 7-Up. When we started out with John, it was a 7-Up with two cherries. And we knew, by the time he finished that big 7-Up we probably could probably have two drinks. The other night we got John to have a 7-Up with four cherries. Pete and I had a good time. Thank you, John.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I guess you got three for three today with me. Mr. Carpenter, I almost don't even know where to begin. I wrote down some quick notes so I hope you all will bear with me for a moment. I will try not to make it three for three, for crying today, though.

Mr. Carpenter has been a really good person to me. Since my freshman session he and I have served on multiple committees together and he has always been quick to remind me that I wasn't quite the cowboy he needed me to be. He called me the Rhinestone Cowboy the other day, which made me understand that I am still not quite there with him yet after what I thought I had become. One thing I do know is that every last one of us in this body has wanted to be in the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Not because we thought we were cowboys and not because we thought that one day we would live the rural life and ride away on horses, but I think we have all wanted to be in because of the respect for the man. I think all of us respect Mr. Carpenter a great deal and being in the Hall of Fame makes us feel like we are being respected by him. And so I know that was the main reason I wanted to be in.

One thing I have always enjoyed about Mr. Carpenter and have respected is that once he gave you his word—that is what it was. Mr. Grady just spoke about that. I remember in 2005, I didn't realize that he was in the minority, because he killed one of my bills! I know you remember the knifing bill. It was in Judiciary and even the chairman of Judiciary came to me and said, "Mr. Carpenter has a problem with one of your bills." "Mr. Carpenter? What do I care?" "If Mr. Carpenter has a problem, it's not getting out of here." "What do you mean? We have the majority here." "You need to talk to Mr. Carpenter." And I remember Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Goicoechea actually coming to my office to talk to me about it. "So, what if someone goes into a school and they just happen to have a knife, you know, a pocket knife in their pocket. And what if it's a parent?" There were all these other scenarios. And by the time they were done with me, I voted against my own bill. So I will never forget that, Mr. Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter, throughout the years, has always called me Mr. Atkinson, Mr. A, or Mr. Chairman. He has never called me by my first name. Most recently, though, he has stopped calling me those and he's called me his friend. And I really appreciate that. I had Mr. Carpenter in my office just a couple of hours ago and we were discussing something and he told me he couldn't vote for what I was asking him about. He got up and got ready to walk out of my office and he turned around to me and said, "I don't know who sent you or who asked you to talk to me, but I am glad it was you, because you are my friend." We embraced and he walked out and I shed a tear or two. My secretary asked me if I was okay and I told her I would be fine. Thank you, Mr. Carpenter, and thank you for calling me your friend.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I found a friend when I came up here and his name was John Carpenter. As you know, I was with the Operating Engineers for 40-plus years. When I figured I would come up here, I would handle the cop-boy bills and the labor bills and I was just going to tear this place up with organizing everybody. I found out that didn't work as well as I thought it was going to work.

When I ran into Mr. Carpenter, he asked me, "Jerry, do you hunt?" I said, "Oh, sure. Yeah, my family . . . I've got a couple of sons and grandkids. We just tear the mountains up." Well, he said, "Are you interested in deer hunting?" I said, "Oh, gosh yeah. That's my best sport, really. I am a deer hunting fool." So, anyway, Mr. Carpenter says, "Well, you know what? Can you help me a little bit on some of these predators and predator control? They are devastating our cattle and our sheep industry." I said, "You mean the deer are eating the sheep and the cows?" He said, "No, no. The predators are eating them." I said, "Okay, I've got you. What do you want me to do?" So he says, "Well, we need to put some bills together. Maybe we can find a little bit of money and we can get the state to hire some trappers and take out some of these predators that are killing all these cows and stuff before we run out of beef or whatever, to eat." I said, "That's a good idea." We were on Natural Resources together, and in 1999 we put together a bill and luckily enough we passed it. We got a little bit of money for the bill, which was A.B. 291. So, we started stretching this thing out a little bit more to get more predator control and more money. Every year, it got worse. It got tough. That was the first bill, A.B. 291, which was pretty easy. So, anyway, we started running into enormous headwinds. My goodness! We thought everybody was on our side and we found out that everybody wasn't.

So, anyway, there are a few things. Mr. Carpenter has stuck by me and a couple of my other colleagues on my committee and I'll never forget it. I am so tickled that I did make the Hall of Fame a couple of sessions ago. But, when I go down in history here, when I leave tomorrow, I have a new name. It's not Jerry C. anymore. It's Jerry MuleDeer. So, I want to thank you for that, Mr. Carpenter, and I want to thank you for being my friend. They always say this thing is not over until the fat lady sings, but this is not over until John Carpenter sings. We will see you after this session and, by golly, we might go see some of those predators face to face. So, thank you, John, for all the help here. I love you. You're a great man. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. Mr. Carpenter has a lot of friends in this building and I am very fortunate to believe I am one of those. He is one of those people that you cherish their friendship. He is also a statesman. He has stood in this body and in this house and made some tough calls. I can tell whenever I see that Mr. Carpenter is voting another way or we talk in caucus about a particular bill, I look at it again and I think it over again, and we talk some more about it because he has such great knowledge and such an institutional history and he's a man for Nevada. He is a person who will do what he thinks is right. It does not matter what the politics are. I greatly respect him for that. He is also someone who brings a good sense of humor here, with the Suzy Q and the cowboy caucus. I can tell you I looked forward to being a member of the cowboy caucus. It took me three sessions. We need to get to know each other a little bit better. And so, that was a huge honor.

Lately, he has been talking to the Lord, more and more, and he's been getting some good advice there. I have enjoyed working with you and I am proud to be your friend and honored to be your friend and appreciate that we have had statespeople and we will continue to have statespeople in this body. You are just a perfect example for all of us, so thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MANENDO:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. My friend John Carpenter, the gentleman cowboy, with a big heart and just a wealth of knowledge. Seven of my eight sessions have been in Judiciary. You know, your fingerprints are all over the place and I keep thinking, what is that committee, that specific committee, going to do without John Carpenter? Over the years, bringing bills to Mr. Carpenter to look at, to maybe cosponsor, he would ask, "Is this a mobile home bill, young man, or is this a puppy bill? What are we doing this time?"

Having an opportunity to sit next to my friend this session was just really special and I appreciated all your knowledge and historical knowledge of Nevada. You know, being in the third class of Cowboy Hall of Fame, in the days when we had time to go out and tour Nevada and educate the city slickers on what the other part of Nevada is all about, we actually got a chance to go to Elko. It was just absolutely amazing that just everybody knew who John Carpenter was. Actually, at one of the events, and this is my personal funny story, we were at one of the basque restaurants and Mr. Carpenter and some folks presented me with a cowbell. Morky Manendo is what they put on there because when we were out taking a break on the side of the road, there were some cows and it had been a long time . . . I come from farming country in Pennsylvania and it has been a long time since I actually had an opportunity to go out and say hello to the cows and it was nice to just be out in nature. There's where they got the funny story from, because everyone was hanging out at the van and I was out in the field, petting the cows. He said, "What are you trying to do? Register them to vote?"

Mr. Carpenter, I am going to miss you more than anyone in this building and I think the State of Nevada is losing somebody that will never, ever be replaced. Thank you and I love you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. John, you have your priorities in the right place. You've shown how you can like people and disagree with them. You have shown us an example of the priority of marriage when you left this building, weren't here, may have missed votes, may have missed committee meetings, and then came back and shared the wisdom. This place was not important. What you do didn't make any difference. You were with your wonderful partner and companion. What a wonderful example you have set for all of us. Thank you, John.

Madam Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day respectfully refused to recede from its action on Assembly Bill No. 561, Senate Amendment No. 973, and requests a conference, and appointed Senators Woodhouse, Rhoads and Hardy as a Conference Committee to meet with a like committee of the Assembly.

SHERRY L. RODRIGUEZ

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEES

Madam Speaker appointed Assemblymen Conklin, McClain, and Goicoechea as a Conference Committee to meet with a like committee of the Senate for the further consideration of Assembly Bill No. 561.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Vetoed Assembly Bill No. 22 of the 75th Session.

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblymen Conklin and Hardy.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I will try to keep this brief. The Governor has vetoed this bill. He has claimed in his veto that this bill creates a private right of action for deceptive trade practices and shifts the traditional burden of proof to the defendant.

My reading of the bill was that is not the case. I asked the Legislative Counsel Bureau to draft a legal opinion on what the bill does. I believe many of my colleagues from the other party did the same, and I will just tell you now very briefly what that opinion says. It says, "You have asked . . . whether Assembly Bill No. 22 . . . (1) creates a private right of action for deceptive trade practices; and (2) shifts the traditional burden of proof in civil litigation from the plaintiff to the defendant . . . ." And skipping six pages to the conclusion, just to make it brief: "In conclusion, based on the foregoing, it is the opinion of this office that: (1) Assembly Bill No. 22 does not create a private right of action for deceptive trade practices; and (2) Assembly Bill No. 22 does not shift the traditional burden of proof from the plaintiff to the defendant in civil litigation for private actions for deceptive trade practices." I urge support in an override of this veto.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

I think I agree with the Assistant Majority Leader on this and have the same legal opinion, it sounds like. In the letter that I received likewise from LCB that was prepared with some alacrity, but certainly is comprehensive enough, it also did an interesting thing. If I may quote from the letter, "also provides an additional statutory defense which defendants may use if they wish." And I think made this an even better bill than it ever was before. And I will be supporting the bill's passage, as it were, notwithstanding. Thank you.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

Roll call on Assembly Bill No. 22:

NAYS—None.

Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Vetoed Assembly Bill No. 135 of the 75th Session.

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblymen Leslie, Gansert, and Atkinson.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN LESLIE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of the override. The Ways and Means Committee sponsored this bill as a committee bill to provide more oversight on state financial obligations. The bill passed unanimously out of both houses of the Legislature. In his veto letter, the Governor said the legislation provides "an additional, unnecessary layer of government bureaucracy" and "will impede certain state agencies' ability to negotiate public-private partnerships . . . ." I disagree. Assembly Bill 135 would provide oversight and a form of checks and balances to better ensure the best possible funding mechanism for the state is being used to complete projects. Some examples of projects that would be reviewed include toll roads, transmission lines, bridges, and highway improvements, as well as tobacco securitization and state lottery conceptual ideas. This bill is necessary because the state can be left with a downgrade of its bond rating should projects adversely reflect on the state's ability to pay debt.

This would lead to higher financing rates on bonds, leaving the state with less money to finance projects or even possibly with an inability to sell bonds for projects.

This bill is about good government and would help ensure that we find out about bad financial deals. And I would just ask you to consider the Carlin Fire Center—not to rub salt in an old wound—but think about deals like that, that seem so good on the surface at the beginning and have caused our state great harm at the end. We would find out about these bad transactions before they happen. We need transparency and accountability on these public-private partnerships.

I would just remind the body that this is not about routine Department of Transportation projects. This is about public-private partnerships, minimum of $5 million. We have to remember that sometimes people try to sell us things—like toll roads, for example—and they have an interest in them. The only way to ensure that we don't have conflicts of interest on these huge, multimillion dollar projects would be to have an independent financial review, and I believe the Treasurer's Office is the appropriate spot in state government to accomplish that. I urge your support. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in opposition to A.B. 135. I do sit on Ways and Means, and I do believe in the transparency and the check on the system. I thought we had fixed this bill so that it was going to work, but I did have a conversation in the last couple of days with Susan Martinovich over at NDOT, and what she told me is it would preclude her from getting some of the projects done that she needs to do in a timely manner and also that the Transportation Board oversees her bonding, and so this would be another layer. With her bonding, she felt the Transportation Board was doing a good job and that we did have the transparency and the oversight. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of Assembly Bill 135. I actually have a few thoughts that may be contrary to what our Minority Leader just said. As we looked at this past interim, we saw some misuse of state money and taxpayers' dollars. The NDOT spent over $5 million on consulting fees for something that we do not even have the authority to do in this state, and that is toll roads. We do not have the authority in statute to do toll roads in this state, and our investigation, review of the documents that were presented to us, and even testimony from the department proved and showed us that there was misuse of state monies and taxpayer dollars. I am not sure if it is ever appropriate to use money that is going nowhere. It obviously wasn't going anywhere because we do not have the language to do toll roads, and so we spent $5 million—$5 million—of taxpayer dollars to do something that we don't have the authority to do. So when you look at that and you have a department telling us that they don't need oversight and that they should be able to spend the taxpayers' money on efforts like that, I don't think there is any question in this body—and don't think there will be any questions from our constituents—that we do need this bill and we do need the oversight that my colleague from Reno suggested. I urge an override. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker, for a second time. When I looked at this bill, it had to do with bonding. They absolutely need oversight, and I think that is what the Board of Transportation is trying to do. So this really has to do with a check on the bonding, not just the expenditures of the Department of Transportation, and they do need oversight, and I think that is why we have the Transportation Board, just to let you know. So again, it was a bonding issue, not total oversight, in this bill.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

Thank you for recognizing me again. I think what we are trying to convey is the money—the $5 million could have been bonded for highway transportation projects, and so it is bonding, and I understand. But any money that we receive can be bonded. Thank you.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

THE HONORABLE BARBARA BUCKLEY, Speaker of the Assembly, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Assembly Bill No. 410 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SPEAKER BUCKLEY:

I am herewith forwarding to you for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 410, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; allowing the provisions of certain collective bargaining agreements to supersede various statutory provisions relating to industrial insurance; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill would allow collective bargaining agreements to supersede state laws pertaining to industrial insurance. Nevada's industrial insurance laws have been developed and refined over the course of many decades and many legislative sessions.

To allow collective bargaining agreements to usurp existing laws would lead to a plethora of unintended consequences, as those agreements are often written by and agreed to by individuals who are not experts in the field of industrial insurance. This bill could result in the preclusion of worker's compensation benefits for workers who are currently entitled to those benefits pursuant to state law. Additionally, this bill could cause confusion and delay in the provision of benefits due to difficulties interpreting the language of varying collective bargaining agreements. Existing law allows workers entitled to benefits to choose physicians outside an approved provider list under certain circumstances. This bill could severely curtail if not eliminate the ability currently afforded to workers to choose a different physician. These are examples of only some of the unintended and harmful consequence to Nevadans that would result if this bill were to unwind years of legislative efforts and become law.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Assembly Bill 410.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblymen Claborn and Smith.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I've got a couple of questions from our Governor that I am going to answer here. His letter says A.B. 410 was vetoed because it was giving collective agreements the power to supersede industrial insurance law. That's not quite true. Assembly Bill 410 includes specific language ensuring that no benefits to injured workers shall be diminished under Nevada's state industrial insurance laws. This is the same language used in other states that protect all rights of injured workers in accordance with the industrial insurance laws.

Question number two: "To allow collective bargaining agreements to usurp existing laws would lead to a plethora of unattended consequences, as those agreements are often written by and agreed to by individuals who are not experts in the field of industrial insurance." Answer: The current Nevada workers' compensation system is plagued with the unintended consequences of injured workers that are not provided with the services contained in A.B. 410. Assembly Bill 410 is designed to improve the delivery of medical benefits to injured workers through the cooperation of affected insurance carriers, labor representatives, employers, employees, and injured workers. It has proven effective in other states to help injured workers return to work faster, receive better medical treatment, and obtain second opinions and assistance from independent case nurses and managers designated by labor and management representatives.

The Governor added that the bill would curtail, if not eliminate, the ability of injured workers to choose a different doctor. The language of Assembly Bill 410 allows labor and management representatives to establish a network of superior medical providers and allows workers to choose doctors from an extensive list of occupational specialists. Assembly Bill 410 allows injured workers the ability to request a different doctor or independent medical evaluation and other assistance that is not provided under the current Nevada industrial insurance laws. This is a very good bill, and I urge your support. Thank you very much.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of the override on Assembly Bill 410. I think it is unfortunate in a case like this where collective bargaining probably caused some concern over the bill and possibly a veto that is unjustified. Throughout the session, we've heard that this is a bill business and workers both like. This week after the override, we heard from a local Reno businessman how important this legislation is because he wants this advantage—which is strictly voluntary—that he believes will make him competitive in this market. He feels that, believe it or not, the California workers' comp system that has allowed this is giving them an advantage over him. We do not hear that very often—that we are not competitive with California workers' comp. Not too long ago, we heard about the California businessmen who came over here to hear about why businesses were relocating. Here is an opportunity for us to take some action that would keep us in that competitive market. So what I say to you is put aside those collective bargaining words, if they scare you, and look at the heart of this issue, consider that it is voluntary, consider that business and labor both want this to make them more competitive and to bring more jobs.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblywoman Buckley.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker pro Tempore. Assembly Bill 446 requires state government to engage in long-term planning and to make meaningful disclosures of agency performance to the public. As any manager knows, long-term planning and performance reviews are the foundation for sound, efficient, and effective operation of any enterprise. Nevada statutes already require performance indicator reviews, but as my colleague from Assembly District 28 points out all the time, they are not done very well.

When running for Governor, Jim Gibbons told the AARP, "As Governor, I will make sure we properly prioritize state spending. I will work to identify programs that are not serving the needs of Nevada taxpayers, eliminate them, and redirect the funding to programs that serve their intended essential purpose." Yet he vetoes a bill that will essentially accomplish that.

On the Executive Branch's website, the Governor introduces his Nevada Open Government Initiative with the statement, ". . . I signed an Executive Order that requires transparency and accountability in government so all Nevadans will be able to see how their taxpayer dollars are being spent. This type of transparency and accountability is especially crucial during these tough economic times." Yet he vetoes a bill that codifies this Executive Order. In vetoing Assembly Bill 446, the Governor's message admits "The budgetary methods used in evaluating the performance of state government needs improvement, and this legislation would work to that end . . . ." Yet because this body did not agree to increase the size of a government agency, he vetoed Assembly Bill 446.

At the hearings on this bill, officials from higher education and the State Controller, Kim Wallin, all volunteered to help the state rewrite its performance indicators—for free. As the Governor recently noted, Nevada families are tightening their belts, Nevada businesses are tightening their belts, and Nevada's government is doing the same thing. Right now, every state agency is being asked to do more with less. Why would the Budget Office be exempt from that? This is a bill that was sponsored and supported by the Chamber of Commerce and the Nevada Taxpayer's Association and received unanimous, bipartisan approval in both houses—because it makes sense.

I heard someone comment in the hallway, "But this bill had a fiscal note, and that is why it is being rejected." I would like to talk about that for a second. Here's how our process works: when we sponsor a bill, an agency puts a fiscal note on it to explain why they think it costs money. Sometimes our Ways and Means Committee and our Senate Finance Committee review that fiscal note. Sometimes it's right; sometimes it's wrong. And for the freshmen—just in case you haven't figured this out yet—sometimes it's put on a bill to kill a bill. Right now, the Governor is already required to plan. State agencies are already required to do performance indicators, but because we don't have a uniform format, you can't use them to measure anything. How can we go to the public and say we are doing more with less but not compare apples to apples? Those who sat on this committee looked at the model of Texas, which is doing performance indicators, and they are great. The formats are the same; you can consider how the agency is performing. And as we go back to our constituents and say we cut $1 billion and we raised $780 million in revenue, it is important for us to show them what we are doing with their money. It doesn't cost money to do a job right, and that is why the Ways and Means Committee considered the fiscal note. They didn't ignore it; they said it doesn't cost any more money to do the job right. That is what this bill is all about, and I would urge my colleagues to stand with me.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

Vetoed Assembly Bill No. 493 of the 75th Session.

Bill read.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblywoman Buckley.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BUCKLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker pro Tempore. Assembly Bill 493 concerns the Public Employees' Retirement System. It requires the board to identify and report on investments that are made in companies that invest and do business with Iran. American military and political officials have long claimed that Iran is supplying insurgents and foreign fighters in Iraq. By some estimates, they have killed as many as 200 American soldiers.

I do not need to repeat the testimony that I gave before the Government Affairs Committee or this body when this measure was approved. Basically, it requires PERS to identify this information. PERS did; they brought the information to the hearings. We learned what companies were conducting these investments. In his veto message, the Governor says that the bill requires PERS to study and identify investments. "Due to constitutional issues, the finding of this study . . . cannot impact the investment strategy" with regard to these funds. I strongly disagree. Looking at investment strategies changes how people view the performance of companies. Let's turn back to Nelson Mandela of South Africa. Isn't that how this started? Divestment? Trying to change behavior by pointing out when investments were made that were hurting our country?

Just last session, Governor Gibbons asked me to join with him on a letter concerning investment in Darfur, and I agreed and signed that letter, with Senator Raggio and the Governor, to the PERS Board, about those investments and how that was affecting our world. This bill follows in that tradition. It calls attention to investments between companies that are supporting Iran. That is all it does. But transparency brings discussion, discussion brings change, and that is all the bill does. So when the Governor basically says that any study cannot impact behavior, I disagree. And obviously the testimony wasn't examined because it really doesn't require a study. Basically, Dana Bilyeu just ran the list of the companies, and she presented it to you all. I ask you to join with me in saying that this is not too much to ask and that transparency matters and where investments are made matters.

Assemblyman Conklin moved to waive a portion of Assembly Standing Rule No. 23, which requires individual disclosure, for purposes of a group disclosure regarding vetoed Assembly Bill No. 493 of the 75th Session.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

For the purposes of Rule No. 23, we would like to disclose that either we personally are public employees or members of our families are public employees who participate in the Public Employees' Retirement System. Under Rule No. 23, we determined that our interest as a result of that participation does not impede our independence of judgment, because our interest is no greater than the interest of any other participant in PERS. Therefore, the following people will be voting on the bill: Assemblymen Aizley, Anderson, Arberry, Atkinson, Buckley, Carpenter, Denis, Dondero Loop, Gansert, Goicoechea, Grady, Gustavson, Kirkpatrick, Koivisto, Leslie, Mastroluca, McClain, Munford, Oceguera, Parnell, Segerblom, Settelmeyer, Spiegel, Stewart, and Woodbury.

RE: Senate Bill 234 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 234, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to motor vehicles; revising certain provisions governing the fees charged by a short-term lessor of passenger cars; increasing the governmental services fee on short-term leases of passenger cars; revising the definition of "uninsured motor vehicle" to include a leased passenger car under certain circumstances; making various changes concerning the disclosure of certain information relating to the short-term lease of a passenger car; providing a penalty; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 234 is a bill that relates to the fees charged by car rental companies. These fees are in addition to the actual cost of the rental. The bill authorizes car rental companies to charge additional fees to their customers which will effectively make the rental of automobiles more expensive. This is a fee increase that I will not support because it will impact not only Nevadans but businessmen and women and tourists who visit our State.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill No. 234.

Senate Bill 415 establishes premiums and contributions tor state employees who participate in the Public Employees' Benefits Program. The Executive Budget, which was based on recommendations from the Spending and Government Efficiency Commission, proposed different premium costs for the biennium in order to save money. Because the recommendations set forth in the Executive Budget were replaced with the amounts set forth in Senate Bill 415, I cannot support the bill.

Sec. 6. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 6.5. NRS 40.253 is hereby amended to read as follows:

40.253 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 10, in addition to the remedy provided in NRS 40.2512 and 40.290 to 40.420, inclusive, when the tenant of any dwelling, apartment, mobile home, recreational vehicle or commercial premises with periodic rent reserved by the month or any shorter period is in default in payment of the rent, the landlord or his agent, unless otherwise agreed in writing, may serve or have served a notice in writing, requiring in the alternative the payment of the rent or the surrender of the premises:

(a) At or before noon of the fifth full day following the day of service; or

(b) If the landlord chooses not to proceed in the manner set forth in paragraph (a) and the rent is reserved by a period of 1 week or less and the tenancy has not continued for more than 45 days, at or before noon of the fourth full day following the day of service.

➥ As used in this subsection, "day of service" means the day the landlord or his agent personally delivers the notice to the tenant. If personal service was not so delivered, the "day of service" means the day the notice is delivered, after posting and mailing pursuant to subsection 2, to the sheriff or constable for service if the request for service is made before noon. If the request for service by the sheriff or constable is made after noon, the "day of service" shall be deemed to be the day next following the day that the request is made for service by the sheriff or constable.

2. A landlord or his agent who serves a notice to a tenant pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection 1 shall attempt to deliver the notice in person in the manner set forth in paragraph (a) of subsection 1 of NRS 40.280. If the notice cannot be delivered in person, the landlord or his agent:

(a) Shall post a copy of the notice in a conspicuous place on the premises and mail the notice by overnight mail; and

(b) After the notice has been posted and mailed, may deliver the notice to the sheriff or constable for service in the manner set forth in subsection 1 of NRS 40.280. The sheriff or constable shall not accept the notice for service unless it is accompanied by written evidence, signed by the tenant when he took possession of the premises, that the landlord or his agent informed the tenant of the provisions of this section which set forth the lawful procedures for eviction from a short-term tenancy. Upon acceptance, the sheriff or constable shall serve the notice within 48 hours after the request for service was made by the landlord or his agent.

3. A notice served pursuant to subsection 1 or 2 must:

(a) Identify the court that has jurisdiction over the matter; and

(b) Advise the tenant of his right to contest the matter by filing, within the time specified in subsection 1 for the payment of the rent or surrender of the premises, an affidavit with the court that has jurisdiction over the matter stating that he has tendered payment or is not in default in the payment of the rent.

4. If the tenant files such an affidavit at or before the time stated in the notice, the landlord or his agent, after receipt of a file-stamped copy of the affidavit which was filed, shall not provide for the nonadmittance of the tenant to the premises by locking or otherwise.

5. Upon noncompliance with the notice:

(a) The landlord or his agent may apply by affidavit of complaint for eviction to the Justice Court of the township in which the dwelling, apartment, mobile home or commercial premises are located or to the district court of the county in which the dwelling, apartment, mobile home or commercial premises are located, whichever has jurisdiction over the matter. ~~[The]~~ If the tenant is in possession of commercial premises, the court may thereupon issue an order directing the sheriff or constable of the county to remove the tenant within 24 hours after receipt of the order. If the tenant is in possession of a dwelling, apartment or mobile home or if the rent is reserved by a period of 1 week or less, the court may thereupon issue an order directing the sheriff or constable of the county to remove the tenant not sooner than 2 days after receipt of the order. The affidavit must state or contain:

(1) The date the tenancy commenced.

(2) The amount of periodic rent reserved.

(3) The amounts of any cleaning, security or rent deposits paid in advance, in excess of the first month's rent, by the tenant.

(4) The date the rental payments became delinquent.

(5) The length of time the tenant has remained in possession without paying rent.

(6) The amount of rent claimed due and delinquent.

(7) A statement that the written notice was served on the tenant in accordance with NRS 40.280.

(8) A copy of the written notice served on the tenant.

(9) A copy of the signed written rental agreement, if any.

(b) Except when the tenant has timely filed the affidavit described in subsection 3 and a file-stamped copy of it has been received by the landlord or his agent, and except when the landlord is prohibited pursuant to NRS 118A.480, the landlord or his agent may, in a peaceable manner, provide for the nonadmittance of the tenant to the premises by locking or otherwise.

6. Upon the filing by the tenant of the affidavit permitted in subsection 3, regardless of the information contained in the affidavit, and the filing by the landlord of the affidavit permitted by subsection 5, the Justice Court or the district court shall hold a hearing, after service of notice of the hearing upon the parties, to determine the truthfulness and sufficiency of any affidavit or notice provided for in this section. If the court determines that ~~[there]~~ ***:

(a) There is no legal defense as to the alleged unlawful detainer and the tenant is guilty of an unlawful detainer, the court may issue a summary order for removal of the tenant or an order providing for the nonadmittance of the tenant. ~~[If the court determines that there]~~

(b) There is a legal defense as to the alleged unlawful detainer, the court shall refuse to grant either party any relief, and, except as otherwise provided in this subsection, shall require that any further proceedings be conducted pursuant to NRS 40.290 to 40.420, inclusive. The issuance of a summary order for removal of the tenant does not preclude an action by the tenant for any damages or other relief to which he may be entitled. If the alleged unlawful detainer was based upon subsection 5 of NRS 40.2514, the refusal by the court to grant relief does not preclude the landlord thereafter from pursuing an action for unlawful detainer in accordance with NRS 40.251.

7. The tenant may, upon payment of the appropriate fees relating to the filing and service of a motion, file a motion with the court, on a form provided by the clerk of the court, to dispute the amount of the costs, if any, claimed by the landlord pursuant to NRS 118A.460 for the inventory, moving and storage of personal property left on the premises. The motion must be filed within 20 days after the summary order for removal of the tenant or the abandonment of the premises by the tenant, or within 20 days after:

(a) The tenant has vacated or been removed from the premises; and

(b) A copy of those charges has been requested by or provided to the tenant,

8. Upon the filing of a motion pursuant to subsection 7, the court shall schedule a hearing on the motion. The hearing must be held within 10 days after the filing of the motion. The court shall affix the date of the hearing to the motion and order a copy served upon the landlord by the sheriff, constable or other process server. At the hearing, the court may:

(a) Determine the costs, if any, claimed by the landlord pursuant to NRS 118A.460, and any accumulating daily costs; and

(b) Order the release of the tenant's property upon the payment of the charges determined to be due or if no charges are determined to be due.

9. A landlord shall not refuse to accept rent from a tenant that is submitted after the landlord or his agent has served or had served a notice pursuant to subsection 1 if the refusal is based on the fact that the tenant has not paid collection fees, attorney's fees or other costs other than rent, a reasonable charge for late payments of rent or dishonored checks, or a security. As used in this subsection, "security" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 118A.240.

10. This section does not apply to the tenant of a mobile home lot in a mobile home park or to the tenant of a recreational vehicle lot in an area of a mobile home park in this State other than an area designated as a recreational vehicle lot pursuant to the provisions of subsection 6 of NRS 40.215.

Sec. 7. NRS 461A.215 is hereby amended to read as follows:

461A.215 1. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, if a nonprofit organization owns or leases a mobile home park:

(a) The board of directors or trustees which controls the mobile home park must be selected as set forth in this section; and

2. If a nonprofit organization owns or leases only one mobile home park, the board of directors or trustees which controls the mobile home park must be composed of:

4. The governing body of a local government with jurisdiction over the location of a mobile home park owned or leased by a nonprofit organization shall not appoint a director or trustee pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection 2 or paragraph (b) of subsection 3 unless the land upon which the mobile home park is located or the improvements to that land are owned by any governmental entity, patented to any governmental entity or leased to the nonprofit organization by any governmental entity.

(b) Investigate suspected violations of the provisions of this section; and

(c) Institute proceedings on behalf of this State, an agency or political subdivision of this State, or as parens patriae of a person residing in a mobile home park:

8. The provisions of this section may be enforced with regard to a nonprofit organization or a mobile home park by:

(c) A person who claims membership on the board of directors or trustees required to be selected pursuant to this section;

(d) A resident of the mobile home park;

(e) The local government with jurisdiction over the location of the mobile home park; or

(f) Any combination of the persons described in paragraphs (a) to (e), inclusive.

9. In any action to enforce the provisions of this section, including, without limitation, an action to prevent or restrain a violation of the provisions of this section, if a person is found to have knowingly acted as a director or trustee on a board of directors or trustees required to be selected pursuant to this section while he was not authorized to act as such a director or trustee pursuant to this section:

(a) The court shall award the prevailing party costs and attorney's fees;

(b) If the nonprofit organization which owns or leases a mobile home park participates in the action, the court shall award the nonprofit organization costs and attorney's fees; and

If in the same action to enforce the provisions of this section, more than one person is found to have knowingly acted as a director or trustee on a board of directors or trustees required to be selected pursuant to this section while he was not authorized to act as such a director or trustee pursuant to this section, each such person is jointly and severally liable for the costs and attorney's fees awarded pursuant to this section.

COMMUNICATIONS

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

May 25, 2009

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, Senate Majority Leader, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Senate Bill No. 283 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 283, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to domestic relations; providing for the registration and dissolution of domestic partnerships in the State of Nevada; setting forth the rights and responsibilities attendant to such partnerships; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 283 would extend to domestic partners nearly all of the rights, protections, benefits and privileges currently available only to married persons. Article I, Section 21 of the Nevada Constitution, enacted by vote of the people less than a decade ago, provides that "[o]nly a marriage between a male and a female person shall be recognized and given effect in this state." Senate Bill 283 would effectively bypass that constitutional mandate by allowing the rights and privileges of marriage to be bestowed upon non-married persons.

Notwithstanding the suspect constitutionality of Senate Bill 283, I believe that because the voters have determined that the rights of marriage should apply only to married couples, only the voters should determine whether those rights should equally apply to domestic partners.

Furthermore, many of the rights granted in Senate Bill 283 are readily available today by way of private contracts. For example, estate planning allows a person to bequeath their assets to anyone of their choosing, including a domestic partner. Similarly, living wills allow individuals to designate responsibility for healthcare decisions to others, including a domestic partner. Finally, amendments to leases or deeds of trust allows individuals to ensure that others have a right to access property in the event of death or disability, and such amendments can be made regardless of whether the individuals are married. I also recently signed Senate Bill 314 which streamlines and eases the laws pertaining to powers of attorney, which will benefit all Nevadans.

My disapproval of this bill should not be taken to suggest that domestic partners are in any way undeserving of rights and protections. I recently signed Senate Bill 207, which prohibits discrimination in Nevada based on sexual orientation. However, I believe that Senate Bill 283 represents a fundamental departure from the will of the voters expressed in Article 1, Section 21 of the Nevada Constitution, and only the voters should have the right to undo or amend constitutional mandates.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 283.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Vetoed Senate Bill No. 283 of the 75th Session.

Bill read.

The question was put: “Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?”

Remarks by Assemblywoman Leslie.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN LESLIE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. Like many of you, I feel so privileged today to have this opportunity to represent my constituents on this historic vote for equality and justice. This is the most important civil rights legislation we have had in all my years here, and I am so happy and honored to be a part of it.

Years from now, we may look back on this day and wonder what the controversy was all about. Why did we struggle so much and so hard to decide this basic issue of fairness for our citizens? I know it has been a struggle for many of you here in this body. I know you have searched your hearts for the answer, and each of us will vote our conscience today, and that vote should be respected. That vote will also be remembered in our state, in our history—perhaps more than any other in our career—for its impact on so many people in Nevada. We’ll remember this beautiful Sunday and this moment in time when our grandchildren or our great grandchildren ask us about it, and we will able to proudly say, “Yes, I was there that day, and this is what happened.” We’ll tell them how this bill affected so many lives and enabled so many people to make their own choices without interference from their state government.

There are many people who drove down here this morning from Reno, thinking we were going to vote. Some of them are still here, and I know there are thousands of Nevadans listening on the Internet and in every corner of our state and even throughout our nation. They are not asking for us to approve of their lives or how they live, but they are asking us for respect. As citizens of this great state, they are asking that their government give them the ability to choose whom they will live with and whom they will love. They're asking that we give them the tools to live their lives with dignity and with the knowledge that we value their lives and their families in equal measure. So as we pause to reflect before we take this historic vote, I hope you will search your heart once more and ask why we should not provide that dignity and that respect to our citizens.

We start every day in this body with the Pledge of allegiance to the Flag. We state our allegiance to our country and its values of liberty and justice for all. Know that your vote today will translate into equality for thousands of Nevada's families who will always be grateful for your willingness to stand up for equality and for fairness and for justice for all—not justice for some—justice for all. I urge your support.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KOIVISTO:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. The Governor's letter says that the bill unnecessarily legislates in an area that should be addressed by medical professionals and health care management. Those are the very folks that helped write the bill. I urge your support.

The question was put: "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

Remarks by Assemblywoman Spiegel.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SPIEGEL:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. In the Governor's letter, he said "Assembly Bill 147 would require local governments to spend more money on public works and other contracts by giving a

5 percent preference to local companies. While there is a justifiable interest in promoting local companies to support our economy and help local workers, Nevada's local governments will be hard pressed to meet this additional fiscal burden on contracting. During this difficult economic time for the state and local governments, it's not appropriate to place this burden on local governments in this way."

We were cognizant of these concerns, and we were cognizant of the economic impact that this bill could have on local government, and that is why we included provisions in two places in this bill where the local governments have an out. If they find that by giving the 5 percent bidding preference it is not in the public's best interest, then they can simply choose not to award the contract to the local bidder.

This is really looking to help Nevada businesses, to get our Nevadans back to work, and to keep our local dollars working for us locally. I urge your support.

Remarks by Assemblymen Segerblom, Munford, and Madam Speaker.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. This bill starts to preserve the history of southern Nevada. Many of you from northern Nevada may think that is an oxymoron, but in fact we do have history in southern Nevada, as the Assemblyman from southern Nevada's wife can attest to. It also deals with the very historic area, F Street. In the Governor's veto, he talked about how much money it would cost to reopen F Street and how terrible this would be. But if you drive from here to the airport in Reno and you look on the hill, you will see a beautiful highway going up there in northern Nevada, and the Governor has never objected to that ridiculous spending of money. This is an African-American neighborhood in southern Nevada, and we are trying to commit some money there to do what is right to preserve the history of that neighborhood. I urge you to support this bill and override the veto. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MUNFORD:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. The closure of F Street not only represents a wall, it is a symbol of past injustices in the community. It is best summarized by a long-time resident of the F Street area, R. B. Hambrick, an 82-year-old retired United States Naval petty officer who lives on F and Adams Streets, who said the following: "Harry S. Truman once said 'There is nothing new but the history you don't know.'" In 1968, the City of Las Vegas closed seven streets. The residents protested, claiming segregation, and unsuccessfully reopened two of those seven streets. The two streets were D and F.

Forty-one years later, history repeats itself. We reopened D Street, and hopefully F Street will follow. May the reopening of this street be a constant reminder that our representatives perceive those in the community as respected, taxpaying citizens whose safety and well-being really matters. This is very important and extremely valuable to this community. I urge your support of this measure. Thank you.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Thank you, Assemblyman Munford. With the permission of the body, I would like to express my support for the measure, as well. West Las Vegas has a unique place in the history of our state. It is where many entertainers were forced to stay when our hotels were still segregated, and it is a community that has been neglected, and it deserves respect, so I proudly stand with my colleague who represents Assembly District 6.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I know I said the last bill was the most important bill tonight, but this is the most important bill.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

How many bills did you get vetoed, Mr. Segerblom?

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

I still have two more to go, but this is the most important one right now. Thank you.

This bill gives basic rights to teachers—not great rights, but basic rights. We have the same rights for police officers in the peace officers' bill of rights, which are in statute. This year, we have had to tell teachers that we can't give them what they want. They had to lose their raises and their step increases. They have had to suffer, along with other state employees. The least we can do is give them a few basic rights.

If you start at a school right now, the teacher makes less than the police officer in the same school. That police officer has these rights; the teacher does not have these rights. I think it is time we show our teachers respect, show them that we care about them, and give them some basic rights. I urge you to override the veto. Thank you.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I know you won't believe this, but I am not kidding this time, and I am really serious. This is the most important bill—and I say that in all seriousness—because this gives basic rights for people who are forced into arbitration, and these rights do not exist today. I would encourage everyone to support me in overriding the veto. Thank you, Madam Speaker.

Conference Amendment No. CA19.

AN ACT relating to guardianships; requiring additional information in a petition for appointment of a guardian under certain circumstances; requiring that a proposed adult ward be advised of his right to counsel; revising provisions relating to the attendance of a proposed adult ward at a guardianship hearing; requiring a guardian to petition a court before moving a ward into certain residential facilities under certain circumstances; making various other changes relating to guardianships; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 3 of this bill requires that a petitioner for the appointment of a guardian for a proposed adult ward provide the court with an assessment completed by a licensed physician of the proposed adult ward's needs and limitations in capacity before the court makes a final order in the case. (NRS 159.044)

Section 4 of this bill provides that a proposed adult ward must be advised of his right to counsel in the guardianship proceeding and requires that certain information or responses provided by the adult ward relating to his right to counsel and to the proceeding be transmitted to the court. (NRS 159.0485)

Existing law provides that a proposed ward found in this State must attend a hearing for the appointment of a guardian unless a certificate is signed indicating the reasons the proposed ward cannot appear. (NRS 159.0535) Section 5 of this bill provides that a proposed ward who is unable to attend a hearing for the appointment of a general or special guardian may attend by videoconference. Section 5 further provides that if a proposed ward is an adult and cannot attend the hearing or appear by videoconference, the court must have the person who signs the certificate to excuse the proposed adult ward from attending the hearing meet with the proposed adult ward and report back to the court regarding the proposed adult ward's desire for representation at the hearing, preferences if a guardianship is imposed and any information the person believes may have limited any of the proposed adult ward's responses.

Existing law provides that a guardian must file with the court annually, or at such other times the court deems appropriate, a written report on the condition of the ward and the exercise of authority and the performance of duties by the guardian. (NRS 159.081) Section 6 of this bill: (1) provides that a guardian must also file with the court a report within 10 days of moving a ward to a secured residential long-term care facility; and (2) authorizes the court to determine the form and contents of such a report.

Section 7 of this bill requires a guardian to petition the court and receive the court's consent before moving a ward into a secured residential long-term care facility. However, a guardian does not need to petition the court if the court has already granted the guardian the authority to move the ward to such a facility or if a licensed physician, a physician employed by the Department of Veterans Affairs, a licensed social worker or an employee of the county's office of protective services recommends the transfer in writing. (NRS 159.113)

Section 8 of this bill makes a technical correction to section 27 of Senate Bill No. 277 of this session, which establishes the allowable compensation of an attorney of a personal representative. (NRS 150.060)

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

(2) A taxpayer identification number;

(3) A valid driver's license number;

Sec. 8. Section 27 of Senate Bill No. 277 of this session is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 27. NRS 150.060 is hereby amended to read as follows:

150.060 1. Attorneys for personal representatives are entitled to reasonable compensation for their services, to be paid out of the decedent's estate.

The agreement must be prepared by the attorney and must include detailed information, concerning, without limitation:

(a) The schedule of fees to be charged by the attorney;

(b) The manner in which compensation for extraordinary services may be charged by the attorney; and

(c) The fact that the court is required to approve the compensation of the attorney pursuant to subsection 8 before the personal representative pays any such compensation to the attorney.

6. For the purposes of determining the compensation of an attorney pursuant to subsection 4, the value of the estate accounted for by the personal representative:

(a) Is the total amount of the appraisal of property in the inventory, plus:

(2) The receipts, less losses from the appraisal value on sales; and

7. In addition to the compensation for ordinary services of an attorney set forth in this section, an attorney may also be entitled to receive

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, May 31, 2009

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day failed to sustain the Governor's veto of Assembly Bills Nos. 246, 410; Senate Bills Nos. 195, 319, 363, 394.

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, Senate Majority Leader, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 195, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; revising provisions relating to the denial or acceptance of a claim for compensation; revising provisions relating to examinations and permanent partial disabilities; increasing certain death benefits; revising provisions relating to the imposition of administrative fines and benefit penalties for certain violations; establishing continuous care coverage as a line of insurance for which a producer may be licensed; revising provisions for the issuance of a certificate of registration as an administrator; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 195 ,would make various changes to industrial insurance and workers compensation, including what factors may be considered when determining compensation levels and dictating the use of the 5th Edition of the American Medical Association's Guides to the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment.

In 2005 the Legislature adopted a bill requiring automatic adoption of the most recent edition of the AMA' s guidebook. I have not been convinced of the benefit in using anything other than the most scientifically advanced guide when evaluating permanent impairment for disability claims. For example, the 6lh Edition of the guide deals with soft tissue injuries while the 5th Edition does not consider such injuries. It only makes sense to use the best available information when evaluating these impairments.

Senate Bill 195 also allows for the consideration of stress as a factor when evaluating a person for a permanent partial disability. I do not believe it's appropriate to consider such a subjective and transitive factor as stress when making a determination of permanency.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 195.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Senate Bill No. 319 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 319, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to health care; revising provisions relating to reports of sentinel events; requiring certain investigations relating to sentinel events; requiring the Health Division of the Department of Health and Human Services to prepare an annual summary of the reports; requiring the Health Division to study certain issues relating to the tracking and reporting of near-miss events; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 319 pertains primarily to the reporting of sentinel events by medical facilities. Existing law requires the reporting of sentinel events to the Department of Health and Human Services. This bill amends and expands upon many of these reporting requirements and many of those additions and amendments represent sound public policy. However, the bill also requires publication of many reports related to sentinel events. The publication of such reports creates an opportunity for mischief from those who would seek to profit from the misfortunes of others by identifying events that could become the basis of litigation. Reports are already filed with and maintained by the Department of Health and Human Services, and that agency is equipped to respond to problems identified in the reports.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 319.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Senate Bill No. 363 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval Senate Bill 363, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; authorizing the surviving spouse of a deceased employee to continue to receive death benefits under industrial insurance after the surviving spouse remarries; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 363 would eliminate the section of state law that terminates workers compensation death benefit payments when surviving spouses get remarried, continuing those payments in perpetuity. While everyone can empathize with someone whose spouse dies while on the job, the death benefit payments outlined in workers compensation coverage are not intended to compensate that surviving spouse for their loss. Instead, the death benefit is meant to ensure the surviving spouse is able to sustain his or her livelihood and continue living in a lifestyle similar to the one they grew accustomed to during their marriage.

While there is no way to make up for the loss of a spouse the decision to remarry marks a significant change in lifestyle for that individual. Existing law was structured recognizing this change and ends death benefit payments appropriately including a one-time, lump sum payment worth two years' benefits to provide a cushion for the surviving spouse. Nothing has changed that alters the reasoning that went into existing law for death benefits compensation.

Additionally, providing death benefit payments in perpetuity to surviving spouses who remarry is an unfunded mandate upon other governmental entities that pay these benefits. While the total liability for these governments may be difficult to quantify, this liability most assuredly exists and creates additional exposure for these groups without a clear reason for making this change in policy.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 363.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

RE: Senate Bill No. 394 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 394, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to off-highway vehicles; requiring certain owners of off-highway vehicles to obtain certificates of title and registration for those vehicles; requiring the Department of Motor Vehicles to charge and collect certain fees; creating the Fund for Off-Highway Vehicles; creating the Commission on Off-Highway Vehicles; creating the Revolving Account for the Administration of Off-Highway Vehicle Titling and Registration as a special account in the Motor Vehicle Fund; eliminating the requirement that certain persons obtain certificates of operation before operating off highway vehicles; providing for the licensing of dealers, manufacturers and lessors of off-highway vehicles and for the consignment of off-highway vehicles; making various other changes relating to off-highway vehicles; providing penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Senate Bill 394 requires the registration of off-highway vehicles and enacts a new fee for such registration. Although the fee increase has the support of some off-highway vehicle proponents and off-highway vehicle retailers, the fee would not be imposed on those groups but would instead be borne by the individual owners of off-highway vehicles. I do not support a new fee on an activity that Nevadans have previously enjoyed freely.

For these reasons, I hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 394.

Conference Amendment No. CA23.

AN ACT relating to compensation; revising provisions related to compensation for overtime; revising provisions for the collection of benefits required to be repaid to the Employment Security Division of the Department of Employment, Training and Rehabilitation; establishing a penalty for fraudulently obtaining unemployment benefits under certain circumstances; revising provisions relating to the authorized use of money in the Employment Security Fund by the Administrator of the Division; providing penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 8.3 of this bill revises provisions related to an exception to certain requirements for compensation for overtime.

Section 8.5 of this bill authorizes the Administrator of the Employment Security Division of the Department of Employment, Training and Rehabilitation to assess against a person who is overpaid benefits certain administrative fees prescribed by an agency of the United States. Section 9 of this bill revises existing law by providing that certain fraudulent activity conducted by a person in order to obtain or increase any unemployment benefit or payment, including the filing of a claim while incarcerated without expressly disclosing that the person is incarcerated, constitutes unemployment insurance fraud. Section 9 also requires a person who commits unemployment insurance fraud to repay to the Administrator all of the benefits received by that person, in addition to any interest, penalties and costs. Section 9 further provides that a person is disqualified from receiving unemployment compensation benefits for a specified period, but authorizes the Administrator to waive the period of disqualification for good cause shown or if the person adheres to a repayment schedule. Additionally, section 9 provides that a person who obtains benefits of $250 or more while committing unemployment insurance fraud shall be punished in the same manner as if he committed theft. Section 9 also provides that the repayment of such benefits may not be done by the withholding of benefits otherwise due and payable to the person unless the period of disqualification is waived by the Administrator. Finally, section 9 authorizes the Administrator to impose a penalty equal to not more than 25 or 50 percent of the total amount of benefits improperly obtained by a person, depending on the amount improperly obtained by the person. (NRS 612.445)

Section 10 of this bill revises existing law by authorizing the Administrator to use money from the Employment Security Fund for the payment of costs of any program or the implementation of procedures for the proper payment of benefits and the collection of contributions and reimbursements. (NRS 612.615)

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 1 of this bill revises the responsibilities of unit-owners' associations of certain common-interest communities to provide that each such association is responsible for the maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of any security wall which is located within the common-interest community ~~.~~ , unless the governing documents provide otherwise. Section 2 of this bill similarly revises the law with respect to such security walls located in such common-interest communities which are governed by certain limited-purpose associations. (NRS 116.1201) Section 6 of this bill provides that if a common-interest community was created before October 1, 2009, the requirements of the bill do not apply to the common-interest community until January 1, 2013 ~~.~~ , unless the governing documents provide that the association is responsible for the maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of the security wall.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 116 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 and NRS 116.31135, the association is responsible for the maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of any security wall which is located within the common-interest community.

2. The provisions of this section do not apply if the governing documents provide that a unit's owner or an entity other than the association is responsible for the maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of the security wall.

3. For the purpose of carrying out the maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of a security wall pursuant to this section:

(a) The association, the members of its executive board and its officers, employees, agents and community manager may enter the grounds of a unit after providing written notice and, notwithstanding any other provision of law, are not liable for trespass.

(b) Any such maintenance, repair, restoration and replacement of a security wall must be performed:

(1) During normal business hours;

(2) Within a reasonable length of time; and

(3) In a manner that does not adversely affect access to a unit or the legal rights of a unit's owner to enjoy the use of his unit.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the executive board is prohibited from imposing an assessment without obtaining prior approval of the units' owners unless the total amount of the assessment is less than 5 percent of the annual budget of the association.

4. As used in this section, "security wall" means any wall composed of stone, brick, concrete, concrete blocks, masonry or similar building material, including, without limitation, ornamental iron or other fencing material, together with footings, pilasters, outriggers, grillwork, gates and other appurtenances, constructed around the perimeter of a residential subdivision with respect to which a final map has been recorded pursuant to NRS 278.360 to 278.460, inclusive, to protect the several tracts in the subdivision and their occupants from vandalism.

Sec. 2. NRS 116.1201 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.1201 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section and NRS 116.1203, this chapter applies to all common-interest communities created within this State.

2. This chapter does not apply to:

(2) Shall register with the Ombudsman pursuant to NRS 116.31158;

(3) Shall comply with the provisions of:

(I) NRS 116.31038, 116.31083 and 116.31152; ~~[and]~~

(II) Section 1 of this act, if the limited-purpose association is created for maintaining the landscape of the common elements of the common-interest community; and

(III) NRS 116.31075, if the limited-purpose association is created for a rural agricultural residential common-interest community;

(4) Shall comply with the provisions of NRS 116.4101 to 116.412, inclusive, as required by the regulations adopted by the Commission pursuant to paragraph (b) of subsection 5; and

(5) Shall not enforce any restrictions concerning the use of units by the units' owners, unless the limited-purpose association is created for a rural agricultural residential common-interest community.

(b) A planned community in which all units are restricted exclusively to nonresidential use unless the declaration provides that this chapter does apply to that planned community. This chapter applies to a planned community containing both units that are restricted exclusively to nonresidential use and other units that are not so restricted only if the declaration so provides or if the real estate comprising the units that may be used for residential purposes would be a planned community in the absence of the units that may not be used for residential purposes.

(c) Common-interest communities or units located outside of this State, but the provisions of NRS 116.4102 to 116.4108, inclusive, apply to all contracts for the disposition thereof signed in this State by any party unless exempt under subsection 2 of NRS 116.4101.

(d) A common-interest community that was created before January 1, 1992, is located in a county whose population is less than 50,000, and has less than 50 percent of the units within the community put to residential use, unless a majority of the units' owners otherwise elect in writing.

(e) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, time shares governed by the provisions of chapter 119A of NRS.

3. The provisions of this chapter do not:

(a) Prohibit a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992, from providing for separate classes of voting for the units' owners;

(b) Require a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992, to comply with the provisions of NRS 116.2101 to 116.2122, inclusive;

(c) Invalidate any assessments that were imposed on or before October 1, 1999, by a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992; or

(d) Prohibit a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992, or a common-interest community described in NRS 116.31105 from providing for a representative form of government.

4. The provisions of chapters 117 and 278A of NRS do not apply to common-interest communities.

5. The Commission shall establish, by regulation:

(a) The criteria for determining whether an association, a limited-purpose association or a common-interest community satisfies the requirements for an exemption or limited exemption from any provision of this chapter; and

(b) The extent to which a limited-purpose association must comply with the provisions of NRS 116.4101 to 116.412, inclusive.

6. As used in this section, "limited-purpose association" means an association that:

(a) Is created for the limited purpose of maintaining:

(1) The landscape of the common elements of a common-interest community;

(2) Facilities for flood control; or

(3) A rural agricultural residential common-interest community; and

(b) Is not authorized by its governing documents to enforce any restrictions concerning the use of units by units' owners, unless the limited-purpose association is created for a rural agricultural residential common-interest community.

116.1203 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, if a planned community contains no more than 12 units and is not subject to any developmental rights, it is subject only to NRS 116.1106 and 116.1107 unless the declaration provides that this entire chapter is applicable.

Conference Amendment No. CA24.

AN ACT relating to wildlife; providing for the permanent revocation of a license, permit or privilege to hunt, fish or trap in certain circumstances; requiring a person to maintain a principal and permanent residence in this State to be eligible for a resident license, tag or permit to hunt, fish or trap; providing for the forfeiture of a bonus point or other increased opportunity to be awarded a tag for making a false statement or furnishing false information in certain circumstances; requiring a person seeking to obtain a license, tag or permit on behalf of another for a fee or other compensation to have a power of attorney to do so; ~~[making it unlawful intentionally to remove, disturb or interfere with the trap of a holder of a trapping license under certain circumstances; providing a penalty;]~~ revising provisions governing certain additional big game tags; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law provides that a license, permit or privilege of a person to hunt, fish or trap may be suspended or revoked for wildlife convictions, but not for more than 3 years except in certain circumstances. The license, permit or privilege of a person who is convicted pursuant to NRS 501.376 of: (1) a gross misdemeanor may not be suspended or revoked for more than 5 years; and (2) a felony may not be suspended or revoked for more than 10 years. (NRS 501.1816) Section 2 of this bill expands the suspension and revocation penalties to require that the license, permit or privilege of a person who has been convicted of two or more felonies pursuant to NRS 501.376 be permanently revoked.

Existing law requires that a person meet certain requirements before he can be issued a resident license, tag or permit pursuant to chapter 502 of NRS. (NRS 502.015) Section 3 of this bill clarifies the language regarding domicile to mean maintaining a principal and permanent residence in this State beyond just owning a home in Nevada.

Existing law prohibits giving a false statement or furnishing false information to obtain any license, tag or permit, making such an action a misdemeanor, or to obtain a big game tag, making such an action a gross misdemeanor. (NRS 502.060) Section 4 of this bill adds a provision that any person who is convicted of giving a false statement or furnishing false information to obtain a license, tag, permit or big game tag forfeits any bonus point or other increased opportunity to be awarded a tag in a subsequent drawing.

Existing law requires a person attempting to obtain a license, tag or permit on behalf of another person to have a power of attorney giving him the authority to do so. (NRS 502.061) Section 5 of this bill restricts the requirement to have a power of attorney to only those persons attempting to acquire a license, tag or permit on behalf of another for a fee or other compensation.

~~[Existing law makes it unlawful for a person to remove or disturb the trap of a holder of a trapping license while the trap is being used by the trapper on public land or on land where he has permission to trap. (NRS 503.454) If a person commits such a violation, he is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 6 months, or by both fine and imprisonment. (NRS 501.385) Section 6 of this bill revises existing law by making it unlawful for a person intentionally to remove, disturb or interfere with the trap of the holder of the trapping license. Section 6 defines the phrase "interfere with" to mean any act that physically impedes, hinders or obstructs the trap.]~~ Sections 6.2-6.8, inclusive, of this bill revise various provisions governing certain additional big game tags to be known as "Dream Tags."

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. NRS 501.1814 is hereby amended to read as follows:

501.1814 1. The Commission shall establish and the Department shall administer and enforce a system of assessing demerit points for wildlife convictions. The system must be uniform in its operation.

2. Pursuant to the schedule of demerit points established by regulation of the Commission for each wildlife conviction occurring within this State affecting any holder of a license, permit or privilege issued pursuant to this title, the Department shall assess demerit points for the 60-month period preceding a person's most recent wildlife conviction. Sixty months after the date of the conviction, the demerit points for that conviction must be deleted from the total demerit points accumulated by that person. The date of the ~~[violation]~~ conviction shall be deemed the date on which accumulated demerit points must be assessed. If a conviction of two or more wildlife violations committed at a single event is obtained, demerit points must be assessed for the offense having the greater number of demerit points.

Sec. 2. NRS 501.1816 is hereby amended to read as follows:

501.1816 1. If a person accumulates 9 or more demerit points, but less than 12, the Department shall notify him of that fact by certified mail. If, after the Department mails the notice, the person presents proof to the Department that he has, after his most recent wildlife conviction, successfully completed a course of instruction in the responsibilities of hunters approved by the Department, the Department shall deduct 4 demerit points from his record. A person may attend a course of instruction in the responsibilities of hunters only once in 60 months for the purpose of reducing his demerit points.

2. If a person accumulates 12 or more demerit points before completing a course of instruction pursuant to subsection 1, the Department shall suspend or revoke any license, permit or privilege issued to him pursuant to this title.

3. Not later than 60 days after the Department determines that a person has accumulated 12 demerit points, the Department shall notify the person by certified mail that his privileges will be suspended or revoked. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 4, the Department shall suspend or revoke those privileges 30 days after it mails the notice.

4. Any person who receives the notice required by subsection 3 may submit to the Department a written request for a hearing before the Commission not later than 30 days after the receipt of the notice. If a written request for a hearing is received by the Department:

(a) The suspension or revocation of the license, permit or privilege is stayed until a determination is made by the Commission after the hearing.

(b) The hearing must be held within 60 days after the request is received.

5. The periods of suspension or revocation imposed pursuant to this section must run concurrently. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, no license, permit or privilege may be suspended or revoked pursuant to this section for more than 3 years. The license, permit or privilege of a person who is convicted pursuant to NRS 501.376 of:

(a) A gross misdemeanor may not be suspended or revoked for more than 5 years; ~~[or]~~

Conference Amendment No. CA16.

SUMMARY—Revises provisions governing the use and taxation of ~~[~~alternative~~]~~ certain fuels . ~~[and clean vehicles.]~~ (BDR 43-1147)

AN ACT relating to vehicles; revising provisions governing the use of alternative fuels and clean vehicles by fleets owned, operated or leased by certain state agencies and local governing bodies; authorizing a program to provide incentives to acquire clean vehicles and motor vehicles that use alternative fuels; providing for the taxation of ethanol and methanol as motor vehicle fuels and biodiesel and blends of biodiesel and petroleum-based diesel as special fuels; making various changes concerning the licensure and regulation of persons who manufacture special fuel; providing a penalty; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Sections 1-11 of this bill revise provisions governing the use of alternative fuels by certain fleet vehicles. (NRS 486A.010-486A.180) Section 4 revises the definition of "alternative fuel" to authorize the State Environmental Commission to define the term by regulation. (NRS 486A.030) Section 5 revises the definition of "fleet" to limit the applicability of sections 1-11 to a fleet of 50 or more motor vehicles which are registered in the same county and which are under the common control of and owned, leased or operated by a state agency or a local governing body. (NRS 486A.080) Section 6 excludes certain vehicles that have a manufacturer's gross vehicle weight rating of more than 26,000 pounds from the requirements of sections 1-11. (NRS 486A.110)

Section 12 of this bill revises provisions encouraging the voluntary use of clean vehicles and motor vehicles that use alternative fuels by persons who are not subject to the requirements of sections 1-11 of this bill. (NRS 486A.200)

Existing law provides for the taxation of certain motor vehicle fuels, including gasoline. (NRS 365.060, 365.175-365.192) Section 20 of this bill includes ethanol and methanol within the definition of "motor vehicle fuel" and thereby requires ethanol and methanol to be taxed in the same manner and at the same rate as gasoline. In addition, the inclusion of ethanol and methanol as motor vehicle fuels will subject dealers, suppliers, exporters and transporters of ethanol and methanol to the same requirements and penalties currently applicable to dealers, suppliers, exporters and transporters of gasoline, including, without limitation, requirements concerning licensing, bonding, recordkeeping and the collection and payment of taxes. (NRS 365.270, 365.290, 365.322, 365.324, 365.330, 365.500-365.530, 365.570-365.605) Sections 17 and 18 of this bill authorize the Department of Motor Vehicles to take certain administrative action against a person licensed pursuant to chapter 365 of NRS or a person who acts as a motor vehicle fuel supplier without a license, including the imposition of administrative fines and the suspension or revocation of the license of a licensee under certain circumstances.

Existing law provides for the taxation of certain special fuels for motor vehicles, including any combustible gas or liquid other than the fuels which are taxed as motor vehicle fuels pursuant to chapter 365 of NRS, and any emulsion of water-phased hydrocarbon fuel used in a motor vehicle. (NRS 366.060, 366.190, 366.195) Sections 23, 24 and 29 of this bill provide for the taxation of biodiesel and blends of biodiesel and a petroleum-based product as special fuels.

Section 25 of this bill defines a "special fuel manufacturer" as a person who manufactures, blends, produces, refines, prepares, distills or compounds only special fuel containing biodiesel or biodiesel blend in this State for his personal use in this State or for sale or delivery in or outside of this State. Section 30 of this bill exempts a special fuel manufacturer from regulation as a special fuel supplier. Section 33 of this bill prohibits a person from acting as a special fuel manufacturer without first obtaining a license from the Department of Motor Vehicles. The Department is authorized to adopt regulations relating to the issuance of a license to a special fuel manufacturer and to collect fees for the issuance of such a license.

Sections 40 and 41 of this bill require a special fuel manufacturer to file tax returns with the Department in the same manner as a special fuel dealer. Section 42 of this bill requires a special fuel manufacturer to pay the taxes on special fuels imposed by chapter 366 of NRS. Section 26 of this bill requires a special fuel manufacturer to submit certain monthly reports to the Department. Section 36 of this bill provides that the Department must require a special fuel manufacturer who is habitually delinquent in the payment of special fuel taxes to execute a bond payable to the State in an amount of not less than $2,500. Section 43 of this bill requires a special fuel manufacturer to keep certain records as required by the Department.

Sections 27 and 46 of this bill authorize the Department to take certain administrative action against a person licensed pursuant to chapter 366 of NRS or a person who acts as special fuel supplier without a license, including the imposition of administrative fines and the suspension or revocation of the license of a licensee under certain circumstances. A special fuel manufacturer or any other person who makes a false or fraudulent report with the intent to evade the taxes imposed pursuant to chapter 366 of NRS is guilty of a gross misdemeanor. (NRS 366.710) A special fuel manufacturer who violates any other provision of chapter 366 of NRS as amended by this bill is guilty of a misdemeanor. (NRS 366.720, 366.730)

(a) Paying to the Secretary of State the fees required pursuant to this title for filing the charter document; and

(b) Filing with the Secretary of State:

(1) Articles of domestication which must be signed by an authorized representative of the undomesticated organization approved in compliance with subsection 6;

(2) The appropriate charter document for the type of domestic entity; ~~[and]~~

(3) The information required pursuant to NRS 77.310 ~~[.]~~ ***;

(4) A certified copy of the charter document of the undomesticated organization; and

(5) A certificate of good standing, or the equivalent, from the jurisdiction where the undomesticated organization was chartered immediately before filing the articles of domestication pursuant to subparagraph (1).

2. The articles of domestication must set forth the:

(a) Date when and the jurisdiction where the undomesticated organization was first formed, incorporated, organized or otherwise created ~~[;]~~ and, if applicable, any date when and jurisdiction where the undomesticated organization was chartered after its formation;

(b) Name of the undomesticated organization immediately before filing the articles of domestication;

(c) Name and type of domestic entity as set forth in its charter document pursuant to subsection 1; and

(d) Jurisdiction that constituted the principal place of business or central administration of the undomesticated organization, or any other equivalent thereto pursuant to applicable law ~~[,~~

3. Upon filing the articles of domestication and the charter document with the Secretary of State, and the payment of the requisite fee for filing the charter document of the domestic entity, the undomesticated organization is domesticated in this State as the domestic entity described in the charter document filed pursuant to subsection 1. The existence of the domestic entity begins on the date the undomesticated organization began its existence in the jurisdiction in which the undomesticated organization was first formed, incorporated, organized or otherwise created.

4. The domestication of any undomesticated organization does not affect any obligations or liabilities of the undomesticated organization incurred before its domestication.

5. The filing of the charter document of the domestic entity pursuant to subsection 1 does not affect the choice of law applicable to the undomesticated organization. From the date the charter document of the domestic entity is filed, the law of this State applies to the domestic entity to the same extent as if the undomesticated organization was organized and created as a domestic entity on that date.

6. Before filing articles of domestication, the domestication must be approved in the manner required by:

(a) The document, instrument, agreement or other writing governing the internal affairs of the undomesticated organization and the conduct of its business; and

(b) Applicable foreign law.

7. When a domestication becomes effective, all rights, privileges and powers of the undomesticated organization, all property owned by the undomesticated organization, all debts due to the undomesticated organization, and all causes of action belonging to the undomesticated organization are vested in the domestic entity and become the property of the domestic entity to the same extent as vested in the undomesticated organization immediately before domestication. The title to any real property vested by deed or otherwise in the undomesticated organization is not reverted or impaired by the domestication. All rights of creditors and all liens upon any property of the undomesticated organization are preserved unimpaired and all debts, liabilities and duties of an undomesticated organization that has been domesticated attach to the domestic entity resulting from the domestication and may be enforced against it to the same extent as if the debts, liability and duties had been incurred or contracted by the domestic entity.

8. When an undomesticated organization is domesticated, the domestic entity resulting from the domestication is for all purposes deemed to be the same entity as the undomesticated organization. Unless otherwise agreed by the owners of the undomesticated organization or as required pursuant to applicable foreign law, the domestic entity resulting from the domestication is not required to wind up its affairs, pay its liabilities or distribute its assets. The domestication of an undomesticated organization does not constitute the dissolution of the undomesticated organization. The domestication constitutes a continuation of the existence of the undomesticated organization in the form of a domestic entity. If, following domestication, an undomesticated organization that has become domesticated pursuant to this section continues its existence in the foreign country or foreign jurisdiction in which it was existing immediately before the domestication, the domestic entity and the undomesticated organization are for all purposes a single entity formed, incorporated, organized or otherwise created and existing pursuant to the laws of this State and the laws of the foreign country or other foreign jurisdiction.

9. The owner liability of an undomesticated organization that is domesticated in this State:

(a) Is not discharged, pursuant to the laws of the previous jurisdiction of the organization, to the extent the owner liability arose before the effective date of the articles of domestication;

(b) Does not attach, pursuant to the laws of the previous jurisdiction of the organization, to any debt, obligation or liability of the organization that arises after the effective date of the articles of domestication;

(c) Is governed by the law of the previous jurisdiction of the organization, as if the domestication has not occurred, for the collection or discharge of owner liability not discharged pursuant to paragraph (a);

(d) Is subject to the right of contribution from any other shareholder, member, trustee, partner, limited partner or other owner of the undomesticated organization pursuant to the laws of the previous jurisdiction of the organization, as if the domestication has not occurred, for the collection or discharge of owner liability not discharged pursuant to paragraph (a); and

(e) Applies only to the debts, obligations or liabilities of the organization that arise after the effective date of the articles of domestication if the owner becomes subject to owner liability or some or all of the debts, obligations or liabilities of the undomesticated entity as a result of its domestication in this State.

10. As used in this section ~~[, "undomesticated]~~ ***:

Conference Amendment No. CA9.

AN ACT relating to professions; revising provisions governing the regulation of massage therapists by the Board of Massage Therapists; prohibiting certain misleading and deceptive practices relating to massage therapy; revising provisions governing the discipline of massage therapists; authorizing the Board to issue administrative citations and to impose administrative fines for certain violations; revising provisions governing the temporary suspension of licenses of massage therapists; requiring governmental agencies and courts of competent jurisdiction to provide certain records to the Board or its Executive Director upon request; authorizing governmental agencies and courts of competent jurisdiction to redact certain confidential information from records provided to the Board or its Executive Director; providing remedies and penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, massage therapists must be licensed by the Board of Massage Therapists. (Chapter 640C of NRS) Sections 2, 3 and 11 of this bill require a massage therapist to display his original license, not a copy or replica, at each location where he practices massage therapy. (NRS 640C.450) Section 3 prohibits a person from: (1) forging or counterfeiting a license; (2) altering, copying or replicating a license for the purpose of aiding or abetting an unlawful act; or (3) using or displaying a license that has been forged or counterfeited or has been altered, copied or replicated for the purpose of aiding or abetting an unlawful act.

Sections 4 and 16 of this bill prohibit an unlicensed person from advertising as a massage therapist and prohibit a licensed person from using any false or misleading statements in advertising. (NRS 640C.910) Sections 4 and 16 also prohibit an unlicensed person from having his name listed in a telephone directory under a heading such as "massage" which indicates or implies that he is licensed or qualified to practice massage therapy. Sections 4 and 16 also authorize the Board to issue an order to cease and desist from engaging in unlawful advertising. Sections 4, 18 and 19 of this bill contain provisions whereby the Board can have telephone numbers for any type of telephone, messaging or paging service disconnected because they are included in unlawful advertising. (NRS 703.175, 707.355)

Existing law authorizes the Board to take disciplinary action by imposing administrative fines. (NRS 640C.710) Section 14 of this bill provides that the Board may impose an administrative fine of not more than $5,000 for each violation, unless a greater fine is required pursuant to section 5 of this bill. Section 5 requires the Board to impose, based on the number of violations, increasing administrative fines of not more than $10,000 against a licensee who has engaged in or solicited sexual activity during a massage therapy session or has been convicted of ~~[a crime involving violence,]~~ prostitution or any other sexual offense that occurred during a massage therapy session.

Section 6.3 of this bill authorizes the Board to issue administrative citations for any statutory or regulatory violations relating to massage therapy and provides that an unlicensed person who fails to comply with a citation is guilty of a misdemeanor. A citation may include an order to: (1) pay an administrative fine; (2) correct a condition resulting from a violation; and (3) reimburse the Board for expenses incurred to investigate the violation, not to exceed $150. Section 6.5 of this bill allows a person to request a hearing before the Board to contest an administrative citation.

Under existing law, an applicant for a license to practice massage therapy is required to pass a written examination. (NRS 640C.400) Section 10.5 of this bill authorizes an applicant, at his discretion, to pass an oral examination in lieu of the written examination.

Existing law provides for the temporary suspension of a massage therapy license without a prior hearing for a period of 15 or 30 days under certain exigent circumstances. (NRS 640C.720) Generally, procedural due process entitles a licensee to a hearing before his license is suspended. (Barry v. Barchi, 443 U.S. 55, 99 S. Ct. 2642 (1979); U.S. Const. Amend. XIV, § 1; Nev. Const. Art. 1, § 8) However, when exigent circumstances justify immediate action, a statute may provide for the temporary suspension of a license without a prior hearing if the statute requires a post-suspension administrative review where a hearing is held and a final decision is rendered as promptly as is practicable. (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation v. Mallen, 486 U.S. 230, 108 S. Ct. 1780 (1988); Sierra Life Insurance Company v. Rottman, 95 Nev. 654 (1979)) Section 15 of this bill: (1) provides for the temporary suspension of a massage therapy license without a prior hearing for a period not to exceed 15 business days under certain exigent circumstances; (2) authorizes the licensee to request a post-suspension administrative review; and (3) requires the Board to hold a hearing and render a final decision as promptly as is practicable but not later than 10 business days after the date of the initial suspension. (NRS 640C.720)

Section 15 of this bill also authorizes the Board and its Executive Director to request from the appropriate governmental agency or court of competent jurisdiction records relating to any conviction of a massage therapist for a crime involving violence, prostitution or any other sexual offense and authorizes those governmental agencies and courts of competent jurisdiction to redact from those records certain information which the agencies or courts deem confidential. (NRS 640C.720) Sections 15 and 17 of this bill require the governmental agency or court of competent jurisdiction to provide the requested records as soon as reasonably practicable. (NRS 179A.100) Section 15 also provides that the Board and its Executive Director: (1) must maintain the confidentiality of the records; and (2) may use the records for the sole and limited purpose of determining whether to take disciplinary action against the massage therapist.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 640C of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 8, inclusive, of this act.

(b) Has been counterfeited or forged;

(c) Has been altered, copied or replicated for the purpose of aiding or abetting an unlawful act; or

(d) Has been issued to another person.

3. A person who violates any provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. 1. A person shall not advertise as a massage therapist in this State unless the person is licensed to practice massage therapy pursuant to this chapter.

2. A person licensed to practice massage therapy pursuant to this chapter shall not disseminate, as part of any advertising by the massage therapist, any false or misleading statement or representation of material fact that is intended, directly or indirectly, to induce another person to use the services of the massage therapist.

3. All advertising by a licensed massage therapist must include his name and the name of his company, if applicable. All advertising in a telephone directory or a newspaper must also include the number of his license.

4. A person who violates any provision of subsection 1 or 2 is guilty of a misdemeanor.

5. If, after notice and a hearing as required by law, the Board determines that a person has willfully engaged in advertising in a manner that violates the provisions of this section or NRS 640C.910, the Board may, in addition to any penalty, punishment or disciplinary action authorized by the provisions of this chapter, order the person to cease and desist the unlawful advertising. The provisions of this subsection do not apply to any person whose license has been expired for less than 90 days or is temporarily suspended.

6. The Board may order any person convicted of a crime involving violence, prostitution or any other sexual offense to cause any telephone number included in the advertising to be disconnected from service. If the Board orders the person to cause any telephone number to be disconnected from service and the person fails to comply within 5 days after the date on which he is served with the order, the Board may:

(a) If the provider is regulated by the Public Utilities Commission of Nevada, request the Commission to order the provider to disconnect the telephone number from service pursuant to NRS 703.175 and 707.355; or

(b) If the provider is not regulated by the Public Utilities Commission of Nevada, request the provider to disconnect the telephone number from service and inform the provider that the request is made pursuant to this section. Upon receiving such a request, the provider shall take such action as is necessary to disconnect the telephone number from service.

7. A provider shall not:

(a) Forward or offer to forward the telephone calls of a telephone number disconnected from service pursuant to this section; or

(b) Provide or offer to provide a message that includes a new telephone number for the person whose telephone number was disconnected from service pursuant to this section.

8. If a provider complies in good faith with a request to disconnect a telephone number from service pursuant to this section, such good-faith compliance shall constitute a complete defense to any civil or criminal action brought against the provider arising from the disconnection or termination of service.

9. As used in this section:

(a) "Advertising" means the intentional placement or issuance of any sign, card or device, or the permitting or allowing of any sign or marking on a motor vehicle, in any building, structure, newspaper, magazine or airway transmission, on the Internet or in any directory under the listing of "massage therapist" or "massage."

(b) "Provider" means a provider of any type of telephone, messaging or paging service.

Sec. 5. 1. In addition to any other actions authorized by NRS 640C.710, if, after notice and a hearing as required by law, the Board determines that a licensee has engaged in or solicited sexual activity during the course of practicing massage on a person, as set forth in subsection 4 of NRS 640C.700, or has been convicted of ~~[a crime involving violence,]~~ prostitution or any other sexual offense that occurred during the course of practicing massage on a person, the Board shall:

(a) For a first violation, impose an administrative fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1,000;

(b) For a second violation, impose an administrative fine of not less than $250 and not more than $5,000; and

(c) For a third violation and for each additional violation, impose an administrative fine of not less than $500 and not more than $10,000.

2. The Board shall, by regulation, establish standards for use by the Board in determining the amount of an administrative fine imposed pursuant to this section. The standards must include, without limitation, provisions requiring the Board to consider:

(a) The gravity of the violation;

(b) The good faith of the licensee; and

(c) Any history of previous violations of the provisions of this chapter committed by the licensee.

Sec. 6. The expiration of a license by operation of law or by order or decision of the Board or a court, or the voluntary surrender of a license by a licensee, does not deprive the Board of jurisdiction to proceed with any investigation of, or action or disciplinary proceeding against, the licensee or to render a decision suspending or revoking the license.

Sec. 6.3. 1. If the Board or its designee, based upon a preponderance of the evidence, has reason to believe that a person has committed an act which constitutes a violation of this chapter or the regulations of the Board, the Board or its designee, as appropriate, may issue or authorize the issuance of a written administrative citation to the person. A citation issued pursuant to this section may include, without limitation:

(a) An order to take action to correct a condition resulting from an act that constitutes a violation of this chapter or the regulations of the Board, at the person's cost;

(b) An order to pay an administrative fine for each violation; and

(c) An order to reimburse the Board for the amount of the expenses incurred to investigate each violation, not to exceed $150.

2. If the citation includes an order to take action to correct a condition resulting from an act that constitutes a violation of this chapter or the regulations of the Board, the citation must:

(a) State the time permitted for compliance, which must not be less than 15 business days after the date on which the citation is received by the person; and

(b) Describe, in specific detail, the action required to be taken.

3. If the citation is issued to a licensee and includes an order to pay an administrative fine for one or more violations, the amount of the administrative fine must not exceed the maximum amount authorized by NRS 640C.710 or section 5 of this act, as appropriate for each violation.

4. If the citation is issued to an unlicensed person and includes an order to pay an administrative fine for one or more violations, the amount of the administrative fine:

(a) For a first violation, must not be less than $100 and must not be more than $1,000;

(b) For a second violation, must not be less than $250 and must not be more than $5,000; and

(c) For a third violation and for each additional violation, must not be less than $500 and must not be more than $10,000.

5. The sanctions authorized by this section are separate from, and in addition to, any other remedy, civil or criminal, authorized by this chapter.

6. The failure of an unlicensed person to comply with a citation or order after it is final is a misdemeanor. If an unlicensed person does not pay an administrative fine imposed pursuant to this section or make satisfactory payment arrangements, as approved by the Board, within 60 days after the order of the Board becomes final, the order may be executed upon in the same manner as a judgment issued by a court.

Sec. 6.5. 1. If a person is issued a written administrative citation pursuant to section 6.3 of this act, the person may request a hearing before the Board to contest the citation by filing a written request with the Board:

(a) Not later than 15 business days after the date on which the citation is received by the person; or

(b) If the Board, for good cause shown, extends the time allowed to file a written request for a hearing to contest the citation, on or before the later date specified by the Board.

2. If the person files a written request for a hearing to contest the citation within the time allowed pursuant to this section:

(a) The Board shall provide notice of and conduct the hearing in the same manner as other disciplinary proceedings; and

(b) At the hearing, the person may contest, without limitation:

(1) The facts forming the basis for the determination that the person has committed an act which constitutes a violation of this chapter or the regulations of the Board;

(2) The time allowed to take any corrective action ordered;

(3) The amount of any administrative fine ordered;

(4) The amount of any order to reimburse the Board for the expenses incurred to investigate the violation; and

(5) Whether any corrective action described in the citation is reasonable.

3. If the person does not file a written request for a hearing to contest the citation within the time allowed pursuant to this section, the citation shall be deemed a final order of the Board.

4. For the purposes of this section, a citation shall be deemed to have been received by a person:

(a) On the date on which the citation is personally delivered to the person; or

(b) If the citation is mailed, 3 days after the date on which the citation is mailed by certified mail to the last known business or residential address of the person.

Conference Amendment No. CA8.

AN ACT relating to real property; revising provisions relating to a notice of sale of real property under execution; establishing the crime of defacing a notice of sale of real property under execution or a notice of sale of real property pursuant to a trustee's power of sale; establishing rights and duties of a purchaser of real property pursuant to a foreclosure sale and establishing rights and duties of a tenant in possession of such property; revising provisions relating to a sale of real property pursuant to a trustee's power of sale; requiring a landlord to make certain disclosures to a prospective tenant; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Sections 2 and 7 of this bill revise existing law by requiring that a notice of sale of real property under execution or a notice of sale of real property pursuant to a trustee's power of sale be served upon the State Board of Health if the real property is operated as a licensed health facility. Sections 2 and 6.7 of this bill require, if the sale of property is a residential foreclosure, a separate notice to be served upon any tenant or subtenant, other than the judgment debtor, in actual occupation of the real property subject to a notice of sale under execution or a notice of sale pursuant to a trustee's power of sale to inform the tenant or subtenant that the property is subject to a notice of sale. (NRS 21.130) Sections 3 and 8 of this bill make it unlawful for a person to willfully remove or deface a notice of sale under execution or a notice of sale pursuant to a trustee's power of sale which is posted on real property. (NRS 21.140, 107.084) Sections 4 and 6 of this bill require the purchaser of a vacant residential property at a foreclosure sale or a trustee's sale to maintain the exterior of the property. Sections 4 and 6 also authorize the appropriate governmental entity to assess a civil penalty of up to $1,000 per day, under certain circumstances, for failure to maintain the property.

Existing law provides that a person who holds over and continues in possession of real property that has been foreclosed after a 3-day notice to quit has been served upon him may be removed. (NRS 40.255) Section 5 of this bill provides that a tenant or subtenant, other than the person whose name appears on the mortgage or deed of trust, may be removed only after the expiration of a specified period not to exceed 60 days if the property has been sold as a residential foreclosure. Section 5 also requires the tenant or subtenant who remains in occupation of the real property to remit rent to the new owner of the property pending expiration of the specified period. Section 5 further prohibits any person from entering a record of eviction for a tenant or subtenant who vacates the property within the specified period if the property has been sold as a residential foreclosure. Finally, section 5 allows the new owner of the real property, if the property has been sold as a residential foreclosure, to negotiate a new purchase, lease or rental agreement with the tenant or subtenant in occupation of the property or to offer a payment in exchange for the tenant or subtenant vacating the property on a date earlier than the end of the specified period.

Section 5.5 of this bill requires a landlord to file proof of service with the court of any notice required to be served before the removal of a person who holds over and continues in possession of real property after receiving a 3-day notice to quit. (NRS 40.280)

Section 9 of this bill requires a landlord to disclose in writing to a prospective tenant if the property to be leased or rented is the subject of foreclosure proceedings. Section 9 also makes it a deceptive trade practice for any landlord to willfully fail to make such a disclosure.

Section 10 of this bill amends section 3 of Assembly Bill No. 149 of this session to ensure that social security numbers are redacted from the copy of a promissory note before it is attached to a notice given before a trustee's power of sale is carried out. (NRS 107.085)

Assembly in recess at 9:27 a.m.

ASSEMBLY IN SESSION

At 9:39 a.m.
Madam Speaker presiding.
Quorum present.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Let's turn our attention to some of our legislators who won't be returning to the Assembly. May we consider Mark Manendo?

Assemblyman Manendo has been a member of this body since 1994. We were in the same freshman class together, along with, on the Democratic side, David Goldwater and Genie Ohrenschall. The rest of the freshman class were Republicans. It was the year of our 21-21 tie.

Mark has served in a variety of positions—as Assistant Majority Whip, chairman of Government Affairs, vice chairman of both Transportation and Health and Human Services, and chair of the Legislative Commission's Subcommittee to Study Categories of Misdemeanors. But he is really known to all of us for his ready smile, his idealism, and his energy. There is probably no person that I have met that cares more about the people of his district or works harder to serve them than Mark Manendo.

Mark is a native of Pennsylvania. He first became interested in politics as a child when his mother, whom we all know and love, ran for the local school board. Although she lost, Mark was bitten by the political bug and has been involved in politics ever since. His family moved to Las Vegas when he was a teenager, and he graduated from Chaparral High School in 1985. In 1990, he became involved in the legislative campaign of his predecessor, Assemblyman William Petrak. In 1994 when Mr. Petrak expressed an interest in retiring, Mr. Manendo ran for the Assembly himself.

During his service, Mark has concentrated on legislation that helps to directly improve the lives of citizens. He sponsored a bill that authorized police departments to train citizens to write tickets to drivers who park illegally in handicapped spaces. That had been an area where the police didn't really have time to enforce it, and folks that were truly disabled had trouble. As a result of his efforts, compliance has greatly improved.

Mark's father was a veteran. and he has always been a champion of the interests of veterans. In 2003, he sponsored legislation to allow the acceptance of gifts to support the veterans' cemeteries. He has been just as active with mobile home parks, and he's been instrumental in the passing of several pieces of legislation ensuring the safety of mobile parks and protecting the rights of those who rent space in parks. He has been the chairman of our mobile home caucus for the last several sessions. He has also championed laws regarding drinking and driving. To many of the freshmen—sometimes it takes a while for ideas to gain acceptance. Mark was at the forefront before anyone else with regard to DUI. He fought for sessions to get the law passed to lower the threshold from .10 to .08. It wasn't too long ago that we just really didn't take seriously the issue of DUI and the people killed on our roads by others. He was also instrumental in passing laws prohibiting the use of minors in distributing materials promoting alcohol and requiring DUI offenders with blood alcohol content exceeding .18 to get treatment. As a result of these efforts, he was three times given the Legislative Leadership Award by the National Commission Against Drunk Driving.

Mark Manendo's passion is encouraging citizens to get involved in the political process. He works to reach out to the people in his district and find out what issues most concern them. He walks his district and knocks on every door. He is one of the rare legislators that actually walks and knocks on doors during the session on the weekends. He constantly attends and participates in community events. He is a tireless volunteer for all kinds of causes that benefit the community. He frequently returns to his alma mater, Chaparral High School, to speak to students in social science and government classes. He is especially passionate about reaching new voters and often carries with him a stack of voter registration forms. He is involved in anything that happens to his community. We have a saying that no one can outwork Mark Manendo. The people return him here because they know him, they like him, and they trust him.

You've been a good friend to me, Mark, since our freshman days. We've gone through a lot together and seen a lot of changes together. This body will miss you. Thank you for your years of service.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SPIEGEL:

I stand to thank Mark Manendo for reaching out to the whole community. It is said very often that all politics is local. Mark is the epitome of somebody who gets out there and reaches out to meet people, encourage them, and help them.

I first met Mark a number of years ago before I ever thought of running for office. Mark was always there with a smile and encouragement and looking to see what the problems were and if there was something he could do to help. His tireless energy—we see every day. Anybody who has ever been in a committee meeting with Mark will hear him say very often, "I just got an email from a constituent." "I was just in the supermarket, and I saw a constituent who said that we need to be doing this." "I just got a phone call from a constituent." I don't know if there is anybody in this building who is in better contact with their constituents than Mark Manendo. I know the people of Nevada have been really fortunate to have you, and I hope I have learned a lot from you on how to work with and to reach out to constituents. I hope that the lessons of Mark Manendo continue, because Nevada will be a better place for them. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MORTENSON:

I would like everyone to look at the pinwheel on Mark's desk. There is something significant about that—spiritual, I think. There is no other pinwheel in this whole Assembly that is turning except for Mark's. The funny thing is that it turns even when he is not there.

I have to bring up an incident that happened a few years ago. Somehow or other, all the legislators' laptops got a virus, and then it was blamed on Dennis Nolan. Dennis used to sit right over here somewhere. So the next day he came in with a paper bag over his head and two slits cut in for his eyes, and he held up a sign, "I didn't do it." Everybody laughed very hard, and then he held up a second sign that said "Mark Manendo did it."

I think Mark has one of the greatest senses of humor in this Assembly, and his culprit who is sitting next to him used to be second-in-command in that area. or maybe first. They are two peas in a pod. We are going to miss him terribly. Of course, again, I'm not going to be here to miss him, but I will miss him wherever I am. Thank you very much, Mark. We love you and we'll miss you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN PIERCE:

I can't add to what the Speaker said. You work tirelessly for your constituents, and you always have the little guy in your thoughts as you move through this process. I just wanted to thank you for your service.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

I have to say some good things about my good friend Mark. He is a great guy, and everybody is right: He is the hardest worker that you can imagine. I can remember when I first came here, he was so concerned about the noise barriers. People were saying, "Those would cost millions of dollars." He said he didn't care—you put them on the other side of town, you can put them on our side of town. He fought fearlessly, like a gladiator fighting a big lion. And guess what? Today you have wall barriers all over 215, all over the freeways where he was wanting them in his district.

Mark, you are a great guy. I love you. You've got a great family. Take care of Robin. I'm not going to miss you because I'm going to be with you and see you all the time. We will always be pals until they close that lid down on this fat boy. Thank you, Mark.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Mark. We've always been friends; we've always had a great time. I'm going to miss you, too. If you ever need a real home in a mobile home park, come to Elko.

ASSEMBLYMAN DENIS:

I rise in support of my neighbor, Mark Manendo. I have known him much longer than I've been in the Legislature. I remember coming up to the Legislature with the PTA and advocating. One of the things I do remember was the DUI stuff that he was doing. Year after year, we tried to get it, but we just couldn't get it quite there. Mark was always there fighting for that. My other colleague just mentioned the sound barriers. Every time I travel anywhere now and I see a sound barrier on a freeway, I always think of Mark and the testament that if you work something long enough, eventually you'll get it. I appreciate all that you do. I appreciate your commitment and your passion. Nevada is a better place because of your service. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

I think Assemblyman Manendo gave new definition to the word "fight" for sound barriers, and I'll just leave it at that.

One of the things I appreciate about you, Mark, is your ability to understand people and know who needs to be recognized in committee, to involve everybody's opinion and be able to focus without them even saying anything, and to know how to involve everybody on the committee. It was very admirable. As I, as a freshman, came to Government Affairs and watched your ability to include people and their comments and work that committee, I appreciated that. Thank you, Mark.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Yesterday Mark mentioned a little bit about a trip that we made around the state. As Paul Harvey would say, "I'd like to tell you the rest of the story." What really happened is we started out in Las Vegas with a number of legislators in a van; it was sponsored by NACO and the Nevada League of Cities when I was with them. We made the tour up through the rural area. Many of the legislators had never been on that route. We stopped at a ranch, and there happened to be a number of cattle that were watering there. As we were talking to the people that owned the ranch, Mark kind of wandered off. We thought, "Well, I wonder where he's gone?" So we snuck around to see what Mark would do. He was over there—and I'll exaggerate it a little bit—but he was saying, "Moo, moo." So we had to tell Mark to be careful—that those cows were trying to mother up with their calves, and they may mistake Mark for one of the calves. That night when we went to Elko—we couldn't resist it—we did buy him that bell, but not only the bell but a big collar to go with it. The next morning when we left Elko, Mark had the bell on, and it rang, and it rang, and it rang until—I think it was Ms. Koivisto—told him "Mark, take off that damn bell or we're throwing both of you out the window." Mark, it was a good trip, and we appreciate it.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

I have had the pleasure of having Mr. Manendo on the Judiciary Committee. His predecessor, who was also on the Judiciary Committee, first brought Mark up, and he would sit in the back of the committee room in the old Judiciary, which is now a hallway. I got to know him early on as somebody who cared deeply about the political process first, and then as a member. When I look at my almanac for the day, June 1, there is a statement from Captain Lawrence about his pending loss of his ship: "Don't give up the ship." While Perry gets the credit for the use of that term on the name of his ship in Lake Erie, it was Lawrence who is often forgotten about. "Don't give up the ship" is Mark Manendo. When my colleague wondered about the pinwheel on Mark's desk that was constantly turning, I thought it was appropriate because he is a Don Quixote, that is, someone who tilts at windmills that seem impossible to others, but he will make sure that he lifts them as soon as he gets the opportunity. Mr. Manendo, for your tenacity, for your "don't give up the ship" attitude, for all those drunk drivers who are going to stay off the road because you gave them a second chance to show them the error of their ways and they changed their behavior as a result, the people of this state are thankful for your presence here.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

I'll remember my friend Mark Manendo for his strong advocacy of the cultural arts, and I appreciate that. Also, he is always cheerful and caring. The only time I've seen him when he wasn't cheerful was when he was concerned about a certain bill about a week and a half ago—he got a little angry then. We'll miss you, Mark, and thank you for your service.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

I first met Mark at Paradise Democratic Club meetings and Young Democrats meetings, before he was elected to the Assembly. I am proud of everything that you have done for your constituents and how you delivered for the Whitney area of Las Vegas, everything you've done for the veterans' home in southern Nevada, everything you've done for victims' rights groups and for mobile home parks. You're really someone who has brought home the bacon to the people you represent. We'll miss you, Mark.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

I got to know Mark before I came to this body. I work for the county, but I used to be a neighborhood liaison, and I staffed the Whitney town hall. I believe Mark was there more than I was. I later learned that he was the Assemblyman for the area, and I admired his work ethic and what he meant to his constituents. I believe staff and I were supposed to lead those meetings, but I remember somehow he led most of them. You can tell that his constituents really admire his work and how hard he works for them. It was no wonder to me when I read and understood later how much he walked his district and how much he walked during the interim. Over the years, Mark and I have become pretty good friends, I believe. We talk from time to time when we're not in session about a lot of issues.

I have been privileged to have him as vice chair of the Transportation Committee the last two sessions. We don't always agree, but I understand where he stands. He is very, very strong when it comes to safety in our state. He really, really wants to do what is right when it comes to safety, whether it is texting, seat belts, or cell phone usage. You guys don't sit by him and have to disagree with him in committee. He doesn't give up, and he's almost had me a couple times the last few sessions. He was close; if we had gone 123 days, he would have had me. He is just a fighter.

I've always admired that about you, Mark. I know you are a good man, and I know you're not done. I know you have a lot more to contribute to our state. I will end by wishing you all the best of luck, and I am sure that the following of your district doesn't end today. Good luck, and we appreciate you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN MCCLAIN:

Mark, we have been friends for a long time. We have had a lot of fun together. You are a great advocate for your constituents, and I know you work really hard. It has been great working with you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HOGAN:

I rise to defend our friend, M&M, against any slings or arrows that might be cast his way. He has become one of my closest friends here, and I have enjoyed his humor and his friendship and his clever ideas on where to go at night. I keep getting surprised in and around my own district when people that I'm trying to convince that I'm a heck of a legislator say, "Yeah, but do you know a fellow up there named Manendo?" He is one of the most widely known folks in my district, which is not particularly close to his, but everybody seems to know Mark. He makes a lasting impression in one way or another.

Everyone has mentioned the sound walls. The thing I think about every time I look at Mark is how someone who looks so young could be termed out. We must have a very short term limit period that it could happen so quickly to someone who looks like he is still reaching for age 27 or 28. It leaves us all to wonder who could possibly take up the cause as effectively as Mark has carried the cause of bringing blessed silence to our very, very noisy city by extending sound walls up and down every street and avenue until finally we are totally enclosed, totally soundproof, and able to enjoy the peace and quiet of our own families. Thank you so much, Mark, for all of the fun, for all of the excellent legislative contributions, and for giving us a good example of how to fully cultivate the crop of constituents who live on our respective farms. Thanks again, and we will be seeing you regularly.

SENATOR DENNIS NOLAN:

Thank you, Madam Speaker, for extending me the privilege of the floor. It really wasn't planned. It was fortuitous that I was here during this celebration of my good friend Mark Manendo's time here in this house. I would be remiss if I didn't stand up and say a couple of things, having spent eight years here and coming here in 1995 with Mark. We hadn't met each other before coming here in 1995. I guess we're the original members of the vertically-challenged caucus, and we've had this ongoing debate about who is taller. But I guess when you're under 5 foot 6 inches, it really doesn't matter who is taller.

We have had a great time together, and that's what happens in these chambers. You get to enjoy each other's company and develop friendships that you never thought you would have. I do have to share a couple of stories about Mark that maybe aren't too well known. The first rural tour we took, we went down to Minden to see a dairy farm. We were in the middle of this large round building where the cows step onto a conveyor belt, and they throw the mechanism on the udder to get the milk. We were kind of amazed by that, not having seen it before, and I saw a photo opportunity for Mark. I wanted to get a picture of Mark with one of the cows with this whole contraption on her in the background. I got the camera ready, and I asked Mark to back up so we could just see the tail end of the cow, because the cows were face in and they were going around this big conveyor belt. I noticed the next cow coming across had its tail up. I wasn't too sure about a lot of things with cows, but I kind of figured what that was. So I asked Mark to take another step back. Just about that time, he took a guacamole shower. It was a terrible thing to do, but he and I were always goofing and getting into trouble.

One of our favorite times was putting a whoopee cushion behind Sandi Krenzer as she sat between the two of us. We just looked at it, and she would lean back and lean forth and lean back and lean forth, and then she started to lean back and David Goldwater stepped behind her. It went off, and they both stared at each for two seconds thinking, "Oh, my gosh."

Some of the best times we had were challenging the chairman of Judiciary's patience and mettle, and he finally had to separate us in that committee.

Mark is a wonderful friend. Mark says he is coming over to the Senate. All I can say is get ready to leave your youthful appearance behind, because when you step through that magic looking glass, you start looking like them—you get old.

Madam Speaker, thank you very much for the opportunity. Mark, happy trails, and maybe we'll see you on the other side.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Mark, thank you for your service. Thank you for everything you've done for our state. Thanks for the cow stories, too.

Now, may we consider Assemblywoman Kathy McClain?

Kathy was also first elected in 1998. For the past two sessions, she has served as chair for the Committee on Taxation, a position which was especially critical this session. During the most recent interim, she chaired the study on the issues relating to senior citizens and veterans. She has also chaired the Task Force for a Healthy Nevada, the Nevada Commission on Aging, and the Nevada Commission on Veterans' Services.

I got to know Kathy during her first term in 1999 when we served together on Judiciary and Health and Human Services. I soon realized that she was smart, hardworking, and plain-spoken. She always said exactly what she meant and let the chips fall where they might. She has been a great sounding board to me. I think probably this session, I have gotten to know Kathy better than in all the other sessions because we worked so closely together on the budget.

Kathy was born in Greeley, Colorado, during World War II. What—it must have been the very end. Her father was in England in the Army Air Corps, and her mother was living with her grandparents and working in a munitions factory in Denver. After the war, her family moved back to the farm in Iowa, where she grew up with four siblings and acquired her strong work ethic. Later she returned to Colorado, where she lived until she moved to Nevada. Kathy earned a bachelor's degree in public administration from Regis University in Denver and a master's in public administration from UNLV. She also earned an academic certificate in gerontology, reflecting her strong interest in the study of the elderly. She has a strong passion in policies affecting senior citizens.

During the most recent interim, she chaired the study relating to senior citizens. If you were asked any questions recently by Kathy about interim committees and study committees this interim, it was because I promised her she could have her committee on seniors and veterans, but only if she removed some of the 35 committees that we had unwittingly authorized this session. She took on the task—not a pleasant assignment—because of her passion for senior citizens' and veterans' issues. Another of her passions has been health care. She strengthened many of our public health programs when she chaired the Task Force for a Healthy Nevada. It also ended up improving her health habits. As you know, one of the jobs of the Task Force is to determine how to improve public health and how to fund antismoking activities. Kathy, herself, at the time was a heavy smoker and in fact used to sneak cigarettes in her office, thinking I would not find out about it. But I find out about everything in this building and had to do some enforcement of our no smoking rules. One of the witnesses before the Task Force was Dr. Elizabeth Fildes, the director of the Nevada Tobacco Users' Helpline, and she prevailed upon Kathy to set an example by breaking her own smoking habit, which she did.

Throughout her legislative career, Kathy has represented an older area of Las Vegas. She fought to ensure her district and areas like it get the schools, public facilities, and services they need. In recent years, much of our attention has focused on the growing suburbs, and Kathy has always been an important voice for our older neighborhoods.

Kathy has also been a mentor and an inspiration for the young women who are just entering politics. She is an active participant and member of the faculty for the new leadership program at UNLV, a program to educate and empower the next generation of women leaders. At the conclusion of this week-long seminar at UNLV for college-age women, she always invites the participants to her home to meet the other women in the Legislature. She has fought for funding for that program and has made it possible. They were just recognized nationally, won an award, and I think it is in large measure due to Kathy's support of the program and her fight for the funding. I also have to thank her because I got one of our interns from the new leadership program when I went to speak most recently. Edith Gonzalez Duarte, who is a Regents Scholar and whom I think you have all met, approached me and said "You inspired me. Can I volunteer for you at the special session?" She volunteered for two of them, and then came back. When I see young, bright women like that who ultimately will take one of these seats, she was inspired through Kathy's vision and that program.

So whether it is her work with veterans, the commission, or every piece of legislation—they are tremendous tributes. I have never seen a better tribute given by this body than the ones arranged by Kathy McClain for our veterans. Whether it is veterans, seniors, public health, or inspiring the next generation of women, you have left your mark on this body, and for that we applaud you. Thank you for your service.

ASSEMBLYMAN MANENDO:

Ms. McClain and I have been friends for a long time. We have worked on a lot of projects together. We have had opportunities to have a little fun, and we certainly know that she and her husband Dave throw some nice get-togethers at their house, and we are grateful for that because it brings all of us together. Some of our caucus meetings we've had at your house, and we've had an opportunity to break bread together as an extended family.

We are absolutely grateful for her work in the community for seniors and veterans. The state is going to miss her.

Kathy, you are a good spirit, a hard worker, and we're going to miss you. We appreciate your dedication and your hard work for the State of Nevada, and we love you. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

Kathy is a real good friend of mine along with my family. She is a real great legislator, but better than that, she is a great cook. I have been to her home many times, and she is a fabulous cook. Kathy, I wish you luck in all your endeavors, and I know you will go places. I am not going to miss you, either, because I going to be around here helping you do whatever you want to do. It is good to see you today, and I will see you tomorrow, too. Goodbye, now. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MORTENSON:

Everybody has talked about Kathy as a legislator; I want to talk about her as a lobbyist. My first session here, she represented local government as a lobbyist, and she was a fearsome lobbyist.

It was my first session, and I was trying to right all the wrongs of local government. I had a bill that said something to the effect that when there was testimony before the commissions or the councils, the negative side would have equal time with the positive side in these discussions and in the debates and so on. Local government did not like that at all, and Kathy, I think, was the fearsome one who led the charge, and it was dreadful. I finally backed off and pulled the bill. She was the one who made me do it. She is really good at that, but she is also a great legislator. She puts the same fearsomeness in the tax committee that she did earlier. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Kathy, you and I have been on a number of committees together, and you've always worked hard. Last session, we were on the corrections committee, and we did a lot of good things there to hopefully stabilize the prison population. Because if this time we'd have had to put as much money in the budget as we did last session, we'd have had to get maybe $2 billion in tax increases. Thank you for all your hard work and for being my friend.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

First of all, Kathy clearly knows the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Her food is no doubt a telling point. My lips, this time, have missed the opportunity to burn with the hot peppers. Kathy's tales of the sea adventures of her and her husband have always fascinated me.

I can't think of Kathy without thinking of her sidekick, because I see the two of them together and think of them as a single force in the Judiciary Committee. After some time in committee, the two of them would take time to get a smoke, and you could see that all they wanted to do was get out of there to go have a smoke.

Kathy's passion for veterans is what endears her to us all. She cares for veterans as few people could understand. It is just not another thing to do because of the flag. It is not just the right thing to do because they are veterans. It is a group of people that she will advocate for under any circumstance. Her passion of advocacy is for the right way all the time, not just some of the time. Even if she is standing by herself, Kathy is always the kind of person we all hope to be, and it has been a pleasure to serve with her.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

My colleague from Reno was talking about something that would make his lips burn. I want to thank Kathy for giving me a new vice, and to my colleague from Reno, I guarantee you it will help.

In the 2003 Session, my freshman session, I sat next to Kathy, and we had a very contentious session. I will say that Kathy never abandoned me all through that session, even though we were on different sides of the fence. I really have to thank her for that. She showed me that as well as being a good legislator, she can be your friend. I want to thank you, Kathy.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KOIVISTO:

Kathy and I have been friends since she was up here as a lobbyist my first session, and then when she came back as a legislator, it was even more fun. Kathy is a gourmet cook, as you have heard, and my husband and I spend time with her and her husband eating a lot. We have enjoyed conventions together, and we are not going to miss each other because we are going to see each other. As you have heard, if there is a veterans' event, if there is a seniors' event, you know Kathy's fingerprints are on it. She is passionate about what she does. Kathy, keep directing that passion. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

I keep saying I am not going to speak about the next person and then someone I am very well connected to comes up. Kathy is a strong, strong fighter. I have known Kathy for a lot of years now. We actually have two different sets of employers. We have gone through some times together. We have laughed together, we've cried, we've even cursed together. I have gotten some of my cursing skills from Kathy and Ellen. Once Kathy considers you a friend, you are a friend, and she will do anything for you. I have gotten a lot of my will to fight from her. I remember calling her during our most difficult time and wanting to give up. After listening to her, I got off the phone, cursing and swearing, and thought "I've got to fight. I've got to fight." Because she wasn't going to let me give up either, and I want to thank her for that. She has been a true friend, and I want to thank her for that.

Again, as I said earlier about other people, I know this isn't the last stand for her. She has a lot more to contribute. I remember her fight for seniors before I even knew anything about her legislative aspirations. She has been doing that for a long time in the county. I had a community center and I remember having to set up plenty of times for her for her senior events, so I know she has always been a fighter for seniors even before people thought she was a senior. She is still not a senior, but she has been doing that for a long time, so that just tells you she really cares about them, and it has been in her heart. I know she is not done, and I just want to let her know that if there is anything you ever need from me, I am your friend and I am there for you. Thank you, Kathy.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Thank you for your service. You have made a difference.

Madam Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Assembly in recess at 10:27 a.m.

ASSEMBLY IN SESSION

At 10:34 a.m.
Madam Speaker presiding.
Quorum present.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

If the body will permit, we will consider Assemblyman Harry Mortenson.

Harry Mortenson was first elected to the Nevada State Assembly in November 1996, and at the end of his current term of office, he will have completed 14 years of service to this honorable body. He is now completing his seventh regular session in the Assembly and previously served in nine special sessions.

Harry was born in our nation's capital and was educated at a number of excellent colleges and universities. For his undergraduate degree, Harry attended classes at the University of Maryland and received his bachelor of science degree in physics and math at Roanoke College in Virginia. His initial graduate studies were at American University and Catholic University, which were followed by studies at Duke University, where he was awarded his master's in math and physics. Harry also attended the University of Virginia in Charlottesville for post-graduate studies. All of this education enabled Harry to work in his chosen career as a nuclear physicist.

Harry embarked on his second career as a Nevada Assemblyman at the age of 66, an age when many have lost the energy and intellectual curiosity to pursue something totally new and challenging. Harry's first session in 1997 must have convinced him that he indeed had found a perfect way to learn and to serve his fellow Nevadans at the same time. Harry has a large, supportive, and loving family. He and his wife Helen have been married for 52 years. We all love Helen as much as we love Harry. Their children Eric, Lisa, and Kirk have blessed Harry and Helen with many grandchildren to love. Their fourteenth grandchild just arrived on the thirteenth of this month, so congratulations are, yet again, in order.

As you might expect, Harry has a wide range of hobbies and interests. His legislative biography lists a number that are technical in nature including astronomy, photography, optics, archaeology, paleontology, nuclear energy, and natural sciences. His interests and skills in computer technology qualify him as a computer guru. Among some of his other interests include sailing, scuba diving, high-fidelity sound, and the Nevada Ballet Theater.

As a member of the Assembly, Harry has served on a number of different standing committees. During the current session, he served on Judiciary, a committee that he served on in three previous sessions. He also served on the Assembly Committee on Corrections, Parole, and Probation this year. Harry has always enjoyed the rather technical procedures involved in amending the Nevada Constitution through two sessions of the Legislature and one vote of the people. He served on the Assembly Committee on Constitutional Amendments during the 1999 and 2001 Sessions and was chair in 2003. Since 2005, this committee has been combined with our elections committee, and Harry takes the gavel for all proposed constitutional amendments. Harry has long been an advocate for amending the constitution to allow the Legislature to convene a limited special legislative session on extraordinary occasions. His A.J.R. 13 from the 2003 and 2005 Sessions found legislative approval and narrowly lost in 2006. An improved version of this proposal was introduced and approved again this session, with Harry and Assemblyman Ohrenschall being the primary cosponsors. Assembly Joint Resolution No. 5 must be returned to the 2011 Session for a second legislative approval before going to the voters in 2012.

Just like fine wine, Harry's legislative achievements have improved over the years. During his first three regular sessions, Harry gained passage and approval of two bills for which he was the primary sponsor on election matters, ballot question language, and petitions. He was probably ahead of his time on a number of his early proposals, such as A.B. 434 that he sponsored in 2001. It did not pass, but it would have provided exemptions from taxes for researching and developing renewable energy, an idea that finally found its time. From the 2003 Session to the present, he has successfully guided a number of important bills through the legislative process. Of particular note are those concerning Nevada's precious natural resources. Earlier this session, three of Harry's bills on paleontology became law. One protects paleontology sites, another provides for an ex-officio state paleontologist, while the third designates April as Paleontology Awareness Month in Nevada. His bill to protect the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area in southern Nevada also became law. Perhaps most significant is A.B. 369, which provides tax exemptions for property held by the Archaeological Conservancy, the Nature Conservancy, the American Land Conservancy, and the Nevada Land Conservancy. Such land must be held for eventual transfer to local government or state government and held indefinitely for education, environmental protection, or conservation purposes.

Over the years, Harry has served on a number of interim committees of the Legislature including allocation of the limousines, long-range mass transit, care of the mentally ill, and protection of natural treasures. He certainly found a perfect match as a member of the Legislature's Committee on High-Level Radioactive Waste. Harry has served on that committee continually from 1997 to the present. He was selected to chair that committee in 2001-2002 and again in 2007-2008. Whether it is elections, constitutional amendments, high-level radioactive waste, or protecting our state and our treasures, I've learned so much from Harry Mortenson and his enthusiasm and love of this state and all the diversity it offers. You have left a mark on this institution, and we are so incredibly thankful for your years of service. Thank you, Harry.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

I call Harry our conscience. I think he, more than any other person, really tries to do the right thing. He is so conflicted when pressures come to bend or change. He knows that he may have to do it, but inside he cannot accept that and so he will just keep pushing for the good and for the best. He is so honest and admirable, and I cannot say enough about him.

I do want to mention one funny story. For those who are not on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments, we are kind of a bunch of renegades, but Marcus and Heidi watch over us so that we don't get crazy. One day Marcus happened to walk out of the room, and Harry got a glint in his eye and smiled and said, "We're going to vote on A.J.R. 1." We didn't know any better, and so we called the question, and lo and behold, we voted on A.J.R. 1 and it passed. Marcus came back and said, "Oh, my gosh. What's happened here? How did this happen?" So anyway, we are kind of a renegade bunch, and Harry and Ellen both lead the troops, but we are kept it check by Marcus and Heidi. Thank you, Marcus and Heidi, and thank you, Mr. Mortenson, for being so great.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you for letting me go after my colleague, Mr. Segerblom. At the end of the 2005 Session when Mr. Mortenson was passing out committee gifts, he called me up and referred to me as his nemesis. That is exactly how he called me up: "my nemesis." We haven't always agreed, Harry. We know that, but we've always talked and we've always shared our ideas. We've always listened to each other, tried to understand, and agreed where we could. But we've both stood by our guns when we couldn't agree, too. For that, I will never forget you, and I will always be reminded that I need to be patient and listen and be open. I certainly appreciate all of the conversations that we've had, particularly on the constitutional amendments, ballot initiatives, and the election portions, because there are always more sides. I don't know that anybody is right or anybody is wrong; I think we're just trying to get it right. God bless you for that. I appreciate you.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Last session—my freshman session when I thought I knew it all—I wanted very desperately to be liked and to be part of the team. Every now and then, that didn't always work with how I felt on a bill. Last session I learned a lot from Harry. He really helped me find the courage to stand by my convictions, and I really appreciate that, Harry. I'll miss you very much.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

As one who is old, Harry, I appreciate your ability to protect things that are old. I'll always appreciate that very much. I also appreciate your skills with photography. Each session that I have been here, you've presented me with a picture of myself which made me look halfway good, and I really appreciate that. We'll miss you, Harry. Thank you very much.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

To me, Harry has always been the most interesting legislator. He is certainly, I think, the smartest. On many committees, when there are bills up, sometimes Harry and I are the only ones who vote for them or against them. That's kind of refreshing. Harry, I've always enjoyed you, and you're a great friend. One of these days, I hope you get to be the administrator or director of the next fusion atomic power plant.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

Harry is not big on mornings, and Judiciary meets in the morning. Harry occasionally would have preferred to stay in bed, because things that happen later in the day are much more to his time clock. But having Harry in Judiciary has always been one of the more important parts of my day, knowing that Harry was there with his great stories about his youth and the misgivings about the things that he may have done, and all of us cringing, knowing that it was going to be on the public record.

When Harry first came, he served, I think, on Government Affairs in the morning. After a few sessions, he asked if I thought it would be okay if he came to Judiciary, to which I explained I have no control over that issue—who is on what committee—but I thought that he would do very, very well there. I know that Harry is going to tell me the truth whether I want to hear it or not. He told me just recently very, very clearly—not the first time that I've heard it, of course—but very, very clearly that I was probably the only person who could pull off pompous and get away with it. I love Harry for his honesty and his straightforward attitude about who you are and what we all are. With Harry's youthful exuberance and his constant ability to learn a new task and to keep an open mind, he follows that Aristotle concept that it is possible to entertain a thought without embracing it. You can discuss it without making it your own. I've always admired that quality in him and his ability to help us all. Thank you, Harry, for your service.

ASSEMBLYMAN MANENDO:

When Mr. Mortenson came in as a freshman, I had been here just one term prior to that. When I read his bio—he's a nuclear physicist—I felt really intimidated, and I kind of stayed away from him and didn't realize what a gentle and caring man he is. In one of the pictures up on the board, he looks like Santa Claus. Back in the old days, I would take the legislative guides around door-to-door, and sometimes in the classrooms, I would give them to teachers and kids. The kids would look through and say, "That's Santa Claus." I would say, "I think it is," because he is such a caring, gentle man that has a passion and love for people.

One thing that has not been mentioned is his passion for photography. Mr. Mortenson over the years has blessed us with having a wonderful photo album—photos of anything and everything. It's really a great opportunity to reminisce about the old days and all the way up until this session. He appreciates the art of photography, and if you go into his office—sometimes I don't know if it's going to blow up or not, he's got so many electronic devices—but he has a lot of pictures, including one of his wife Helen. She is just a gem.

We appreciate your service and your passion to the State of Nevada. It is a better place because of you. I've learned so much from you, and I am so honored that we've become such close friends. I wouldn't trade that for the world. Harry, thank you very, very much for everything that you have done in bringing me into your life. I'm grateful, thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN DONDERO LOOP:

My recollections of Harry and Helen are on a personal note. I would be remiss if I didn't thank you both for being friends to me and mostly—at the risk of talking about my momma—to my mother. Thank you for taking care of her while I've been up here.

Thank you mostly for just being a voice of reason and for coming to Judiciary in the morning and having the expertise that you have. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

I want to thank you for your work here in the Legislature. You're a gentleman and a scholar. I've so enjoyed being on your committee in constitutional amendments. We do have great debates in there, and we do have some renegades. It's always a lot of fun, and I appreciate that you're open to the debate. You want everyone to discuss things, to ask the questions, and to get the testimony. Thank you for your dedication and your service.

ASSEMBLYMAN CLABORN:

I've got a lot of stories to tell about Harry. Harry and I have been friends for many years. I used to move his trailers around when he was campaigning, a couple of sessions before I ever ran. Anyway, I'm not going to tell any stories about that. I'm going to tell a few stories about Harry.

Since I've become a chairman, I would look at the agenda and say, "Oh, my gosh. Here comes Harry again with paleontology." Every time I see that I want to hide underneath the desk for the simple fact that back in the old days, I used to run all kinds of heavy equipment. The first thing Harry did, along with Helen on videoconference from Las Vegas, was talk about all of these skeletons and all of the artifacts that these big caterpillars and tractors tore up from all the ground around the Twin Lakes area, how they took all of our treasures and hid them, and then Germany came over and grabbed some of them. That's about the time that I wanted to hide. After about three sessions, I finally had to admit it. I had to tell him. After I got Helen and everybody calmed down about stealing all of the artifacts, I had to admit it. I said, "I've got to apologize, Harry. I was one of the guys that dug all of those up and hauled them off and hid them back in the old days so we could build Twin Lakes Reservoir and put a settlement out there." He understood, but I still feel bad about that. To me, dirt was dirt and bones were bones. Whatever it was, rock was rock and we had to move it. I feel bad about it, but one thing that he taught me is how to say "paleontology."

Thank you, Harry. It's been a wonderful ride, and it's not over yet. It's not over until they close that big lid down on you and me. We've still got a few good years left. It's been a pleasure working with you, Harry, and you've done a lot for the state. I hope those Germans and whoever stole our artifacts will give them back one of these days. Thank you very much.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Harry, for your years of service and the mark that you left, I thank you.

Amendment adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, reengrossed and to third reading.

Senate Bill No. 212.

Bill read third time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments:

Amendment No. 1002.

AN ACT relating to initiative petitions; providing a procedure for a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution to be placed on a ballot; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires that an initiative petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution be signed by a number of registered voters that is equal to at least 10 percent of the voters who voted at the last preceding general election. (Nev. Const. Art. 19, § 2) Existing law also requires an initiative petition be signed by a number of registered voters from each county in the State that is at least equal to 10 percent of the voters who voted in the entire State at the last preceding general election multiplied by the population percentage for that county. (NRS 295.012) The United States District Court for the District of Nevada declared that the current existing law violates the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution because it results in the signatures of voters from counties with lower population carrying more weight than the signatures of voters from counties with higher population. (Marijuana Policy Project v. Miller, 578 F.Supp. 2d 1290 (D. Nev. 2008)) This bill repeals and replaces the current existing law.

Section 3.2 of this bill requires the Legislature to create petition districts from which signatures for a petition for initiative must be gathered. Section 14 of this bill defines "petition district" to mean congressional district until July 1, 2011, at which time the Legislature must have established petition districts for the period after that date. Section 3.4 of this bill requires the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau to retain a copy of maps of the petitions district and make them available to any interested person for a reasonable fee not to exceed the actual cost of producing the copy. Section 12 of this bill requires a petition for initiative to be signed by a number of registered voters in each petition district in the State that equals at least 10 percent of the voters who voted in that petition district in the last preceding general election.

Section 5 of this bill requires the Secretary of State to determine, as soon as practicable after each general election, the number of signatures required to be gathered from each petition district. Sections 6-9 of this bill provide procedures for the verification of signatures on a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution. Sections 7 and 9 require the Secretary of State to adopt regulations concerning these procedures. Section 10 of this bill requires the Secretary of State to provide on his website a current list of the registered voters in this State that indicates the petition district in which each registered voter resides. Section 13 of this bill authorizes the person signing a petition to indicate his petition district on the petition and, if not so indicated, ~~[allows]~~ requires the circulator of the petition to indicate the petition district of the person if known. Section 13 further allows a voter to consult the website of the Secretary of State to determine within which petition district he resides and to rely on that information.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 293 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as ~~[sections 2 and 3]~~ section 2 of this act.

Sec. 2. "Petition district" means a district established by the Legislature pursuant to section 3.2 of this act.

Sec. 3. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 3.2. 1. The Legislature shall establish petition districts from which signatures for a petition for initiative that proposes a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution of this State must be gathered. The petition districts must be established in a manner that is fair to all residents of the State, represent approximately equal populations and ensure that each signature is afforded the same weight.

2. Petition districts must be:

(a) Based on the population databases compiled by the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce as validated and incorporated into the geographic information system by the Legislative Counsel Bureau for use by the Nevada Legislature.

(b) Designated in the maps filed with the Office of the Secretary of State pursuant to section 3.4 of this act.

Sec. 3.4. The Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau shall:

1. Retain in an office of the Legislative Counsel Bureau, copies of maps of the petition districts established pursuant to section 3.2 of this act.

2. Make available copies of the maps to any interested person for a reasonable fee, not to exceed the actual costs of producing copies of the maps.

3. File a copy of the maps with the Secretary of State.

Sec. 4. NRS 293.010 is hereby amended to read as follows:

293.127563 1. As soon as practicable after each general election, the Secretary of State shall determine the number of signatures required to be gathered from each ~~[county]~~ petition district within the State for a petition for initiative that proposes a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution of this State.

2. ~~3. As used in this section:~~

~~(a) "Total population of the State" means the determination of the total population of the State by the national decennial census conducted by the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce pursuant to Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States and reported by the Secretary of Commerce to the Governor pursuant to 13 U.S.C. § 141(c).~~

~~(b) "Population percentage for that county" means the figure obtained by dividing the population of the county, as determined by the national decennial census conducted by the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce pursuant to Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States and reported by the Secretary of Commerce to the Governor pursuant to 13 U.S.C. § 141(c), by the total population of the State.~~]

Sec. 6. NRS 293.1276 is hereby amended to read as follows:

293.1276 1. Within 4 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, after the submission of a petition containing signatures which are required to be verified pursuant to NRS 293.128, 293.165, 293.172, 293.200, 295.056, 298.109, 306.035 or 306.110, the county clerk shall determine the total number of signatures affixed to the documents and, in the case of a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, shall tally the number of signatures for each petition district contained fully or partially within his county and forward that information to the Secretary of State.

2. If the Secretary of State finds that the total number of signatures filed with all the county clerks is less than 100 percent of the required number of registered voters, he shall so notify the person who submitted the petition and the county clerks and no further action may be taken in regard to the petition. If the petition is a petition to recall a county, district or municipal officer, the Secretary of State shall also notify the officer with whom the petition is to be filed.

Within 9 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, after notification, each of the county clerks shall determine the number of registered voters who have signed the documents submitted in his county ~~[.]~~ and, in the case of a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, shall tally the number of signatures for each petition district contained or fully contained within his county.

2. If more than 500 names have been signed on the documents submitted to him, a county clerk shall examine the signatures by sampling them at random for verification. The random sample of signatures to be verified must be drawn in such a manner that every signature which has been submitted to the county clerk is given an equal opportunity to be included in the sample. The sample must include an examination of at least 500 or 5 percent of the signatures, whichever is greater.

3. In determining from the records of registration the number of registered voters who signed the documents, the county clerk may use the signatures contained in the file of applications to register to vote. If the county clerk uses that file, he shall ensure that every application in the file is examined, including any application in his possession which may not yet be entered into his records. The county clerk shall rely only on the appearance of the signature and the address and date included with each signature in making his determination.

4. In the case of a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, when the county clerk is determining the number of registered voters who signed the documents from each petition district contained fully or partially within his county, he must use the statewide voter registration list available pursuant to NRS 293.675.

When the county clerk transmits the certificate to the Secretary of State, the county clerk shall notify the Secretary of State of the number of requests to remove a name received by the county clerk pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015.

~~[5.]~~ 6. A person who submits a petition to the county clerk which is required to be verified pursuant to NRS 293.128, 293.165, 293.172, 293.200, 295.056, 298.109, 306.035 or 306.110 must be allowed to witness the verification of the signatures. A public officer who is the subject of a recall petition must also be allowed to witness the verification of the signatures on the petition.

~~[6.]~~ 7. For any petition containing signatures which are required to be verified pursuant to the provisions of NRS 293.165, 293.200, 306.035 or 306.110 for any county, district or municipal office within one county, the county clerk shall not transmit to the Secretary of State the documents containing the signatures of the registered voters.

~~[7.]~~ 8. The Secretary of State ~~[may]~~ shall by regulation establish further procedures for carrying out the provisions of this section.

Sec. 8. NRS 293.1278 is hereby amended to read as follows:

293.1278 1. If the certificates received by the Secretary of State from all the county clerks establish that the number of valid signatures is less than 90 percent of the required number of registered voters, the petition shall be deemed to have failed to qualify, and the Secretary of State shall immediately so notify the petitioners and the county clerks.

2. If those certificates establish that the number of valid signatures is equal to or more than the sum of 100 percent of the number of registered voters needed to make the petition sufficient plus the total number of requests to remove a name received by the county clerks pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015 ~~[.]~~ and, in the case of a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, that the petition has the minimum number of signatures required for each petition district, the petition shall be deemed to qualify as of the date of receipt by the Secretary of State of those certificates, and the Secretary of State shall immediately so notify the petitioners and the county clerks.

3. If the certificates establish that the petitioners have 100 percent or more of the number of registered voters needed to make the petition sufficient but the petition fails to qualify pursuant to subsection 2, each county clerk who received a request to remove a name pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015 shall remove each name as requested, amend the certificate and transmit the amended certificate to the Secretary of State. If the amended certificates establish that the petitioners have 100 percent or more of the number of registered voters needed to make the petition sufficient ~~[,]~~ and, in the case of a petition proposing a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, that the petition has the minimum number of signatures required for each petition district, the petition shall be deemed to qualify as of the date of receipt by the Secretary of State of the amended certificates, and the Secretary of State shall immediately so notify the petitioners and the county clerks.

Sec. 9. NRS 293.1279 is hereby amended to read as follows:

293.1279 1. If the statistical sampling shows that the number of valid signatures filed is 90 percent or more, but less than the sum of 100 percent of the number of signatures of registered voters needed to declare the petition sufficient plus the total number of requests to remove a name received by the county clerks pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015, the Secretary of State shall order the county clerks to examine the signatures for verification. The county clerks shall examine the signatures for verification until they determine that 100 percent of the number of signatures of registered voters needed to declare the petition sufficient are valid. If the county clerks received a request to remove a name pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015, the county clerks may not determine that 100 percent of the number of signatures of registered voters needed to declare the petition sufficient are valid until they have removed each name as requested pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, if the statistical sampling shows that the number of valid signatures filed in any county is 90 percent or more but less than the sum of 100 percent of the number of signatures of registered voters needed to constitute 10 percent of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in that county plus the total number of requests to remove a name received by the county clerk in that county pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015, the Secretary of State may order the county clerk in that county to examine every signature for verification. If the county clerk received a request to remove a name pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015, the county clerk may not determine that 100 percent or more of the number of signatures of registered voters needed to constitute 10 percent of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in that county are valid until he has removed each name as requested pursuant to NRS 295.055 or 306.015. In the case of a petition for initiative that proposes a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution of this State, if the statistical sampling shows that the number of valid signatures in any ~~[county]~~ petition district is 90 percent or more but less than the sum of 100 percent of the number of signatures of registered voters required for that ~~[county]~~ petition district pursuant to NRS 295.012 plus the total number of requests to remove a name received by the county clerk ~~[in that]~~ or county clerks, if the petition district comprises more than one county , pursuant to NRS 295.055, the Secretary of State may order the county clerk to examine every signature for verification.

3. Within 12 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, after receipt of such an order, the county clerk or county clerks shall determine from the records of registration what number of registered voters have signed the petition ~~[.]~~ and, if appropriate, tally those signatures by petition district. If necessary, the board of county commissioners shall allow the county clerk additional assistants for examining the signatures and provide for their compensation. In determining from the records of registration what number of registered voters have signed the petition ~~[,]~~ and in determining in which petition district the voters reside, the county clerk must use the statewide voter registration list. The county clerk may rely on the appearance of the signature and the address and date included with each signature in determining the number of registered voters that signed the petition.

4. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 5, upon completing the examination, the county clerk or county clerks shall immediately attach to the documents of the petition an amended certificate, properly dated, showing the result of the examination and shall immediately forward the documents with the amended certificate to the Secretary of State. A copy of the amended certificate must be filed in the county clerk's office. In the case of a petition to propose a statute, an amendment to a statute or an amendment to the Constitution, if a petition district comprises more than one county, the county clerks shall comply with the regulations adopted by the Secretary of State pursuant to this section to complete the amended certificate.

5. For any petition containing signatures which are required to be verified pursuant to the provisions of NRS 293.165, 293.200, 306.035 or 306.110 for any county, district or municipal office within one county, the county clerk shall not forward to the Secretary of State the documents containing the signatures of the registered voters.

6. Except for a petition to recall a county, district or municipal officer, the petition shall be deemed filed with the Secretary of State as of the date on which he receives certificates from the county clerks showing the petition to be signed by the requisite number of voters of the State.

7. If the amended certificates received from all county clerks by the Secretary of State establish that the petition is still insufficient, he shall immediately so notify the petitioners and the county clerks. If the petition is a petition to recall a county, district or municipal officer, the Secretary of State shall also notify the officer with whom the petition is to be filed.

8. The Secretary of State shall adopt regulations to carry out the provisions of this section.

3. If the information required to be maintained by the Secretary of State pursuant to subsection 1 may be obtained by the public from a website on the Internet maintained by a county clerk or city clerk, the Secretary of State may provide a hyperlink to that website to comply with the provisions of subsection 1 with regard to that information.

Remarks by Assemblyman Segerblom.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. It is a very simple bill and it deals with a very inequitable situation. Currently, if you have a golf course—and because the Legislature has said they want to encourage the golf course use of open space—a golf course is taxed as open space which means they basically pay no tax. However, there are some golf courses that are taking advantage of this tax exemption and are marketing themselves to be sold as property for developing houses, so, they pay no property tax but they are out there and available to be used as a subdivision. If they were taxed as a subdivision they would pay a lot more tax.

This bill says that if you are going to be a golf course and take advantage of that open space tax exemption then you have to agree to be a golf course. I urge your support to override the Governor's veto. Thank you.

Remarks by Assemblymen Anderson and Kirkpatrick.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. Assembly Bill 491 will remedy common problems faced by judgment debtors: first, to assist judgment debtors to claim their exempt properties; second, to declare the number of court hearings needed to determine the exempt status of the properties; and third, to decrease the volume of exempt properties that are seized and then returned to the constable's office. Under current law, when a bank receives a writ of execution on a debtor's bank account, the entire balance is frozen. Debtors can file an affidavit of exemption and request that exemption amounts be returned. However, this process has been taking as long as 45 days. Section 2 of the bill leaves at least $1,000 in the bank account available to debtors until the court can determine if other amounts are exempt. This is to allow a judgment debtor to access funds needed for the day-to-day necessary transactions, such as rent, food, and medications. Particularly in this day of electronic transfer of funds, this is an essential factor. The interplay of federal law governing exempt benefits and state garnishment laws raise potential liabilities that banks face when choosing to follow federal regulations or state laws. This bill resolves that conflict and balances the needs of the bank to follow all applicable state and federal procedures and the need of the debtors to support themselves while trying to figure out their financial problems.

In the Governor's veto message, he states specifically, "Making the 'wildcard exemption' of $1,000 automatic instead of requiring the debtor to file for the exemption will make it even more burdensome for businesses to collect what is rightfully theirs." This is simply not true. Currently, a debtor's assets are not distributed to creditors until all exempt properties are returned to the debtor. Assembly Bill 491will help streamline the process and allow the debtor to continue to pay for the necessities of life. Madam Speaker, I urge this body to support the bill and pass it out of this house unanimously.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I rise in support of the override on Assembly Bill 491.

I started with this bill in the summertime, and it has changed somewhat. But I will tell you that one of my constituents, who I think most of you met—she was here on a credit bill that we were trying to help her with. She received the notice for her garnishment the day after they took it. Consequently, she had no groceries, she could not pay her bills, she had automatic withdrawals, she was not even notified of the court document. How fair is that when you are trying to resolve it? In her instance, she had $20,000 in medical debt that she was paying. However, a creditor did not want to wait any longer—they wanted all their money up-front—so they took her to court. She had over $2 million in medical debt when her husband died, and she has been faithfully trying to pay these off.

I will tell you that ten other states are doing this very same thing, so I ask you to please support this override.

The roll was called, and the Assembly overrode the veto of the Governor by the following vote:

COMMUNICATIONS

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

May 29, 2009

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, Senate Majority Leader, Legislative Building, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, NV 89701

RE: Senate Bill 201 of the 75th Legislative Session

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Senate Bill 201, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to taxation; authorizing certain counties to impose additional taxes on fuels for motor vehicles; providing for the administration, allocation, disbursement and use of the additional taxes; exempting the sale of revenue bonds secured by county fuel taxes from certain requirements; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill would increase fuel taxes in Washoe County. The bill resulted from an advisory ballot question in November of 2008 whereby the voters of Washoe County were asked whether the Washoe County Board of Commissioners should "seek state legislation for the Regional Transportation Commission (RTC) to obtain necessary additional funding for transportation projects that will reduce traffic congestion, improve air quality, and repair and maintain roads in the Truckee Meadows?"

Notably absent from the language of that advisory question was a clear and concise statement that the state legislation being sought would come in the form of a fuel tax increase. Also notably absent from the language of that advisory question is a clear and concise statement of the amount of the fuel tax increase being sought. Although I have asked the question many times, nobody has adequately explained why the advisory question did not simply state that the voters were being asked to support a fuel tax increase along with the specific amount of that increase.

By contrast, Initiative Petition 1 from the 75th Legislative Session enacted a room tax as the result of a ballot question. With respect to that ballot question, voters were asked whether they "support the imposition of an additional hotel and motel room tax of not more than 3 percent to be used in the first 2 years after imposition to avoid large cuts in the funding of education and other state programs and to be used thereafter to increase the funding of K-12 education, specifically to improve student achievement and for salaries of non-administrative educational personnel?" The call of the ballot question on the room tax increase clearly and concisely informed voters of the impact of their vote.

If the voters of Washoe County are being asked to support a tax increase, they are entitled to a clear and concise ballot question stating the fact that a tax increase is being sought along with the amount of that tax increase. There is no reason a concept as simple as a tax increase cannot be clearly stated in the call of the question. I support the will of the people but I cannot support bills premised on advisory questions worded in a manner that deliberately obscures the impact of the question from the voters.

For these reasons, 1 hereby exercise my constitutional grant of authority and veto Senate Bill 201.

Sincerely,
JIM GIBBONS
Governor

(NRS 244.30701) Under existing law, counties and groups of counties are authorized to establish public hospitals. (Chapter 450 of NRS) Section 1 of this bill authorizes a board of county commissioners to lease the naming rights relating to such a hospital and specifies the purposes for which proceeds from the lease must be used.

Hospitals in this State are required to provide emergency services and care, and it is unlawful for a hospital or a physician working in a hospital emergency room to refuse to accept or treat a patient in need of emergency services and care. (NRS 439B.410) ~~[This]~~ Section 2 of this bill requires certain hospitals located in larger counties to provide a report of certain information to the Legislative Committee on Health Care concerning the transfer of patients from the hospital to another hospital and the availability of specialty medical services in the hospital. Any interest or other income earned on the money in the fund, after deducting any applicable charges, must be credited to the fund. Money that remains in the fund at the end of a fiscal year does not revert to the county general fund and the balance in the fund must be carried forward to the next fiscal year. The money in the fund may only be used to pay for expenses directly related to the costs of the public hospital for construction, improvement, operation, maintenance or programs.

(2) May require the change of a name authorized pursuant to a lease or revoke a lease before the expiration of its term for any other purpose in accordance with the procedures adopted pursuant to subsection 1.

4. The terms of a lease granted pursuant to this section may be renegotiated and renewed. Each such renewal must provide that the term of the lease does not exceed 20 years.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Conklin requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Life for our Speaker began in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, birthplace of our nation. In addition to being the nation's first capital, the city was the site of the first American university, hospital, and public school. Barbara Buckley's life is filled with firsts, so it's not surprising she got her start in such an enterprising city. Most of us have come to know Barbara as a community advocate, then a legislator, and most recently as Speaker of the Nevada Assembly. But before we talk about her many accomplishments in those roles, let me briefly describe a few things you might not know about her, starting with her early years.

Barbara Buckley is the youngest of four children. She attended Catholic school for 12 years and was a cheerleader and a cheerleading coach. I have to wonder if that early training is sometimes still put to work, especially here when we're on our third floor session of the day in the final week of a particularly grueling legislative session.

In 1980 at the age of 19, Barbara made her first trip to Las Vegas. It was intended to be just a short vacation, but she stayed for three months and worked as a hotel maid to finance that stay. Barbara eventually returned to Philadelphia, but only briefly to save enough money so that she could relocate to Las Vegas in 1981. We didn't know it then, but she had already adopted us.

Never one to take things easy, Barbara enrolled in night courses at UNLV, all the while working as a legal secretary. She was the first in her family to graduate from college, but she didn't stop there. She went on to pursue a law degree. She was awarded the Outstanding Female Law Graduate for 1989 at the University of Arizona and received the Danny Lee Chandler Award for promoting the First Amendment in law school. Given her affinity for firsts, I'm not surprised. In 1996, Barbara became the executive director of Legal Aid of Southern Nevada, where she created the Domestic Violence and the Children's Attorney Projects, the first legal programs to assist victims of domestic violence and abuse in Clark County. She was also instrumental in organizing the Affordable Housing Institute and founding the Southern Nevada Homeless Coalition—another theme in Barbara's life, helping those most in need.

Barbara Buckley was elected to the Nevada Assembly in 1994, and in her first term, she was recognized as outstanding freshman in the Assembly. In Barbara's second term, she was named Assistant Majority Floor Leader by Speaker Joe Dini. In 2001, she was asked by Speaker Richard Perkins to serve as the Majority Leader—the first woman to hold that position. And as we all know, in 2006 she became the first woman in Nevada history to be chosen Speaker of the Nevada Assembly.

Barbara's commitment to hard work was never more evident than during her years in the Assembly. In her second term, she became concerned about issues in health care, a topic that dominated letters from her constituents and complaints from her legal clients. That session, Barbara took on health maintenance organizations and helped rewrite the law governing HMOs. Known as the Patient Protection Act, the bill passed both houses unanimously, a remarkable feat given the topic and the times. A few years after that landmark session, Barbara's concern turned to affordable assisted living for low income seniors. She organized the first public-private partnership between the Housing Division, Harrah's, and BLM, which became the first program in Nevada to serve the needs of that population. During Barbara's service in the Assembly, she has been involved in lowering the cost of prescription drugs, strengthening laws governing the payday loan industry, protecting mobile home park residents, and establishing the Office for Consumer Health Assistance.

Even as she worked to protect consumers, the disadvantaged, and the disabled, Barbara has been a force to be reckoned with for those in the legislative process. When Barbara was just a freshman legislator, one longtime lobbyist said, "Man, is she smart, and are we going to be in trouble." When she sees a need or a problem, Barbara isn't one to sit back and wait for others to take the lead. For example, her parents taught her that this country should be a place where people leave a better life for children, and anyone who knows Barbara knows that making a better life for Nevada's children has been yet another mission of hers, whether it's reforming the child welfare system, furthering all-day kindergarten, or preserving education funding.

Over the years, many personal and professional awards have been bestowed on Barbara Buckley, including Legislator of the Decade; Best Public Servant; Assemblywoman of the Year; the 1994 Women's Political Caucus Good Gal Award; Best Local Politician; Consumer Advocate of the Year; Best Assembly Member for five straight legislative sessions; and my personal favorite, "Best Reason Not to Lose Faith in the Legislature." I've had the pleasure of serving with Speaker Buckley for nine years. Her knowledge and guidance have been invaluable to me. I'll always be grateful for that experience. This session more than any other, she has once again proven to be the best reason not to lose faith in the Legislature.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

First of all, this is going to be difficult, not just because I'm Irish and have the right the cry and laugh at the same time, but because Barbara is very, very, very dear to me. In 1995 when Ms. Buckley first came here as a member of the body, she was assigned to Judiciary, and it was my first turn at being the cochair of the committee with Mr. Humke; Mr. Sandoval was his vice chair, and Ms. Buckley was mine. I quickly figured out I had nothing to worry about. Mr. Humke had everything to worry about because I had Buckley, and I knew it. We were safe. I quickly realized that the strength of the committee rested with Ms. Buckley and Mr. Carpenter and that all I had to do was sit there and schedule bills. Since Mr. Humke let me do that, it was going to be an easy life. She did all the work, and I got all the credit. She does all the work; I get all the credit. I think that has been the keystone of the relationship, because I know that she's always there.

Probably the funniest story is from a time Ms. Buckley went away. I'm famous for having a somewhat short temper at times, on a regular basis. Ms. Buckley went to San Francisco for a short holiday on her first wedding anniversary during the session, and she came back and brought me a set of Chinese patience balls. They are gigantic, huge things that I could carry in my hand to try and calm me down. I would roll them around in my hand. I still have them and even use them from time to time, and they do work, for those of you who are wondering. Ms. Buckley and Chan, of course, who is the most important part of her life, and of course their sons Ford and Aiden—I don't even want to talk about Aiden and watching him grow up here.

The most important bill that I want to recount is a very infamous piece of legislation called Tailhook. Some of you may recall there was something of a dramatic incident in one of the hotels in Clark County which led to nationally publicized lawsuits and an increase in the responsibility of the gaming industry to protect guests in their hotels. The bill came into the Senate and then came over to the Assembly with the clear understanding that it was good for the gaming industry and that we would fix it. Little did they realize that Ms. Buckley was not going to put up with that. The naval officer who came here was concerned, rightly so, having seen how she was treated in the Senate. She talked to Ms. Buckley and dropped by my office and clearly understood that that was not going to be the character in this house. That bill was scheduled, I believe, for July 9 or 11. We sine died on the seventh, so I know it was scheduled two weeks in advance, because I wanted to make sure that it was adequately heard and everybody thought that it couldn't happen.

Barbara, we care about you because you care about us. You care about all of us, and that's what it's all about. You love every one of us—the short, fat kid; the cowboy from Elko. Those of us and what we do and our issues—you make them your own. You leave nobody out of the hut, and for that I will personally be ever grateful, and I can hardly wait to see where that star will rise next and hope that I can be close enough just to stand in the shower of it. Thank you for all that you have done for us.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

When I first came to this body in 2003, like many other people who first meet Barbara, I was in awe. Rather quickly, you learn that she is probably the smartest person in the building, so you need to pay attention. If any of you have not read The Art of War, you should because, Madam Speaker, that's what I think about when I see you working. The book The Art of War is all about succeeding and finding a way to accomplish your goal. I've watched Barbara do that time and time again, from the very easy things that seem to be out of everyone's view but are such an easy fix, to the things that are so complex. Not only can she figure it out, but she knows the members of her body and who has the talents to make it happen. She knows how to motivate them to do that, and I've watched her do that now for four sessions. Each and every time, she gets the right people to do the right job, and she motivates them to do that. I've seen her motivate people to work bills that they didn't particularly care about, and they do an excellent job. Much like these new glasses that I have, she gently focuses you on what you need to do and what you need to see. She did that with me, even this session. I was so hot about something, I couldn't see straight. You know how Barbara is—she is very calm. You're sitting there explaining your frustration, and she says, "Yep. Uh huh. Yep." Finally after you're done venting, she sits there and explains to you, "You know, there are things that go on in this building that make us all mad, but we need to focus, William. There are bigger things out there than this. Come on, get it together." And it calmed me down, and it worked out just like she always says. I know when she moves on from here that her enormous talent will continue and will benefit this state. Thank you very much, Madam Speaker, for the time that I've served with you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MORTENSON:

Last session I was sitting up in my office, and somebody came in and said, "The Speaker wants to talk to you." I said, "Oh, hell, what have I done now?" So I journeyed down to your office; I sat down and you looked at me and said, "You know, I have been fighting for two of your measures for weeks now. The Senate has insisted that only one of them will get through, and I've been arguing with Raggio and Beers about it. But we've come to an impasse, and it looks like we're not going to get both of them through." "We"—and I'm sitting there, and my mind is blowing. Here's a lady who has 500 bills to worry about and 41 other colleagues to worry about, and she is working this hard on 2 of my measures. She said, "You've got to make a choice." So I made my choice—I choose the harder one, the more difficult one. Raggio even forced a chairman who said he had closed down his committee to open it up to pass my bill, and I got my bill through. From that day on, I was a good soldier. I had decided that this is a fabulous lady who, as the chairman of Judiciary says, looks out for everyone's interests. She does it really seriously, and it just blows my mind. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Madam Speaker, you are such an amazing role model for us and have given us all so much opportunity. I think that is the remarkable thing about what you've taught us and what you leave us with. I was thinking back to the first time that I met you when I had been asked to run for office by Jan Evans. I was picking you up from the airport or someplace and taking you to a meeting at some business location where you were going to introduce me. I had not met you. I didn't know how formidable you were, and I became intimidated fairly quickly, but it also didn't take me very long to figure out that there was no reason for that.

You always find time for everyone, which I think is remarkable, and you always give us a chance to prove ourselves. More importantly, you always back us up. On every occasion that I've had here, including today, you have stood by my decisions and given me the backup so that I could do what I needed to do.

My little seatmate here doesn't have the privilege to speak, but I think we both can attest to all of the qualities that you have. We both appreciate what you have given to us and to our family.

The last thing I would like to say, and I think that my caucus members can appreciate this, is we often hear remarks about this caucus. We've been referred to as sheep that just follow, but that is absolutely not the case. The case is that we have such a good leader who gives us our opportunities, who helps us stretch and have our opinions, but we all come together because of your leadership. It's very much that we go down the path together because you have helped us get there. From my heart and from Erin's heart, we thank you for what you've given to us, and I thank you for what you've given to this state and to this body.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

When I came here in 2003, I had a wonderful, simple little bill that one person in this body—who shall remain nameless, but I still love Mr. Anderson—had an objection to. I had this gentle visit to a room that I had never heretofore been in. When I came out, my protector at the time, Assemblywoman Chowning—I didn't understand why I needed someone to protect me until I came out—as I came out I referenced the fact that it really did smell like wood. Assemblywoman Chowning said, "Wood?" And I said, "Yeah, that's what a woodshed smells like." I was very gently told by my friend Barbara Buckley, "Your bill is dead until you convince Bernie." And I haven't convinced him yet. It was a good thing for me to realize that I had to convince every single person in this body. I had to do everything to convince everybody and resolve everybody's concern. It was a good lesson in lawmaking, and I appreciated that, and it has stood me well over the years.

Likewise, I appreciate the opportunity to have watched the forgiveness, the tolerance, the "put-up-with-ness" that you've had with me, including "order of business something." It's been a pleasure to watch how you've grown in the calling, I'll call it, the avocation that you have. I appreciate your leadership as you've helped all of us as we've been interested in the process of helping people while we make laws. Thank you, Barbara, I appreciate it.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN DONDERO LOOP:

Well, Madam Speaker, I don't happen to think there is anything wrong with being a cheerleader, and the reason is because if you hadn't cheered me on, I wouldn't be here. I just want to tell you that I appreciate your serious talks. I appreciate the laughter. I appreciate the guidance and you being there for all of us. You're a role model to all women, young and old, and that I appreciate, being the mother of three daughters. I also appreciate that you value being a mother enough to bring your son to where you are. I want to thank you for believing in each and every one of us, because you do, and it's evident in this body that respects you. Thank you for believing in education and putting it at the top and giving it the attention it deserves. Thank you for being what is right in this state because your guidance and your leadership go hand in hand.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Barbara. I really don't know what to say, because I think it's been mostly said. For many sessions you and I sat next to each other in Judiciary, and you taught this cowboy a lot, and I'll certainly remember it all. You've been a great friend, you're a great lady, and thank you so much.

ASSEMBLYMAN ATKINSON:

I was trying to figure out where I should start, because there's a lot. I'll start with something funny. What people don't know is that Speaker Buckley is a very funny person and has a great sense of humor. I was in her office last session one time—and for most of you, this will be the first time you're hearing this but you'll probably get it. She was explaining myself to me, and she used one word. She said, "You know, Kelvin, some people think you're haughty." And because I like myself, I assumed she was talking about a "hottie," so I hunched up and grabbed my jacket and said, "Well, thank you very much." I kind of felt a little uncomfortable, because I thought the Speaker was coming on to me. She quickly yelled out, "That's not what I'm talking about! I'm talking about H-A-U-G-H-T-Y." She called one of her staff in, and she said,

"Clearly Mr. Atkinson does not know what I am talking about. Can you pull the definition and give it to him for me?" Someone brought it in, and I looked at it, and I sat down in the chair and said, "Oh, my gosh." She looked at me and said, "I didn't say it. I said people said it." So it was clear that the Speaker wasn't coming on to me because the definition clearly, clearly meant something else.

There was an incident at the end of last session, and she said, "You know, Kelvin, you've had a good session. We agreed on 99 percent of the issues." Well, I weighted the issues, and it was probably about 95 percent, so I think I lost a few more points as far as she was concerned. But I want to thank you for everything, Speaker Buckley. You have been a true friend of mine. I remember going through a difficult campaign, and she took time out of her morning—every morning—for about a month and a half at 7:30 in the morning because she knew that was the time that I was headed to work. She called me every single morning to make sure that I was okay, and I don't know if people know that side of her and know how caring she is. She knew I was having a very difficult time, and you don't know how much that meant to me.

I agree with my colleague from Reno who said that people seem to think our caucus is full of followers and we're not able to be ourselves in this caucus. It's a blatant lie. I think that Speaker Buckley gives us the tools that she believes we need, she puts us in positions that she believes we will excel in, and she helps us through the process. I can't tell you how many times we disagree because typically we seem to agree on most issues, but we do have issues that we disagree on. I won't lie and say that she doesn't win most of those, but we do have them. I can't remember if I can count on one hand how many times she has dictated to me that I needed to, or needed not to do something as far as my committee has been concerned. I know she has given me the latitude to be me and do the things that I felt were appropriate for my committee. Again, that's a true leader, because she is not a dictator nor have I ever felt that I didn't have the latitude to do the things that I needed to do.

I will say this and then I'll wrap up. Most people don't know this about me and how I came to be here. I was very close to my father, and when I was 21 years old and away at school in D.C., my father was murdered. He was someone I truly, truly looked up to and admired. I was very close to my father. It was very, very difficult for me and my family. My godmother told me at the time that in life, people come through your life, and you always have to understand that it's for a reason. She said that my dad wasn't here to help shape and mold me, but that people would enter in my life, and I needed to be cognizant of that and accept them as they come. I truly believe that you were a godsend and entered my life for a reason. Thank you very much, Speaker.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

I know when the Speaker is chewing gum, she's nervous and trying to hold back, so I'm going to be quick. I just want to tell you thank you. I remember the first time you and I met, when Tom Collins said, "Well, I'm not running, but she is." I went and met with the Speaker, and I had this long, luscious red hair and was a little rough around the edges. I'd never worn a suit jacket in my whole life. She was like, "Hm." But it was appropriate for my district, and I thought, "That didn't go over so well. Let me try again in a few days." So I went back, and she said, "You know, if you could just tone the hair down a little and we could see your face, after the first election, you can do whatever you want." I did exactly that, and I will tell that as a mentor this session, I had to have that same talk with someone, and it was really tough. After that, I was probably a thorn in her side for the first couple of months, because I was always asking "Why is this?" "How come this?" She said, "Just learn as much as you can."

I am grateful that you let me have the opportunity to be a chairperson. There were times when she would ask, "Now, why isn't that bill moving again?" I would say, "Because it's stupid and doesn't work." She would say, "Okay, we can live with that, but is there a better reason?" As long as I could justify why I was not moving something, she let me do whatever I wanted, even having never been a chairman. I don't know if the green building issue was a curse or a great thing, but it was a task that she gave me that helped make me a better legislator.

I think you've left a lot of memories and a lot of work ethic, which I think is one of the most important things that pays off in this building. If you work hard and you understand the issues and you take the time to learn more, you can be successful at whatever you do. I appreciate that.

I wish you the best in everything that you do going forward, and I know that with your work ethic, you'll do whatever you want to do. Thank you for everything that you gave to me.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Speaker, you have a great list of remarkable awards and accomplishments—but cheerleader, I like that one; I may use that later.

I just want to tell you that I appreciate your dedication, your work ethic, your organization—we move things through this body. This could have been a very difficult session because we faced a financial crisis and a lot of different things were going on, but we worked very well together. I appreciate the relationship that we've developed and the mutual respect and leadership that you've shown here. Thank you so much for your dedication, your passion, and all the work.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KOIVISTO:

Barbara, your accomplishments create lofty goals for everyone coming after you to strive for, and that can only improve this body. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN LESLIE:

I hate to speak at these things, but I can't resist because I have some funny stories, too. When I first was running for office, I think it was Mr. Anderson who first said to me, "You've got to call Barbara Buckley." Back in those days, the Reno people weren't as connected to the Las Vegas people—at least that was my impression—I wasn't. I think she called me first, and she sent me some money—and that always gets your attention—but I really didn't see much of her during the campaign. Meanwhile, when people realized I was going to win, the lobbyists started saying, "Oh, you and Ms. Buckley are going to clash. You two are interested in the same things. You both have strong personalities. I don't know how this is going to work." Our first session, we had some fun times in Judiciary, but we didn't really work together that much. At the end of the session when they evaluate the freshmen, they called me the Buckley of the north. So the story all during the interim was the Buckley of the north versus the Buckley of the south, there's going to be this huge competition. And that never happened. I can't think of one bill that we ever clashed on. I can't think of one issue where we had a serious disagreement—not one. In fact, we give each other bill ideas. "Barbara, this one is better for you." "Sheila, why don't you do this one?" I appreciate that we've shown that two strong-willed, sometimes obnoxious women with the same interests can work together collaboratively. We often finish each other's thoughts. We'll be sitting in Ways and Means thinking about a problem—not really listening to the testimony but thinking about something else—and she'll lean over and say, "You know what I was thinking?" And I'll finish the sentence, and she'll say, "That's exactly what I was thinking we should do about that." After having worked together for so many years, you develop that kind of relationship.

My funny story happened during my sophomore session. There was a certain senator, and back in those days—for you freshmen, it is a lot worse when the other party has the Senate and you have to go to the Senate. I remember the first time I had to go the Senate, it was very scary. My sophomore session there was a certain senator who was used to getting all the media attention. He was pretty mad at me because I started siphoning off some of that attention. He took a real disliking to me. That was a session when all my bills ended up in his committee. For whatever reason, all my bills went to him, and I had some big bills that session, too, so I was in the Senate almost every day. He would treat me so badly—you have no idea. I would go in, and he would pretend I wasn't even there, take up the opponents of my bill first, ignore me. When somebody would point me out, he would say "Who? Who is that?" He would pretend he didn't know who I was. It was so bad that the lobbyists would complain to Barbara. I said, "Would you please go talk to him?" So she did—I don't know what you said to him—so for one day, he was really nice to me. The next day I went in on yet another bill, and he was horrible to me again. Having had the experience of having her intervene for me with him just really changed things, and I've always appreciated it.

I don't think tonight we talked enough about Barbara's body of work, though, and I think it's because it's so overwhelming that no one can even begin to talk about it. I'm just going to talk about one thing that she's done that has completely, completely changed our state, and that is the child welfare integration. If we had not had Barbara Buckley here in the Assembly, we would still have a horrible child welfare system that was not integrated because no one else would have done that work. No one else would have stuck with it. That is a legacy that you leave the state, and thousands and thousands of kids and families are better off for that work. And let's not forget the Canadian prescription drug fight. We could be here all night if we started talking about some of those battles we've had and battles that we've won.

Barbara, you are the smartest person I have ever worked with—I always tell people that; it's true. You're also one of the most ethical people I've ever worked with, and you're here for the right reasons. That's what I've always appreciated about you: You have the right values. You play your legislative tricks—you've taught me some—but you're doing it for the right reasons. You're not doing it to get rich, you're not doing it to help a friend, you're not doing it for evil reasons. You're doing it because it's the right thing to do, and that example is one that I hope you all remember next time. I'm glad I'm leaving when you're leaving because I couldn't imagine being here without you. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN CHRISTENSEN:

It was interesting hearing the previous speaker talk about all of the experiences that the two of you have had, and in the end the two of you really didn't disagree. While you and I have disagreed—we've voted different, we've had disagreements—I know that when we bump into each other around the food table or in the hallway, we are always able to pick up where we left off, just acknowledge that we vote differently. We may see things in a different way, but at the end of the day, we're both committed to the process. My wife Ashley pointed out to me the other day—I can't remember if it was after the basketball game where we took a slight pummeling or if it was after you were with us and you had said something to me—she said, "You know, the Speaker is really funny." I said "Yes. You didn't know that?" and she said, "No. I guess I just haven't been around her enough." I said, "She really has her moments. When she pours it on, she has some of the best jabs on me in committee or in the hallway or wherever." Being the youngest of seven, I am accustomed to that.

I just want to say, "Touché to you, Madam Speaker." You are a very, very smart woman on the process and moving legislation. I have been able to watch you and learn from how you do things. I appreciate how hard you work. We are all here engaged in this process, and we have a life, too. You are a mother, you have your son, you have a career outside of this. I really admire you for the hard work that you put in here and for the leadership that you offer to your caucus and to this process. It has been an honor serving with you, and I just wanted to share that with you. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN SEGERBLOM:

Speaker Buckley, my grandmother was one of the first women in this body, my mother served here several years, and one of the proudest moments in my life was to vote for the first woman Speaker. That is such an accomplishment in what is really a male-dominated institution, both here and around the country. I want to thank you for the privilege of being able to vote for you.

ASSEMBLYMAN ARBERRY:

Well Barb, I don't have anything funny to say today. As someone who is looking at closing a chapter in his life and thinking of all the successes and failures, I want to say that it is a great honor to be able to say that I closed it out with a lady of your caliber. You have to remember that when I came here, there were only two or three ladies in the Legislature. Every session I would say, "Boy, I sure hope we get some more ladies up here because then I'd have more support."

Barb, I have been close to you since you came on the scene. I've been very protective of you, because I could see where your heart was from the day we began working on all the bills and issues, and I respected you. I gave you a nickname—most of them don't even know that I call you "my sister from the hood" because you represent the little people. I can say that even if you weren't term-limited out and I was, I would want to have a person carrying the torch who has the feelings that you do, because once I walk out that back door, I would know that the little people would be represented.

I want to say thank you for all your hard work and for giving me the opportunity and trusting in me to be the chair of Ways and Means, for giving me a committee that has worked hard for this body, and for having the confidence that we would deliver a budget to you and to this state that we all can live with. We weren't happy with it, but every day you would say, "Moose, are we going to make it?" We made it, Barb, and I just want to say thank you. You are one hell of a woman. Take care of yourself.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

I would like to echo all of my colleagues' remarks. I could say a lot about being in the Legislature, but it would really sound the same. So what I would like to say is that when we go home from this Legislature every year, I go back and do community work for homeless kids—most people know that. Those homeless kids would have no services without you—none. Every year, we call your office and get help for homeless kids that would otherwise have no help. Last cycle we called and we needed help to raise money, and you were there. I can't tell you how much that means to me. I can't tell you how much that means to those kids. I appreciate all the opportunities you have given me to be here to participate, excel, succeed, and work with great people. I admire you, I love you, and I will always be your soldier. Thank you.

Assemblyman Oceguera requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

Madam Speaker, on behalf of all of us—not only all of us in this room but I think all the citizens of the State of Nevada— thank you for your service.

Assemblyman Oceguera announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Assembly in recess at 5:10 p.m.

Madam Speaker:

Your Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments, to which was rereferred Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1, has had the same under consideration, and begs leave to report the same back with the recommendation: Amend, and do pass as amended.

HARRY MORTENSON, Chair

GENERAL FILE AND THIRD READING

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1.

Resolution read third time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments:

Amendment No. 1000.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to revise the provisions governing a petition for a state initiative or a referendum.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Pursuant to Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution, the people of the State of Nevada have reserved to themselves the power to propose statutes, amendments to statutes and amendments to the Nevada Constitution by initiative petition. If the petition meets certain criteria, it is placed on the general election ballot where the people of the State of Nevada are then given the right to vote to enact or reject such proposals. In 2006, however, a portion of this provision of the Nevada Constitution was held unconstitutional by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. ACLU of Nev. v. Lomax, 471 F.3d 1010 (9th Cir. 2006). The Ninth Circuit Court found that the requirement that an initiative petition contain a certain number of signatures gathered from 75 percent of the counties in this State in order to qualify for the ballot (the "13 Counties Rule") violated the equal protection principle of "one man, one vote" by diluting the votes of residents of densely populated counties and was not narrowly tailored. Id. at 1013. Thus, the Ninth Circuit Court held that Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Id. The Court further indicated that if a certain number of voters were required from state legislative districts rather than counties, it would alleviate the equal protection concerns.

This resolution proposes to amend Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution to remove the unconstitutional provisions and instead require that an initiative petition be signed by a number of the registered voters from each ~~[congressional]~~ petition district in this State which equals 10 percent of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in the ~~[congressional]~~ petition district. This resolution further provides that the number of registered voters required to file an initiative or referendum petition must be determined at the time the copy of the petition is filed with the Secretary of State.

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That Section 1 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. 1. A person who intends to circulate a petition that a statute or resolution or part thereof enacted by the legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, before circulating the petition for signatures, shall file a copy thereof with the secretary of state. He shall file the copy not earlier than August 1 of the year before the year in which the election will be held.

2. Whenever a number of registered voters of this state equal to 10 percent ~~[or more]~~ of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election shall express their wish by filing with the secretary of state, not less than 120 days before the next general election, a petition in the form provided for in Section 3 of this Article that any statute or resolution or any part thereof enacted by the legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, the officers charged with the duties of announcing and proclaiming elections and of certifying nominations or questions to be voted upon shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding election at which such question may be voted upon by the registered voters of the entire State. The number of registered voters required to file the petition must be determined at the time the copy of the petition is filed with the secretary of state pursuant to this Section. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the secretary of state or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest.

3. If a majority of the voters voting upon the proposal submitted at such election votes approval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall stand as the law of the state and shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside, suspended or in any way made inoperative except by the direct vote of the people. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall be void and of no effect.

And be it further

RESOLVED, That Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1 of Article 4 of this Constitution, but subject to the limitations of Section 6 of this Article, the people reserve to themselves the power to propose, by initiative petition, statutes and amendments to statutes and amendments to this Constitution, and to enact or reject them at the polls.

2. An initiative petition shall be in the form required by Section 3 of this Article and shall be proposed by a number of registered voters from each ~~[congressional]~~ petition district in this State equal to 10 percent ~~[or more]~~ of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in ~~[not less than 75 percent of the counties in the State, but the total number of registered voters signing the initiative petition shall be equal to 10 percent or more of the voters who voted in the entire State at the last preceding general election.]~~ the ~~[congressional]~~ petition district. Petition districts must be established by the Legislature. The number of registered voters required to file the initiative petition must be determined at the time the copy of the initiative petition is filed with the Secretary of State pursuant to this Section.

3. If the initiative petition proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than January 1 of the year preceding the year in which a regular session of the Legislature is held. After its circulation, it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 30 days prior to any regular session of the Legislature. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall transmit such petition to the Legislature as soon as the Legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in Section 1 of this Article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the Legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law. If at the session of the Legislature to which an initiative petition proposing an amendment to a statute is presented which the Legislature rejects or upon which it takes no action, the Legislature amends the statute which the petition proposes to amend in a respect which does not conflict in substance with the proposed amendment, the Secretary of State in submitting the statute to the voters for approval or disapproval of the proposed amendment shall include the amendment made by the Legislature.

4. If the initiative petition proposes an amendment to the Constitution, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than September 1 of the year before the year in which the election is to be held. After its circulation it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 90 days before any regular general election at which the question of approval or disapproval of such amendment may be voted upon by the voters of the entire State. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation, on three separate occasions, in each county in the State, together with any explanatory matter which shall be placed upon the ballot, the entire text of the proposed amendment. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on the petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit the question of approval or disapproval to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election in the same manner as such question was originally submitted. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, it shall, unless precluded by subsection 5 or 6, become a part of this Constitution upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court.

5. If two or more measures which affect the same section of a statute or of the Constitution are finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment to the Constitution is finally so approved and an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified which affect the same section, by the voters at the same election:

(a) If all can be given effect without contradiction in substance, each shall be given effect.

(b) If one or more contradict in substance the other or others, the measure which received the largest favorable vote, and any other approved measure compatible with it, shall be given effect. If the one or more measures that contradict in substance the other or others receive the same number of favorable votes, none of the measures that contradict another shall be given effect.

6. If, at the same election as the first approval of a constitutional amendment pursuant to this Section, another amendment is finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified, which affects the same section of the Constitution but is compatible with the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit at the next general election the amendment given first approval as a further amendment to the section as amended by the amendment given final approval or ratified. If the amendment finally approved or ratified contradicts in substance the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall not submit the amendment given first approval to the voters again.

Conference Amendment No. CA34.

AN ACT relating to state governmental procurement; establishing a bidder's preference for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans with respect to state purchasing contracts ~~[, establishing a bidder's preference for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans with respect to]~~ and state public works contracts; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law, with respect only to contracts for public works for which the estimated cost exceeds $250,000, provides a mechanism by which a contractor who has paid certain taxes may earn a 5-percent preference in bidding on public works. (NRS 338.1389, 338.147, 338.1693, 338.1727) Sections 18-25 of this bill establish a limited preference in bidding on public works for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans. This new preference in bidding on public works does not overlap with the existing preference in bidding on public works because the new preference is limited to public works for which the estimated cost is $100,000 or less.

Under existing law, the State of Nevada imposes an inverse preference against a person who submits a bid or proposal on a state purchasing contract if that person is a resident of a state that denies a preference to bidders or contractors who are residents of this State. (NRS 333.336) Section 31 of this bill repeals that inverse preference.

In place of the former inverse preference, sections 5-13 of this bill establish a 5-percent preference in bidding on state purchasing contracts for local businesses ~~[.]~~ owned by service-disabled veterans. Section 14 of this bill requires advertisements for bids or proposals to include notices of this new preference.

Section 30 of this bill directs the Office of Veterans' Services to perform certain duties with respect to gathering information and making recommendations to the Legislative Commission concerning the ~~[preference]~~ preferences in bidding on state purchasing contracts and public works for local businesses owned by service-disabled veterans.

Section 3.5 of this bill provides that in addition to complying with the business-judgment rule, officers and members of the executive board of an association are required to act on an informed basis, in good faith and in the honest belief that their actions are in the best interest of the association. (NRS 116.3103)

Existing law authorizes an executive board to impose fines for certain violations of the governing documents and to assess interest on any unpaid fines at a rate established by the association, not to exceed the legal rate per annum. (NRS 116.31031) Section 4.5 of this bill eliminates the authority to charge interest on any past due fines.

Existing law provides that: (1) punitive damages may not be recovered against an association, but may be recovered against persons whose activity gave rise to the damages; and (2) punitive damages may be awarded for a willful and material failure to comply with any provision of chapter 116 of NRS. (NRS 116.31036, 116.4117) Sections 5.5 and 16.5 of this bill provide that punitive damages may not be recovered against the members of the executive board or the officers of an association for acts or omissions that occur in their capacity as members or officers.

Existing law provides that any past due assessment for common expenses or installment thereof bears interest at the rate established by the association, which must not exceed 18 percent per year. Section 9 of this bill provides that the association may charge the prime rate plus 2 percent on such a past due assessment, beginning when the assessment is 60 days past due.

Sections 6.5 and 7.5 of this bill provide that: (1) a unit's owner may receive a copy or summary of the minutes of a meeting of the units' owners or executive board in electronic format at no cost to the unit's owner or, if the association is unable to provide a copy or summary in electronic format, in paper format at a cost not to exceed 25 cents per page for the first 10 pages, and at 10 cents per page thereafter; and (2) a meeting of the executive board must be held at a time other than during normal business hours at least twice per year. (NRS 116.3108, 116.31083)

Section 10.5 of this bill requires the budget of an association to be available for review at a location not to exceed 60 miles from the common-interest community. (NRS 116.31151) Section 12.2 of this bill also requires the books, records and other papers of an association to be available for review at the business office of the association or a location not to exceed 60 miles from the common-interest community. (NRS 116.31175)

Section 12.5 of this bill provides that if a unit's owner is the subject of retaliatory action based on certain complaints or requests, he may bring an action to recover compensatory damages and attorney's fees and costs. (NRS 116.31183)

Sections 13.7 and 15.5 of this bill require a public offering or a resale package to include a statement listing all current and expected fees for each unit. (NRS 116.4103, 116.4109)

Section 19.3 of this bill establishes the requirements concerning the disclosures that a community manager must make before entering into a management agreement and incorporates into statute the existing requirements contained in the Nevada Administrative Code. (NAC 116.310)

Section 19.4 of this bill sets forth the requirements of a management agreement and incorporates into statute the existing requirements contained in the Nevada Administrative Code. (NAC 116.305)

Section 19.5 of this bill sets forth the responsibilities and duties of a community manager, incorporates into statute many of the existing provisions of the Nevada Administrative Code and adds certain new responsibilities and duties. (NAC 116.300) Section 19.5 also provides that a community manager acts as a fiduciary at all times and must exercise ordinary and reasonable care in performing his duties.

Section 19.6 of this bill incorporates into statute many of the existing provisions of the Nevada Administrative Code pertaining to standards of practice for community managers and conduct warranting disciplinary action and establishes certain new requirements, such as provisions governing the acceptance of any compensation, gift or any other item of material value by the community manager. (NAC 116.341)

Section 21.3 of this bill exempts privately owned swimming pools used only by members of a private club from the definition of "public swimming pool" for purposes of supervision by the Health Authority.

SUMMARY—Revises provisions relating to ~~[the crime of stalking.]~~ crimes. (BDR 15-994)

AN ACT relating to crimes; revising provisions relating to the crime of stalking; revising provisions relating to the Nevada Clean Indoor Air Act; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law prohibits stalking and authorizes the issuance of a temporary or extended order restricting certain conduct related to the crime of stalking, aggravated stalking or harassment. (NRS 200.575, 200.591) ~~[This bill adds]~~ Section 1 of this bill includes within the definition of the crime of stalking a course of conduct which would cause a reasonable person to feel fearful for the immediate safety of a member of the person's family or household and which actually causes a victim to feel such fear. Sections 1, 3 and 4 of this bill add text messaging to the existing crime of stalking with the use of a communication device, which is punishable as a category C felony.

The Nevada Clean Indoor Air Act, which is currently codified as NRS 202.2483, was proposed by an initiative petition and approved by the voters at the 2006 General Election and therefore is not subject to legislative amendment or repeal until after December 8, 2009. The Act generally prohibits the smoking of tobacco in certain locations, such as within indoor places of employment, within school buildings and on school property.

Section 1.5 of this bill revises the provisions of the Act by authorizing the smoking of tobacco in certain convention facilities during certain meetings and trade shows.

Sections 4.5 and 6 of this bill provide for the revocation of the state business license of a person who manages the business of a dental practice, office or clinic if the person commits certain prohibited acts.

Sections 66-78 of this bill make similar changes relating to the State Board of Osteopathic Medicine and the practice of osteopathy. Section 66.1 includes the performance of an autopsy within the definition of the "practice of osteopathic medicine." Sections 66.3, 66.5 and 66.7 authorize the issuance of certain categories of licenses by the Board, including a special volunteer license to practice osteopathic medicine to an osteopathic physician who participates in disaster relief operations and an authorized facility license. Section 67 adds a new section to chapter 633 of NRS which authorizes the Board or an investigative committee of the Board to issue to a person who violates or is violating the provisions of that chapter a letter of warning, a letter of concern or a nonpunitive admonishment. Section 68 also adds a new section to that chapter which establishes the standard of proof in disciplinary proceedings that are conducted pursuant to that chapter. Sections 69-78 make various changes concerning unprofessional conduct, the requirements for licensure to practice osteopathic medicine, examinations, the grounds for disciplinary action and the imposition of penalties after a disciplinary proceeding. (NRS 633.131, 633.171, 633.322, 633.331, 633.411, 633.511, 633.561, 633.625, 633.651, 633.691)

Section 78.1 of this bill defines "national examination" to mean the Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology in the form administered by the Association of State and Provincial Psychology Boards and approved for use in this State by the Board of Psychological Examiners.

Section 78.3 of this bill revises the requirements for an application for a license to practice psychology in this State to add the submission of a complete set of fingerprints and written permission authorizing the Board of Psychological Examiners to forward the fingerprints to the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History for submission to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its report or verification that the set of fingerprints was directly forwarded to the Central Repository by the entity taking the prints.

Existing law provides that the Board of Psychological Examiners may require an applicant for a license to pass an oral examination in whatever applied or theoretical fields it deems appropriate, in addition to a written examination. Section 78.4 of this bill eliminates: (1) the requirement that the additional examination be conducted orally; (2) the provisions relating to the frequency, time, location and supervision of the examination; (3) the requirement that the Board supply each applicant with a copy of the results of his written examination provided to the Board by the Association; and (4) the right of the applicant to request that the Board review his examination if he fails the examination.

SUMMARY— ~~[Revises]~~ Enacts provisions governing certain claims for compensation under industrial insurance. (BDR 53-423)

AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; ~~[revising provisions relating to the duty of an insurer to accept or deny a claim for compensation; revising provisions relating to the selection of a physician or chiropractor by an injured employee; revising provisions relating to the denial of compensation due to discharge from employment for misconduct; revising provisions relating to the closure of a claim; repealing provisions requiring the reduction of compensation by the amount of federal disability insurance benefits received by an injured employee;]~~ establishing provisions concerning a claim for a catastrophic injury; establishing provisions for the administering of such claims; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

~~[~~ ~~Under existing law, an insurer is required to accept or deny a claim for compensation within 30 days after the insurer has been notified of an industrial accident. (NRS 616C.065) Section 2 of this bill provides that if an insurer is ordered by the Administrator of the Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry, a hearing or appeals officer, a district court or the Supreme Court of Nevada to make a new determination~~

~~relating to a claim for compensation, such a determination must be made within 30 days after the order.~~

~~Existing law provides that an injured employee may choose an alternative treating physician or chiropractor after making his initial choice if the alternative choice is made within 90 days after the injury. (NRS 616C.090) Section 3 of this bill clarifies existing law by providing that an injured employee may make the alternative choice without the insurer's approval if the alternative choice is made within 90 days after the injury. Section 3 also provides that an injured employee may make a change in the treating physician or chiropractor at any time, subject to the insurer's approval. Section 3 further requires an insurer to provide to an injured employee whose request for a change in the treating physician or chiropractor has been denied the specific reason for the denial.~~

~~Section 4 of this bill provides that the affidavit or declaration of a qualified laboratory director, chemist or any other person meeting certain qualifications may be used to prove the existence of alcohol or controlled substances in an employee's system in denying, reducing or suspending the payment of compensation for an injury. (NRS 616C.230)~~

~~Section 5 of this bill revises existing provisions governing the denial of compensation to injured employees who have been discharged for misconduct by providing that only compensation for temporary total disability may be denied. (NRS 616C.232)~~

~~Section 5.5 of this bill revises existing law by requiring an insurer to notify an injured employee whose claim will be closed whether an evaluation for a permanent partial disability has been scheduled or, if such an evaluation has not been scheduled, that the reason is because the insurer determined there is no possibility of a permanent impairment of any kind. (NRS 616C.235)~~

~~Section 9 of this bill repeals the provisions requiring a reduction in the compensation received by an employee for temporary disability, permanent partial disability or permanent total disability by the amount of federal disability insurance benefits received by the employee. (NRS 616C.430)~~]

Section 12 of this bill requires the Administrator of the Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry to adopt regulations for the determination of injuries as catastrophic injuries. Section 15 of this bill requires an adjuster who administers a claim for a catastrophic injury to be competent and qualified. Section 15 also requires the Administrator to adopt regulations prescribing the qualifications for such an adjuster. Section 16 of this bill requires an insurer that accepts a claim for a catastrophic injury to develop a life care plan for the injured employee within 90 days after the date of the acceptance of the claim. Section 16 also requires the Administrator to adopt certain regulations concerning life care plans. Section 17 of this bill allows an insurer that has accepted a claim for a catastrophic injury to rescind or revise its determination that the injury is a catastrophic injury under certain circumstances.

After receiving the list, the injured employee shall, at the time the referral is made, select a physician or chiropractor from the list. If the employee fails to select a physician or chiropractor, the insurer may select a physician or chiropractor with that specialization. If a physician or chiropractor with that specialization is not available pursuant to the terms of the contract, the organization for managed care or the provider of health care services may select a physician or chiropractor with that specialization.~~

A change in the treating physician or chiropractor may be made at any time but is subject to the approval of the insurer, which must be granted or denied within 10 days after a written request for such a change is received from the injured employee. If no action is taken on the request within 10 days, the request shall be deemed granted. Any request for a change of physician or chiropractor must include the name of the new physician or chiropractor chosen by the injured employee. ~~2. This section must not be applied to reduce the employee's compensation under chapters 616A to 616D, inclusive, of NRS to any greater extent than his federal benefits would have otherwise been reduced by the Social Security Administration under section 224 of the Social Security Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 424a. Any compensation which is withheld pursuant to this subsection must be paid to the employee when he has furnished the report or authorization as requested.~~

~~6. If the provisions of section 224 of the Social Security Act are amended:~~

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER, Carson City, June 1, 2009

To the Honorable the Assembly:

I have the honor to inform your honorable body that the Senate amended, and on this day passed, as amended, Assembly Bill No. 433, Amendments Nos. 753, 1009, and respectfully requests your honorable body to concur in said amendments.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 39.

Assemblywoman Leslie moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Leslie and Hardy.

Assemblyman Hardy requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN LESLIE:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. We have had several bills this session that have touched on the cost of health care and the scarcity of health care resources. As the resources available to pay for health care decrease, the costs and the charges for that care continue to increase, and the growing discrepancy between the two has become unsustainable. Twenty years ago in Nevada, we had cost containment legislation passed, which required regulation of billed charges. That legislation reached its sunset several years ago, partly because of testimony that the escalation of billed charges does not matter because no one pays billed charges, but the reality is that many do. Between 2000 and 2007, the Consumer Price Index increased 22.2 percent while billed charges for hospital patients in Nevada escalated 120 percent, over five times the rate of inflation.

Billed charges are also a severe problem for those with insurance but who, by no fault of their own, end up in a noncontracted hospital or—something becoming increasingly common—patients go to a contracted hospital but are seen by a noncontracted doctor there. These charges are causing severe consequences for insured patients and for health care plans in Nevada and have distorted the health care market beyond what can be absorbed.

This resolution will allow us to study the problem, and we would look forward to hearing the recommendations of the interim Legislative Committee on Health Care next session. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HARDY:

I likewise rise in support of S.C.R. 39. When I look at the uninsured, or the insured even, that do not get contracted services provided to them—the emergency patient who has an issue with going to a contracted hospital or physician, the insured patient who ends up with an out-of-network situation—and the adequacy of the contracted provider network, barriers that could exist between the provider and the payer, how to get the contractual agreement to match up, the differences between the commercial insurers and the self-funded plans as it relates to in-network or out-of-network emergency care, and the method which ensures all payers with self-funded plans would have some kind of requirement to participate in any proposed resolution, I think this is a good time to have that kind of study. Thank you, Madam Speaker.

Resolution adopted.

Madam Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN OCEGUERA:

Madam Speaker, Minority Leader Gansert, esteemed colleagues; 120 days ago we assembled in these chambers to begin, potentially, the most challenging legislative session ever seen in this state. We are in the middle of the worst economic crisis since the Great Depression. In fact, we have already met in a special session twice since the close of the last regular session—both times to make painful decisions in response to this financial crisis. We can only hope that things wouldn't get worse and yet we feared the worse. But, now it is over.

We have reached that point of session where we talk about what we achieved in our time together. This is the time that we focus on the accomplishments of the session, rather than, sometimes, the convoluted methods by which we got here. Over the last few days I have thought about how to best describe this session, and to do that I had to draw upon my experience outside this building as a firefighter. In my line of work, we put out fires and we do that to save lives. For the last 120 days we have been dealing with an economic inferno. We had to put out that fire. It was not pretty and it was not easy, but we did so to save lives. Maybe that sounds a little dramatic to those of you who have watched us these last four months, with our Order of Business 15s and one-minute recesses that seemed to stretch a little bit longer than a minute—maybe it looked like we weren't moving really fast to put out that fire—but we moved faster than the Senate. Legislative protocol, though sometimes frustrating to those who watch, gets the job done. And the people who get that job done might seem like unlikely firefighters. We are a citizen's legislature, after all. So when we are not convened in Carson City, we are teachers, business owners, and employees, public servants, ranchers, attorneys, doctors, and retirees. The age difference between our youngest and our oldest member is 50 years, a half century. Our life experiences reflect the diversity of our membership. That diversity, I believe, is our strength. But no matter what our differences have been these 120 days—and yes, we have had some—we have represented the people of this state to the best of our ability. We worked together to put out the fire.

Often in the past we have known at sine die that one of our colleagues would not be returning to these chambers because of other career plans, perhaps, or a bid for a different political office. But this session, for the first time, we know definitely that ten members of this body will not be returning to the Assembly. Not because they have other political aspirations, although some may, and not because they have other professional or personal plans, although some may. Rather, we know they won't be back because of voter approved term limits. These ten have been a huge part of my life for many years, both inside and outside these chambers. I would like to spend just a few moments remembering their contributions to this state.

Madam Speaker, with your permission, I would like to break from protocol for a bit to use the members' proper names.

Assemblyman Mark Manendo. Mark was first elected in 1994. At that time, he was one of the youngest legislators serving the Assembly. I am sorry to tell you, Mark, but after 15 years, you are one of the old guys now. Even as a newly elected assemblyman, Mark was a staunch advocate for senior rights. He also worked to strengthen our DUI laws and protect the rights of manufactured home owners. Wherever his future plans take him, I know Mark will continue to be involved in the district he served well, for so many years.

Jerry Claborn. Look up Jerry, I'm talking about you. Bobo was first elected in 1998. Since 2005, Mr. Claborn capably chaired our Assembly Committee on Natural Resources, Agriculture, and Mining. He's also been a strong voice for worker's rights. And even when these days get long and tempers get short, Jerry Claborn can be counted on to be good humored and a tireless colleague and to be there when you need him. It is no wonder that Jerry's campaign motto was, "Bringing Common Sense to Carson City."

As a citizen's legislature, we count among our number teachers, attorneys, business people and the like. And yes, we even have our own nuclear physicist. Harry Mortenson was first elected in 1996. During his dozen years of service, Mr. Mortenson has worked hard to improve the quality of life, not only in his own district but for the entire state. He kept a close eye on Yucca Mountain and on quality of life issues related to growth. He also chaired the committee on Constitutional Amendments which takes up some of the most important issues that affect Nevadans. Thank you, Harry.

Kathy McClain. Assemblywoman Kathy McClain was first elected in 1998 but she was no stranger to the legislative process. She was a lobbyist before she switched to our side of the table. Although Kathy was a strong advocate in either role, we are glad she came over to the People's House. During her tenure here, Kathy improved conditions for seniors, veterans, women, and the disadvantaged and the disabled. She also chaired some difficult committees, including this session with Taxation. Thank you, Kathy.

Sitting next to her is her partner, Ellen Koivisto. Assemblywoman Koivisto was first elected in 1996. From the beginning, Ellen was one of the hardest working members of this caucus. She was always willing to do what was needed to be done. She did it without fanfare and without complaint. Most recently, Ellen served as the chair of the Elections, Procedures, and Ethics Committee. She has been a quiet but effective voice on women's issues, the protection of seniors, and the improvement of health care in Nevada. Ellen's hard work and pleasant demeanor will be greatly missed and we hope we will continue to see her involvement in the community.

Sheila Leslie. Sheila was first elected in 1998, but her record of advocacy for children, youth, and families goes back much further, no doubt to her own childhood. Sheila speaks and speaks strongly for the disadvantaged and disabled. She doesn't shy away from her causes, no matter how difficult those causes may be. This Assembly, this Legislature, and indeed, this state, is losing a vital member of the People's House. But we know wherever Sheila lands after this, whether it is elected or an appointed office or some other role in community service, she will continue to fight for the most vulnerable in our state. I appreciate our relationship, Sheila.

Moose was first elected in 1984. Assemblyman Arberry, known to us as "Moose," is the longest currently serving member of this house. In 1993, Moose went through trial by fire when he was selected to chair the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means during the same session in which Nevada implemented a sweeping reorganization of state government. Ever since then, Moose Arberry has held the money reins in the Assembly. He has done so with a good temper and a casual but firm hand. I do not know if any of us could ever think of Assemblyman Denis as anyone other than "Mr. Mo" or Assemblyman Hardy as "Mr. Doc" because of the way Moose talks to you. Moose's institutional memory will be sorely missed but we are grateful he had his experienced gavel with one last difficult budget. Thank you, Moose.

Bernie Anderson. My first session was in 2001. That year my morning committee was the Assembly Committee on Judiciary, chaired then and now by Bernie Anderson. Some of you may remember that when Bernie was a freshman on Assembly Judiciary, he was known as "Bubba." By the time I met the venerable chair of Judiciary, his Bubba days were long past. I am pretty sure if I had said "Bubba" I would have been sent to the Woodshed. Our colleague has been a valued and trusted member of the leadership team for many years, capably handling the thorny issues of crime and punishment. Early on it became his mission not just to be tough on crime, but to address its root causes. Bernie has long championed drug courts and similar measures to reduce recidivism. Nevada is better for his work. Assembly Judiciary in this house will not be the same without him. Thank you, Bernie.

Of the ten Assembly members term-limited out this session, nine are Democrats. I am not saying it's a plot or anything but you have to wonder. The lone Republican we are losing, though, is enough. He is one of the most respected, most beloved members of this body. John Carpenter was first elected in 1986. John is a cowboy and gentleman. Whenever the debate gets a little heated, Mr. Carpenter stands there and reminds us of our manners. That was never more evident than last week when he cast a courageous vote on one of the most difficult days of this entire session. So, when the Suzy-Q sails away this session, we intend to keep her able captain in the reserves because his experience, his chivalry, and his good sense have always steered us well. Thank you, Mr. Carpenter.

Two and a half years ago, Barbara Buckley became the first woman Speaker in the Nevada Assembly. I said then and I still believe that Barbara will be remembered less for that historic distinction than what she has accomplished as Speaker and throughout her career in the Assembly. Simply put, Barbara is a remarkable woman. She is an extraordinary leader. And is always, always an outstanding advocate for those who most need a voice. In her 15 years in the Assembly, Barbara has tackled such issues as affordable housing, medical malpractice, prescription drugs for seniors, deceptive loans and predatory financial practices and all day kindergarten. There are many more issues I could highlight because each session Barbara Buckley has distinguished herself as one of the most effective lawmakers this chamber has ever seen. This session presented her with her greatest challenge but there is no one who could have led us better in these terrible economic times. There is no one who could have done a better job at helping put out the fire, to save lives and to start rebuilding. Barbara, you have been a friend and a colleague and a mentor. And I know you are not yet done protecting Nevadans and creating history when you do so. I look forward to seeing what your future brings.

Madam Speaker, my fellow colleagues, I have spent a great deal of time, today, remembering the records of those who are serving their last term in this house. But I would like to acknowledge the stellar efforts of those others who fought the fire alongside us, talented and dedicated legislators like Debbie Smith, Marcus Conklin, Marilyn Kirkpatrick, William Horne, Kelvin Atkinson, and Bonnie Parnell. Under the leadership of these hardworking legislators, we successfully tackled difficult issues involving education, energy, heath care, public safety, and transportation.

Minority Leader Gansert and your leadership team, even though we have had differences, those differences have never been personal. It has always been about doing what we believe is best for Nevada. Together, I think we have done that.

There is no question that we have a tremendous task still ahead of us, rebuilding our house after the fire we have been through. I know we have the right people in place to do that, the right team to carry on the legacy of the colleagues we say goodbye to today. In the great tradition of Nevada's first days, we are still a citizen's Legislature. Many of you have made tremendous personal and professional sacrifices to be here and I am proud to serve with all of you. Thank you for that privilege.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN GANSERT:

Thank you, Madam Speaker, and thank you to the Majority Leader for all his words and reminders of the great work of this body. This is the end of session. This is a time to thank people. I know we have thanked many people before but it is time to do it again. I want to thank Susan and her Front Desk staff. I want to thank our legal counsel, Brenda Erdoes. Eileen O'Grady and Risa Lang, we could not do it without you. It is amazing the number of amendments they turned out. I think we were over a thousand the last time I looked up there. I would like to thank our fiscal staff, Mark Stevens, Gary Ghiggeri, Steve Abba, Tracy Raxter, and Russell Guindon. I would like to thank the Legislative Police for being here because every time we are here, they are here. All of you are here and then you work beyond those hours. I so appreciate all of your work. I also appreciate the audio and video staff and Information Technology Services. We are glad they fixed the Assistant Majority Leader's microphone. Or maybe they didn't fix his microphone. So, thank you so much.

This is the People's House. As was mentioned earlier, we are a diverse group, with different ways of life and different ages. It is astounding that there is a 50-year difference between the youngest and the oldest. I think, together, we are able to debate topics and work together for solutions. I know when I first ran for office I did a lot of walking, as all of us did, and that is something that is special in Nevada. You actually know your constituents. The Assemblymen from Clark County and I talked about that. How we go out and walk on the weekends, even during session. I know every now and then that I used to hit a door that would be someone who wasn't from Nevada, mainly California. They could not believe that I was there. They could not believe they could meet their legislator or maybe meet some of the Constitutional officers. I know each of you know your constituents and I know that is what makes this house, the People's House, special. You all work so hard. You know your constituents and you are here to represent them.

I also appreciate all the work that we do in committee. Something else about Nevada, when people ask, "How do you work with these people? These people who are so different than you are?" It is because we get to know each other. Day in and day out, we end up having strong debates but, also, a lot of laughs. I think that is probably unique to this state, because we are a small state. So I appreciate that we have worked together, that we listen to each other. We strive for solutions and sometimes we don't always find them. But you know what? As the Majority Leader said, that is okay. Sometimes we just disagree and we make sure it is not personal. We try to keep our discussions civil and we accomplished that to a very strong end here in Nevada.

I want to thank everyone here. I appreciate leadership and everyone else. We have been talking about ten people. What about the other 31? I am just kidding. Thank you all for your service and thank you to our staff who work day in and day out, on weekends, and beyond the hours that we work. It is hard to imagine that, but they do. So, have a good break. That is why we have these sessions every other year so we can recover. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Madam Speaker. While I appreciate the great service of the ten people who are leaving us and the committee chairmen who have been mentioned, but as the oldest sophomore, I would like to call your attention to the sophomore class. We started off with ten members: five Republicans and five Democrats. As freshmen, as I mentioned last year, we won some, and we lost some, and we lost some, and we lost some, and we lost some. This year we have done much better. However, we have lost two of our members: Assemblyman Beers and Assemblywoman Womack. So, now we are down to four Democrats and four Republicans.

We have achieved some great things this session. We have had three members who have vied for the title of "Mr. No." But, I am sad to report, they were unsuccessful. Our returning Assemblyman from District 32, according to my calculations, has outdone all three of them. We had some members who have achieved greater things outside the Assembly than inside the Assembly, like having twins. We have had another one who achieved a great deal in taking care of those with autism. We have had an Assemblyman who could not quite figure out which was the most important bill. I want to point out, though, that his really most important bill was the fish, toe-nibbling bill. So, please let us not forget that.

Have I left anyone out? I do not think so. I am sad to say we are going to lose two of our members, who are running for other offices. I would like to announce at this time that I am not one of those. Finally, we had one member of sophomore class who had a most distinguished accomplishment this time, which was to be called, "the Bug Man." We will not mention who that is. So, on behalf of the sophomore class, I would hope you would all join me in giving us a sitting ovation for the sophomore class. Thank you very much.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN ANDERSON:

I have been waiting for some time to say something to the body, and if I might have the opportunity to make it so, me being part of the angry ten that are leaving, reluctantly; some of them, possibly, not too reluctantly. For those of you who do not know, thinking I am the knowledgeable one about history, please let me assure you that it is not true. I read from the American Patriot's Almanac every morning, and thus remind myself of particular historic facts. Several weeks ago, over a month ago, in my readings I ran across a statement by Douglas MacArthur to a group of cadets at the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. I thought that youth often need to be encouraged to do things and are inspired by words. I have always been inspired by words. In my heart, I have taken them and tried to make them my own, and I have been fortunate enough to use them every once in a while. But when I read this, I thought that even adults, particularly this courageous group of people I serve with, need to hear these words again.

Standing in the mess hall of the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, Douglas McArthur, who was being honored, told this to the cadets. And I want you to listen, if you would. It is a little bit long and I hope it doesn't take too much of our time:

"Duty. Honor. Country. Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you ought to be, what you can be, what you will be. They are your rallying points to build courage when courage seems to fail, to regain faith when there seems to be little cause for faith, to create hope when hope becomes forlorn. . . .

The unbelievers will say they are but words. . . . But these are some of the things they do. They build your basic character. They mold you for your future roles as the custodians of the nation's defense. They make you strong enough to know when you are weak, and brave enough to face yourself when you are afraid.

They teach you to be proud and unbending in honest failure, but humble and gentle in success; not to substitute words for action; not to seek the path of comfort, but to face the stress and spur of difficulty and challenge; to learn to stand up in the storm, but to have compassion on those who fall; to master yourself before you seek to master others; to have a heart that is clean, a goal that is high; to learn to laugh, yet never forget how to weep; to reach into the future, yet never neglect the past; to be serious, yet never take yourself too seriously; to be modest so that you will remember the simplicity of true greatness, the open mind of true wisdom, the meekness of true strength."

When I read those words several weeks ago, I thought that I would have this opportunity at the end, to say this to people who do not need to be reminded, because I see that kind of courage in all of you. Some would think that I am leaving and that it is going to be difficult. I have no doubt it will be great, though, because the people that I leave behind are people with that kind of courage, that kind of faith, that kind of duty, and a sense of state—the people that I have served with for these 20 years, and the people who are left to serve after me. Thank you for allowing me to be one of your members and for being the colleagues that I have had. Thank you, Madam Speaker.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

All good things have to come to an end, and you've noticed, the Suzy Q has been floating on the waters of the Assembly. I have given an end of the session speech that I wasn't going to run 12 times, but tonight I think it is going to be the end. I will not be returning here. I want to give an idea of the memories that I am going to have of the nine people that I have served with.

When I came into the Assembly over 20-some years ago, I was the only Republican to be elected and come to the Assembly that year. So this year, I am the only Republican that is going to be put out to pasture. What I'm going to do here is that the Suzy Q is floating around in this tub of water, and we have all of our members that are still on the boat. I guess we're going to have to abandon the boat tonight. If you can swim and make it to shore, you'll still be able to do things. If, like me, you cannot swim, that may be the end of you. So I am going to share a few memories of the people I have served with here for many years. Then I'm going to cut the wire they are attached to, and they're going into the drink.

The first person I want to share some memories with is my friend Jerry Claborn. Jerry is certainly a great guy, and I'm going to remember him because he is the one who enabled us to get predator control. Us cowboys tried to do it, but we were too close and people said we had too much conflict, but Jerry came along, and we were able to do that. So Jerry, thank you for saving our deer herd and our ranching industry. I think very highly of you. Thank you very much. Jerry, I hate to see you be the first one that goes into the drink, but you are a tough guy and here it goes [snip]. Jerry—he is floating like he always does.

The next person I want to talk a little bit about is the great nuclear physicist. He is a protector of state parks and old bones. He brought that bill to Natural Resources this session, so from now on, whenever you see an old bone, just go easy around it and remember that Harry may be watching you if you try to do any harm to that old bone. Harry, thank you very much. And I hate to put you into the drink, but today is the day to abandon the ship [snip]. Harry, you're still floating—doing better than this fish here. It's clear at the bottom of the water.

The next person is someone that I have come to admire and is really my friend. What I think about Bernie Anderson is that he is the guy that enabled every court in Nevada to have drug court. Bernie and I went down to Las Vegas and saw the drug court in action and decided that was the thing to do. So Bernie, I'll always remember you for your short speeches and how we saved a lot of people from going to prison—and some of them actually got off of drugs. Bernie, you are the next guy to go into the drink [snip]. Boy, Bernie, you sunk. I think he is kind of coming up about halfway.

The next person I have fond memories of is my friend Moose. Moose always called me Big John—I don't know why. Sometimes I'd have a couple of bills in his committee and need a little money, and Moose would always go by and say, "No money, Big John. No money, Big John." But Moose kind of reminded me the other day, you know, about the first session I was here when Moose had the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday bill. I took a heck of a lot of pressure not to support that bill, like Moose said. You know, it was a tough deal because some of those people out there in the brushes maybe sometimes look at things different than they should. It wasn't easy for me to make up my mind. I think I told Moose I would vote for it, and then I had to go back and tell him, "Well, I guess I won't vote for it, Moose." In the end, I got to thinking that I didn't want to be someone that they'll say, "This guy was prejudiced." I went to school in Ely, and there were all kinds of people there. I went to school with Greeks and Italians and blacks and whites, so I'd learned to love all those people that I went to school with. And I thought, "By golly, Moose is right. We need that holiday." When it came down to the nitty gritty vote, I went with Moose, and I've always been proud of that. Thank you, Moose.

Moose, I don't know whether you're going to float or whether you're going to sink. I've got to find you on this boat here. You are kind of a wily guy, Moose [snip]. You're a good floater, Moose.

The next person I want to remember is Sheila Leslie. No matter what you may think of Sheila and the things she stands for, she stands tall for them. I've always appreciated her because I could go to her for things that really mattered in the State of Nevada in regard to children and health care and mental health court and things like that. I've always appreciated Sheila because I think she has always been my friend. I'll have fond memories of you, Sheila. So we'll see whether you're going to sink or swim here [snip]. Huh—the darn Suzy Q ran clear over you! Anyway, I think you're going to be able to rise to the top and swim away.

Kathy McClain is next. What I remember about Kathy McClain is veterans and old people. She brings those bills in. Are you the one who had a bill this year where you said that guys over 70 were old? Well, maybe you are right, but I hope not because I think you are only as old as you feel and as old as you act. Kathy, hopefully you and I will never grow old. It has been great to serve with you and we are going to see how you survive this great splash in the water [snip]. You are a real floater.

Ellen Koivisto, I remember, after your first or second session, you came up to me and said what you thought you really enjoyed here and that's to be able to say you had made a lot of friends. Ellen, you have been my friend for a long, long time. Ellen is a champion of all those nurses out there. They love you. I have always enjoyed our time in the Legislature. So, it is time to see whether you seek or swim. The Suzy Q is just going all over the water here. Maybe she thinks Ellen doesn't want to abandon ship but you have to [snip]. You are a great swimmer.

Then there is my friend Mark Manendo. You are the captain, man. Mark, you know, we have always had a great time. Mark and I have gotten along great. Mark, he is the guru of the .08 and .10 and point whatever you might want to call it when it comes to DUI. But, Mark and I have always had kind of a running battle about mobile home parks. I wouldn't want to wish this on anyone except Mark and that is that he inherits a mobile home park and has to manage it according to NRS 118B. It has been great, me with Mark and all of my other friends here. We will see what is going to happen to you, Mark [snip]. You floated. So, you don't have to get that mobile home park.

And now, hopefully, I didn't miss anyone. Maybe Donna put more people on here. I don't know. Who did I miss? Golly. Sheesh. I missed the most important person. I guess I am used to doing that. After 20 years, sometimes I have a hard time thinking.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I guess I don't get snipped, then.

ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

About all I can say is that I am so proud to have been able to serve with the first lady Speaker in the history of the Nevada Legislature. Everyone has talked about how great you are and I just wanted to say that it has been a great joy to serve with you and I am probably the first guy that ever put the Speaker in the drink. So, here it goes [snip]. Whoah. Wow. She stayed on. See? That shows how great our Speaker is. Try to throw her overboard and she won't even go.

And then, for the guy who cannot swim and doesn't want to be in the drink, this is it [snip]. I landed upside down.

Thank you, Madam Speaker. I hope that all of my friends will hold me in kind regard as they go on their journey out of here. It has been a great time and this year has been especially memorable, when all my family was here, all of the Girl Scouts, and the last few days of all the great things that have been said about me and the other people who have served with me. I just appreciate it and thank you all so very much.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Oceguera requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Madam Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I would like to give some closing remarks. I am hoping we will be beginning our sine die ceremony shortly.

Let me begin by expressing my appreciation for the opportunity you have given me to serve as Speaker for these last two sessions. This has clearly been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. Over the past few days we have had retrospection and tributes which have been a great opportunity to share our memories of the people who have meant so much to us. There has also been much discussion about how difficult this session has been, how difficult times are right now, and how many challenges we still face. And while I think it is important to reflect on the past, I want to take a few moments tonight to look at the future.

I look at Nevada's future with great hope and optimism. Why? Just look at this session. We were faced with a challenge never before faced by our state. We had a 44 percent decline in revenue. We had a proposed budget from the Governor with dramatic cuts to K-12 and higher education; closure of conservation camps; cuts to corrections and parole staffing levels; the closing of almost every mental health clinic; and the terminating of children and pregnant women from health insurance.

There were also items in the budget that really had little rhyme or reason to them, such as the closing of a prison to save $22 million in operating costs only to spend $220 million to build a replacement; elimination of rural mental health clinics and substitute bussing the mentally ill into urban centers; and the eliminating of auditors at the Gaming Control Board, which are the positions we need to collect the money that we use to operate our state.

But look at how we came together.

In our body, we see two women leading the Assembly—from entirely different backgrounds, philosophical approaches, and life experiences. On the Senate side, we see our venerable icon, Bill Raggio, who has to be considered one of the most significant historical figures in the legislative process. And you see a majority leader, Steven Horsford, who is the first African American leader of the Senate, and who, in his two sessions, has gained a reputation for being focused, aggressive, and determined. And there is the rest of the Legislature, from all walks of life, everything from an inner city mortgage broker to a rancher from Eureka. And so, while our legislators are very different people, we all came together to attack unprecedented challenges facing our state. Our diversity and backgrounds, opinions, political party, and geography are exactly the reason why there are great years ahead for our state.

Despite our differences, what has united us has been our love of the state, commitment to our children, empathy for the elderly, and confidence in our state's future. Legislators of both parties, both houses, came together to not only solve the immediate challenges of a budget crisis, home foreclosures, service reduction, and lost Nevada jobs, but also to find ways to move our state forward. We paved the way for a better future by helping to create a whole new industry in renewable energy. We paved the way for new investment, a new business model, a cleaner environment, and a more self-reliant and independent Nevada. And equally importantly, we created opportunity for Nevadans to be retrained and reemployed in this dynamic industry. We looked into the future and set the course for securing and stabilizing our public employee retirement funds instead of passing the problem forward. We enacted real reform to our budget process by the creation of a forced savings account, a rainy day fund, so that we don't find ourselves in this dire situation again. We put into place real protections for those in jeopardy of losing their homes; by stemming that problem we saved home values for all.

What is next? Much has been said about the need to broaden our tax base. But we should not lose sight, also, of the need to broaden our economy by working to attract a broader base of industries to our state. I sponsored a measure that will look to try and transform our state into a transportation, warehousing, manufacturing, and assembly hub for the mountain west, which will, in turn, create good, stable jobs for our state's needs.

The keys to our future, I believe, are new ideas, balanced with traditional Nevada values and a shared optimism about the opportunities we have, even in bad times. And while I am committed to the future, I must take one opportunity to look back before I end tonight.

These last, hectic days have been bittersweet. While I am proud of everything we have accomplished, I am saddened that so many longstanding friends and colleagues will not be returning to this chamber. We will lose invaluable experience and wisdom, whether it is the cowboy sage and my friend, John Carpenter; whether it's my friend who I would pick most to be in a foxhole with me, Bernie Anderson; or the gentle giant among men, Moose Arberry; or my friend Sheila Leslie; or Give 'Em Hell Harry Mortenson; or the always poised and personable Ellen Koivisto; or the irrepressible Kathy McClain; or the remarkable Jerry Claborn; or the irascible Mark Manendo.

This will be my last session serving in the Assembly. I have been honored to represent the people in my district for these last 14 years. I have grown to understand and respect the traditions of the Assembly under the great, amazing tutelage of Assembly Speaker Joe Dini and Assembly Speaker Richard Perkins. They gave me all the opportunities I needed. One of my proudest moments of my life was taking the gavel and opening the 74th Session of the Nevada Legislature, as Speaker. This has been a difficult session and yet with the help of every member here, we have done the job we were sent here to do. We have represented the people of our districts with conviction and distinction, working in a bipartisan manner to address the fiscal crisis in this state and the myriad of other problems, large and small, that was our duty to resolve. It has been my privilege to work with you and by your side.

I thank you for your friendship and the confidence you have shown in me. I will always treasure the friendships I have made here and I have every confidence in my colleagues who I leave behind. Colleagues like my Majority Leader, John Oceguera, who I have grown so close to over the years and who I have every confidence in to lead this state; or my Assistant Majority Leader, Marcus Conklin, who I have just become fast friends with. I respect his work ethic. He is one of the hardest workers in the building. There also is my Assistant Majority Whip, Debbie Smith. She has grown so much. She is an incredible legislator. There is my other Assistant Majority Whip, William Horne, who has grown so much and excelled as a committee chair this session. There are my other committee chairs like Marilyn Kirkpatrick. What a superstar. There is Kelvin Atkinson, my good friend—watching him grow over the years has been one of my biggest joys. Bonnie Parnell has a steady hand, is smart, and is loved by all. My Ways and Means subcommittee chairs like Mo Denis—I have loved watching you step up into leadership; you are so understated, so smart, and so right. And there are all my other colleagues, rather they are ones I recruited, mentored, learned from, or argued with.

I have learned something from every person in this body, whether I agreed with you or not. My friend John Carpenter, I learned so much from you. Put Nevada first, nothing else matters. Have the courage of your convictions and you will sleep a lot better at night. To my friends, to my colleagues, I know I leave the Assembly in good hands. I thank you for all your years of service, I thank you for all you do for the State of Nevada, and I thank you for the privilege of having you elect me to serve and to lead this body. Thank you very much.

Madam Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Assembly in recess at 10:44 p.m.

Conference Amendment No. CA25.

AN ACT relating to common-interest communities; clarifying various provisions of existing law relating to certain provisions of governing documents that violate statutory provisions, elections and the authority of an association to levy certain assessments under certain circumstances; revising certain provisions governing the authority of an association to impose fines under certain circumstances; making various other changes to the provisions governing common-interest communities; providing penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Section 3 of this bill provides that a person who knowingly, willfully and with the intent to fraudulently alter the outcome of the election of a member to the executive board of an association or other votes of the units' owners engages in certain acts pertaining to the ballot or the casting of votes in such election is guilty of a category D felony. (NRS 116.31034) Existing law prohibits a community manager, an officer or a member of the executive board from accepting or soliciting compensation that would influence him or appear to be a conflict of interest. (NRS 116.31185) Section 4 of this bill provides that a community manager or member of the executive board who asks for or receives compensation to influence his vote, opinion or action upon any official matter is guilty of a category D felony. Section 4 also provides that a person who offers or gives any gratuity, compensation or reward, or makes a promise thereof, to a community manager or member of the executive board in exchange for a vote, opinion or action on any official matter is guilty of a category D felony.

Existing law requires each agency to provide by regulation for the filing and prompt disposition of petitions for declaratory orders and advisory opinions as to the applicability of any statutory provision, agency regulation or decision of the agency, and the Department of Business and Industry, which includes the Real Estate Division, has accordingly adopted regulations for such petitions. (NRS 233B.120; NAC 232.020) However, the Real Estate Division has not adopted any regulations pertaining to such petitions. Section 5 of this bill enacts a specific statutory provision requiring the Real Estate Division to adopt regulations pertaining to such petitions.

Existing law contains provisions concerning units or common elements of an association that are acquired by eminent domain. (NRS 116.1107) Section 7 of this bill clarifies that existing law does not authorize an association to exercise the power of eminent domain. Section 8 of this bill clarifies that any provision contained in a declaration, bylaw or other governing document of a common-interest community that violates the provisions of chapter 116 of NRS is superseded by the provisions of chapter 116 of NRS, regardless of whether the provision became effective before the enactment of the statutory provision being violated. (NRS 116.1206)

Section 8.5 of this bill provides that an association may not charge a fee for entry into the common-interest community against a person providing services to a unit, a unit's owner or a tenant of a unit's owner or against a visitor, guest or invitee of a unit's owner or a tenant of a unit's owner. (NRS 116.2111)

Section 9 of this bill revises existing law to limit an association's power to include certain provisions in certain contracts involving the association. (NRS 116.3102)

Existing law authorizes an executive board to impose fines under certain circumstances. (NRS 116.31031) Section 12 of this bill limits the imposition of fines against a unit's owner for violations of the governing documents by a tenant or an invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant.

Sections 13, 14 and 16 of this bill revise provisions relating to certain elections and meetings of an association by: (1) requiring members of the executive board to be units' owners; (2) providing that officers of an association are not required to be units' owners, unless the governing documents provide otherwise; (3) providing certain rights for candidates for election to an executive board; (4) reducing the votes necessary for removal of a member of an executive board; (5) prohibiting an association from interfering with the collection of signatures for a special meeting or removal election; and (6) providing immunity from criminal or civil liability for an association, its officers, employees and agents for the disclosure or publication of certain information pursuant to certain duties required of the association or its officers, employees and agents. Section 14 also provides that punitive damages may not be recovered against the members of the executive board or the officers of an association for acts or omissions that occur in their capacity as members or officers. (NRS 116.31034, 116.31036, 116.3108)

Section 15 of this bill clarifies existing law concerning the respective duties of an association and the units' owners regarding the maintenance, repair and replacement of the common elements and the units. (NRS 116.3107)

Sections 17-19 of this bill revise provisions relating to board meetings and hearings by: (1) requiring that meetings of the executive board be audio recorded and available in a certain manner; (2) requiring that certain written complaints be placed on the agenda; and (3) providing due process protections to units' owners at certain hearings. (NRS 116.31083, 116.31085, 116.31087) Section 17 also revises existing law to allow public comments to be made at both the beginning and the end of a meeting. (NRS 116.31083)

Existing law provides that an association has the statutory obligation to: (1) fund adequately its reserves; (2) include in its annual budget a statement concerning its reserves and whether it will be necessary to impose any special assessments; and (3) review its study of the reserves on an annual basis and make any appropriate adjustments necessary to ensure that the reserves are always funded adequately. (NRS 116.3115, 116.31151, 116.31152) Section 21 of this bill clarifies existing law by explicitly stating that notwithstanding any provision of the governing documents to the contrary, the executive board may, without seeking or obtaining the approval of units' owners, impose any necessary and reasonable assessments to establish adequate reserves. This section also provides that any such assessments imposed must be based on the study of the reserves of the association conducted pursuant to NRS 116.31152.

Section 22 of this bill authorizes the filing of a civil action to recover certain fees, administrative penalties and interest that were imposed erroneously. (NRS 116.31155)

Existing law provides that an executive board of an association must, upon written request of a unit's owner, make available certain records and papers of the association, except for certain personnel records, records of other units' owners or contracts between the association and an attorney. (NRS 116.31175) Section 23.5 of this bill removes from the exemptions for the production of records those records which pertain to a contract between the association and an attorney.

Sections 24, 26 and 28 of this bill provide certain additional rights to units' owners by: (1) increasing the scope and definition of prohibited retaliatory action; (2) authorizing the exhibition of certain political signs in certain areas; and (3) mandating notice before interruption of utility service to a unit's owner. (NRS 116.31183, 116.325, 116.345)

Section 25 of this bill expands the prohibition against certain contracts between an association and a member of the executive board or officer to include contracts involving financing. (NRS 116.31187) Section 27 of this bill: (1) provides that existing law concerning drought tolerant landscaping must be construed broadly; and (2) clarifies the definition of "drought tolerant landscaping." (NRS 116.330) Section 29 of this bill provides that if a community manager fails or refuses to comply with the governing documents of the association or the provisions of chapter 116 of NRS, any person or class of persons may bring a civil action for damages or other relief. (NRS 116.4117)

Section 30 of this bill increases the membership of the Commission by adding two members who are units' owners but who are not required to have served as members of an executive board. (NRS 116.600) Section 31 of this bill revises provisions relating to the Commission's duties by providing for the use of training officers to perform certain duties. (NRS 116.605)

Section 36 of this bill clarifies that if the Commission or hearing officer orders an audit of an association, the audit is conducted at the expense of the association. (NRS 116.790)

Existing law provides that a written affidavit, supporting documentation and information compiled as the result of an investigation of an alleged violation are confidential unless and until a formal complaint is filed. (NRS 116.757, 116A.270) Sections 33 and 37 of this bill clarify existing law to provide that such confidential information must not be disclosed to any person, including a person who is the subject of an investigation or complaint, unless and until a formal complaint is filed.

Section 39 of this bill provides that the Commission must adopt regulations requiring an applicant for a certificate as a community manager or the applicant's employer to post a bond. Section 39 also provides for the issuance of temporary certificates for community managers for a period of 1 year under certain circumstances. (NRS 116A.410)

Section 40 of this bill revises existing law to provide that upon selection or appointment of an arbitrator, the arbitrator must provide certain information concerning the procedures of the arbitration and applicable law to each party to the arbitration, and each party must return to the arbitrator an acknowledgment of the information provided by the arbitrator. (NRS 38.330)

Sec. 7. NRS 116.1107 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.1107 1. If a unit is acquired by eminent domain or part of a unit is acquired by eminent domain leaving the unit's owner with a remnant that may not practically or lawfully be used for any purpose permitted by the declaration, the award must include compensation to the unit's owner for that unit and its allocated interests, whether or not any common elements are acquired. Upon acquisition, unless the decree otherwise provides, that unit's allocated interests are automatically reallocated to the remaining units in proportion to the respective allocated interests of those units before the taking, and the association shall promptly prepare, execute and record an amendment to the declaration reflecting the reallocations. Any remnant of a unit remaining after part of a unit is taken under this subsection is thereafter a common element.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 1, if part of a unit is acquired by eminent domain, the award must compensate the unit's owner for the reduction in value of the unit and its interest in the common elements, whether or not any common elements are acquired. Upon acquisition, unless the decree otherwise provides:

(a) That unit's allocated interests are reduced in proportion to the reduction in the size of the unit, or on any other basis specified in the declaration; and

(b) The portion of the allocated interests divested from the partially acquired unit are automatically reallocated to that unit and to the remaining units in proportion to the respective allocated interests of those units before the taking, with the partially acquired unit participating in the reallocation on the basis of its reduced allocated interests.

3. If part of the common elements is acquired by eminent domain, the portion of the award attributable to the common elements taken must be paid to the association. Unless the declaration provides otherwise, any portion of the award attributable to the acquisition of a limited common element must be equally divided among the owners of the units to which that limited common element was allocated at the time of acquisition.

4. The judicial decree must be recorded in every county in which any portion of the common-interest community is located.

5. The provisions of this section do not authorize an association to exercise the power of eminent domain pursuant to chapter 37 of NRS, and an association may not exercise the power of eminent domain, as provided in NRS 37.0097.

Sec. 8. NRS 116.1206 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.1206 1. Any provision contained in a declaration, bylaw or other governing document of a common-interest community that violates the provisions of this chapter ~~[shall]~~ ***:

(a) Shall be deemed to conform with those provisions by operation of law, and any such declaration, bylaw or other governing document is not required to be amended to conform to those provisions.

(a) If the result accomplished by the amendment was permitted by law before January 1, 1992, the amendment may be made either in accordance with that law, in which case that law applies to that amendment, or it may be made under this chapter; and

(b) If the result accomplished by the amendment is permitted by this chapter, and was not permitted by law before January 1, 1992, the amendment may be made under this chapter.

3. An amendment to the declaration, bylaws or plats and plans authorized by this section to be made under this chapter must be adopted in conformity with the applicable provisions of chapter 117 or 278A of NRS and with the procedures and requirements specified by those instruments. If an amendment grants to any person any rights, powers or privileges permitted by this chapter, all correlative obligations, liabilities and restrictions in this chapter also apply to that person.

Sec. 8.5. NRS 116.2111 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.2111 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section and subject to the provisions of the declaration and other provisions of law, a unit's owner:

(c) After acquiring an adjoining unit or an adjoining part of an adjoining unit, may remove or alter any intervening partition or create apertures therein, even if the partition in whole or in part is a common element, if those acts do not impair the structural integrity or mechanical systems or lessen the support of any portion of the common-interest community. (t) Exercise any other powers necessary and proper for the governance and operation of the association.

2. The declaration may not impose limitations on the power of the association to deal with the declarant which are more restrictive than the limitations imposed on the power of the association to deal with other persons.

Sec. 10. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 11. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 12. NRS 116.31031 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31031 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, if a unit's owner or a tenant or ~~[guest]~~ an invitee of a unit's owner or a tenant violates any provision of the governing documents of an association, the executive board may, if the governing documents so provide:

(a) Prohibit, for a reasonable time, the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant from:

(1) Voting on matters related to the common-interest community.

(2) Using the common elements. The provisions of this subparagraph do not prohibit the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant from using any vehicular or pedestrian ingress or egress to go to or from the unit, including any area used for parking.

(b) Impose a fine against the unit's owner or the tenant or ~~[guest]~~ the invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant for each violation, except that a fine may not be imposed for a violation that is the subject of a construction penalty pursuant to NRS 116.310305. If the violation poses an imminent threat of causing a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety or welfare of the units' owners or residents of the common-interest community, the amount of the fine must be commensurate with the severity of the violation and must be determined by the executive board in accordance with the governing documents. If the violation does not pose an imminent threat of causing a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety or welfare of the units' owners or residents of the common-interest community, the amount of the fine must be commensurate with the severity of the violation and must be determined by the executive board in accordance with the governing documents, but the amount of the fine must not exceed $100 for each violation or a total amount of $1,000, whichever is less. The limitations on the amount of the fine do not apply to any interest, charges or costs that may be collected by the association pursuant to this section if the fine becomes past due.

2. The executive board may not impose a fine pursuant to subsection 1 against a unit's owner for a violation of any provision of the governing documents of an association committed by an invitee of the unit's owner or the tenant unless the unit's owner:

(a) Participated in or authorized the violation;

(b) Had prior notice of the violation; or

(c) Had an opportunity to stop the violation and failed to do so.

3. The executive board may not impose a fine pursuant to subsection 1 unless:

(a) Not less than 30 days before the violation, the person against whom the fine will be imposed had been provided with written notice of the applicable provisions of the governing documents that form the basis of the violation; and

(b) Within a reasonable time after the discovery of the violation, the person against whom the fine will be imposed has been provided with:

(1) Written notice specifying the details of the violation, the amount of the fine, and the date, time and location for a hearing on the violation; and

(2) A reasonable opportunity to contest the violation at the hearing.

~~[3.]~~ 4. The executive board must schedule the date, time and location for the hearing on the violation so that the person against whom the fine will be imposed is provided with a reasonable opportunity to prepare for the hearing and to be present at the hearing.

~~[4.]~~ 5. The executive board must hold a hearing before it may impose the fine, unless the person against whom the fine will be imposed:

(a) Pays the fine;

(b) Executes a written waiver of the right to the hearing; or

(c) Fails to appear at the hearing after being provided with proper notice of the hearing.

~~[5.]~~ 6. If a fine is imposed pursuant to subsection 1 and the violation is not cured within 14 days, or within any longer period that may be established by the executive board, the violation shall be deemed a continuing violation. Thereafter, the executive board may impose an additional fine for the violation for each 7-day period or portion thereof that the violation is not cured. Any additional fine may be imposed without notice and an opportunity to be heard.

~~[6.]~~ 7. If the governing documents so provide, the executive board may appoint a committee, with not less than three members, to conduct hearings on violations and to impose fines pursuant to this section. While acting on behalf of the executive board for those limited purposes, the committee and its members are entitled to all privileges and immunities and are subject to all duties and requirements of the executive board and its members.

~~[7.]~~ 8. The provisions of this section establish the minimum procedural requirements that the executive board must follow before it may impose a fine. The provisions of this section do not preempt any provisions of the governing documents that provide greater procedural protections.

~~[8.]~~ 9. Any past due fine:

(a) Bears interest at the rate established by the association, not to exceed the legal rate per annum.

(b) May include any costs of collecting the past due fine at a rate established by the association. If the past due fine is for a violation that does not threaten the health, safety or welfare of the residents of the common-interest community, the rate established by the association for the costs of collecting the past due fine:

(1) May not exceed $20, if the outstanding balance is less than $200.

(2) May not exceed $50, if the outstanding balance is $200 or more, but is less than $500.

(3) May not exceed $100, if the outstanding balance is $500 or more, but is less than $1,000.

(4) May not exceed $250, if the outstanding balance is $1,000 or more, but is less than $5,000.

(5) May not exceed $500, if the outstanding balance is $5,000 or more.

(c) May include any costs incurred by the association during a civil action to enforce the payment of the past due fine.

~~[9.]~~ 10. As used in this section:

(a) "Costs of collecting" includes, without limitation, any collection fee, filing fee, recording fee, referral fee, fee for postage or delivery, and any other fee or cost that an association may reasonably charge to the unit's owner for the collection of a past due fine. The term does not include any costs incurred by an association during a civil action to enforce the payment of a past due fine.

(b) "Outstanding balance" means the amount of a past due fine that remains unpaid before any interest, charges for late payment or costs of collecting the past due fine are added.

Sec. 12.5. NRS 116.310315 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.310315 If an association has imposed a fine against a unit's owner or a tenant or ~~[guest]~~ an invitee of a unit's owner or a tenant pursuant to NRS 116.31031 for violations of the governing documents of the association, the association:

1. Shall, in the books and records of the association, account for the fine separately from any assessment, fee or other charge; and

2. Shall not apply, in whole or in part, any payment made by the unit's owner for any assessment, fee or other charge toward the payment of the outstanding balance of the fine or any costs of collecting the fine, unless the unit's owner provides written authorization which directs the association to apply the payment made by the unit's owner in such a manner.

Sec. 13. NRS 116.31034 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31034 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 5 of NRS 116.212, not later than the termination of any period of declarant's control, the units' owners shall elect an executive board of at least three members, ~~[at least a majority]~~ all of whom must be units' owners. ~~[Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, the remaining members of the executive board do not have to be units' owners.]~~ The executive board shall elect the officers of the association. Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, the officers of the association are not required to be units' owners. The members of the executive board and the officers of the association shall take office upon election.

2. The term of office of a member of the executive board may not exceed 2 years, except for members who are appointed by the declarant. Unless the governing documents provide otherwise, there is no limitation on the number of terms that a person may serve as a member of the executive board.

3. The governing documents of the association must provide for terms of office that are staggered in such a manner that, to the extent possible, an equal number of members of the executive board are elected at each election. The provisions of this subsection do not apply to:

(a) Members of the executive board who are appointed by the declarant; and

(b) Members of the executive board who serve a term of 1 year or less.

4. Not less than 30 days before the preparation of a ballot for the election of members of the executive board, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause notice to be given to each unit's owner of his eligibility to serve as a member of the executive board. Each unit's owner who is qualified to serve as a member of the executive board may have his name placed on the ballot along with the names of the nominees selected by the members of the executive board or a nominating committee established by the association.

5. Each person whose name is placed on the ballot as a candidate for a member of the executive board must:

(a) Make a good faith effort to disclose any financial, business, professional or personal relationship or interest that would result or would appear to a reasonable person to result in a potential conflict of interest for the candidate if the candidate were to be elected to serve as a member of the executive board; and

(b) Disclose whether the candidate is a member in good standing. For the purposes of this paragraph, a candidate shall not be deemed to be in "good standing" if the candidate has any unpaid and past due assessments or construction penalties that are required to be paid to the association.

➥ The candidate must make all disclosures required pursuant to this subsection in writing to the association with his candidacy information. The association shall distribute the disclosures to each member of the association with the ballot in the manner established in the bylaws of the association.

6. Unless a person is appointed by the declarant:

(a) A person may not be a member of the executive board or an officer of the association if the person, his spouse or his parent or child, by blood, marriage or adoption, performs the duties of a community manager for that association.

(b) A person may not be a member of the executive board of a master association or an officer of that master association if the person, his spouse or his parent or child, by blood, marriage or adoption, performs the duties of a community manager for:

7. An officer, employee, agent or director of a corporate owner of a unit, a trustee or designated beneficiary of a trust that owns a unit, a partner of a partnership that owns a unit, a member or manager of a limited-liability company that owns a unit, and a fiduciary of an estate that owns a unit may be an officer of the association or a member of the executive board. In all events where the person serving or offering to serve as an officer of the association or a member of the executive board is not the record owner, he shall file proof in the records of the association that:

(a) He is associated with the corporate owner, trust, partnership, limited-liability company or estate as required by this subsection; and

(b) Identifies the unit or units owned by the corporate owner, trust, partnership, limited-liability company or estate.

8. The election of any member of the executive board must be conducted by secret written ballot unless the declaration of the association provides that voting rights may be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105. If the election of any member of the executive board is conducted by secret written ballot:

(a) The secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause a secret ballot and a return envelope to be sent, prepaid by United States mail, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner.

(b) Each unit's owner must be provided with at least 15 days after the date the secret written ballot is mailed to the unit's owner to return the secret written ballot to the association.

(c) A quorum is not required for the election of any member of the executive board.

(d) Only the secret written ballots that are returned to the association may be counted to determine the outcome of the election.

(e) The secret written ballots must be opened and counted at a meeting of the association. A quorum is not required to be present when the secret written ballots are opened and counted at the meeting.

(f) The incumbent members of the executive board and each person whose name is placed on the ballot as a candidate for a member of the executive board may not possess, be given access to or participate in the opening or counting of the secret written ballots that are returned to the association before those secret written ballots have been opened and counted at a meeting of the association.

9. An association shall not adopt any rule or regulation that has the effect of prohibiting or unreasonably interfering with a candidate in his campaign for election as a member of the executive board, except that his campaign may be limited to 90 days before the date that ballots are required to be returned to the association. A candidate may request that the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association send, 30 days before the date of the election and at the association's expense, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner a candidate informational statement. The candidate informational statement:

(a) Must be no longer than a single, typed page;

(b) Must not contain any defamatory, libelous or profane information; and

(c) May be sent with the secret ballot mailed pursuant to subsection 8 or in a separate mailing.

➥ The association and its directors, officers, employees and agents are immune from criminal or civil liability for any act or omission which arises out of the publication or disclosure of any information related to any

10. Each member of the executive board shall, within 90 days after his appointment or election, certify in writing to the association, on a form prescribed by the Administrator, that he has read and understands the governing documents of the association and the provisions of this chapter to the best of his ability. The Administrator may require the association to submit a copy of the certification of each member of the executive board of that association at the time the association registers with the Ombudsman pursuant to NRS 116.31158.

Sec. 14. NRS 116.31036 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31036 1. Notwithstanding any provision of the declaration or bylaws to the contrary, any member of the executive board, other than a member appointed by the declarant, may be removed from the executive board, with or without cause, if at a removal election held pursuant to this section ~~[the]~~ ***:

(a) The number of votes cast ~~[in favor of removal]~~ constitutes ~~[:~~

~~(a) At]~~ at least 35 percent of the total number of voting members of the association; and

(b) At least a majority of all votes cast in that removal election ~~[.]~~ are cast in favor of removal.

2. The removal of any member of the executive board must be conducted by secret written ballot unless the declaration of the association provides that voting rights may be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105. If the removal of a member of the executive board is conducted by secret written ballot:

(a) The secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws of the association shall cause a secret ballot and a return envelope to be sent, prepaid by United States mail, to the mailing address of each unit within the common-interest community or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner.

(b) Each unit's owner must be provided with at least 15 days after the date the secret written ballot is mailed to the unit's owner to return the secret written ballot to the association.

(c) Only the secret written ballots that are returned to the association may be counted to determine the outcome.

(d) The secret written ballots must be opened and counted at a meeting of the association. A quorum is not required to be present when the secret written ballots are opened and counted at the meeting.

(e) The incumbent members of the executive board, including, without limitation, the member who is subject to the removal, may not possess, be given access to or participate in the opening or counting of the secret written ballots that are returned to the association before those secret written ballots have been opened and counted at a meeting of the association.

3. If a member of an executive board is named as a respondent or sued for liability for actions undertaken in his role as a member of the board, the association shall indemnify him for his losses or claims, and undertake all costs of defense, unless it is proven that he acted with willful or wanton misfeasance or with gross negligence. After such proof, the association is no longer liable for the cost of defense, and may recover costs already expended from the member of the executive board who so acted. Members of the executive board are not personally liable to the victims of crimes occurring on the property. Punitive damages may not be recovered against ~~[the]~~ **:

(a) The association ~~[.]~~ ~~[, but may be recovered from persons whose activity gave rise to the damages.]~~ **;

(b) The members of the executive board for acts or omissions that occur in their official capacity as members of the executive board; or

(c) The officers of the association for acts or omissions that occur in their capacity as officers of the association.

4. The provisions of this section do not prohibit the Commission from taking any disciplinary action against a member of an executive board pursuant to NRS 116.745 to 116.795, inclusive.

Sec. 15. NRS 116.3107 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.3107 1. Except to the extent provided by the declaration, subsection 2 and NRS 116.31135, the association ~~[is responsible]~~ has the duty to provide for the maintenance, repair and replacement of the common elements, and each unit's owner ~~[is responsible]~~ has the duty to provide for the maintenance, repair and replacement of his unit. Each unit's owner shall afford to the association and the other units' owners, and to their agents or employees, access through his unit reasonably necessary for those purposes. If damage is inflicted on the common elements or on any unit through which access is taken, the unit's owner responsible for the damage, or the association if it is responsible, is liable for the prompt repair thereof.

2. In addition to the liability that a declarant as a unit's owner has under this chapter, the declarant alone is liable for all expenses in connection with real estate subject to developmental rights. No other unit's owner and no other portion of the common-interest community is subject to a claim for payment of those expenses. Unless the declaration provides otherwise, any income or proceeds from real estate subject to developmental rights inures to the declarant.

3. In a planned community, if all developmental rights have expired with respect to any real estate, the declarant remains liable for all expenses of that real estate unless, upon expiration, the declaration provides that the real estate becomes common elements or units.

Sec. 16. NRS 116.3108 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.3108 1. A meeting of the units' owners must be held at least once each year. If the governing documents do not designate an annual meeting date of the units' owners, a meeting of the units' owners must be held 1 year after the date of the last meeting of the units' owners. If the units' owners have not held a meeting for 1 year, a meeting of the units' owners must be held on the following March 1.

2. Special meetings of the units' owners may be called by the president, by a majority of the executive board or by units' owners constituting at least 10 percent, or any lower percentage specified in the bylaws, of the total number of voting members of the association. The same number of units' owners may also call a removal election pursuant to NRS 116.31036. To call a special meeting or a removal election, the units' owners must submit a written petition which is signed by the required percentage of the total number of voting members of the association pursuant to this section and which is mailed, return receipt requested, or served by a process server to the executive board or the community manager for the association. If the petition calls for a special meeting, the executive board shall set the date for the special meeting so that the special meeting is held not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received. If the petition calls for a removal election and:

(a) The voting rights of the units' owners will be exercised by delegates or representatives as set forth in NRS 116.31105, the executive board shall set the date for the removal election so that the removal election is held not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received; or

(b) The voting rights of the units' owners will be exercised through the use of secret written ballots pursuant to NRS 116.31036, the secret written ballots for the removal election must be sent in the manner required by NRS 116.31036 not less than 15 days or more than 60 days after the date on which the petition is received, and the executive board shall set the date for the meeting to open and count the secret written ballots so that the meeting is held not more than 15 days after the deadline for returning the secret written ballots.

➥ The association shall not adopt any rule or regulation which prevents or unreasonably interferes with the collection of the required percentage of signatures for a petition pursuant to this subsection.

Except in emergencies, no action may be taken upon a matter raised under this item of the agenda until the matter itself has been specifically included on an agenda as an item upon which action may be taken pursuant to paragraph (b).

5. If the association adopts a policy imposing fines for any violations of the governing documents of the association, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws shall prepare and cause to be hand-delivered or sent prepaid by United States mail to the mailing address of each unit or to any other mailing address designated in writing by the unit's owner, a schedule of the fines that may be imposed for those violations.

6. The secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws shall cause minutes to be recorded or otherwise taken at each meeting of the units' owners. Not more than 30 days after each such meeting, the secretary or other officer specified in the bylaws shall cause the minutes or a summary of the minutes of the meeting to be made available to the units' owners. A copy of the minutes or a summary of the minutes must be provided to any unit's owner upon request and, if required by the executive board, upon payment to the association of the cost of providing the copy to the unit's owner.

Sec. 20. (Deleted by amendment.)

Sec. 21. NRS 116.3115 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.3115 1. Until the association makes an assessment for common expenses, the declarant shall pay all common expenses. After an assessment has been made by the association, assessments must be made at least annually, based on a budget adopted at least annually by the association in accordance with the requirements set forth in NRS 116.31151. Unless the declaration imposes more stringent standards, the budget must include a budget for the daily operation of the association and a budget for the reserves required by paragraph (b) of subsection 2.

2. Except for assessments under subsections 4 to 7, inclusive:

(a) All common expenses, including the reserves, must be assessed against all the units in accordance with the allocations set forth in the declaration pursuant to subsections 1 and 2 of NRS 116.2107.

(b) The association shall establish adequate reserves, funded on a reasonable basis, for the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements. The reserves may be used only for those purposes, including, without limitation, repairing, replacing and restoring roofs, roads and sidewalks, and must not be used for daily maintenance. The association may comply with the provisions of this paragraph through a funding plan that is designed to allocate the costs for the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements over a period of years if the funding plan is designed in an actuarially sound manner which will ensure that sufficient money is available when the repair, replacement and restoration of the major components of the common elements are necessary. Notwithstanding any provision of the governing documents to the contrary, to establish adequate reserves pursuant to this paragraph, including, without limitation, to establish or carry out a funding plan, the executive board may, without seeking or obtaining the approval of the units' owners, impose any necessary and reasonable assessments against the units in the common-interest community. Any such assessments imposed by the executive board must be based on the study of the reserves of the association conducted pursuant to NRS 116.31152.

3. Any past due assessment for common expenses or installment thereof bears interest at the rate established by the association not exceeding 18 percent per year.

4. To the extent required by the declaration:

(a) Any common expense associated with the maintenance, repair, restoration or replacement of a limited common element must be assessed against the units to which that limited common element is assigned, equally, or in any other proportion the declaration provides;

(b) Any common expense or portion thereof benefiting fewer than all of the units must be assessed exclusively against the units benefited; and

(c) The costs of insurance must be assessed in proportion to risk and the costs of utilities must be assessed in proportion to usage.

5. Assessments to pay a judgment against the association may be made only against the units in the common-interest community at the time the judgment was entered, in proportion to their liabilities for common expenses.

6. If any common expense is caused by the misconduct of any unit's owner, the association may assess that expense exclusively against his unit.

7. The association of a common-interest community created before January 1, 1992, is not required to make an assessment against a vacant lot located within the community that is owned by the declarant.

8. If liabilities for common expenses are reallocated, assessments for common expenses and any installment thereof not yet due must be recalculated in accordance with the reallocated liabilities.

9. The association shall provide written notice to each unit's owner of a meeting at which an assessment for a capital improvement is to be considered or action is to be taken on such an assessment at least 21 calendar days before the date of the meeting.

Sec. 22. NRS 116.31155 is hereby amended to read as follows:

116.31155 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, an association shall:

(a) If the association is required to pay the fee imposed by NRS 78.150, 82.193, 86.263, 87.541, 87A.560 or 88.591, pay to the Administrator a fee established by regulation of the Administrator for every unit in the association used for residential use.

(b) If the association is organized as a trust or partnership, or as any other authorized business entity, pay to the Administrator a fee established by regulation of the Administrator for each unit in the association.

2. If an association is subject to the governing documents of a master association, the master association shall pay the fees required pursuant to this section for each unit in the association that is subject to the governing documents of the master association, unless the governing documents of the master association provide otherwise. The provisions of this subsection do not relieve any association that is subject to the governing documents of a master association from its ultimate responsibility to pay the fees required pursuant to this section to the Administrator if they are not paid by the master association.

3. The fees required to be paid pursuant to this section must be:

(a) Paid at such times as are established by the Division.

(b) Deposited with the State Treasurer for credit to the Account for Common-Interest Communities and Condominium Hotels created by NRS 116.630.

(c) Established on the basis of the actual costs of administering the Office of the Ombudsman and the Commission and not on a basis which includes any subsidy beyond those actual costs. In no event may the fees required to be paid pursuant to this section exceed $3 per unit.

4. The Division shall impose an administrative penalty against an association or master association that violates the provisions of this section by failing to pay the fees owed by the association or master association within the times established by the Division. The administrative penalty that is imposed for each violation must equal 10 percent of the amount of the fees owed by the association or master association or $500, whichever amount is less. The amount of the unpaid fees owed by the association or master association bears interest at the rate set forth in NRS 99.040 from the date the fees are due until the date the fees are paid in full.

5. A unit's owner may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to both an association and a master association.

6. An association that is subject to the governing documents of a master association may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to the extent they have already been paid by the master association.

7. A master association may not be required to pay any portion of the fees or any administrative penalties or interest required to be paid pursuant to this section to the extent they have already been paid by an association that is subject to the governing documents of the master association.

8. Upon the payment of the fees and any administrative penalties and interest required by this section, the Administrator shall provide to the association or master association evidence that it paid the fees and the administrative penalties and interest in compliance with this section.

9. Any person, association or master association which has been requested or required to pay any fees, administrative penalties or interest pursuant to this section and which believes that such fees, administrative penalties or interest has been imposed in error may, without exhausting any available administrative remedies, bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover:

(a) Any amount paid in error for any fees, administrative penalties or interest during the immediately preceding 3 years;

(b) Interest on the amount paid in error at the rate set forth in NRS 99.040; and

(c) Reasonable costs and attorney's fees.

3. If the executive board refuses to allow a unit's owner to review the books, records or other papers of the association, the Ombudsman may:

(a) On behalf of the unit's owner and upon written request, review the books, records or other papers of the association during the regular working hours of the association; and

The following Senate amendment was read:

Amendment No. 990.

SUMMARY—Establishes a program for the ~~[issuance of state obligations to provide venture capital]~~ investment of state money in certificates of deposit at a reduced rate to provide lending institutions with money for reduced-rate loans to certain ~~[minority-owned]~~ small businesses in this State. (BDR 31-613)

AN ACT relating to state obligations; establishing a program for the investment of state money in certificates of deposit at a reduced rate to provide lending institutions with money for reduced-rate loans to certain ~~[minority-owned and other]~~ small businesses in this State; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law allows the State Treasurer to invest the money of this State in negotiable certificates of deposit issued by commercial banks, insured credit unions or insured savings and loan associations. (NRS 355.140) Section 15 of this bill requires the State Treasurer to establish a Linked Deposit Program whereby the State, in an aggregate amount not to exceed $20,000,000, invests in certificates of deposit with commercial banks, insured credit unions or insured savings and loan associations at a reduced rate of interest on the condition that the lending institution link the value of each certificate of deposit to a reduced-rate loan to certain types of small businesses. Section 15 also provides that the rate of interest paid to the State on the deposit is to be not more than 2 percentage points below the market rate for such a deposit, and the loan rate is to be reduced not more than 2 percentage points below the market rate for such a loan. Further, section 15 requires a lending institution to sign an agreement with the State Treasurer as to the terms of such a deposit and its linked loan.

Section 17 of this bill requires a lending institution that participates in the Linked Deposit Program to apply all the usual lending standards to determine the creditworthiness of a small business seeking a loan and further requires that a preference be given to certain small businesses that : (1) are owned by a member of a racial or ethnic minority, a woman or an honorably discharged veteran of the Armed Forces of the United States ~~[.]~~ ; or (2) engage in the production and sale of fuel or power from an energy source other than a fossil fuel. Section 19 of this bill limits such loans to not more than $500,000 and to a term of not longer than 10 years. Section 18 of this bill limits the types of businesses that are eligible to participate in the Linked Deposit Program.

Section 21 of this bill prohibits the State Treasurer from making any new investments through the Linked Deposit Program after June 30, 2011.

(a) Prohibit a Legislator from requesting or introducing a legislative measure; or

If a Legislator who is a member of a committee declares on the record when a vote is to be taken by the committee that he will abstain from voting because of the requirements of this Rule, the necessary quorum to act upon and the number of votes necessary to act upon the matter is reduced as though the Legislator abstaining were not a member of the committee.

B. BILLS

Rule No. 104. Reserved.

Rule No. 106. Skeleton Bills.

The introduction of skeleton bills is authorized when, in the opinion of the sponsor and the Legislative Counsel, the full drafting of the bill would entail extensive research or be of considerable length. A skeleton bill will be provided for purposes of introduction and committee referral. Such a bill will be a presentation of ideas or statements of purpose, sufficient in style and expression to enable the Legislature and the committee to which the bill may be referred to consider the substantive merits of the legislation proposed.

Rule No. 107. Reserved.

Rule No. 108. Reserved.

Rule No. 109. Reading of Bills.

The presiding officer shall announce at each reading of a bill whether it be the first, second or third reading. The first reading of a bill shall be for information. If there is objection, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be rejected?" If the question to reject fails to receive a majority vote by the members present, or if there is no objection, the bill shall take the proper course. No bill shall be referred to a committee until after the first reading, nor amended until after the second reading.

[Statutes of Nevada 1973, 1894; A 1995, 2858]

Rule No. 110. Second Reading and Amendment of Bills.

1. All bills must be read the second time on the first legislative day after which they are reported by committee, unless a different day is designated by motion. Upon second reading, Assembly bills reported without amendments shall be placed on the General File and Senate bills reported without amendments shall be placed on the General File. Committee amendments reported with bills shall be considered upon their second reading or third reading, as appropriate, and such amendments may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Any amendment which is numbered, copied and made available to all members must be moved and voted upon by number. Assembly bills so amended must be reprinted, engrossed, and placed on the General File. Senate bills so amended must be reprinted, then engrossed or reengrossed, as applicable, and placed on the General File.

2. Any member may move to amend a bill during its second or third reading, and such a motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. Bills so amended on second reading must be treated the same as bills with committee amendments. Any bill so amended upon the General File must be reprinted and then engrossed or reengrossed, as applicable.

3. The reprinting of amended bills may be dispensed with only in accordance with the provisions of law.

[Statutes of Nevada 1975, 1915; A 1997, 3552; 1999, 3844; 2009, 3153]

Rule No. 111. Consent Calendar.

1. A standing committee may by unanimous vote of the members present report a bill with the recommendation that it be placed on the Consent Calendar. The question of recommending a bill for the Consent Calendar may be voted upon in committee only after the bill has been recommended for passage and only if no amendment is recommended.

2. The Chief Clerk shall maintain a list of bills recommended for the Consent Calendar. The list must be printed in the Daily History and must include the summary of each bill, and the date the bill is scheduled for consideration on final passage.

3. At any time before the presiding officer calls for a vote on the passage of the Consent Calendar, a member may give written notice to the Chief Clerk or state orally from the floor of the Assembly in session that he requests the removal of a particular bill from the Consent Calendar. If a member so requests, the Chief Clerk shall remove the bill from the Consent Calendar and transfer it to the Second Reading File. A bill removed from the Consent Calendar may not be restored to that Calendar.

4. During floor consideration of the Consent Calendar, members may ask questions and offer explanations relating to the respective bills.

5. When the Consent Calendar is brought to a vote, the bills remaining on the Consent Calendar must be read by number and summary and the vote must be taken on their final passage as a group.

[Statutes of Nevada 1977, 1660; A 1987, 2328; 1997, 3552; 1999, 3845; 2001, 3305]

Rule No. 113. General File.

All bills reported to the Assembly, by either standing or special committees, after receiving their second readings must be placed upon a General File, to be kept by the Chief Clerk. The Chief Clerk shall post a daily statement of the bills on the General File. The Chief Clerk shall likewise post notices of special orders as made.

[Statutes of Nevada 1973, 1895; A 1997, 3553; 1999, 3845; 2001, 3305; 2009, 3154]

Rule No. 115. Reconsideration of Vote on Bill.

On the first legislative day that the Assembly is in session succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken, a vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member. Notice of intention to move such reconsideration must be given on the day on which the final vote was taken by a member voting with the prevailing party. It is not in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which the final vote was taken, except by a majority of the members elected. There may be no reconsideration of a vote on a motion to indefinitely postpone. Motions to reconsider a vote upon amendments to any pending question may be made at once.

[Statutes of Nevada 1973, 1895; A 1999, 3845; 2009, 3155]

Rule No. 116. Vetoed Bills.

1. Bills that have passed both Houses of the Legislature and are transmitted to the Assembly accompanied by a message or statement of the Governor's disapproval or veto of the same must:

(a) Be taken up and considered immediately upon the coming in of the message transmitting the same; or

(b) Become the subject of a special order.

2. When the message is received, or if made a special order, when the special order is called, the said message or statement must be read together with the bill or bills so disapproved or vetoed. The message and bill must be read by the Chief Clerk without interruption, consecutively, one following the other, and not upon separate occasions. No such bill or message may be referred to any committee, or otherwise acted upon save as provided by law and custom; that is to say, that immediately following such reading the only question, except as hereinafter stated, which may be put by the Speaker is, "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?" It shall not be in order, at any time, to vote upon such a vetoed bill unless the same shall first have been read, from the first word of its title to and including the last word of its final section. No motion may be entertained after the Speaker has stated the question, save a motion to adjourn or a motion for the previous question, but the merits of the bill itself may be debated. The message or statement containing the objections of the Governor to the bill must be entered in the Journal of the Assembly. The consideration of a vetoed bill, and the objections of the Governor thereto, shall be a privileged question, and shall take precedence over all others.

3. A cumulative list of all bills determined by the Fiscal Analysis Division pursuant to subsection 1 to be exempt or eligible for exemption after being printed must be maintained and printed in the back of the list of requests for the preparation of legislative measures prepared pursuant to NRS 218.2475.

4. The provisions of subsections 1 and 2 of Joint Standing Rule No. 14, subsection 1 of Joint Standing Rule No. 14.2 and Joint Standing Rule No. 14.3 do not apply to:

(a) A measure that primarily relates to carrying out the business of the Legislature.

(b) A bill returned from enrollment for a technical correction.

(c) A bill that was previously enrolled but, upon request of the Legislature, has been returned from the Governor for further consideration.

For the purposes of this Rule, an amendment is independent of, and not specifically related and properly connected to, the subject that is expressed in the title of a bill or resolution if the amendment relates only to the general, single subject that is expressed in that title and not to the specific whole subject matter embraced in the bill or resolution.

POLICY AND PROCEDURES REGARDING SEXUAL HARASSMENT

Rule No. 20. Maintenance of Working Environment; Procedure for Filing, Investigating and Taking Remedial Action on Complaints.

1. The Legislature hereby declares its intention to maintain a working environment which is free from sexual harassment. This policy applies to all Legislators and lobbyists. Each member and lobbyist is responsible to conduct himself or herself in a manner which will ensure that others are able to work in such an environment.

2. In accordance with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, for the purposes of this Rule, "sexual harassment" means unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

(a) Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of a person's employment;

(b) Submission to or rejection of such conduct by a person is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting the person; or

(c) Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with a person's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment.

3. Each person subject to these Rules must exercise his own good judgment to avoid engaging in conduct that may be perceived by others as sexual harassment. The following noninclusive list provides illustrations of conduct that the Legislature deems to be inappropriate:

(a) Verbal conduct such as epithets, derogatory comments, slurs or unwanted sexual advances, invitations or comments;

(b) Visual conduct such as derogatory posters, photography, cartoons, drawings or gestures;

(c) Physical conduct such as unwanted touching, blocking normal movement or interfering with the work directed at a person because of his sex;

(d) Threats and demands to submit to sexual requests to keep a person's job or avoid some other loss, and offers of employment benefits in return for sexual favors; and

(e) Retaliation for opposing, reporting or threatening to report sexual harassment, or for participating in an investigation, proceeding or hearing conducted by the Legislature or the Nevada Equal Rights Commission or the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission,

➥ when submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of a person's employment or submission to or rejection of such conduct by a person is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting the person or such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with a person's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment.

4. A person may have a claim of sexual harassment even if he has not lost a job or some other economic benefit. Conduct that impairs a person's ability to work or his emotional well-being at work constitutes sexual harassment.

5. If a Legislator believes he is being sexually harassed on the job, he may file a written complaint with:

(a) The Speaker of the Assembly;

(b) The Majority Leader of the Senate; or

(c) The Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau, if the complaint involves the conduct of the Speaker of the Assembly or the Majority Leader of the Senate.

➥ The complaint must include the details of the incident or incidents, the names of the persons involved and the names of any witnesses.

6. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 7, the Speaker of the Assembly or the Majority Leader of the Senate, as appropriate, shall refer a complaint received pursuant to subsection 5 to a committee consisting of Legislators of the same House. A complaint against a lobbyist may be referred to a committee in either House.

7. If the complaint involves the conduct of the Speaker of the Assembly or the Majority Leader of the Senate, the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau shall refer the complaint to the Committee on Elections, Procedures, Ethics, and Constitutional Amendments of the Assembly or the Committee on Legislative Operations and Elections of the Senate, as appropriate. If the Speaker of the Assembly or the Majority Leader of the Senate is a member of one of these committees, the Speaker or the Majority Leader, as the case may be, shall not participate in the investigation and resolution of the complaint.

8. The committee to which the complaint is referred shall immediately conduct a confidential and discreet investigation of the complaint. As a part of the investigation, the committee shall notify the accused of the allegations. The committee shall facilitate a meeting between the complainant and the accused to allow a discussion of the matter, if both agree. If the parties do not agree to such a meeting, the committee shall request statements regarding the complaint from each of the parties. Either party may request a hearing before the committee. The committee shall make its determination and inform the complainant and the accused of its determination as soon as practicable after it has completed its investigation.

9. If the investigation reveals that sexual harassment has occurred, the Legislature will take appropriate disciplinary or remedial action, or both. The committee shall inform the complainant of any action taken. The Legislature will also take any action necessary to deter any future harassment.

10. The Legislature will not retaliate against a person who files a complaint and will not knowingly permit any retaliation by the person's supervisors or coworkers.

11. The Legislature encourages a person to report any incident of sexual harassment immediately so that the complaint can be quickly and fairly resolved.

12. Action taken by a complainant pursuant to this Rule does not prohibit the complainant from also filing a complaint of sexual harassment with the Nevada Equal Rights Commission or the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

13. All Legislators and lobbyists are responsible for adhering to the provisions of this policy. The prohibitions against engaging in sexual harassment and the protections against becoming a victim of sexual harassment set forth in this policy apply to employees, Legislators, lobbyists, vendors, contractors, customers and visitors to the Legislature.

14. This policy does not create any enforceable legal rights in any person.
