Prayer by the Chaplain, Bishop Joseph A. Pepe, Diocese of Las Vegas, Roman Catholic Church, Las Vegas, Nevada and Bishop Randolph R. Calvo, Diocese of Reno, Roman Catholic Church Reno, Nevada.

O Almighty God and Father,

This day we come before You, thankful for the call of service to the people of Nevada, grateful to be servant leaders.

Make us generous in response, sensitive in their needs, and open to their call for wise counsel, prudent discernment, and willing collaboration.

In the days and months ahead in the legislature may we, through Your gracious wisdom, work to address the challenges of the state with equanimity and diplomatic solutions.

In Your merciful care, may we appreciate the dignity of each person, the preciousness of each man and woman in Your image, that we may offer through our work and persistent labor a life of justice, equity, and peaceful coexistence and bring forth a true family of man in our state.

In all we do, may we protect life at every moment, liberty, and the pursuit of true happiness as a goal and aim.

This day we come before You as servant leaders of Your call and promise.

May Your gracious blessings be upon us—of inner peace, accomplishment, and satisfaction.

We ask this all in Your name.

Amen.

Remarks by Assemblymen Conklin, Goicoechea, Stewart, and Mr. Speaker.

Assemblyman Conklin requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and congratulations to you. I have been here eight years now, and over that time we have worked together very well. You have been a teacher, a mentor, and a friend. You have worked hard, you have been true to your word, and you have served admirably in the roles of Assemblyman, Chairman, and Majority Leader. Your leadership will enhance this body, and I am honored to call you Speaker.

Speaker pro Tempore Elect Smith, Minority Leader Goicoechea, colleagues, and honored guests, thank you. I am grateful and honored to be your Floor Leader.

As I look around, I marvel at how this Legislature and this process have changed since I first came here. Those were the days of economic boom when our problems seemed much simpler. Each session, there were a handful of new Assemblymen and women to learn from veteran legislators with decades of experience. And now the 2011 Session has arrived. We face unprecedented challenges with almost half of this body new to the process.

But where there is adversity, there is also opportunity—opportunity for new beginnings, new growth, and a future for our state that is more stable and secure.

If we can focus a little less on our individual ideologies, and a little more on our shared realities, I believe we can find solutions to our challenges.

As we work to solve Nevada's immediate economic crisis, we should also have ambitious goals for our future.

First, we need jobs. Not only must we get people back to work now, we must also look at a new economy for Nevada and its future. We must find opportunities for new job growth, and we must foster growth within our existing businesses. Secondly, we must make a commitment to educate our children. We must work together for an education system we can be proud of—one that is strong, vibrant, and successful at all levels—kindergarten through 12th grade and within our university system, as well. Without a well-educated workforce and a solid school system, we will not be able to attract or retain the businesses needed for our economy to grow and diversify. Without such a system, our economic future will never be certain. Finally, we must make government more efficient, transparent, and accountable. While we may differ on what is essential or what the level of services should be, I think we can all agree that government must get the most from every dollar spent. We must continue to find ways to cut costs and to ensure that every state expenditure is producing real results for the people of Nevada.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I have confidence in our ability to work together "across the aisle" to build Nevada's future. Abraham Lincoln once said, "Nearly all men can stand adversity, but if you want to test a man's character, give him power." Ladies and gentlemen, colleagues, we have been given the power by our constituents and the Constitution. We must use it now responsibly and do what is right for the great state of Nevada.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and welcome aboard from our caucus and everyone in this building. Those of us that have been here before can reflect on the leadership John has shown in the past, and we look forward to it in the future.

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you, whether you are returning or whether you are new. It is an honorable place to be. Term limits have definitely robbed us of institutional knowledge and some of our senior leadership. I, like Majority Leader Conklin, am starting my fifth term here, and so, technically, we are short-timers. I know half of this body, or nearly half of this body, is new. I do believe, whether we are new or a short-timer, that it is going to be required that we work closer than we ever have in the past. Before, there were a lot of old scars that had to be healed. "This guy got my bill in the 2009 Session, so I am going to beat him up for the 2011 Session." So in reality, I think we will become a lot closer-knit group than we have been in the past.

I know we are facing some difficult decisions. Some of that will be perceived as partisan as we move forward. I know that in reality, we will be representing what our constituents demand of us. In some cases, we are going to be looking forward to doing more with less. We need to provide reform if we are going to have any long-term prosperity for this state.

I know we are all committed to working for Nevada, and these are very trying times that we are facing. But, again, I want to welcome you to the opportunity. Let's get started working for Nevada. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in honor of the man from Topeka, Illinois who was born 100 years ago, yesterday. This man was a lifeguard. He was a sportscaster. He was a movie star. He was a television host. He was the Governor of California. He was the 40th President of the United States. Ronald Reagan left us a great legacy. He helped to bring down the Berlin Wall. He helped to defeat communism and break up the Soviet Union. He is remembered for being a very optimistic man, for bringing hope and bringing a new spirit to America. He has left a great legacy. But I think one of the greatest legacies that he left was his relationship with people. He was a man of civility and congeniality. President Reagan, a conservative Republican, and Irishman, had a great relationship with the Speaker of the House, Thomas O'Neil, who was a liberal Democrat from Massachusetts, but also an Irishman. During the time that they served together, they had a great relationship of civility and congeniality. It became "Tip" O'Neil and "Dutch" Reagan. I hope that of the many things we learned from President Reagan, that we learned most of all about the civility and the congeniality that he brought to government and that we all can work together like Dutch and Tip did. Mr. Speaker, we appreciate the congeniality that you have shown to us as Republicans and the Governor and that you will work closely together as Dutch and Tip did. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

MR. SPEAKER:

Thank you, Mr. Stewart. If the body will allow me, I will take a point of personal privilege and give a few remarks as well.

Speaker Pro Tempore Elect Smith, Majority Leader Conklin, Minority Leader Goicoechea, members of the Nevada Assembly, legislative staff, and honored guests, thank you. To the friends and family who share this day with us, thank you. Thank you for the support you have given us on the journey here and for the support we will need from you in the months to come.

This is both a formal ceremony and a day to rejoice. On one hand, it is a very serious responsibility to be sworn in as a member of this Assembly. On the other hand, there is reason for rejoicing. We have each reached a goal that we have worked so hard to achieve. We have family and friends here to share in the joy of today.

I know I could not have done it without the help and understanding of my wife, Janie. She is here today with our son, Jackson. We have not heard from him because he is sleeping, which is good, in this case. Jackson and I are very fortunate to have her in our lives. Her joy for living, her enthusiasm, and her support keep me going. I would not be—could not be—standing here today if not for her.

Janie is one of three women here today who deserve my personal recognition and gratitude. The others are my mother, Eileen, and my grandmother, Margaret.

As is the case with many Nevadans today, I grew up in a family facing many financial challenges. I live in Las Vegas, but I was born in Reno and was raised in Fallon. My mom was only 16 years old when I was born, and she soon became a single mother. We lived through tough conditions where basic necessities were never taken for granted. My mother worked, saved, and scrambled to get a college degree. And for 32 years, she has become a very beloved and respected teacher in my hometown of Fallon. She was my inspiration to do well in school, to go on to college, to work my way up in the fire department, to choose public service, and to run for office. My mother gave me the strong belief that you can work with others to make things better.

I want to simply say, for all you have done, and with all my heart, thanks, Mom.

Growing up, I had another family role model. My grandmother is a native Nevadan, born in Schurz, and a Native American, still living in Schurz on the Indian reservation. My grandmother Margaret has 10 children, 23 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren, and 2 great-great-grandchildren on the way. To my grandmother, I owe my love of this state, its land, its people, and my respect for its hard-won history.

Each of these three women shaped my character in different ways. I'm grateful to have them in my life.

And to my colleagues: thank you for the honor you've bestowed and the trust you've shown in electing me your Speaker. Over the next 120 days, I'll work hard to deserve this honor and justify the trust of each and every one of you.

We have 20 new members in this house today. One of them comes to us from the Senate, and one returns to the Assembly after an absence of about a dozen years. But still they are new to this house, in this session.

There are 20 new Assemblymen and women, which is nearly one-half of our membership. Would you all please stand? To all of you—to each and every one of you—congratulations. And welcome. To each and every one of our returning members who are returning to do the people's work, welcome back.

The Assembly truly is the people's chamber. The diversity of this body reflects that of our state: urban and rural, northern and southern, men and women from all walks of life, and many ethnic backgrounds. This, ladies and gentlemen, is what Nevada looks like.

Whether newly elected or returning, we should all enjoy this day, a proud moment after the rough and tumble of the campaign. One quick breath before submerging ourselves in long days filled with difficult decisions. Make no mistake, in this session there will be difficult decisions, and we will be criticized for many of them. Our work will become fodder for a future campaign mailer, a pundit's column, or an angry editorial. But it's better to be criticized for doing our job than criticized for failure to act. None of us can afford to be timid. We will disagree, but let each member of the Assembly vote for what we know is right, not just expedient.

It's always been true that when it comes time to make a decision to record a vote for yes or no, every vote counts exactly the same. Now more than ever, every voice in this chamber is needed, encouraged, and essential. But those voices should be courteous. Even as the face of this chamber changes very rapidly, it is important to preserve the traditions that have served us well for almost 150 years—the traditions of civility and respect. We can disagree, but we can do so as friends and colleagues. No matter what our differences of party or position, we can respect one another and work together as the people elected us to do.

The Great Recession may officially be over for the nation, but we still have critically high levels of unemployment and foreclosures. Our infrastructure no longer meets the needs of a modern Nevada. The need for social services is high while our resources are thin. We have the largest percentage of budget deficit in the nation. In addition, Nevada is highly dependent—overly dependent—on discretionary spending from out-of-state visitors. Only when the national economy improves will Nevada's economy truly rebound. But that does not mean we should simply wait, tied to the same old ways and short-term solutions.

Certainly there are positive signs, both nationally and here at home. But Nevada has a long way to go before we're healthy again, and unless we prepare for the future now by improving education, diversifying our business base, and reforming our tax structure, we will have learned nothing from this experience.

We welcome a new governor this session. Two weeks ago, the Governor presented his Executive Budget in these very chambers. Now it is the job of this Legislature to determine if the sacrifices placed in the scales to balance the budget can be sustained or if they are too much to ask of Nevada's citizens who have already lost so much in this recession. I respect the Governor's work in crafting the budget. I believe he will respect ours in reviewing it.

President Kennedy once said, "Any system of government will work well . . . when everything is going well . . . It's the system that functions in the pinches that survives."

Ladies and gentleman of the Assembly, we are in the pinches. How we govern now will determine how we survive this economic crisis, how well we recover, and how we rebound. We have a big decision to make. Do we just patch things up for another two years? Or will we take this opportunity to be bold—to make the fundamental changes needed to move our state forward by rebuilding and investing in Nevada?

I believe we must reform government; we must find lasting solutions, not patches. We must prepare our state to meet the future, ready for work, ready for business, and ready to lead.

In 120 days, we'll know the answers to these questions. Our challenge is to balance the budget, as we must. But these are not just numbers. Our duty is to serve real people with real problems. We must act with compassion and empathy for the people we are here to serve.

In 120 days, history will judge us not on how stubbornly we clung to old ways, not on how loudly we shouted for change, but on what we did.

Thank you, and thank you for your service to the great state of Nevada. May God bless you all.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

CARSON CITY, NEVADA, February 3, 2011

THE HONORABLE STEVEN HORSFORD, THE HONORABLE JOHN OCEGUERA, NEVADA LEGISLATURE, 401 S. CARSON STREET, CARSON CITY, NEVADA 89701

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD AND SPEAKER OCEGUERA:

Enclosed please find my message to the 76th Session of the Nevada Legislature, delivered pursuant to Article 5, Section 10 of the Nevada Constitution. As you know, I delivered the message on Monday, January 24, 2011, to a special committee of the Legislature and other guests in the Assembly Chamber in Carson City. Thank you in advance for lodging my message in the record of the 76th Legislative Session. My staff and I look forward to working with all of you in the months ahead.

Sincere regards,
BRIAN SANDOVAL
Governor of Nevada

Assemblyman Conklin requested that the Governor's State of the State Address as presented to the Legislative Commission's Special Committee to Receive the Governor's State of the State Address of January 24, 2011, be entered in the Journal.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, distinguished members of the Legislature, honorable Justices of the Supreme Court, constitutional officers, my fellow Nevadans: It is a special honor to be here for my first State of the State with so many new members of the Legislature. Nevada is fortunate to have these leaders take office when we are in such a time of need. Welcome, all of you.

Welcome, too, all of the many guests who have joined us here in the Assembly Chamber. Kathleen and I are honored that you are willing to share this evening with us. Please allow me to express my special gratitude to the Douglas County High School Junior ROTC, Captain Hal Woomer, LeAyer Dante, and Manuel Mederos for their contributions to tonight's program. Give them a hand, please.

Ladies and gentlemen, as we gather here in Carson City, countless Nevadans are watching on television or on the Internet. It is as if the collective Nevada family has gathered around the table, each member leaning forward in his or her chair eager to hear the news. In this time of sacrifice, our Nevada family looks to us for reassurance, for solutions, and for leadership.

And so I begin with the story of two men in uniform whose leadership in times of sacrifice can inspire us all. Lieutenant Colonel Tony Millican is stationed at Nellis Air Force Base. He was awarded the Bronze Star and the prestigious 2010 Air Force Lance P. Sijan Award for his heroism in Afghanistan. Lieutenant Colonel Millican survived a blast from a 700-pound explosive device that exploded less than 50 yards away from his location. His story of courage is echoed in the tale of Specialist Ernesto Padilla from Gardnerville. Specialist Padilla is assigned to the 1st Squadron of the 221st Cavalry of the Nevada National Guard. He left his pregnant wife in May 2008 and deployed to Afghanistan, where his vehicle was sliced in half in an explosion. He was severely injured and he earned a Purple Heart. These are but two examples of the sacrifices made by our men and women in uniform every day. Gentlemen, God bless you both, and thank you for putting service above self.

As our family gathers tonight, Nevadans are confronted on all sides with bad news. Our friends have seen their credit ruined. Someone in our family has lost a job. The house around the corner stands vacant. A neighbor has closed her business. A relative is one trip to the doctor away from financial or physical ruin.

Some believe government is the only solution to our current plight. I disagree. Unemployment, foreclosures, bankruptcy—the cure is not more government spending, but helping businesses create jobs. The key is to get Nevada working again.

The Silver State has a long history of economic peaks and valleys, but the state of our state this evening should not be described as just another dip in the road. Instead, we find ourselves on the new terrain of a changed global economy, and the crossing is hard. The Nevada family looks to us to understand how we will navigate this new path. Certainly, there are short-term solutions, some of them painful, but true success lies in making a fundamental course correction and declaring, in the words of Abraham Lincoln: "The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion. As our case is new, so we must think anew and act anew."

We begin with the state budget. When my staff and I first arrived at the State Capitol, we were told that the State General Fund must spend $8.3 billion in the coming biennium instead of the $6.2 billion we are spending today. We rejected that premise. The population of Nevada has declined, yet the proposed budget would have increased state spending by 34 percent. That kind of math made no sense. Like any Nevada family or business, we began the budget process by looking at how much money we had to spend, not at automatic spending increases. We sought to return spending to 2007 levels, before the current economic crisis. And when the Economic Forum released its forecasts in December, revenues for the next biennium were projected to be only $5.3 billion. So we started there.

We examined each department on a case-by-case basis. Medicaid and other Health and Human Services caseloads have grown exponentially, requiring an additional $245 million. Moreover, Nevada is now responsible for providing an extra $190 million toward the federal Medicaid match. We also must begin paying the $66 million in interest on money Nevada has borrowed for unemployment benefits.

The previous budget included $450 million in stimulus funds from the federal government. Of course, stimulus spending was intended to be only a one-time contribution to our state budget, so it was not available for the next biennium. Finally, due to reductions in local revenues, the state must contribute an additional $440 million to our public schools.

In total, there was a $1.2 billion hole in the budget. We were confronted with the difference between immediate priorities and long-term investment. That required us to reform our overall spending plan, and I can tell you the process was as painful as it was necessary.

The budget I am submitting to the Legislature represents an 8 percent reduction in total spending from the current biennium. My budget recommends the consolidation, elimination, or centralization of 20 departments and agencies. From the consolidation of the Departments of Personnel, Information Technology, Public Works, and Administration to the smaller but nonetheless important streamlining of energy policy, we will make state government more efficient and more responsive.

State employees have been told that merit pay and longevity pay will remain frozen, and salaries will be reduced by 5 percent. I believe that this is a far better alternative than the mass layoffs chosen by other state and local governments. Positions are eliminated in this budget and layoffs will occur, but not on the scale seen in other states. My plan also eliminates the cumbersome furlough program. Administrators and employees alike told me furloughs make it difficult to manage an agency and nearly impossible to provide high-quality customer service.

Basic support in our K-12 schools is reduced by $270 per pupil. The change in total support from current spending is just over 9 percent. While this is not ideal, I believe the reductions are within reason if the education establishment is willing to make real changes in how those dollars are spent.

State, local, and student revenue for the Nevada System of Higher Education is reduced by less than 7 percent. With the loss of one-time stimulus dollars, the total reduction is 17.66 percent. However, the Regents have the option of bringing tuition and fees more in line with other western states, so many of these funds can be recovered.

In Health and Human Services and Public Safety, we identified over $100 million in state spending for what are essentially local programs. The state can no longer afford to pick up this tab, so some of these responsibilities must be transferred to the local level.

Nevadans need to know that we did not blindly accept the cuts requested by the prior administration. In the Department of Health and Human Services alone, $118 million in spending for essential programs was restored. My budget preserves nearly $55 million for personal care services, $4 million in adult day health care, and $8 million in benefits to two-parent households on Temporary Assistance to Needy Families. We also preserved funds for traumatic brain injury services, autism, early intervention services, independent living, medically necessary dentures, prosthetics, and orthotics. The list goes on. These programs are preserved, and overall spending is still reduced.

However, spending cuts alone could not do the work of balancing the state budget in a reasonable, thoughtful manner. Therefore, we made $1 billion of public money work harder so as to mitigate cuts to services and programs. None of this money comes from new taxes. We made better use of existing dollars. The public does not think of revenue as yours or mine. All of it—every last penny—is theirs. Whether it's in this bucket or that bucket does not matter.

My budget continues to redirect 9 cents of property tax from Clark and Washoe Counties. I will restrict this money to the support of universities and community colleges in these counties, because property values rise and economic growth occurs where universities contribute to economic development.

We are turning to the school districts, but not to capture capital construction dollars already allocated to projects. Instead, we propose to change the level of reserves required for debt service in all those counties with bond funds. School improvements, maintenance, and equipment purchases will continue, which means no construction jobs will be lost. Simply put, these tax dollars were unnecessarily locked away in one of those separate buckets. We will use $425 million of these funds to offset the $440 million in lost local funding I mentioned earlier. The money will stay in education and be used in the district of origin, and I have committed that the state will replenish these funds over time as the Local School Support Tax rebounds.

We must also make temporary use of room tax revenue now slated for teacher salaries in order to defray the costs of overall education spending. I had planned to use that money to reward teacher performance through merit, but we must live with current realities. Pay-for-performance is still included in my budget, just on a different scale.

Finally, I am proposing to raise $190 million by monetizing the state insurance premium tax proceeds. This solution is not perfect, but it is sound, and it prevents further reductions to education and human services.

When all was said and done, the proposed General Fund expenditures in my budget total just over $5.8 billion over the next two years—within 1 percent of General Fund spending in 2007.

We not only balanced the budget, we restored many of the cuts our constituents feared most. We also addressed some long-standing issues and some emerging challenges. For example, in 2001 former Speaker Barbara Buckley led the charge to integrate the child welfare systems in Clark and Washoe Counties. In 2003, former Senator Bill Raggio also pushed toward an integrated funding plan. My budget will finish the job, with block grants to Washoe and Clark Counties for the basic operation of child welfare services with local autonomy. In addition, we provide $7 million for incentive payments if child welfare agencies achieve their stated goals.

My budget responds to the national health care reform legislation passed by Congress last year. I firmly believe that many aspects of the law are unconstitutional, and I will continue to fight to have them overturned. In the meantime, however, the law imposes many deadlines, and we cannot wait until litigation is resolved. We must plan for a major expansion of Medicaid, which may cost Nevadans $574 million between 2014 and 2019. We must also plan for a health insurance exchange so that we—and not the federal government—control the program. My budget includes funding to address these issues, and I have submitted legislation to address the operation and oversight of a Nevada health insurance exchange.

These initiatives and the overall approach we took to balancing the budget are not about being liberal or conservative. A governor's responsibility is to provide solutions to the problems of the day, and because of Nevada's current reality, I have met this challenge through hard decisions, all the while remaining conscious of the current realities.

On Friday, Nevada's unemployment rate increased yet again, another clear indication that businesses are in a fragile state. Despite what some would have you believe, businesses are sharing in the necessary sacrifices of our times. Whether it's through increased health insurance premiums, the steadily increasing federal costs for unemployment insurance, or even the decreased Medicaid reimbursements to health care providers necessary under my budget, every Nevada business finds it harder and harder to make a profit and thereby keep workers employed.

I recently received a thoughtful letter from a woman who works for a small dental practice in Las Vegas. For the first time in 20 years, they lost money. She wrote, "The assault on our practice finances come from everywhere—insurance companies, the state, the federal government, OSHA regulations, EPA regulations, payroll taxes, and the cost of dental products and supplies." She begged me to "help set new directions . . . that free up some of our time and money. Otherwise," she said, ". . . a lot of small businesses . . . will decide that it isn't worth it to sacrifice the time and effort they do now. . . ." Ladies and gentlemen, it is worth it. I want that dental practice and other Nevada businesses, as well as their employees and families, to succeed. That is exactly what I'm fighting for.

Fellow Nevadans, you and I know that the budget alone will not solve the state's current crisis. If anything, the budget is only a symbol of the challenges presented by our economic situation. In order for Nevada to fully recover, we must focus our energy on job creation. We must ensure long-term improvements in our education system and do everything in our power to guarantee that the people can respect the government that serves them. So I will spend the balance of my time tonight talking with the Nevada family about three policy areas: economic development, education, and responsive government.

For at least the last 100 years, Nevada governors have called for the creation of economic development agencies or state publicity offices to foster what Assemblywoman Alice Towle in 1922 called "the up-growth of new industries." In 1983, then-Governor Richard Bryan proposed an overhaul of the Department of Economic Development to create the current structure. In so doing he said, "Our efforts at economic diversification must emphasize our favorable investment climate, tax structure, labor force, and Nevada's unique resources for solar and geothermal power." He was right then, he is right now, and we owe it to Nevadans to renew our economic development efforts for the realities of today.

Working with Senate Majority Leader Steven Horsford and Speaker John Oceguera, I propose a complete overhaul of our state's economic development program. Minority Leaders Mike McGinness and Pete Goicoechea also lend their support, and, of course, Lieutenant Governor Brian Krolicki will play a key role in the modernizing of our state's system of job creation and business diversification.

We propose to redesign the Commission on Economic Development and recommend a 50 percent increase in General Fund dollars to run it. A new entity, Nevada Jobs Unlimited, will be a public-private partnership existing largely outside state government. With a private sector mentality, it will be more nimble, and it will be a cabinet-level agency, with the Governor joining the Lieutenant Governor, Senate Majority Leader, Assembly Speaker, and representatives of higher education and other critical stakeholders on the board. A majority of the board members will come from the private sector to ensure the focus is squarely on jobs.

Nevada Jobs Unlimited will pursue strategies that grow jobs within existing Nevada businesses as well as recruit companies from out of state. But we will do so with a new sense of urgency, coordination, and accountability. Collaboration and tighter performance indicators will be the metrics of this new system.

We are also proposing a $10 million catalyst fund to provide much-needed resources to close deals, finance infrastructure, and spur the growth of new jobs. The Fund will be continued in future budgets only if it delivers the kind of success we expect.

Our proposal builds upon the foundation laid by the New Nevada Task Force, which was convened by the Lieutenant Governor last summer and has provided new ideas for the future of our state's economic development activities. Our future lies in business sectors like technology commercialization, bioscience, renewable energy asset development, and defense sector expansion. Innovation will drive tomorrow's economy, and so it must drive our decision making as we rebuild our economic development infrastructure.

There's a treasure in our state that can launch this new focus on innovation: Switch, a 2-million-square-foot technology ecosystem campus in Las Vegas. CNBC recently called the Switch SuperNAP "the best data center on the planet." For the last ten years, Switch has been building massive, secure, technology data centers in combination with a telecommunications hub that is unique to North America. Switch's vision and innovation are attracting many Fortune 1000 companies to Las Vegas, and they are bringing jobs to Nevada.

Switch is sponsoring an incentive program called the Nevada Advanced Technology Alliance. By moving employees and divisions to Nevada, companies will save 10 to 20 percent on nationwide telecommunications costs, no matter how big the corporation. This incentive is not funded by tax dollars, donations, or any other government efforts. It simply takes the technological innovations of Switch and extends those benefits to those who partner with Nevada by establishing operations here. This is an advantage unique to Nevada that we will be offering to businesses around the world. With us tonight are Switch CEO Rob Roy and his wife Stella. Thank you, Rob, for raising the bar on innovation.

Let me tell you briefly about how innovation will also help drive change in broadband technology, the gaming industry, renewable energy, and the state's infrastructure needs.

We must continue to drive investment in broadband technology that fast-tracks job growth and provides a platform for spurring innovation across our state. My budget includes $3 million to help residents of rural Nevada use broadband access to start and grow businesses or telecommunicate to anywhere in the world. These improved broadband connections will also allow the electronic exchange of health information between providers and hospitals to improve the quality of care.

Since I completed my term as chairman of the Nevada Gaming Commission, the gaming entertainment industry has expanded to new states and many new corners of the world. Competitive forces demand a new approach from our regulatory infrastructure. In an increasingly competitive and global economy, Nevada will be the place for gaming innovation. Nevada started this industry. We shaped its development, and we must remain the undisputed leader in the gaming economy. Twenty-first century demands mandate that we provide a flexible environment for the technological resources that are the underpinning of modern gaming devices. I have asked the leadership of our regulatory bodies to begin immediately to process statutory and regulatory changes that sensibly reflect the modernization of the gaming industry.

Nevada can strengthen our leadership role in the renewable energy and energy efficiency industries. The Nevada Retrofit Initiative is leading a ground-breaking partnership with higher education, nonprofits, and local banks for the construction and financing of residential energy efficiency retrofits. In addition, our renewable energy loan fund is a successful low-interest loan program that provides financing for renewable energy projects. Over $8 million has been loaned to nine renewable energy projects throughout the state. Companies have used these revolving loans to expand manufacturing capacity and create new jobs. Nevada must also remove barriers and develop business models that allow for the export of renewable energy to California, while benefitting taxpayers here at home.

The Nevada Vision Stakeholders Group, conceived by Senator Horsford, recognized that our state's geography and economic development are intertwined and recommended that Nevada secure better access to federal land for renewable energy production and transmission projects I support all efforts to make Nevada the renewable energy capital of the world.

Finally, we need to improve ground connections by linking Las Vegas to Phoenix via Interstate 11 and to southern California via high-speed rail. Both are critical for transportation and logistics as well as tourism.

My message tonight is one of opportunity, certainly for Nevadans who care about our economic growth, but also for those listening outside our state. Nevada is a place you can call home and headquarters with equal measure. We are proud of our great cities and towns, low taxes, and our state's natural beauty. Many of our state's leaders are products of our schools and universities. Thanks to my Executive Order freezing most state regulations and requiring a complete regulatory review, we can promise you a stable regulatory environment. Nevada officials and agencies see their job as one of helping you do business, not slowing you down.

We are uniquely situated for logistics and transportation. We have abundant natural resources and are home to preeminent cancer and brain institutes. We love our state, and you will too.

For businesses already operating in Nevada, we want you to know that our focus is on your growth. Roughly 80 percent of new jobs will be created by local businesses, and we need every one of them to put Nevadans back to work. New economic development initiatives will include rural manufacturing workforce development and business expansion programs for small, minority, and veteran businesses.

We will not leave behind those whose careers have been disrupted by the economic earthquake that has shaken our state. For many Nevadans, old skills will simply be inadequate for the new economic reality. I have therefore directed the Department of Employment, Training and Rehabilitation and the Department of Health and Human Services to jointly develop a seamless service plan to put Nevadans to work and reduce reliance on social service programs.

The Silver State Works program will target veterans, unemployment benefit recipients, public assistance recipients, and ex-offenders. A primary goal is to promote a "work first" culture through employer hiring incentives, on-the-job training, and community service. We will invest $10 million over the next biennium in providing these services to 10,000 unemployed workers, and we will administer Silver State Works utilizing existing staff resources.

Ladies and gentlemen, each one of us has a role to play in Nevada's economic recovery. Our buying power matters. Whether we are buying a car, computer, or book, we should shop Nevada first. I have said before that if Nevada were a stock, I'd buy it now. It's true. We have opportunities ahead of us and plans to realize them. Education reform is the linchpin to a solid return on our investment, so let me share with you my plans for our public schools, colleges, and universities.

As Governor, part of my job is to tell people things they don't like to hear, and when it comes to education in our state, I want to level with the people of Nevada. Our education system is broken—not the people, but the system. While many teachers, professors, and students are excelling, collectively they are held back by an antiquated system that emphasizes too many of the wrong things and for which the only suggested answer has been more and more money. Educators who are effective at teaching students and leading schools are paid exactly the same as those who are failing. Graduation rates remain the worst in the nation. The achievement gap leaves too many students without hope or opportunity, and grade-level performance on national assessments lags.

I know that many students take personal responsibility for their education and succeed as a result. I want them to know they are not alone—that Nevada's system can and will support them.

Since the advent of the class size reduction program in the early 1990s, hundreds of millions of dollars have been provided to local school districts. The students who first participated in that program should now be graduating, yet many are not. I believe we have put too many constraints on local school districts. My budget proposes the creation of a block grant program that encourages districts to be innovative and results-oriented. If one district chooses to continue class size reduction, so be it. If another district wants to pursue other programs, we will no longer hold them back. Flexibility, local autonomy, and accountability are the keys.

The new Superintendent of Schools in Clark County, Dwight Jones, recently demonstrated why he is already a leader in our state. He wrote: "The downturn in the economy offers a real opportunity to change how we deliver our services. Yes, funding will be a challenge, but the greater imperative is outlining what we want to achieve." I agree. Mr. Superintendent, I know you are in the room somewhere. I applaud you.

So here is my outline of significant reforms in the way we manage our schools:

- End teacher tenure. An important first step is to eliminate the protection of seniority when decisions about force reduction must be made.

- Rely heavily on student achievement data in evaluating teachers and principals. As incentives, we will provide $20 million in performance pay for the most effective teachers.
- Eliminate costly programs that reward longevity and advanced degree attainment. Bill Gates, Secretary of Education Arne Duncan, and others have repeatedly noted this kind of spending does not improve student achievement.
- End social promotion. Students who cannot read by the end of third grade will not be advanced to the fourth grade. It's simple—until third grade, we learn to read; after that, we read to learn. Most kids who start behind stay behind. It has to stop.
- Improve accountability report cards and provide more parental choice: open enrollment, better charter school options, and vouchers to make private school education a possibility for more families.
- Reform K-12 governance. I ask the Legislature to support the recommendations of Nevada's Promise to provide an improved governance model in which the Governor appoints the State Board of Education and the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Finally, I am pleased to announce tonight that the Executive Budget includes an additional $10 million to preserve the Kenny C. Guinn Millennium Scholarship.

And what of our colleges and universities? It is widely acknowledged that they are important for our state's economic development, but here again, the system has failed us. Graduation rates after six years at the state's public two-year colleges range from a high of 20 percent to a dismal low of only 4 percent. Our four-year institutions have graduation rates below 50 percent.

There is concern that further budget reductions will require significant changes to the university and community college system. Perhaps a new system is precisely what we need in this new era. Therefore, I will move forward to grant autonomy over tuition to the regents. Nevada's tuition rates are well below our western neighbors; the regents have long asked for the authority to raise them.

Universities and community colleges must develop a more strategic focus that connects degree programs and the state's economic development efforts. I would also ask that at least 15 percent of any increased tuition be reserved to ensure access for those who need financial aid. As we increase autonomy, we will also increase performance indicators so that graduation rates, completion times, and access are measures of success.

I know that none of this is easy to hear. So let me be clear: Nevada has many effective teachers in our schools. We have great principals and outstanding college professors, but there are also some who have no business teaching or serving as an administrator. It is unacceptable that children in classrooms literally across the hall from one another achieve at dramatically different levels because of the quality of their teacher. The current system cannot address this. It is too cumbersome and so focused on the wrong things that we lose students along the way.

There will be many debates about these issues in the coming weeks, and one who will debate them with us is here tonight as my guest. I am pleased that Michelle Rhee, former chancellor of the Washington, D.C. public school system and the founder and chief executive officer of Students First, a national advocacy organization, is here tonight. Michelle is recognized throughout America as a leader in education reform. She will add her considerable voice to our debate, and I thank her for demonstrating the importance of finally having a frank and honest conversation about public education. Michelle, I know we will hear your voice as one for advocating for students first.

Just a little more than two weeks ago, the nation watched in horror as a gunman opened fire on a member of Congress, a federal judge, and other innocent people in Tucson, Arizona. This despicable act served as a stark and sobering reminder that civil discourse can vanish in a split second. In Nevada, we must never allow this to happen. Isolated madness will not make us afraid of those we serve, and terror will not keep us from putting service above self, from treating each other with civility, and from working together to ensure public confidence in state government. We have the power to demonstrate to the people of Nevada that honest, civil, and responsive government is alive and well in Carson City.

We can begin by working together without political agenda to draw the lines for Nevada's congressional seats and the State Senate and Assembly. The laws of our land are clear, and I will not sign a bill that favors one political party over another. Congressional seats and legislative districts should be drawn with a fair and proportional representation of constituents—period.

We can rededicate ourselves to eliminating any sign of waste, fraud, or abuse in government. I will soon sign an executive order creating the Office of the Inspector General within the Executive Branch. The Inspector General will join the existing Internal Audits Division in reviewing, auditing, and evaluating the expenditure of state funds.

I will work with legislative leadership to introduce a bill that sunsets every licensing and advisory board now on the books. More than 180 of these entities require gubernatorial appointments. Under our proposal, boards and commissions will sunset at the end of June 2013, giving us plenty of time to eliminate, consolidate, or improve functions among those that must remain.

I am also pleased to announce the Priorities and Performance Budget makes its debut in the documents transmitted to the Legislature this year. We articulate not only what level of priority each program or service carries, but the performance measures by which it will be judged. In the coming biennium, this initiative will expand to include public participation through websites and other tools as we ask Nevadans to further rank spending priorities. Even more robust performance indicators will therefore be established.

I am calling for the creation of a central grants office for state government. This office will identify federal and philanthropic opportunities that have for too long been overlooked. It will provide a targeted, coordinated effort to infuse additional outside dollars into worthy programs.

I will also work with Senator Dean Rhoads on his long-standing idea to provide bonuses to state workers whose agencies save money during the year so that innovative thinkers are rewarded.

Finally, I will explore resources and services available through the Nevada Judicial College, the Attorney General's Office, and other state agencies to ensure that all agencies with rule-making and regulatory authority take advantage of appropriate training.

Through continued hard work, transparency, and clarity, each and every one of us in this Chamber can take steps to send a clear message to our constituents: This is the people's government. We are but stewards, and Nevadans have every right to hold us to high standards of conduct and responsiveness.

In case we think there is no one to show us the way, we can stop and recognize employees like Trooper Chuck Allen. Trooper Allen was recently named the Reno Gazette Journal's "Citizen of the Year" in recognition of his volunteerism. By day, Trooper Allen is a public information officer with the Nevada Highway Patrol. He is proof that service is alive and well in our state. Thank you, Trooper.

Government employment is not just another job, nor is it an entitlement program. Frankly, we seem to have lost this sense of public service where collective bargaining is concerned. I hope this legislative session will see an open discussion of a more balanced approach to employee negotiations. Collective bargaining must be reformed if we are to change the course on which we find ourselves. I stand ready to work with local government officials and union leaders to ensure employee compensation does not hamper government performance.

We must also admit that Nevada's Public Employees' Retirement System cannot sustain its current level of liability. Future employees must join PERS under some form of a defined contribution plan. And the Public Employees' Benefit plan can no longer afford full health coverage for all retirees. New employees entering that system must do so under a new set of rules, as well. I encourage the Legislature to send me a package of public employee retirement and benefit reforms as quickly as possible.

Together, we can create many more opportunities for improvement. I have directed my staff to explore a major consolidation of the Departments of Transportation, Motor Vehicles, and Public Safety. The objective is to streamline governance of these three agencies to more effectively and efficiently provide public service. Dollars saved will be reinvested through the State Highway Fund to create jobs and to enhance public services.

In addition, I plan to continue the dialogue recently begun with cities, counties, and school districts. I firmly believe there are more opportunities for shared services, cooperation, and functional home rule. We must focus on accountability at every level, and we must reward success at every turn. The Nevada family expects us to succeed by working together.

Therefore, I end this speech where I began my inaugural address just three weeks ago: looking forward—yes, with optimism—to the promise of opportunity presented by the coming celebration of 150 years of statehood in 2014.

The current terrain is difficult, to be sure. Changing course is never easy, but I believe that by making the short-term sacrifices I have outlined, coupled with the long-term reforms that I have proposed, we will reach that milestone with pride.

My fellow Nevadans, I have no doubt that together we are changing the course of history. We are leading the Nevada family onto a new path, and I submit that it is one of progress and ultimate prosperity. If we have the courage to make the tough decisions—and there will be many—we will succeed. If we focus on new solutions that fundamentally change the way we do business, we will succeed. If we make supporting private sector job creation a way of life for all government agencies, if we control state spending, if we push forward with education reform, if we recognize that service above self is a way of life—if we do all of these things together, then truly Nevada will be Nevada again.

Thank you, God bless you, and God bless the great state of Nevada.

DEAR MS. FURLONG REIL:

Pursuant to the Nevada Constitution Article 19, Section 2, this office is required to transmit any statutory Initiative Petition to the Nevada Legislature once it convenes. In compliance with the laws of the State of Nevada enclosed is the statutory Initiative Petition entitled "Building an Arena for a Stronger Future."

Respectfully,

Secretary of State

BY: SCOTT GILLES
Deputy Secretary for Elections

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS

Initiative Petition No. 1—AN ACT relating to taxation; requiring the establishment of an arena district in certain larger counties; requiring the imposition of an additional sales and use tax in such a district; providing for the use of the proceeds of such a tax for the construction, improvement, equipment, operation and maintenance of a sports and entertainment arena through public and private cooperation; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Purpose. The People of Nevada hereby find and declare that:

1. Increases in the population in the most densely populated areas in this State create circumstances and conditions requiring public and private cooperation for the building and operation of first-class sports and entertainment arenas capable of supporting and enticing professional sports teams, such as from the National Basketball Association or National Hockey League.

2. To promote economic development, it is appropriate and beneficial for such areas to have a large sports and entertainment arena that is capable of attracting and maintaining world-class events in this State.

3. Nevada has long been the chosen and preferred venue of many premier sports and entertainment events, including the National Finals Rodeo, boxing and other sporting and entertainment events. Other areas seek to draw those events away from this State, with larger and newer facilities, which have been built through public/private cooperative arrangements.

4. In order to continually preserve this State's status as a premier entertainment, convention and resort destination, it is the will of the People of this State to provide by statute for the creation and facilitation of public/private cooperation for the creation of first-class sports and entertainment arenas.

5. This measure provides by statute for the imposition of an additional sales and use tax within defined areas and for the manner in which the proceeds of that tax must be used in facilitating public/private cooperation for the construction, acquisition, improvement, equipment, operation and maintenance of such arenas.

Sec. 1. Chapter 244A of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 3 to 7, inclusive, of this measure.

Sec. 2. Except as otherwise provided in this section and sections 4 to 7, inclusive, of this measure or unless the context otherwise requires, terms used or referred to in this section and in sections 4 to 7, inclusive, of this measure have the meaning ascribed to them in Chapter 374 of NRS, as from time to time amended. As used in this section and sections 4 to 7, inclusive, of this measure:

1. "Arena District" means that portion of a Gaming Enterprise District located within a 3-mile radius of a parcel approved for the Qualifying Arena, excluding that portion of the Gaming Enterprise District located within an incorporated city.

2. "County" means any county whose population is 800,000 or more.

3. "Department" means the Department of Taxation.

4. "Gaming Enterprise District" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 463.0158.

5. "Governing Body" means the Board of County Commissioners of any county whose population is 800,000 or more.

6. "Qualifying Arena" means an arena that will possess all of the following attributes:

(a) A seating capacity of at least 18,000 with attributes suitable for use by a professional sports team from either the National Basketball Association, the National Hockey League, or both;

(b) The arena must be located upon property the purchase, acquisition, or use of which is not paid for with any fees, taxes, interest or penalties collected pursuant to this measure;

(c) The arena must be located within the Arena District; and

(d) So as to ensure that the arena is centrally located for the benefit of the public and thus supports tourism, there must exist at least 95,000 transient lodging rooms within a 2-mile radius of the center point of the parcel upon which the arena is to be located at the time of its approval.

7. "State" means the State of Nevada.

8. "Taxing Ordinance" means the ordinance enacted pursuant to subsections 1 and 2 of section 4 of this measure.

Sec. 3. 1. As soon as practicable after the effective date of this measure, the Governing Body shall by ordinance establish an Arena District within the County and impose a sales and use tax within the Arena District to support the construction, improvement, equipment, operation and maintenance of a Qualifying Arena. The proceeds from the tax required by this section, including the interest and other income earned thereon, must be used only for the purposes provided by section 6 of this measure and as appropriated by the Governing Body pursuant to section 7 of this measure.

2. The ordinance adopted by the Governing Body must further include provisions in substance as follows:

(a) A provision imposing a tax at the rate of 0.9 percent on the gross receipts of any retailer from the sale of all tangible personal property sold at retail in the Arena District or stored, used or otherwise consumed in the Arena District;

(b) A provision establishing that the Arena's usage must not be limited or dictated to favor the existing or prior owners of the property upon which the Arena is to be built nor any entity or person otherwise involved or contributing to the Arena's design, development or construction;

(c) Provisions substantially identical to those contained in Chapter 374 of NRS, insofar as applicable;

(d) A provision that if an amendment to Chapter 374 of NRS is enacted after the effective date of the ordinance, not inconsistent with this measure, it automatically becomes part of the ordinance imposing the tax;

(e) A provision that the Governing Body shall contract with the Department, before the tax's imposition, to perform all the functions incident to the administration or operation of the tax in the Arena District;

(f) A provision that exempts from the tax the gross receipts from the sale of, and the storage, use or other consumption in the Arena District, of tangible personal property used for the performance of a written contract for the construction of an improvement to real property:

(i) That was entered into on or before the effective date of the tax; or

(ii) For which a binding bid was submitted before the effective date if the bid was afterward accepted, and pursuant to the terms of the contract or bid, the contract price or bid amount may not be adjusted to reflect the imposition of the tax; and

(g) A provision specifying that the tax is imposed on the first day of the first calendar quarter that begins 120 days after the effective date of the ordinance.

3. Any ordinance amending the Taxing Ordinance enacted pursuant to this section must include a provision in substance that the Governing Body shall amend the contract made pursuant to this section by a contract made between the Governing Body and the Department, before the effective date of the amendment to the Taxing Ordinance, unless the Governing Body determines with the written concurrence of the Department that no such amendment of the contract is necessary or desirable.

Sec. 4. 1. All fees, taxes, interest and penalties imposed and all amounts of tax required to be paid to the County pursuant to this measure must be paid to the Department in the form of remittances payable to the Department.

2. The Department shall deposit the payments with the State Treasurer for credit to the Sales and Use Tax Account in the State General Fund.

3. The State Controller, acting upon the collection data furnished by the Department, shall monthly:

(a) Transfer from the Sales and Use Tax Account to the appropriate account in the State General Fund 1.75 percent of all fees, taxes, interest and penalties collected pursuant to this measure during the preceding month as compensation to the State for the cost of collecting the tax;

(b) Determine for each County the amount equal to all fees, taxes, interest and penalties collected in the County pursuant to this measure during the preceding month, less the amount transferred to the State General Fund pursuant to paragraph (a); and

(c) Transfer the amount owed to each County to the Intergovernmental Fund and remit the money to the County Treasurer, who shall deposit such amount into a special revenue fund created for the use of the proceeds from the tax required by this measure.

4. Each special revenue fund created for the use of the proceeds from the tax required by this measure must be accounted for as a separate fund and not as a part of any other fund.

5. Interest earned on a special revenue fund created pursuant to this measure must be credited to the fund. The money in each such fund must remain in the fund and must not revert to the County Treasury at the end of any fiscal year.

Sec. 5. *1. Except as otherwise provided by section 5, all proceeds of the tax imposed by section 4 of this measure, including all fees, interest and penalties, must be used only to aid in the funding of the costs to construct, improve, equip, operate and maintain a Qualifying Arena, including to pay the principal of, interest on or other payments due with respect to bonds issued to pay those costs, including bonds issued to refund bonds issued to pay those costs, or any combination thereof. Section 1. 1. A person who intends to circulate a petition that a statute or resolution or part thereof enacted by the legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, before circulating the petition for signatures, shall file a copy thereof with the secretary of state. He shall file the copy not earlier than August 1 of the year before the year in which the election will be held.

2. Whenever a number of registered voters of this state equal to 10 percent ~~[or more]~~ of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election shall express their wish by filing with the secretary of state, not less than 120 days before the next general election, a petition in the form provided for in Section 3 of this Article that any statute or resolution or any part thereof enacted by the legislature be submitted to a vote of the people, the officers charged with the duties of announcing and proclaiming elections and of certifying nominations or questions to be voted upon shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding election at which such question may be voted upon by the registered voters of the entire State. The number of registered voters required to file the petition must be determined at the time the copy of the petition is filed with the secretary of state pursuant to this Section. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the secretary of state or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest.

3. If a majority of the voters voting upon the proposal submitted at such election votes approval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall stand as the law of the state and shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside, suspended or in any way made inoperative except by the direct vote of the people. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or resolution or any part thereof, such statute or resolution or any part thereof shall be void and of no effect.

RESOLVED, That Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1 of Article 4 of this Constitution, but subject to the limitations of Section 6 of this Article, the people reserve to themselves the power to propose, by initiative petition, statutes and amendments to statutes and amendments to this Constitution, and to enact or reject them at the polls.

2. An initiative petition shall be in the form required by Section 3 of this Article and shall be proposed by a number of registered voters from each petition district in this State equal to 10 percent ~~[or more]~~ of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in ~~[not less than 75 percent of the counties in the State, but the total number of registered voters signing the initiative petition shall be equal to 10 percent or more of the voters who voted in the entire State at the last preceding general election.]~~ the petition district. Petition districts must be established by the Legislature. The number of registered voters required to file the initiative petition must be determined at the time the copy of the initiative petition is filed with the Secretary of State pursuant to this Section.

3. If the initiative petition proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than January 1 of the year preceding the year in which a regular session of the Legislature is held. After its circulation, it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 30 days prior to any regular session of the Legislature. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall transmit such petition to the Legislature as soon as the Legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in Section 1 of this Article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the Legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law. If at the session of the Legislature to which an initiative petition proposing an amendment to a statute is presented which the Legislature rejects or upon which it takes no action, the Legislature amends the statute which the petition proposes to amend in a respect which does not conflict in substance with the proposed amendment, the Secretary of State in submitting the statute to the voters for approval or disapproval of the proposed amendment shall include the amendment made by the Legislature.

4. If the initiative petition proposes an amendment to the Constitution, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than September 1 of the year before the year in which the election is to be held. After its circulation it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 90 days before any regular general election at which the question of approval or disapproval of such amendment may be voted upon by the voters of the entire State. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation, on three separate occasions, in each county in the State, together with any explanatory matter which shall be placed upon the ballot, the entire text of the proposed amendment. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on the petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit the question of approval or disapproval to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election in the same manner as such question was originally submitted. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, it shall, unless precluded by subsection 5 or 6, become a part of this Constitution upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court.

5. If two or more measures which affect the same section of a statute or of the Constitution are finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment to the Constitution is finally so approved and an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified which affect the same section, by the voters at the same election:

(a) If all can be given effect without contradiction in substance, each shall be given effect.

(b) If one or more contradict in substance the other or others, the measure which received the largest favorable vote, and any other approved measure compatible with it, shall be given effect. If the one or more measures that contradict in substance the other or others receive the same number of favorable votes, none of the measures that contradict another shall be given effect.

6. If, at the same election as the first approval of a constitutional amendment pursuant to this Section, another amendment is finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified, which affects the same section of the Constitution but is compatible with the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit at the next general election the amendment given first approval as a further amendment to the section as amended by the amendment given final approval or ratified. If the amendment finally approved or ratified contradicts in substance the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall not submit the amendment given first approval to the voters again.

By Assemblymen Mortenson, Ohrenschall, Horne, Kihuen and Segerblom:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 5 of the 75th Session—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to limit the duration of special sessions of the Legislature to 20 consecutive calendar days with the exception of impeachment, removal and expulsion proceedings, to limit the types of bills which may be introduced, considered or passed during a special session, to provide that a special session may be convened by a petition signed by two-thirds of the Legislators of each House and to provide that regular and special sessions must be adjourned on the final calendar day not later than midnight Pacific time based on the actual measure of time used and observed by the general population of Nevada.

WHEREAS, The Nevada Constitution does not grant the Nevada Legislature express power to convene a special session on extraordinary occasions; and

WHEREAS, There are extraordinary occasions when it is imperative for the Legislature to have express power to convene a special session, such as when it is necessary to hold impeachment or removal proceedings pursuant to Article 7 of the Nevada Constitution against the Governor, Supreme Court Justices or other state and judicial officers who have committed misconduct in office, or when it is necessary to hold expulsion proceedings pursuant to Section 6 of Article 4 of the Nevada Constitution against Legislators who have committed misconduct in office; and

WHEREAS, There are other extraordinary occasions when it is imperative for the Legislature to have express power to convene a special session, such as when it is necessary to enact bills or appropriations to address unexpected conditions or emergency situations, or when it is necessary to reconsider bills vetoed by the Governor after the adjournment of a regular session; and

WHEREAS, There are currently 32 state legislatures in the nation that have express power to call a special session when there are extraordinary occasions; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada Legislature is part of a group of only 18 state legislatures that do not have express power to call a special session, and part of a group of only 11 state legislatures that may not determine any of the subject matter to be considered at a special session; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada Constitution is grounded on the principle of three coequal branches of State Government, with the ultimate authority and responsibility to enact necessary legislation being vested in the Legislative Branch, subject to final approval by the Governor; and

WHEREAS, Nevada's current constitutional language, which grants the Governor express power to call the Legislature into special session but which does not grant such express power to the Legislature, diminishes the constitutional separation of powers by impeding the authority of this State's elected Legislature to perform its constitutional functions of enacting necessary legislation and conducting impeachment, removal and expulsion proceedings on extraordinary occasions; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada Legislature should be authorized to operate with a reasonable degree of independence from the Executive and Judicial Branches as is consistent with the separation of powers principle, and should be empowered to identify those extraordinary occasions that may require the Legislature to call a limited special session deemed in the best interest of the people of the State of Nevada; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That a new section, designated Section 2A, be added to Article 4 of the Nevada Constitution to read as follows:

3. The Speaker shall appoint an alternate member with the qualifications set forth in paragraph (a) of subsection 1 and an alternate member with the qualifications set forth in paragraph (c) of subsection 1. The Minority Leader shall appoint an alternate member with the qualifications set forth in paragraph (b) of subsection 1 and an alternate member with the qualifications set forth in paragraph (c) of subsection 1. If a member of the Committee is unable to serve for any reason during the consideration of a specific question, the alternate appointed with the qualifications from the same paragraph in subsection 1 shall serve as a member of the Committee during the consideration of the specific question.

4. A member of the Committee is disqualified to serve during the consideration of a specific question if:

(a) The member is the requester of advice concerning the question of ethics or conflict of interest, or the member is the subject of the complaint concerning the specific question; or

(b) A reasonable person in the member's situation could not exercise independent judgment on the matter in question.

5. The Committee:

(a) May hear requests brought by members of the Assembly for advice on specific questions of potential breaches of ethics and conflicts of interest; and

(b) Shall hear complaints brought by members of the Assembly and others on specific questions of alleged breaches of ethics and conflicts of interest.

6. All proceedings held to consider the character, alleged misconduct, professional competence or physical or mental health of any person by the Committee on matters of ethics or conflicts of interest are confidential unless a Legislator:

(a) Against whom a complaint is brought requests a public hearing;

(b) Discloses the content of an opinion of the Committee at any time after his or her hearing; or

(c) Discloses the content of an advisory opinion issued to him or her by the Committee.

7. A complaint which alleges a breach of ethics or a conflict of interest must be:

(a) Made in writing on a form provided by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly;

(b) Signed and verified under penalty of perjury by the person making the allegation; and

(c) Filed with the Chair of the Committee or, if the Chair is the subject of the complaint, with the Vice Chair. The Chair or Vice Chair, as appropriate, shall send a copy of the complaint, within 24 hours after receiving it, to the Legislator against whom the complaint is brought.

8. In determining whether a Legislator has a conflict of interest, the Legislator should consider whether the independence of judgment of a reasonable person in his or her situation upon the matter in question would be materially affected by the Legislator's:

(a) Acceptance of a gift or loan;

(b) Private economic interest; or

(c) Commitment to a member of his or her household or immediate family.

➥ In interpreting and applying the provisions of this subsection, it must be presumed that the independence of judgment of a reasonable person in the Legislator's situation would not be materially affected by the Legislator's private economic interest or the Legislator's commitment to a member of his or her household or immediate family where the resulting benefit or detriment accruing to the Legislator, or if the Legislator has a commitment to a member of his or her household or immediate family, accruing to those other persons, is not greater than that accruing to any other member of the general business, profession, occupation or group that is affected by the matter.

9. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 10, if a Legislator knows he or she has a conflict of interest pursuant to subsection 8, the Legislator shall make a disclosure of the conflict of interest on the record in a meeting of a committee or on the floor of the Assembly, as applicable. 11. In determining whether to abstain from voting upon, advocating or opposing a matter concerning which a Legislator has a conflict of interest pursuant to subsection 8, the Legislator should consider whether:

(a) The conflict impedes his or her independence of judgment; and

(b) His or her interest is greater than the interests of an entire class of persons similarly situated.

12. The provisions of this Rule do not under any circumstances and regardless of any conflict of interest:

(a) Prohibit a Legislator from requesting or introducing a legislative measure; or

(b) Require a Legislator to take any particular action before or while requesting or introducing a legislative measure.

13. If a Legislator who is a member of a committee declares on the record when a vote is to be taken by the committee that he or she will abstain from voting because of the requirements of this Rule, the necessary quorum to act upon and the number of votes necessary to act upon the matter is reduced as though the Legislator abstaining were not a member of the committee.

14. Except as otherwise provided in the Joint Standing Rules, the standards and procedures set forth in this Rule which govern whether and to what extent a member of the Assembly has a conflict of interest, should disclose a conflict of interest or should abstain from voting upon, advocating or opposing a matter concerning which the member has a conflict of interest pursuant to subsection 8:

(a) Are exclusive and are the only standards and procedures that apply to members of the Assembly with regard to such matters; and

(b) Supersede and preempt all other standards and procedures with regard to such matters.

MOTIONS, RESOLUTIONS AND NOTICES

By the Committee on Taxation:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 1—Proposing to amend certain provisions of the Nevada Constitution related to the assessment and collection of property taxes to authorize the Legislature to provide by law for the recalculation of the taxable value of depreciated improvements to real property upon the transfer, sale or conveyance of the property.

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That Section 1 of Article 10 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 9. 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation, and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, real, personal and possessory, except mines and mining claims, which shall be assessed and taxed only as provided in Section 5 of this Article.

2. Shares of stock, bonds, mortgages, notes, bank deposits, book accounts and credits, and securities and choses in action of like character are deemed to represent interest in property already assessed and taxed, either in Nevada or elsewhere, and shall be exempt.

3. The Legislature may constitute agricultural and open-space real property having a greater value for another use than that for which it is being used, as a separate class for taxation purposes and may provide a separate uniform plan for appraisal and valuation of such property for assessment purposes. If such plan is provided, the Legislature shall also provide for retroactive assessment for a period of not less than 7 years when agricultural and open-space real property is converted to a higher use conforming to the use for which other nearby property is used.

4. Personal property which is moving in interstate commerce through or over the territory of the State of Nevada, or which was consigned to a warehouse, public or private, within the State of Nevada from outside the State of Nevada for storage in transit to a final destination outside the State of Nevada, whether specified when transportation begins or afterward, shall be deemed to have acquired no situs in Nevada for purposes of taxation and shall be exempt from taxation. Such property shall not be deprived of such exemption because while in the warehouse the property is assembled, bound, joined, processed, disassembled, divided, cut, broken in bulk, relabeled or repackaged.

5. The Legislature may exempt motor vehicles from the provisions of the tax required by this Section, and in lieu thereof, if such exemption is granted, shall provide for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation of motor vehicles, which rate shall not exceed five cents on one dollar of assessed valuation.

6. The Legislature shall provide by law for a progressive reduction in the tax upon business inventories by 20 percent in each year following the adoption of this provision, and after the expiration of the 4th year such inventories are exempt from taxation. The Legislature may exempt any other personal property, including livestock.

7. No inheritance tax shall ever be levied.

8. The Legislature may exempt by law property used for municipal, educational, literary, scientific or other charitable purposes, or to encourage the conservation of energy or the substitution of other sources for fossil sources of energy.

9. No income tax shall be levied upon the wages or personal income of natural persons. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, and except as otherwise provided in subsection 1 of this Section, taxes may be levied upon the income or revenue of any business in whatever form it may be conducted for profit in the State.

10. The Legislature may provide by law for an abatement of the tax upon or an exemption of part of the assessed value of a single-family residence occupied by the owner to the extent necessary to avoid severe economic hardship to the owner of the residence.

11. The Legislature may provide by law for the recalculation of any depreciation allowed by law in the determination of the value of improvements to real property for the purposes of taxation, such that the value of a depreciated improvement is reset to the current replacement cost of the improvement upon such a transfer, sale or other conveyance of the property as the Legislature determines to be appropriate.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the resolution be referred to the Concurrent Committees on Legislative Operations and Elections and Taxation.

Motion carried.

Eighteen hundred and Sixty Seven; and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter . ~~[biennially.]~~

And be it further

RESOLVED, That Section 2 of Article 19 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1 of Article 4 of this Constitution, but subject to the limitations of Section 6 of this Article, the people reserve to themselves the power to propose, by initiative petition, statutes and amendments to statutes and amendments to this Constitution, and to enact or reject them at the polls.

2. An initiative petition shall be in the form required by Section 3 of this Article and shall be proposed by a number of registered voters equal to 10 percent or more of the number of voters who voted at the last preceding general election in not less than 75 percent of the counties in the State, but the total number of registered voters signing the initiative petition shall be equal to 10 percent or more of the voters who voted in the entire State at the last preceding general election.

3. If the initiative petition proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than ~~[January 1 of the year preceding the year in which a regular session of the Legislature is held.]~~ 1 year before the date on which the Legislature to which the petition will be transmitted commences its regular session. After its circulation, it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 30 days prior to ~~[any]~~ the commencement of the regular session of the Legislature ~~[.]~~ to which the petition will be transmitted. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall transmit such petition to the Legislature as soon as the Legislature convenes and organizes. The petition shall take precedence over all other measures except appropriation bills, and the statute or amendment to a statute proposed thereby shall be enacted or rejected by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days. If the proposed statute or amendment to a statute is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, such statute or amendment to a statute shall become law, but shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in Section 1 of this Article. If the statute or amendment to a statute is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit the question of approval or disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes approval of such statute or amendment to a statute, it shall become law and take effect upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court. An initiative measure so approved by the voters shall not be amended, annulled, repealed, set aside or suspended by the Legislature within 3 years from the date it takes effect. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such statute or amendment to a statute, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election. If the conflicting provisions submitted to the voters are both approved by a majority of the voters voting on such measures, the measure which receives the largest number of affirmative votes shall thereupon become law. If at the session of the Legislature to which an initiative petition proposing an amendment to a statute is presented which the Legislature rejects or upon which it takes no action, the Legislature amends the statute which the petition proposes to amend in a respect which does not conflict in substance with the proposed amendment, the Secretary of State in submitting the statute to the voters for approval or disapproval of the proposed amendment shall include the amendment made by the Legislature.

4. If the initiative petition proposes an amendment to the Constitution, the person who intends to circulate it shall file a copy with the Secretary of State before beginning circulation and not earlier than September 1 of the year before the year in which the election is to be held. After its circulation it shall be filed with the Secretary of State not less than 90 days before any regular general election at which the question of approval or disapproval of such amendment may be voted upon by the voters of the entire State. The circulation of the petition shall cease on the day the petition is filed with the Secretary of State or such other date as may be prescribed for the verification of the number of signatures affixed to the petition, whichever is earliest. The Secretary of State shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation, on three separate occasions, in each county in the State, together with any explanatory matter which shall be placed upon the ballot, the entire text of the proposed amendment. If a majority of the voters voting on such question at such election votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on the petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit the question of approval or disapproval to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election in the same manner as such question was originally submitted. If a majority of such voters votes disapproval of such amendment, no further action shall be taken on such petition. If a majority of such voters votes approval of such amendment, it shall, unless precluded by subsection 5 or 6, become a part of this Constitution upon completion of the canvass of votes by the Supreme Court.

5. If two or more measures which affect the same section of a statute or of the Constitution are finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment to the Constitution is finally so approved and an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified which affect the same section, by the voters at the same election:

(a) If all can be given effect without contradiction in substance, each shall be given effect.

(b) If one or more contradict in substance the other or others, the measure which received the largest favorable vote, and any other approved measure compatible with it, shall be given effect. If the one or more measures that contradict in substance the other or others receive the same number of favorable votes, none of the measures that contradict another shall be given effect.

6. If, at the same election as the first approval of a constitutional amendment pursuant to this Section, another amendment is finally approved pursuant to this Section, or an amendment proposed by the Legislature is ratified, which affects the same section of the Constitution but is compatible with the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall publish and resubmit at the next general election the amendment given first approval as a further amendment to the section as amended by the amendment given final approval or ratified. If the amendment finally approved or ratified contradicts in substance the amendment given first approval, the Secretary of State shall not submit the amendment given first approval to the voters again.

By Assemblyman Oceguera and Senator Horsford:

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2—Providing for the voluntary transfer of a portion of Legislators' salaries to the State General Fund.

WHEREAS, The State of Nevada faced a staggering budgetary deficit for the 2009-2011 biennium as a result of the impact of a prolonged national recession on Nevada's economy; and

WHEREAS, To meet its constitutional duty to balance the State's budget for this biennium, the 75th Regular Session of the Nevada Legislature was required to make difficult decisions, including, without limitation, making significant cuts to the State's budget and imposing furlough requirements on state employees which amounted to a 4.6 percent reduction in salaries; and

WHEREAS, Despite the financial burden of the salary reduction, public employees of this State have continued to perform their duties with diligence, dedication and professionalism; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada Constitution prohibits the increase or decrease of the salaries of state officers during their terms of office; and

WHEREAS, In recognition of the financial sacrifice of our State's public workforce during this biennium, the members of the 76th Regular Session of the Nevada Legislature pledge to voluntarily take a comparable 4.6 percent reduction in their salaries for the session; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, THE SENATE CONCURRING, That the Legislature hereby directs the Accounting Unit of the Legislative Counsel Bureau to withhold 4.6 percent of each Legislator's salary for the 76th Regular Session of the Nevada Legislature; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Accounting Unit of the Legislative Counsel Bureau shall pay the total amount of such withholdings to the State Treasurer for credit to the unrestricted balance of the State General Fund; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Accounting Unit of the Legislative Counsel Bureau shall not reduce the salary of any Legislator who did not vote in favor of passage of this resolution and who notifies the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau that the Legislator does not wish to have the withholding made from his or her salary.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Motion carried.

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

At: 2:09 p.m.

Chair Oceguera presiding.

Quorum present.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2 considered.

CHAIR OCEGUERA:

Just for the members, the Committee of the Whole is just like a committee meeting. I will be referred to as the Chair. It is just like a committee meeting but we will have 42 members on the committee. What I would like to do is take a definition or description of the bill from Mr. Conklin and then I will take three in favor of the bill and three opposed to the bill and we will see where we are at after that. Mr. Conklin.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

Thank you, Mr. Chair. In recognition of the 4.6 percent salary reduction taken by state employees this biennium as a result of the furlough requirements, A.C.R. 2 directs the accounting unit of the Legislative Counsel Bureau to withhold 4.6 percent of each legislator's salary for the session. The total amount of those withholdings will be credited to the State's General Fund, however, this is voluntary. A withholding will not be made from the salary of any member who did not vote in favor of passage of the resolution and who notifies the director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau that the member does not wish to have the withholdings made from his or her salary.

CHAIR OCEGUERA:

Thank you, Mr. Conklin. I will take the folks in favor of this measure. Mr. Goicoechea.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Mr. Chair. I rise in support of A.C.R. 2. Clearly, I think the real benefit of this is right now if we want to do a salary reduction we have to write that check to a charity, with A.C.R. 2 we truly will be returning the money back to where it belongs and that is the State General Fund. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Thank you, Mr. Chair. I rise in support of A.C.R. 2. The economic downturn in our country has hit our state probably harder than any state in the nation. Because of the downturn many Nevadans, including our state employees, have seen their paychecks shrink while they have been asked to do more. This resolution gives the members of this body the opportunity to share in the sacrifices that all our state employees and all Nevadans have had to make. Mr. Chairman, I urge the recommendation of your Committee of the Whole.

CHAIR OCEGUERA:

Thank you, Mr. Ohrenschall. Others in favor of the resolution?

ASSEMBLYMAN BROOKS:

Although I am a newly elected legislator I have received many emails on behalf of citizens concerned with our budget. Many state employees have shared with me their stories of how these reductions have affected their families–something many Nevadans are facing at this time. This is an opportunity for us to say we understand, care, and appreciate the sacrifice they have made and are making to our state. Let us take this 4.6 percent pay cut and let it serve as an assurance to the people of this great State of Nevada that we are in this together. Thank you.

CHAIR OCEGUERA:

Thank you, Mr. Brooks, and I'm also a little rusty, you can sit during a Committee of the Whole, just like a committee meeting you can speak from your chair, as well. Others wishing to speak in favor of the resolution?

ASSEMBLYMAN HAMBRICK:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I wish all of us to support the resolution. However, a question to the Chairman, "Should we be discussing this matter at great length with the Governor's proposed 5 percent instead of the furlough; rather than a 4.6 it may go to 5 percent. If there is some way that as we go through the session and it comes up to 5 percent, if we could match that, or do you believe as Chair, would that be a separate item at that point to go an additional 4.6 percent?

CHAIR OCEGUERA:

Mr. Hambrick, it is a separate issue. This issue is because the Constitution did not allow us to increase or decrease our salary. We figured out a way to do that. We didn't even know that we were going to do that in the last legislative session until June, and it didn't go into effect until July, so this is the first opportunity that we've had to enact that among our own members. So, I think, we will be in a similar situation the next time as well. Others wishing to speak in favor of the resolution? Alright, let's go to the opposition. Those wishing to speak in opposition to the resolution. Alright, seeing none are there any further questions or testimony on A.C.R. 2? Seeing none, the Chair will accept a motion.

On motion of Assemblyman Conklin, the committee did rise and report back to the Assembly.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Assembly Bill 144 adds five criteria that must be met to qualify for the 5 percent bidding preference on state and local public works projects. This bill adds local public works projects to our existing state public works projects.

The applicant must sign an affidavit certifying that they will meet certain criteria: (1) at least 50 percent of the workers must have a Nevada driver's license or ID card; (2) vehicles must be registered in Nevada or be partially apportioned to Nevada; (3) at least 50 percent of the design professionals working on the project must have the same—a Nevada driver's license or ID card; (4) at least 25 percent of the materials used must be purchased in Nevada; and (5) certain payroll records must be maintained and available in Nevada.

This bill also requires the contractor to maintain, for all workers on the project, a list of the driver's license and ID card numbers. The contract must contain the criteria, and failure to comply with that criteria will result in penalties. A contract not in compliance with this bill would be void. A contractor who receives the preference and breaches the contract would be subjected to penalties as follows: (1) if the cost of the contract exceeds $5 million, the contractor shall lose the preference certification for five years; or (2) if the contract exceeds $25 million, the contractor shall be barred from bidding on public works projects for one year.

A person may file a written objection with the public body to a proposed or awarded contract, along with the supporting proof, alleging that the criteria are not being met. The public body must review the objection and supporting proof and determine whether the criteria are being met. If the public body determines the criteria are not being met, the contract may be awarded to another bidder or the public body may seek liquidated damages. Breaches shall be reported to the State Contractors' Board, and the information shall be retained for at least six years. The bill is effective upon passage and approval.

This is what we've been calling the "Nevada Business First" bill all week. This is a very important first step for us to help our Nevada-located businesses get back to work. We know that this will give our contractors a leg up. We know how much the money that is generated in Nevada circulates through our economy. We know that $1 equates to about $1.47 through these contracts—how important it is for our local contractors to have this help, for them to get this work that our tax dollars are funding. We want to bring our construction workers, and those companies that are having to work out of state, back home and let those people spend their dollars here. We want those people who are on jobs here to have that money that they are out spending in our businesses and that are being used with suppliers, design professionals, landscapers—all of those businesses here.

I urge your support.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

I rise in support of A.B. 144, but I do have a couple of concerns. I am concerned that it may well slow the bid award process down. I am wondering if we wouldn't be better off pre-certifying those bidders. Hopefully, as it moves ahead in the other house, maybe they will look at that. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would like to ask my colleague from Sparks: On the driver's license portion of that, if 25 out-of-state workers came in here, they could go down Monday morning and get drivers' licenses, could they not?

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To my colleague from Yerington, the truth of the matter is that when you get a driver's license, you have to show that you have proof that you have a residence to get that driver's license. Once you get that driver's license, you are listed as a resident. Then you also are subject to registering your vehicle. Do I think it is a hundred percent perfect on how it works? I would hope that people that get their driver's license would actually—there is a criterion that we ask of them; we just don't hand it to them, and the same goes for identification cards.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Mr. Speaker, with a county that has 20 percent unemployment, or right around the 20 percent, I support the bill. I just wanted to make sure that we get our Nevada people to work.

Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for acknowledging me a second time. I wanted to respond to my colleague from Eureka. We will continue, as this bill moves forward, looking at any clarifications that need to be made and certainly work with the business community. We have had support from the contractor community regarding the process for this. We seem to have full support that this is workable and not onerous, that it is well worth it to them to be able to have this leg up and do this—it really is a small amount of paperwork that they would have to provide. But we will certainly keep working on any clarifications necessary.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To my colleague from Sparks, if the materials for the project are not available in Nevada, do we have a provision for that? Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To my colleague from southern Nevada, that is one of the clarifications we are working on. We have had a couple of businesses come to us and offer some suggestions, and the chairman of Government Affairs will keep working on that as we move this bill forward.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of this bill. Working for over a year and a half on this bill, we met with different agencies, different groups, design professionals, subcontractors, and contractors, to ensure that everybody's voice was heard. Is this bill perfect? Some would say so; I would say so, but others would say not. I think that we have to do this. I promised my constituents I was going to come here, get some work done, and do everything I could to put the tools in place so that they could go back to work.

I do represent 70 percent of construction workers that are out of work for over two years, and they want to go back to work. They do not want to be home anymore. I will tell you that we have worked within the laws to make sure that we are very certain on how this is. Some would like more, some would like less, but I am very confident, working with our Legal Division, that we are solid on this, on moving forward and putting tools out there that will help put Nevadans back to work. Local government has been very much in favor of working with us on a template that we can adopt across this state. Their local officials want to put people back to work, as well, so I encourage the support of the body. I believe that two years ago, we tried something similar to this; however, this time we have made a lot of progress. Sometimes you have to take little bites at the apple. I encourage your support.

ASSEMBLYMAN LIVERMORE:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To my colleague from Sparks, if I may. I did support this bill in committee, and I will support this bill today. I am just concerned about the confidentiality of driver's license information being acquired by the wrong hands. I have been assured by legal counsel that we do have the ability to direct contractors to make sure that that confidentiality stays in place.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. To my colleague from Carson City, that concern is always raised on this issue and those processes are currently in place where workers' identities are always protected. In fact, if you go and request a certified payroll now on a prevailing wage job, you can see the worker, what the worker did, and how much the worker made, but you can never identify who the worker is or their personal information. This issue should be covered in that way, as well.

All present except Assemblymen Diaz, Flores, and Ohrenschall, who were excused.

The President of the Senate appointed a Committee on Escort consisting of Senator Weiner and Assemblyman Conklin to wait upon Senator Harry Reid and escort him to the Assembly Chamber.

The Committee on Escort in company with The Honorable Harry Reid, United State Senator from Nevada, appeared before the bar of the Assembly.

The Committee on Escort escorted the Senator to the rostrum.

The Speaker of the Assembly welcomed Senator Harry Reid and invited him to deliver his message.

United States Senator Harry Reid delivered his message as follows:

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEVADA
SEVENTY-SIXTH SESSION, 2011

Governor Sandoval, members of the Legislature, guests, and friends. It's really great to be with you in this joint session. Of course, not everyone is here—but I think we can excuse Assemblywoman Diaz for her absence, and we congratulate her on the birth of her new son just last Sunday.

It is always a pleasure to come home to Carson City. It brings back many memories to be in this chamber, which I voted to create as a very young Assemblyman. And it's a distinct honor to speak with you today. I'm grateful to the people of Nevada for allowing me to represent them for more than three decades in legislative halls and for more than a decade in other government capacities.

Many of you are serving your first terms here in this body. Forty-two percent of the 42 Assemblymen are freshmen. An even greater proportion—nearly half—of our State Senators are new to the upper chamber. You're just beginning to learn its rhythms and its hallways.

My first term here was a long time ago. Nixon was President and Nevada's population wasn't even a fifth of what it is today. But I remember vividly the emotions and excitement of my first session, when we were in the Capitol building just across the mall. I know you are like me—humbled by the opportunity you've been given to serve our state and enthusiastic about the possibilities.

As we work together to move Nevada forward and get Nevadans back on our feet, I will always do everything I can to support you. I know as well as you that Nevada is struggling at every level. Our cities and schools are struggling. Our statewide and national economic problems have done more than just hurt commerce—they've hurt confidence. We've had to make tough choices, and we'll have to make many more, but that's really what leadership is all about. I wish you well and wish you wisdom as you make these decisions, and I hope you find your experience in this esteemed Legislature as rewarding as I did—at least most of the time. Let me explain.

Long before Richard Bryan and I served together in the United States Senate, we served together here in Carson City as Assemblymen. We were the only new Nevada legislators that session. We quickly became friends, and our friendship has lasted many decades.

I introduced a lot of bills in my first term—really, a lot of bills. I am told I set the record for introducing the most legislation in a single session. One of those bills Senator Bryan and I introduced would crack down on firebombing—weapons like Molotov cocktails. We thought this was a real winner of an idea.

The bill flew through the Assembly. It flew through committee in the Senate. We were more than a little proud of ourselves. Then it came to the Senate floor. Senator Bryan and I went to watch the chairman of the Senate committee, Bill Farr, speak about it. When Bill wasn't serving in the Senate, he was the fire chief in Sparks. Senator Farr went on and on about how great our firefighting bill was and how smart those two young Assemblymen, Reid and Bryan, were in moving this legislation. We were elbowing each other; we were really quite happy. We couldn't contain our satisfaction. Then Senator Farr said, "In fact, this legislation was so good, we passed it last session."

So as you work to move Nevada ahead, heed my caution: Be cautious. That memory, however embarrassing, also taught me to pay a little closer attention to our history. Today, at this discouraging hour in our history, I'm comforted by the conviction that Nevada is a state full of fighters. We were battle born. Our principles and priorities keep us balanced as the challenges before us change. Our resolve is to recover, and we need to recover. That need to recover is as solid as the Sierras, and my belief in that determination is just as unmovable.

We've recovered in the past, and we'll recover in the future. We've met crisis before, and we've prevailed. Winning is what we do. Winning is what we have to do.

But it also takes time. Our problems weren't created in a day, and they won't be solved overnight. We know how to bounce back. Our challenge is great, but it isn't new. Nevada has always been a work in progress.

I remember standing in this very Chamber as Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate. I remember being here and thinking how much Nevada had changed, from the one I first knew in Searchlight to the one I was representing here in Carson City. It was a different state—unrecognizable. In fact, each time I've had the honor of addressing this body, Nevada has been a different place.

That transformation to today has been more profound. Some of that change has been positive and promising and some less so. Our charge is to ensure that the changes that will take place in the next generation don't take us backward. They must lead Nevada to a position of leadership and strength.

The last time I addressed this body, the stimulus was just one day old. President Obama had signed it into law only a few hours earlier. That emergency law has done a lot of good and prevented a lot of bad. It alone might not have cured every symptom we suffered, but it stabilized the patient.

I know the stimulus is an easy target. Those who don't like the current White House rush to accuse it of all the wrong in the world. But as the first resident of that White House, John Adams, said, "Facts are stubborn things . . . ." Yes, we have more work to do. But we do ourselves a disservice when we deny the good it has done for our state.

The stimulus cut taxes for more than one million Nevadans—a million just in Nevada alone. It kept thousands of teachers in the classroom and other education workers on the job to the tune of more than $500 million. On Friday I announced that our most struggling schools will get grants, made possible by the stimulus, so that our students, even in the weakest schools, can have a shot at college or a career. That law also secured for Nevada a bigger increase in Medicaid matching funding than every other state in the union.

Solar and geothermal projects are heating up across the state because of stimulus funding. And just last week, another stimulus project took a giant leap forward: the transmission line that will connect the north and the south with electricity and connect Nevadans with good-paying jobs. Energy independence is coming, and it's bringing with it many hundreds of jobs now and in the future.

I'm not saying the law was perfect, but I am saying it was necessary and it's working. It saved Nevada and our country from an economy much worse than what we've experienced.

The stimulus isn't the only emergency action Congress took that's misunderstood. Let me say something briefly about the lifelines to the banking and auto industries.

First, the program that brought our economy back from the brink of collapse. No one wanted to help the banks that jeopardized our economy and crashed the housing market. Just like you, I'd seen the foreclosure signs multiply across our state, and I had no sympathy for the greedy Wall Street bankers who forced them there.

But I'll never forget the meeting we had—just a handful of us—with President Bush's Secretary of the Treasury, Hank Paulson, and Fed Chairman Ben Bernanke. I'll never forget sitting in that room on that Thursday when they told us how close we were to not having an economy on Monday. They told us what we needed to do to save our country. They told us what we needed to do to save ourselves, and acting as partners rather than partisans, we did just that.

TARP, as it's called, started under a Republican President and ended under a Democratic President. But its virtue is not just that the story started with bipartisanship; it's also that it ended with success. We asked a lot of the American people, and now we're paying them back. The bailout is turning taxpayers a profit.

Second, many have asked why we would help a failing industry like the American car companies. But just like with the stimulus and TARP, the results belie its reputation. General Motors is back on its feet, in control of its own finances and adding jobs. Now it's giving its hourly workers profit-sharing checks worth thousands of dollars. Even Chrysler—the most endangered of the Big Three auto companies—is bouncing back from bankruptcy and expects to make a profit this year. That's especially welcome news for the states and cities that build cars, but it's encouraging news for all of us. We should always be rooting for American companies to succeed—iconic industries and bright young entrepreneurs alike. Nevada never should root for failure.

These underrated successes aside, I didn't come here to talk about the past. I didn't come to re-fight the fights of the last few years. I'm here to talk about our future—how we will move Nevada forward, how we will seize this unique, rare, and critical opportunity to lead not just the nation's economy, but the world's economy.

Some may question whether we can get there. Too many Nevadans are still looking for jobs. Too many families are still fighting to stay in their homes. But I know this state. I don't question whether Nevada can mature in this new decade and this young century and soon find ourselves in front once again. My only question is how quickly it will happen.

If we're going to talk about our future, let's start where our future starts: in our schools. Our responsibility to our children's education is solemn and serious.

Just a couple of years before I joined this Assembly, I was struggling through law school as a young father. I was a full-time policeman; I didn't know if I was going to be able finish school. One day I went to the dean of students and told him I had a family, a broken car, and needed some financial help. I'll never forget what he told me. He didn't give me an ounce of sympathy or an inch of respect. Instead he said, "Mr. Reid, why don't you just quit?" I guess that was all I needed to hear. I knew I had to prove him wrong. I knew right then that I would graduate. Sometimes the people who motivate us the most are the ones who believe in us the least.

Right now, a lot of people out there don't believe in Nevada. The country doesn't look at us as leaders—it sees a state stuck in the last percentiles. If that doesn't make you want to work harder and harder, you're in the wrong line of work.

Nevada ranks fiftieth in state contributions to education—fiftieth. Our children really deserve better. We're not the only state that has had to make hard choices when it comes to budget cuts, but few have forced its K through 12 and higher education systems to cut millions from already tight budgets, as Nevada has. And we do this year after year.

We're beyond asking our schools and universities to trim their budgets or do more with less. These cuts, and calls for more cuts, undermine our most important goal: preparing Nevada's students for the global economy. If our priority is producing a workforce that can compete with the rest of the world, let's legislate that way.

And let's admit that a one-size-fits-all approach to education fits nobody. Our state is home to the fifth-largest school district in the country, as well as some of the smallest. There are almost four times as many schools in Clark County as there are students in Esmeralda County. That's why we're working to reform No Child Left Behind—so that it works better for our schools—and it's why we've signed on to the Common Core Initiative. That new program will help develop world-class standards for our students and make Nevadans more competitive.

Education funding has primarily been a state and local responsibility, and that's how it should be, but there's room for us to work together. And I will do everything I can to help ease the burdens on state and local school districts.

If we lag in education today, we're going to lose at everything tomorrow. We weren't even in the running for the Race to the Top funds because we'd fallen too far behind to even be considered. We have to approach these competitions like an athlete approaches a new season: We have to make the playoffs if we want any shot at the championship.

But before any of this can happen, we have to recognize that our children's education is not about tenure. It's not about teachers' unions. It's not about budgets or taxes or profits. It's not about yesterday's alliances or adversaries. It's not about us at all. It's about our children and our students and their future.

Nevada isn't a last-place kind of place. We know this in our hearts. Together we can make the world believe it, too, but we're going to have to earn it.

As close as we are to the back of the line when it comes to education, we're at the forefront of the clean energy revolution. America is going to use nearly 20 million barrels of oil today. That's more than 20 percent of all of the oil the entire world will use today. But America has less than 3 percent of the world's reserves, and they're going fast. And when it comes to how much that oil costs, we're at the mercy of OPEC. That's a strategy for yesterday, and we need a strategy for tomorrow.

The more we invest in and develop clean energy, the faster we'll solve two of our toughest challenges: creating jobs and reducing our reliance on oil. The faster we act, the faster we'll be energy independent.

Clean energy is one of the best investments we'll ever make. Nevada is already the hub of renewable energy—our solar, wind, and geothermal potential is unbeatable. Our challenge, then, is to make Nevada the hub of the renewable energy industry. Now is our chance to turn that energy into jobs.

No place on Earth is better for this kind of development than right here. That's why we're attracting companies from countries like China—businesses that are building wind turbines and LED technology in our own state. They're coming to Nevada from halfway around the globe because they see good business opportunity here. We welcome them. Their plants will put Nevadans back to work and help plant the roots of our new future.

The transmission line I mentioned a minute ago is an example of a homegrown solution—a public-private partnership made possible by the stimulus. The One Nevada line will completely free us from having to import any electricity at all. In fact, with consumers like California next door and growing efforts to build a reliable electricity grid in the West, we're poised to become a net exporter of clean energy into the national marketplace.

We need to make sure spending cuts don't hold us back, and I'll do everything I can to make it easier for businesses to develop affordable clean energy; to help families use that clean energy; and to make it easier for our cars, trucks, homes, and offices to run on clean energy. The future of our economy depends on it—and so does the future of our environment and our national security.

Stronger education and cleaner energy are two pieces to the same puzzle. Nevada will return to the top when we build a foundation that brings people and businesses here.

This state has always been a destination—from yesterday's pioneers, like my dad's parents, who came here to mine our rich minerals, to today's tourists who enjoy the beauty of our deserts and mountains and entertainment. That's one of the reasons we killed Yucca Mountain, and it's the reason I worked so hard to pass a Travel Promotion Act. That bipartisan plan is taking the strategies that have made Las Vegas so successful and exporting them to our entire nation's tourism industry. It's already working. It's attracting visitors from around the globe and creating jobs right here in Nevada.

Tourism will always be our biggest industry, but it can't be our only one. We've learned the hard way that when tourists stay away, jobs go away. So let's open more doors.

If we don't show the country we're serious about education, why would the best teachers and researchers come here to work? Why would parents put their children in our schools?

If we don't show the world we're serious about clean energy, why would the best scientists make our state their laboratory for the newest technologies?

And if we don't prove that we're a twenty-first century state, why would creative new companies—or a small business that can be tomorrow's biggest employer—set up shop here in Nevada?

I recently met with a group of businessmen who run data centers for technology companies. They visited Storey County to see about opening a facility there—a move that would have created desperately needed jobs. Storey County does a lot of things right. It's the home of the Tahoe-Reno Industrial Center, which is the largest of its kind in the entire country. But one of the businessmen in that meeting told me he simply couldn't believe that one of the biggest businesses in the county he was considering for his new home is legal prostitution. I've talked to families who feel the same way—parents who don't want their children to look out of a school bus and see a brothel or to live in a state with the wrong kind of red lights.

So let's have an adult conversation about an adult subject. Nevada needs to be known as the first place for innovation and investment—not as the last place where prostitution is still legal. When the nation thinks about Nevada, it should think about the world's newest ideas and newest careers, not about its oldest profession. We should do everything we can to make sure the world holds Nevada in the same high regard you and I do. If we want to attract business to Nevada that puts people back to work, the time has come to outlaw prostitution.

I've talked about the jobs we need to create in the private sector. Allow me to speak shortly about the jobs our public servants do. We recognize Nevada's potential because we have learned from our past. We let our history inform our future, and that experience teaches us that we cannot throw out experience.

Nevada imposes term limits at every level of our government—for mayors, county commissioners, constitutional officers, and for all of you state legislators—everyone except the Judiciary. In each case, they're counterproductive. These restrictions don't limit terms; they limit our ability to move forward.

I know many of you are serving today because your predecessor's term limits gave you the chance to run. But this issue is bigger than any one of us as individuals, and this is not just about political theory. We can see it with our own eyes, in the people we've served with, colleagues we know and respect, public servants whose expertise has made this state a better state and whose experience has made us better at our jobs.

When Dean Rhoads, a fine Republican, leaves the Senate after this term, so will his 35 years of hard-earned experience. When John Oceguera finishes his first term as Speaker of the Assembly, it will also be his last. Of course, he replaced another well-respected but term-limited Speaker, Barbara Buckley, who did so much for our state on education, health care, and other important issues. No one can say that Nevada—especially northern Nevada—would be better off had Bill Raggio's service been arbitrarily cut short. He could never have built the relationships or gained the institutional knowledge that helped him lead the Senate so well for so long. The North would never have known the clout it now has. And in the South, Oscar Goodman is an overwhelmingly popular mayor and always has been. Why should he have to step down if the people he represents don't want him to? For some, two years is too much. For others, 20 years isn't long enough.

We don't need artificial term limits. After all, we already have natural ones. They're called elections. Anyone serving today should be able to serve at the will of the voters—the people of Nevada. I don't think anyone here believes our constituents lack the capacity or don't deserve the right to choose their own leaders. And if you don't believe they'll exercise that right, just take a look at the United States Congress.

Remember what President Bush said in 2006? He said he got a thumpin? Or when the wheel of the majority turned again just this past November and President Obama said he got a shellacking? Both of these words were synonyms for remarkable, natural turnover. The voters take care of term limits for us.

One more word about learning from others' experience. I served with Republican Gordon Smith in the United States Senate. Like all of us, he served in his state's legislature. When Gordon was the President of the Oregon State Senate, his number-one goal was to implement term limits. He succeeded but quickly came to regret it. He called it, in his own words, the biggest political mistake of his life. Oregon agreed; it no longer has term limits.

We should not turn away those who want to serve our state. We should not eliminate expertise that dedicated Nevadans have spent years earning. And in this part-time body charged with solving full-time problems, we should not forget that term limits leave behind a vacuum of institutional knowledge. The ones who fill that vacuum are unelected lobbyists, legislative staff, and other special interests. We should never get in the way of our own ability to move Nevada forward. It is up to you to protect our best leaders' contributions, not reject them. So I ask you to take this to the people and reverse our destructive term limits law.

Ours is a state of frontiersman and fighters. It's in our blood. That's why the story of America is the story of Nevada and of the West. In our country, pioneer is another word for leader, and westward means forward.

Lands that were once the frontier are now cities on the front lines of technology and industry. Where our towns were once dominated by homesteads, now they are dotted by energy efficient homes. The Old West has given way to the New West, and it is up to us to define what that means.

The question is whether we will direct our destiny or forfeit our future. I know our challenges are many, but our opportunity to prosper hasn't been this rich since my father's parents came here seeking gold and silver. The chance is ours, if we so choose.

The window in which we can seize this opportunity stands as open as the desert, but it may be as fleeting as the desert wind. The day to grow new jobs, attract new business, raise a strong generation, and breathe new life into our economy is today, if we take it.

Today is also the first President's birthday, George Washington. George Washington knew a thing or two about hardship and hard choices. At the height of the Revolution, long before we won our independence and Washington won his immortality, success was far from certain. When failure seemed the most likely fate, he wrote one of his generals the following: "We should never despair," Washington said. "Our situation before has been unpromising and has changed for the better—so I trust it will again." He reminded that general, a man by the name of Philip Schuyler, that new tests are merely an opening for new triumphs, and new problems a prompt for new ideas.

General Schuyler received Washington's letter and took it to heart. He didn't despair—he believed. And once the colonies became a country, as the promise of a new nation lay before him, the general returned home to create change where it starts: He joined his state's legislature. You're going to create change, just like he did.

Thank you very much.

Lord, this is a special year. It is the 400th anniversary of the King James Version of the Bible—the Bible that was in most of our homes as we grew up. I thank You for Your Word. As I look around this room, I see a copy on display. We are thankful for the principles You have seen fit to place there for our guidance. I pray, though, that these words may be more than a display on a stand. May they be displayed in our lives. I pray in the Name of the One called the Living Word.

Remarks by Assemblymen Hammond and Conklin.

Assemblywoman Kirkpatrick moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYMAN HAMMOND:

As the resolution notes, this year marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ronald W. Reagan, the 40th President of the United States. Ronald Reagan was, in many ways, a typical American. He was born in a little apartment on the second floor of a commercial building in Tampico, Illinois. After he was elected president, he quipped that living upstairs in the White House was "just like living over the store again."

When he was nine, his family moved to the nearby town of Dixon. There he spent a happy childhood, playing on the Dixon High School football team, acting in the school plays, working as a lifeguard, and acquiring the popular nickname of "Dutch." After high school he attended Eureka College, a small liberal arts school where he excelled at sports, acting, and campus politics. Those early years in small town America nourished his sunny, optimistic disposition and his faith in the fundamental goodness of ordinary Americans, a faith that he carried with him to the presidency.

Ronald Reagan came to the presidency in 1980. It was a time much like the present, a time of economic turmoil and international unrest. He made the theme of his presidency "morning in America," and led our country to a successful conclusion of the Cold War, and the longest period of economic expansion in our nation's history.

To many of us, Ronald Regan is best remembered as the Great Communicator. We remember him as a powerful voice for freedom, patriotism, and self-reliance. Let me just share a few quotations that exemplify his keen insight and sharp wit:

- "A government bureau is the nearest thing to eternal life we will ever see on this earth."
- "I don't believe in a government that protects us from ourselves . . . That's one of our sacred rights—to be stupid."
- "Government's view of the economy could be summed up in a few short phrases: If it moves, tax it. If it keeps moving, regulate it. And if it stops moving, subsidize it."
- "Politics is not a bad profession. If you succeed there are many rewards; if you disgrace yourself you can always write a book."
- "I have left orders to be awakened at any time in case of national emergency, even if I'm in a cabinet meeting."
- "Man is not free unless government is limited. There's a clear cause and effect here that is as neat and predictable as a law of physics: As government expands, liberty contracts."

Please join today in remembering a great president, a great communicator, and a great American, Ronald W. Reagan.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

I rise in support of Senate Concurrent Resolution 3.

Today, on President Reagan's 100th birthday, he remains an inspirational and fascinating figure in American politics.

I was only ten years old when he became President, but as I was finishing my studies in high school and getting started for college towards the end of his second term, I knew what an impact he had had on our country.

I did not agree with everything that Ronald Reagan did during his two terms of office, but no President is immune from criticism or makes the absolute right decision every moment of every day.

When I did agree it was because he made tough choices, balancing his principles on the one hand and the fate of our nation on the other.

During his first election campaign he promised to dismantle the Departments of Education and Energy, but later he came to realize the consequences of following through, and in the end he not only preserved those vital institutions, but he expanded them.

The entire nation gave thanks to the President when he honored the service and sacrifice of our veterans by elevating the Department of Veteran's Affairs to a cabinet level agency, where it remains today. There is absolutely no question our veterans deserve it.

Social Security is a promise to America that when you become too old to work we will be there for you, and when insolvency of the system seemed imminent, President Reagan took action and saved the only safety net many of our seniors have.

Throughout his presidency, Ronald Reagan grappled with the mounting deficits, skyrocketing unemployment, and other domestic issues.

Faced with those realities he came to understand he couldn't fund the services America needed to succeed with the revenues at his disposal, whether it was defense or social services or public safety. He always put country above ideology and asked the American people to do their part.

Sometimes it feels like history has forgotten this fact. After President Reagan cut revenue, he raised them, multiple times. Not because he wanted to but because he had to. You can only cut so much before you start destroying the very fabric of what makes this country great.

President Reagan to his credit, put his ideology aside and did what he knew was right for our county, and we must always remember it.

Today in Nevada we face record unemployment, a flailing education system, and a crumbling economy. To top it off, we may not have the revenue we need to pull ourselves out of this mess.

Investment in infrastructure and education to attract businesses—these are the things we must do, ladies and gentlemen. This is our Ronald Reagan moment—to put aside our differences and do what we know is right for our state and, Mr. Speaker, it is in that spirit that I support this resolution.

Resolution adopted.

Officer Crawford was a 27-year veteran of St. Petersburg Police Department, and was a colleague of Mary McDonald, one of our own legislative officers. Mary is a 25-year veteran of the St. Petersburg Police Department and one of Officer Crawford's past supervisors and friends.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYMAN MUNFORD:

In the spirit of Black History Month, I rise to recognize and share with this body the significant accomplishments of the Black Stuntmen's Association and the Coalition of Black Stuntmen and Women.

I was expecting to welcome some of these members of this group who are quite mature now in age. They were supposed to be here today. Unfortunately, they could not make the trip due to transportation and health problems.

During the 1950s and the 1960s, few African Americans had roles in television or film. Movie stunts were almost strictly performed by white men and women who wore makeup to act as stunt doubles for black actors.

The Black Stuntmen's Association and the Coalition of Black Stuntmen and Women joined together and filed a legal action against the "Hollywood machine" and forced it to hire, train, and advance individuals both in front of and behind the cameras, without regard to race, gender, or sexual orientation.

These legal efforts came at a great personal cost to the members of the Association and Coalition. They experienced attempts to crush them mentally, physically, and financially, such as blacklisting them and forcing them out of work. Through it all, these determined men and women persevered. Ultimately, they created groundbreaking opportunities for countless African-American men and women in the film and television industry.

Please join me in recognizing and appreciating their sacrifices and their commitment in the pursuit of America's principles of equality and justice for all.

One thing I want to add. A lot of people might not know why Black History Month was chosen to be celebrated in the month of February. One of the reasons is because of this gentleman, Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday is in February. Another reason was Frederick Douglass. I don't know if you have heard of Frederick Douglass, but he was a very outspoken and vocal fighter for rights for African Americans. The third reason is the development and birth of the NAACP started in February. So I give you a little lesson.

Also, I congratulate my colleague from District 22 for talking about Abraham Lincoln. I remember all three sessions he always talked about Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday is in February. It always reminded him—but he never brought it up—that Abraham Lincoln was very instrumental in this state joining the Union, but he also freed the slaves. Remember that.

ASSEMBLYMAN CONKLIN:

On behalf of my colleague from District 33, late last night Elko County Sheriff's Deputy Lenwood VanNatter was shot three times and was airlifted to the University of Utah Hospital, where he is now in critical condition suffering multiple gunshot wounds to the chest, hip, and legs. This is not the first time that a police officer of law enforcement agency has been shot when this body is in session. On behalf of my colleague from District 33, I would just request that Mr. VanNatter remain in the prayers and thoughts of our members, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Assembly Bill No. 183.

Bill read third time.

Remarks by Assemblymen Smith, Sherwood, Goicoechea, and Benitez -Thompson.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the following remarks be entered into the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Assembly Bill 183 is regarding school district bond obligation. It is enabling legislation. It allows the school districts to lower their required debt reserve to 25 percent in the larger counties and 50 percent in the smaller counties, the rural counties.

I want to talk about how this bill was conceived and what it really means. It seems like a fairly small policy decision, but as we all know, it has become a larger decision point for this body.

About a year ago, I was contacted by a working group in the Washoe County School District that was concerned about their inability to take care of their older schools, the majority of which are 45 years or older. Many are much older than that and in serious need of repair. They brainstormed—what I thought was a very creative idea—and looked at the ability to lower their required debt reserve account for their bonds and to be able to access that money to then bond it and use the money for school construction. It seemed clever to me. Last June, I put in a bill draft request to do this very thing. I worked with the various districts over the coming months. Washoe County was very excited about the idea, and we have heard them testify that it could create as much as $135 million for them to be able to go out and do some school construction—some very badly needed older school rehabilitation.

I worked with Clark County, and what I got from them was "We appreciate your effort very much; we appreciate the fact that this is enabling legislation. There is nothing mandatory about this, but we, the Clark County School District, are not in a position right now to avail ourselves of this legislation because of our debt and because of declining property tax values." So while they said—and they said it in testimony in the hearing— that they would appreciate the ability down the road to be able to access those debt reserves, this was not the time for them to do that. But they realized that other counties could do it.

We heard from Lyon County School District, the third most distressed county in this country, about what it could do for their schools and what it could do for unemployed people in their county.

While this bill has become a decision point because it is tangled up with the Governor's budget, this is an important policy decision. This is about honoring the will of the voters. The people who supported these school bonds did so in good faith that this money would be spent on the very thing that the voters voted for, and that is school construction and the items that are in those bond documents and campaign documents that they relied on. The school districts have provided information and have demonstrated to us that they have met all of their obligations, and then some, with their last bonds.

If we violate the will of the voters by not honoring the intent of this legislation and using that money for what it is worth, how will these districts ever go back to the voters and get another school bond passed? We know that there will be ongoing need for rehabilitation. We know the ages of our schools in the big counties and the rural counties. But we also know we will grow again and that we will need money to build new schools at some point.

We have heard from all of the school districts that they support this legislation, and they do not support using these funds for another purpose. I have heard my colleagues say in committee and in the media that we should use this money for another purpose. I hear the districts say, "That is not what we want; we want to honor what we told the voters we would do. We want to use that money where it is sorely needed."

I did a school tour in my district, Mr. Speaker, several months ago, and one of the things that really struck me was that this is a school design where there are no inside hallways; everything is on the outside of the buildings. They don't have the kind of door knobs that would allow them to lock down, yet the school doors are a mere 20 feet from the street. They are in a neighborhood that has needed to have lockdowns. They don't even have the money to put a fence up, let alone replace the door knobs. So those young children are sitting in those classrooms 20 feet from the street with really no protection there.

This isn't about aesthetics as much as it is about safety and modernization. Don't you want all of the children in your district to have access to the same kind of facilities? Why should some kids across town be in schools that are modern, that have SMART Boards, that have windows you can see out of, and have door knobs that will lock, and other students don't have that? We have provided documentation that there is a direct correlation between student attendance and student achievement and the buildings they go to school in. I think our gut tells us that, and we know it is the right thing to do—to provide these facilities for our students.

So again, while this concept originally seemed like a logical and simple one, it has become a much bigger issue. I ask my colleagues to consider this policy, consider the will of the voters, and consider all of the people who came to the table and supported this and asked for it. And oh, by the way, there is a small benefit too, because that money will create a significant number of jobs when we are doing the construction on these older schools.

The Nevada Taxpayers' Association weighed in that this was a prudent thing to do—that this was an arbitrary decision in the statute, originally, and so lowering the bond reserve requirement makes sense. We have verified on the record that there is no harm to the bond rating by doing this, because it is enabling legislation. This allows the districts to decide, with their financial advisers, what the appropriate action to take will be.

So with all of that information, Mr. Speaker, I ask the body for their consideration of this legislation and for your support. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN SHERWOOD:

I thank my colleague from District 30. Nobody can argue against children and schools. We all agree on that. When we talk about the voters' will and we talk about the duty that we have to them and the duty that, quite frankly, each of the school districts has to the voters and to the state, there is a fiduciary responsibility of spending our money wisely. In good conscience, I cannot support money that is not spent as if it were your own money.

From 2005 to 2008 in Nevada—in our public works—we paid $450 million more than we should have if we did not have prevailing wage. And so when you pay more for something we can all agree that we need, we are not doing our fiduciary responsibility. That would be the first point.

The second point, of course, is the elephant in the room, and it's kind of the cynical nature of this legislation, which concedes that we can use the reserve money, and it stays in the district, but it blows a hole in Governor Sandoval's budget—a budget that he presented to this body more than a month ago and a budget that has not been rebutted in a holistic approach by the other party. So it is very disingenuous, and I cannot support it. I would love to see something come back as a holistic response, but as a one-off to blow a hole in a holistic budget from a governor who was—

MR. SPEAKER:

Mr. Sherwood, I will let this go on for a moment, but I want to caution you that you need to speak to the bill. You are speaking about the Governor's budget. I caution you to speak to the bill.

ASSEMBLYMAN SHERWOOD:

And I think that is part of the problem, that it is all interrelated. We are kidding ourselves if we think these one-off things are not interconnected, and it is cynical. The voters did not send us up here for 120 days to do one-offs. I will conclude with that. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in opposition to Assembly Bill 183. While we all clearly recognize the shortfalls in this economy, I feel it would be inappropriate to dedicate money to classroom construction, but rather, if there are any reserves available, they need to be dedicated to instruction in the classroom and, again, allowed by the school districts. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. If I may respond on the fiduciary responsibility, I think that goes to the very merits of what we are talking about. This money was approved by the voters for this very purpose. That is my fiduciary responsibility. I doubt there is anyone else in the building that is more worried about the budget concerns or takes it more seriously than I do. This is our fiduciary responsibility—to honor what the voters passed and let these elected boards in the 17 districts take care of their fiduciary responsibility. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN BENITEZ-THOMPSON:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise today in support of Assembly Bill 183. I rise first as a legislator representing the constituents of Assembly District 27, which contains some of the oldest schools in the state. For example, Mount Rose Elementary School is about to celebrate its centennial anniversary. All of the other schools in my district were built in the late 1950s, such as Anderson Elementary School, which is 56 years old, or in the late 1960s, such as Swope Middle School, which was built in 1966. Many of these schools have old and unsafe infrastructure and are lagging in terms of safety. For my constituents, it presents educational inequities. The 345 students at Hunter Lake Elementary School are safer, because their school has been revitalized, than the 418 students at Anderson Elementary School, who are still waiting for their 56-year-old school to be revitalized.

I not only stand as a legislator, but I stand as a parent of two young children who are zoned for schools that are over 50 years old, neither of which has been revitalized. I am willing to sacrifice a lot for my state, but not the safety of my children. That is why I will be voting for this bill. Thank you.

Governor Sandoval, Lt. Governor Krolicki, Speaker Oceguera, Senator Horsford, Senator McGinness, Assemblyman Goicoechea, members of the Senate and the Assembly, honorable Constitutional officers, and honored guests.

Tonight, I address you on behalf of my friends and colleagues on the Nevada Supreme Court: Associate Chief Justice Nancy Saitta, Justice Michael Cherry, Justice Mark Gibbons, Justice Kristina Pickering, Justice James Hardesty, and Justice Ron Parraguirre.

I also address you on behalf of the Nevada Judiciary—the municipal courts, the justice courts, and the district courts, as well as the nearly 2,000 Judicial Branch employees of the cities, counties, and state that make up those courts and provide service to the people of Nevada each day by affording a safe place for dispute resolution in civil, family, juvenile, and criminal proceedings to the individuals under emotional stress due to being entangled in the judicial system.

Also with us this evening are several of the state's judges including chief judges from our two urban judicial areas—Judge Steinheimer from Washoe County, and Judge Togliatti from Clark County, along with Chief Judge Bennett-Heron, Clark County Justice Court, their chief. Additionally, this evening we have Judge Tatro from Carson City Justice Court, who is also the President of the Nevada Judges of Limited Jurisdiction; Judge Montero, District Court Judge representing Humboldt, Pershing and Lander counties; Judge Rogers, District Court Judge from Churchill and Lyon; Judge Deriso from Sparks Justice Court; Judge Richards from New River Justice Court; Judge Tiras from Incline Justice Court, and Judge Nash-Holmes from Reno Municipal Court. Additionally with us is Steve Grierson, Chief Administrator of Clark County District Courts and Justice Court; Dean John White from the Boyd School of Law; Bill Dressel, President of the National Judicial College; Cam Ferenbach, President of the State Bar of Nevada, along with members of the Board of Governors.

Additionally, I would like to recognize Kathleen Harrington. Kathleen, I would like to ask you to stand. Kathleen just retired after 30-plus years of service to the state of Nevada, first with the Department of Prisons as its librarian; then with the National Judicial College; and thereafter, for 28 years, with the Nevada Supreme Court, the last eight of those years as the head librarian. It goes without saying that she will be missed by her coworkers, but more importantly by the people of Nevada whom she provided assistance to will miss you the most. Thank you for all that you did, and good luck and best wishes in the days ahead.

I have been provided with a challenge and opportunity to provide you with thoughts from the Nevada Judiciary. Since the Depression of the 1930s, we have not seen a more challenging time for the people of the state of Nevada than right now. Regardless of political parties and philosophies, one thing is clear—tough choices will be made as to the budget. To the extent necessary and possible, the Nevada Judiciary will do its share to support our state. The Supreme Court, an equal constitutional branch of Nevada government, has operated on less than 1 percent of the state's budget during the last budget cycle, and the Supreme Court has proposed its new budget with a 16.87 percent reduction. That is $2.3 million for the years 2011 through 2013. It will be a challenge, but we will, once again, do more with less; we understand that Nevada is at a crossroads. No one envies the tough choices that have to be made by you, the Legislature, for the welfare of the people of Nevada, and it is clear that you have been chosen to find solutions—to think outside the box, if you will—for the people of Nevada who need your leadership at this time.

We should not forget the obvious; we are the Battle Born State, and we operate under a constitution and the rule of law that provides for stability and predictability for our free market and personal freedoms, unlike other places in the world. Under our state Constitution, each branch of government has its own responsibilities to the people. The Judicial Branch cannot pass laws like you. The Legislature and the Judicial Branch cannot approve or veto laws like the Governor. The Judicial Branch interprets and honors laws as passed pursuant to our Constitution.

To fulfill that responsibility, the Judicial Branch must be independent of politics and personalities and concerns as to public popularity. The Judicial Branch, the Court, has but one true allegiance—that is to the Constitution and the rule of law. That belief is captioned in the words of the Pledge of Allegiance, and you can find those words in the top of your Nevada Supreme Court rotunda—"Liberty and Justice for All." It's just that simple.

Former United States Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell once remarked: "It is perhaps the most inspiring ideal of our society. . . . It is fundamental that justice should be the same in substance and availability, without regard to status." Thus, the core function, if you will, of the Judicial Branch is to resolve disputes under the rule of law—our Constitution—in a fair, impartial, and timely manner.

That is the Judicial Branch's responsibility under the Constitution, which is what we must do, despite the budget challenges we face today. Thus, in light of our challenges, I will not offer you a new vision of Nevada's judicial future. What I will do is state that your Judicial Branch will continue to do its part and look at how we can better deliver dispute resolution service to the people of Nevada.

As to our service, dispute resolution, the Nevada Judicial Branch—municipal, justice, district and the Supreme Court—resolved over 2 million cases in years 2009 and 2010. The Nevada Supreme Court resolved 4,586 cases in that time period, with a 104 percent clearance rate. However, due to our caseload, we still had to carry forward 1,514 pending cases at the beginning of 2011, with the expectation that 2,050 new appeals will be filed in both 2011 and 2012. Thus, I note that old saying, "Justice delayed is justice denied."

Additionally, I would point out that our caseload and the case types of the district courts don't track the same. At the Supreme Court, 47 percent of our cases are criminal, 33 percent are civil, and 17 percent are others, with 3 percent being family and juvenile, while at the district courts, 51 percent of the cases are family, 28 percent are civil, 11 percent are juvenile, with 10 percent criminal—just something to think about.

But cases and case numbers don't tell the whole story. Each of those 2 million-plus cases requires a sensibility to the needs of someone's liberty and freedom, or the disposition of someone's property, or the custody of someone's children. The enormity of dealing with a person under stress with limited resources has become more daunting in these challenging times. Limited resources, increased work loads, greater case complexity, as well as more self-represented parties in court are just an overview of the issue. The nightly news provides pictures and sounds of the coming attractions for the court. Stories on the news related to drug use and violence, violent events, followed by stories of sagging businesses, unemployment, mortgage foreclosure, and child—domestic—and elder abuse, should give all of us pause as to the challenge of the state Judicial Branch.

The reality is that the state Judicial Branch must provide dispute resolution for all under the rule of law with limited funds. That will require us to think outside the box—outside of our normal comfort zone. That resolution requires more than just standing before judges or having jury trials.

In the criminal context, resolution might be a trip to specialty court. So what is specialty court? Specialty courts use problem solving processes designed to address the root causes of some criminal activity. Some of the prominent types of specialty courts are drug courts, mental health courts, DUI courts, and prison reentry courts. Specialty courts may additionally specialize to address the needs of adults, families, juveniles, and low-level repeat offenders directly affected by the root problem of drugs, alcohol, and mental health issues.

We have been blessed in Nevada by legislative support of the specialty court programs. Pioneer Judges like Peter Breen, Jack Lehman, John McGroarty, and Archie Blake have led the way. And new leaders like Judge Jackie Glass, Judge Andrew Puccinelli and Judge Cedric Kerns have followed with new programs to break the cycle of despair.

Specialty courts provide a direct benefit to all of us. Specialty courts benefit the county and state budget by reducing time in jail at taxpayers' expense and allowing the individual to return to being a contributing member of our local communities. In 2009 to 2010, Nevada specialty courts had 5,167 persons enrolled, graduated 2,542 persons, had 133 drug-free babies related to participants, with 2,700 cases continuing into the start of this year.

So let me tell you a quick story about Las Vegas Municipal Court Judge Cedric Kerns. He has the YO Court—that's Youth Offender Court. Individuals are both young and addicted to drugs. In one specific case, the female had been using crack; her mug shot from a year ago was that of a crack head. Her family had lost all hope. They thought she was going to die, but a new arrest and the YO court saved her. Judge Kerns created a year-long program with counseling, housing assistance, and court supervision that fights to keep the participants straight for a year with a plan on how to live. Judge Kerns says it's a fight—a struggle—"We save what we can save" or we go down fighting. Youth Offender Court is a 20-defendant program; however they have 30 enrolled in the program, with funding provided by NRS 176.0613 and private funds. It is just one of the specialty courts within our state that tries to resolve disputes outside the box. All Nevada counties have a specialty court program through the Nevada courts.

In the civil context, before the Foreclosure Mediation Program, a desperate homeowner might have had a problem finding anyone in authority with his bank or a lender willing to listen to his home payment problem; conversely the banks and the lenders were not getting responses from homeowners in default. You, the Legislature, created a program in 2009 to address that problem and asked the Court to run it, to allow a new form of dispute resolution as to owner-occupied mortgage defaults. The program provided an opportunity for the homeowners and the lender to discuss, through the mediation program, alternatives to foreclosure—new payment plans, cash for keys, short sales. The program uses no state funds and is run, at its inception, outside the courthouse, with both sides having a right of judicial review. As to that Foreclosure Mediation Program, in 2010:

- 79,232 notices of default were filed in our state (non specific as to owner-occupied)
- 8,738 requests for mediation
- 6,614 were assigned to mediation
- 4,212 mediations were completed
- 89 percent of mediations avoided foreclosure
- 74 percent of homes were retained by the owner

This program has been hailed as cutting-edge and is now a model for other states; that is dispute resolution outside the box, and it is also branches of governments working together for all Nevadans.

I end now, not because I am finished, but due to time. I would love to tell you more about the Judicial Branch, about Law Day Live and texting; the Court Improvement Program—CIP—designed to help welfare families and foster kids; or Access to Justice, with the private Bar pro bono attorneys helping poor Nevadans; or Nevada's other program that has drawn national attention, related to improving Indigent Criminal Defense; or our use of Technology in the Courts—webcast, public information portals, E-filing, E-tickets, and more. But, time is an issue. If I were to try to tell you about all the Judicial Branch does, we would be here until tomorrow, so if you have a question, give me or my fellow justices a call and we will be more than happy to talk with you about the courts' programs.

So let me close with this: Remember, justice belongs to all the people, not to either political party, and not to any special interest. A system of justice, the rule of law, is necessary to support our economy and to support our personal freedoms under our Constitution. A system of justice can only exist as long as the people have trust and confidence that dispute resolution will be fair, impartial, and timely.

The Judicial Branch of Nevada is committed to "justice for all" and the rule of law for all the people of Nevada.

Thank you for listening, and I know you will answer the challenge for Nevada in the coming days.

Senator McGinness moved that the Senate and Assembly in Joint Session extend a vote of thanks to Chief Justice Douglas for his timely, able, and constructive message.

THE THIRTY-SECOND DAY

CARSON CITY (Thursday), March 10, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:22 a.m. in the old Assembly Chamber in the historic Capitol Building.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor, Al Tilstra.

Today, we have come to transact the business of this state in this historic chamber. Today we stand on the shoulders of many great leaders who have fought for the issues they championed. May we follow in their footsteps.

Today we pray for Your gift of contentment, that we may not waste our time desiring more, but learn to use and enjoy what we have.

We may not know everything, but we may know You and Your will. We need not be rich to be generous, nor have all wisdom to be understanding. Our influence may not be great, but it can be good. Our speech may not be eloquent, but it can be truthful and sincere. We cannot all have good looks, but we can have a good conscience, and having that, we shall have peace of mind and need fear no man.

May we be kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as You, for Christ's sake, have forgiven us.

AMEN.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

FORMER NEVADA STATE ARCHIVIST GUY ROCHA:

Thank you Mr. Speaker, for inviting me today to entertain everyone in this historic chamber where the Assembly met from 1871 to 1969. This is my fifth presentation since 2003. Speaker Richard Perkins began this latter-day tradition; Speaker Barbara Buckley continued it; and now Speaker John Oceguera has sustained it.

I had the high honor in 2007 of recognizing Barbara Buckley as Nevada's first female speaker in this chamber. Today I have the privilege of sharing with everyone assembled here another first in Nevada history. Mr. Speaker, recognizing that you are an enrolled member of the Walker River Paiute Tribe, I congratulate you as Nevada's first Native American Assembly Speaker.

I want to separate fact from fiction regarding two prominent features of the old State Capitol to which you are here today: the cupola we generously call a dome; and the wrought-iron fence surrounding the building.

Let's start with our silver dome. Surely the Silver State's capitol "dome"—technically it's a cupola—was once covered with silver! It was, if you believe virtually every tour guide and bus driver talking to unsuspecting tourists. The literature on the State Capitol is replete with references to a "silver dome." After all, other state capitols have cupolas or domes covered with gold or made of copper, and Nevada's Comstock was queen of the silver camps in the mid-nineteenth century.

The oft-repeated story notes that with the seismic retrofitting of the capitol in the late 1970s and early 1980s, the "silver dome" was replaced with a silver-colored fiberglass cupola. However, the tale continues, when the capitol was completed in Carson City in 1871, the octagonal bell-shaped cupola gleamed in the sun because it was made of silver from Nevada's booming mines. Silver seemed to be everywhere, and the Carson City mint was turning silver bullion into American coins, so why wouldn't the capitol cupola be made of silver? It only stands to reason.

Or does it? What seems a logical assumption is dead wrong! The state of Nevada has seldom been one for extravagance—and the metal used to cover the capitol cupola bears it out. In referring to the new capitol in Carson City, Virginia City's Territorial Enterprise (January 3, 1871) pointed out that "The cupola has a curved roof, covered with tin, and is formed in sections to suit the octagon base of the structure." That's right, that "silver dome" was made of tin, actually tin-plated steel called charcoal tinplate. It only looked like silver because of the shiny surface painted silver in color. Before 1876, the cupola was painted with Princess Red fireproof paint. If the cupola had been made of silver, its surface would have oxidized with prolonged exposure to air and moisture and turned black. Maintenance costs to keep the cupola gleaming would have been prohibitive. The capitol annex and two other small cupolas—the dome on the annex—dating back to 1906 are still covered with tin-plate panels painted silver.

When and where the story of a "silver capitol dome" started is a matter of conjecture. The why is probably because a silver cupola sounds a lot better in the Silver State than a tin cupola. And if it wasn't true, it should have been! However, construction-related records in the Nevada State Library and Archives bear out the truth to the story behind the "silver dome" of the capitol and so do the workers who peeled the metal covering off the old cupola in March 1978.

Exhibit A—[displaying a metal sheet from the roof]: This is silver paint falling off. This is proudly Nevada's pattern. It is a pattern from the silver capitol dome. Right? Do you want you to touch it, Mr. Speaker? Verifying, right? A little forensics. Okay, this is how we did business. Enough said, thank you.

As a postscript to the "Capitol Dome" story, let me share an experience I had with a tour bus group that visited Carson City and the Capitol. I joined the group at the Hilton, now Grand Sierra in Reno. I was asked to be a co tour guide with the bus driver. I marveled at the historical misinformation the driver shared on his microphone with the group as we traveled to the State Capital. However, I kept my mouth shut except to point out historical features he did not mention.

When the bus slowed in front of the Capitol Building, the driver proceeded to tell the group, pointing to the capitol dome, that it was once made of silver. All of this excitement! I waited for the bus driver to pull the vehicle over and the tourists to exit before I told the driver that the capitol cupola was never made of silver. He seemed genuinely shocked and told me his authorities on the subject were all the other tour bus drivers.

He then paused and sincerely told me it really didn't matter what the truth was in this case. After all, the tour group was just tourists from Modesto!

Let me introduce you to Hannah Clapp, who along with Sarah Winnemucca—you have seen her statue in the rotunda downstairs when you come in or go back out—was one of the most prominent women in 19th century Nevada.

This is a folktale told to generations of school children in northern Nevada, and myself at John S. Park Elementary School in southern Nevada, with Marilyn Dondero Loop as one of my school students. We grew up believing these kinds of things to be historical fact. After all, they were in the history text, weren't they? Even today, well-meaning teachers, authors, and others unknowingly perpetuate the myth as a true story. According to the legend, practically everyone in Carson City was shocked to discover that Hannah Keziah Clapp was awarded the bid to purchase the capitol fence in 1875 because the capitol commissioners did not recognize her initials, H. K., and found, to their surprise, that they had given the job to a woman!

Actually there are a number of different versions of this fence-building myth that have been widely circulated over the years according to Kathryn Totton, Clapp's biographer. Writing in the fall 1977 issue of the Nevada Historical Society Quarterly, Totton noted that writer Marian Michelson first presented the fence story in a feature article entitled "A Sketch From Life" in 1899, nine years prior to Hannah's death in Palo Alto, California. It was the subject of a radio program called "Death Valley Days" in 1940, which went on to television. In the same year, Reno's Nevada State Journal published a version of the tall tale, and on December 28, 1943, Gladys Rowley, in her column "Reno Revue" in the Nevada State Journal, made it the principal topic. Each retelling altered the details of the event for the sake of the tale.

Michelson had Hannah hiring the crew and supervising the work in a "long, warm ulster" and warm woolen hat. In fact, the fence was erected in the heat of August and September. Anyway, according to records at the State Archives, Ms. Clapp, and her colleague and longtime companion Elizabeth C. Babcock, were only responsible for the fence purchase. Another contractor, William D. Torreyson, was awarded the bid for installation, and Robert B. Stewart received the contract to lay the sandstone base for the fence.

With the facts obscured by the passage of time, the October 13, 1940, Journal article—making reference to the recently-aired "Death Valley Days" broadcast—had Hannah in trousers and boots overseeing the project and doing "a really excellent job building the fence." The article claimed that "Hannah Clapp believed she could do the job more efficiently than any man, and submitted an estimate which was so sound and so moderate that she was awarded the contract, in spite of the fact that she was a woman." I refer to this as BS.

Gladys Rowley took even greater liberties and claimed that the capitol commissioners were unaware that the H. K. Clapp to whom they awarded the bid was a woman, although she had been a well-known resident of Carson City for almost 15 years. Thomas C. Wilson, whose son Spike Wilson served in our state Senate, an advertising executive, perpetuated the myth in his popular Pioneer Nevada vignettes published by Reno's Harold's Club in 1951. Dante Pistone followed suit in his article "Carson City Heroine," published in the Nevada Official Bicentennial Book in 1976.

The population of the entire county, Ormsby County at that time, was listed as only 3,222 souls in the 1875 state census. The truth was almost everybody knew H. K. Clapp, including Samuel Clemens when he lived and worked in the capital city in the early 1860s reporting for the Territorial Enterprise. Clemens, in a lengthy letter dated January 14, 1864, and signed Mark Twain, detailed a visit to Clapp's Sierra Seminary and his observations of the classroom. In addition, the Carson City section of the 1862 First Directory of Nevada Territory lists Samuel Clemens and Miss H. K. Clapp on page 69. Virtually every city directory and newspaper story referred to Hannah as H K. Clapp; it was common in that time— generally men but in this case a very successful businesswoman.

An article that ran in the May 4, 1875, edition of the Carson City Daily Appeal made abundantly clear just how the editor felt about H. K. Clapp and Eliza C. Babcock being awarded the bid for the capitol fence. Like this is going to the source now, right?

"Let there be no further complaints about the non-enjoyment of their rights by the women of Nevada." What do they mean they didn't know they were women? Of course they knew they were women.

"The contract for the furnishing of iron fencing for the Capitol Square has been awarded to Misses Clapp and Babcock, Principals of Sierra Seminary; their bid $5,500 in coin for the delivery of the fencing upon the grounds is the lowest by some hundreds of dollars of those submitted." The cast and wrought iron fence was purchased from Robert Wood Co. Ornamental Iron Works of Philadelphia and, we think, that Misses Clapp and Babcock have handsomely shipped by rail to Carson City. In the end, these pioneer educators and astute businesswomen made a sizeable profit of $1,000 in 1875.

I just want to point out that Hannah Clapp went on to be one of the first faculty members at the University of Nevada when it was moved from Elko to Reno in 1885 to 1886. The Appeal graciously commented that "It will be found, we think, that Misses Clapp and Babcock have handsomely fulfilled their contract." My problem is we are always swimming in a sea of misinformation, folks, and it is a difficult job to navigate that sea at all times.

I'll conclude my presentation today wishing you well in addressing arguably Nevada's worst economic crisis in its history.

The mining depression in the late nineteenth century was certainly the longest, more than 20 years. However, Nevada's population was about 100,000 residents in the beginning of the depression in the late 1870s, and some 42,000 at the end in 1900. Mining boomed again to revitalize the dying state.

Nevada was late into the Great Depression—by latter 1931 followed by bank failures in 1932—but early getting out with a state budget surplus by 1935. The smallest state in the nation—with less than 100,000 residents—had major federal public works projects like the Hawthorne Naval Ammunitions Depot and the Hoover Dam, coupled with substantial highway construction paid by federal dollars to help Nevada through its worst years.

The legalization of casino gambling in 1931; the lucrative migratory divorce business enhanced by a six-week residency period, in that same year, 1931; the end of prohibition in 1933; and, yes, brothel prostitution made for a prosperous service industry, particularly in Reno and Las Vegas.

With an all Democrat congressional delegation led by senior U.S. Senator Key Pittman, Nevada's budget had the highest per capita New Deal dollars among the 48 states. Pittman also persuaded Congress to pass, and President Franklin Roosevelt to sign, a federal subsidy bill for silver prices which revitalized Nevada's troubled mining industry. If that wasn't enough, Governor Richard Kirman, inaugurated in 1935, ran on a "One Sound State" campaign to attract scores of millionaires from across the country to move to Nevada as a tax haven. By 1939, with a booming economy, Nevada cut its property tax.

Today, some 2.7 million Nevadans find themselves in the fourth year of the so-called "Great Recession." Never have so many Nevadans found themselves facing so much hardship with the highest unemployment rate, bankruptcies, and foreclosures in the nation.

Nevada is in grave peril. Our state must reinvent itself in order to prosper for the rest of the twenty-first century. Arguably the 2011 Legislature, faced with the unprecedented economic problems besetting our state, is the most critical session in Nevada's history. What you do—or don't do—will lay the groundwork for our state's future. Our citizens look to you for hope and vision. And so do I.

Good luck and Godspeed.

Our Father, in times of confusion when men and women doubt their beliefs and believe their doubts and are victims of ideologies that seek to divide and conquer, give to the women and men of this house a true appreciation of the great affirmations that we hold in common.

Let us appreciate our agreements and have the courage and conviction to stand up for them, that we may stand united and fearless before the rest of this state and before this nation.

Direct those who govern in this great state, that they may make it as hard as possible to do wrong and as easy as possible to do right. To that end, incline the members of this house to eternal truths that You have revealed for today and for the rest of this legislative session.

ASSEMBLYMAN HAMBRICK:

Tuesday afternoon, I was able to fully appreciate how this building becomes professional and efficient. Unfortunately, I had to be driven to the hospital. Things are better now, so you are going to have to put up with me for awhile. I knew I was in good hands because my cardiologist who came in the following day was Susan O'Leary. This close to St. Patrick's Day, I knew I was in good hands.

On a more serious note, the EMTs in this building, the Legislative Police, and LCB did just a phenomenal, phenomenal job. They called my wife, picked her up, got her to the airport, and picked her up in Reno. I had a police officer at my bedside for several hours until they knew my wife was at the airport. I am very, very grateful for the professionalism. You will all be in my prayers.

Mr. Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Assembly called to order at 11:15 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblyman Brooks, who was excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Al Tilstra.

Heavenly Father, our country has enjoyed the highest level of freedom of any country in the world. For that we thank and praise You. We have the Constitution and the Bill of Rights to guarantee our freedom, to speak without fear, to worship You, to choose our leaders, oppose wrongs, and defend what is right. Americans enjoy these freedoms because You have been with us, to guide our leaders and ordinary citizens to do extraordinary things in Your name. Continue to give us Your guidance and Your strength to resist those forces that would take away our precious freedom and pull us down to their level. CARSON CITY (Thursday) March 17, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:08 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Brooks and Livermore, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Reverend Norm Milz.

Almighty God and Father, You have placed us in this Assembly to work to establish policies, laws, and programs that will be for the growth and stability of this State of Nevada and its people. As bills have been referred to the appropriate committees during this past week, may those committees bring back to this Assembly decisions that meet with the approval of a majority of this Assembly and can be moved to their conclusion. We also, once again, bring before You the people of Japan. May the tragedy that nation is experiencing touch our hearts as we lift them up to You seeking Your care. Today, we pray for Your gift of wisdom, that it may guide us in our discussions and speech. We pray for Your gift of peace, that we may work together in unity to reach conclusions that will benefit all. We pray for Your gift of strength, that we may both stand firm by our convictions but also have the good conscience to see others' positions and convictions. May we be kind to one another, forgiving one another, even as You continually forgive us. All these things we bring to You trusting in Your love, grace, and mercy, in the name of Your Son, Jesus Christ.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

THE FORTIETH DAY

CARSON CITY (Friday), March 18, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:15 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Brooks and Munford, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Reverend Norm Milz.

Almighty God and Father, You have given us a new day in which to serve You and the citizens of the state of Nevada. Guide and lead us so that plans and proposed bills be advanced for the health and well-being of the constituents that elected us to fulfill this important role.

As the deadline for introduction of bills rapidly approaches, we pray for Your gifts of wisdom, patience, and good conscience that the work we do together may be done well and for the good of all. Keep us from making quick decisions because of time that will cause difficulty for the citizens and those who work for this state and its agencies.

Guide our discussions in committee and the Assembly that we may be kind, gentle, and forgiving to each other, especially those who are not in agreement with our positions.

Once again, we come to You asking for Your help and assistance to the brave people of Japan as they work at trying to keep their citizens safe in the midst of a seemingly impossible situation. We also pray that as the radioactive cloud from the damaged reactors reaches our shore today, that the assessment of the experts may prove correct and our citizens will not be affected negatively.

All these things we bring to You trusting in Your love, grace, and mercy, in the name of Your Son, Jesus Christ.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Louie Locke.

Lord, as we gather today, we give You thanks and praise, for You are good, and Your mercies are new every morning.

Scripture from the book of Micah says, "He has shown you, O Man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God."

May these qualities shape our lives as we walk with You: justice, mercy, and humility.

Lord, please bless the men and women of this Assembly, their families and staff, and protect our military as they serve our nation. This I pray in the Name of the Most High God.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

SEVENTY-SIXTH SESSION, 2011

Governor, Speaker, Majority Leader, members of the Senate and Assembly, and other constitutional officers, distinguished guests, and my fellow citizens: Let me start by saying that I guess this is the last time you will have to put up with me speaking here, and if you nod off, I will excuse you this time. I want to wish those who are playing in the basketball game tonight good luck. I was noticing in the Speaker's office—I think he has been practicing ahead of time. I noticed a little Nerf basketball in there, so I think he has been practicing. I am not sure how well that is going to go over, but we will see how the three-point shot works tonight.

It is wonderful to be back here. I always enjoy these visits, especially now when we are facing such incredible challenges here in our state. These challenges are not small. We all realize that. But neither is the dedication that you will each need to show in the coming months to get Nevada back on the right track into the future.

Driving across Nevada today is somewhat reminiscent of our state's past when population booms, spurred by mining, put this part of the country on the map. Towns were springing up in Nevada almost overnight, and people were coming from across the world to share in the profits from our state's earth. I recall this time in our state's history because the mining bubble burst. These once vibrant towns succumbed to a less desirable fate, and the ghost towns that still stand today are a reflection of that time in our state's history.

When the mining bubble burst, Nevada changed direction by diversifying its economy so that gambling became the reason that so many came to our lovely state. Nevada survived the mining bust and thrived. The toll that the economic recession of the last few years has taken on our state has brought ghost towns back to our state once again.

In exchange for the rowdy ghost towns of the past, though, the ones that we drive by today are entire neighborhoods that are in foreclosure or for sale, plots of land that have been left undeveloped, and buildings that have been abandoned before completion. The cause of these ghost towns was the bursting of the housing bubble.

Throughout the better part of the last couple of decades, our state experienced a population boom much like it did in the glory days of the mining industry. Nevada's vibrant economy brought people and businesses from all over the country to our state. Low property values meant that people were buying up homes faster than they could be built, and property prices were inflated rapidly as a result.

Unfortunately, when the housing market went bust, so did our economy. A state plagued by ghost towns does not have to be our future; we can change our state's path into the future just as Nevadans generations before us did when their economic prospects dried up. So how do we do this? Well, we need to diversify our economy. I think we can all agree upon that.

As members of the Nevada Legislature, you are required by law to balance your budget. Unfortunately, the United States government is not required to do the same, despite efforts by myself and many others who have tried to change this in Washington. I don't think this makes sense to anybody around the country, nor should it make sense to any of us. Families are required to balance their budgets, businesses are required to, states are required to do the same, and yet the United States government is under no such requirement to ensure that the money it spends is not outweighing the money that it takes in.

Today, our country is truly living on borrowed money. Our spending levels have rapidly increased, and our need to borrow money to float our dollar has increased as well. China owns more of our debt than any other single entity.

I'm certain that those of you who are here today have seen the news stories, at least one or two, about the budget battles that we are dealing with back in Washington. The core fight on this issue is not whether we should make important spending cuts to the federal government's budget; the question is how much. President Obama has reiterated his pledge to get the United States on a path toward fiscal responsibility, but without his leadership on entitlement reform, negotiations in the House and the Senate have unfortunately left only Republicans at the table. In fact, many of my Democratic colleagues have been grumbling that he has not been leading on this issue of spending cuts. The nation's struggling economy is not just a one-party problem; it's an American problem that requires a bipartisan solution.

So how do I think that we need to get our economy back on track? Well, I actually think the answer is not simple, but we need to start by reducing government spending to allow the private sector to grow and to create jobs. I believe that more government spending is not the answer to our economic woes; investment in the private sector is.

To paraphrase a great president, Ronald Reagan, he said that the best way to eternal life in Washington, D.C. is to become a government agency, and I am sure you experience this here in this state. Every time we create a new agency or department, it creates a constituency that lobbies for its continued existence. Well, I do not believe cutting government spending while increasing the tax burden on the American people is how we jump-start this economy. Increasing taxes on small businesses—these are our nation's job creators—means that employers will be faced with a choice either to hire some of our nation's unemployed or to pay more money to the government.

We cannot afford to get this thing wrong. We cannot balance our budgets, state or federal, by raising taxes and stifling job creation. For the United States, this would mean that companies will outsource more of their jobs overseas, and our struggling economy will further sour. For our state of Nevada, balancing the budget with tax increases will mean that our friends and our neighbors will remain unemployed. More businesses will go out of business, and companies looking to move to a business-friendly climate may not come to our state. I know that you have your work cut out for you, but I believe you have a great leader in Governor Sandoval to lead the way. He is willing to make the tough choices and he is willing to stand beside you as you make those tough choices in getting Nevada back on track.

Unfortunately, though, if we do not improve education in our state and in our country, the spending cuts that we make at all levels will matter little if we have an undereducated workforce. But we have to be honest in this state about our K-12 system. It is not measuring up. All you have to do is talk to our universities and our community colleges. Talk to them about folks who receive the Millennium Scholarship, and they tell you that even the people who receive those scholarships, many of them still have to take remedial courses.

Now I am going to talk about education, not as a United States senator but as a Nevadan and as a parent, because I don't want to see the changes that need to happen in education being mandated from Washington. Education is a state and a local issue. It needs to remain a state and a local issue and have the federal government get out of the way. Instead of the mandates that the Department of Education hands down, I believe the Department of Education should be more like a think tank, sharing the good ideas that are working in certain parts of the country so that you can implement those good ideas at the local and the state level. Sharing ideas is really what we should be doing in Washington, not mandating what we think is best from Washington. We all know that I'm not telling you anything you don't know—that we are dead last when it comes to graduation rates. How do we begin to bring companies to our state when there just isn't an adequate job pool for them to hire from? We can't.

As a member of the Senate Commerce Committee, I speak with technology companies from all over the country. You all know we have a company called Intuit that is located in Reno. I met with those folks today, and I asked them the same question I ask everybody: What would it take to bring more of your business, either expanding or to bring new businesses, to the state of Nevada when it comes to technology businesses? I am constantly hearing the same response. People are afraid to come here because of our K-12 system. They are afraid to bring their employees here—that their kids won't have good enough schools to go through here in the state of Nevada. That is what I hear from them.

I also believe, though, we shouldn't paint all educators with the same broad brush. We know that there are great examples of passionate, skilled educators across our state. However, the small percentage of bad administrators and bad teachers is bringing our whole K-12 system down here in this state. I believe in paying educators who improve student performance more. I also believe that if educators are doing a lousy job, they need to find something else to do than ruin our kids' education. It's time to end this idea of teacher tenure or principal tenure. It is time to end that idea here in the state of Nevada.

Recently, Bill Gates penned an op-ed for The Washington Post on how teacher development could revolutionize our schools. I want to quote from him. He said, "We know that of all the variables under a school's control, the single most decisive factor in student achievement is excellent teaching. It is astonishing what great teachers can do for their students." He went on to say, "The United States spends $50 billion a year on automatic salary increases based on teacher seniority. It's reasonable to assume that teachers who have served longer are more effective, but the evidence says that's not true. After the first few years, seniority seems to have no effect on student achievement."

Well, Governor, I know that you are fighting to end teacher tenure in our state. I believe it is the right thing to do, because Nevada's education system is an important focus, I know, for you and for all of you in this room. I also believe you are correct in ending this idea of social promotion. The idea that somebody can't read by the third grade and we're going to pass them on to the fourth grade is outrageous.

I will tell you a personal story on this. I joined the Big Brothers Big Sisters program many years ago. I met my little brother Donzale when he was in the third grade. He could not read a Cat in the Hat book, and guess what they did? They passed him on to the fourth grade, and the fifth grade, and on and on and on it went. Well, those kids—we can't afford to do that to them. They are too precious. These children are our future, and we need to care enough about them to make sure that they get that basic education that every child in the United States should have a right to.

I previously mentioned the need to diversify our state's economy to get back on track. Less dependence on tourism means that when the nation's economy takes a dip, Nevada can hold its own. But if our children cannot compete with those in other states let alone those in other countries, our state will continue to be dependent on tourism. The reality is, though, that dumping more money into a bad system is not going to help. In fact, it may even make a bad system even worse.

Education in America, unfortunately, has become less about the students than it is about the adults. I know, Mr. Speaker, we both watched together the documentary called Waiting for Superman. If you haven't watched it and you care about education, I implore you to watch it. It talks about the problems in education and the solutions in education. By the way, if you happen to be of the left-leaning persuasion of the political spectrum, this documentary was made by progressives, not by conservatives. The answers are there to education. We just have to have the political will to enact those reforms that we need.

We all know that teachers in Nevada get tenure after one year. We all know that. It is not called teacher tenure in our state; it is called a contract, but it is basically the same thing. Unfortunately, we have had too many people for too long fighting to preserve the career of a teacher instead of preserving the education of a student. I believe we have been going down the wrong path, and failure to reverse course means that we might as well seal our fate as a dwindling world power today. We are competing in a global economy, and education is a key to our children's future, economically as well as socially.

I believe that teachers need to be incentivized to teach and to teach children well. The days when teachers were paid the same regardless of performance should be in the past. I believe that merit pay should be part of our future, but this merit pay should not be determined from Washington, D.C. It should be determined mostly at the local level.

A child's education should also not be based on family income level. We know that bad schools actually lead to bad neighborhoods, not the other way around, and if you can fix the schools, you can fix the neighborhoods. I don't believe that we should write off these children just because they happen to live in a bad neighborhood.

The last time I spoke here, I mentioned an amazing school in Las Vegas called West Prep. Dr. Mike Barton, at the helm, has taken this school in our education system by storm, so much so that I recently spoke at his first graduation class. He had 42 children graduate. This school was the worst school in Nevada when it was a junior high. He turned it into a K-12 system. Of the 42 children—100 percent of whom qualified for the free school lunch program, 100 percent of whom are minorities—of the 42 seniors, 42 out of 42 are going to college. That is something to be applauded. The school valedictorian is from the Philippines. Four years ago she couldn't even speak English. When she spoke about the faculty, she broke down crying because of the amazing journey that she had had at this school.

Let me tell you about one of the other fine students at West Prep, Lazaro Cesar. He is a shining example of the promise that is hidden away in our state's schools. I first met him at that graduation. He was the eighth grade speaker speaking to the seniors who were graduating. The young man walks up to me and sticks out his hand. He was incredibly impressive, not only on a one-on-one basis, but he amazed everybody in the room. So I started thinking about him. What is the future going to hold for this young man? Well, he came to Washington as part of a school visit to Washington and inquired with my office about doing an internship. Now this young man is only 13 years of age, and we don't do internships for 13-year-olds. Well, after thinking about him for about a week or two, I called my state director, Sonja, and I said "Sonja, call Lazaro; offer him an internship."

Now this young man had to sometimes take two buses to get to our office. He showed up on time every day in a suit that he couldn't afford and made sure that he was there learning. He was one of the best interns that we've ever had. A good story to tell about Lazaro, by the way, is that he was just accepted to the elite Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire. Those are the kinds of kids that we cannot afford to give up on their education. They are here in Nevada, and we need to make sure they have the best possible education that we can so that we don't lose those kids to dropout or to some other life of crime.

The United States, in our K-12 system, has been falling behind as well. We are concerned here in our own state, but we have to also be concerned about our whole country because it truly is the future—whether or not we are going to compete in the world economy if we have a good K-12 system.

Many of you have heard of a man named Andre Agassi. Andre Agassi has Agassi Prep down in southern Nevada. We spent quite a bit of time on the phone because I talked to Andre about his ideas of education. He is so passionate. He has about 650 kids going to his school, but he said to me, "Senator, that is not my goal—to educate 650 kids. I care about this state. I want to take what we are doing here to scale, but I am finding it very difficult." One of the things he said to me—because you hear today a lot about charter schools—he said, "You know, a bad charter school is just as bad as a bad public school." Charter schools are not necessarily the answer to our education woes. They can be part of the answer, but they are not a silver bullet. But I do want to tell you that Nevada has one of the worst charter school laws in the country, and only you can change that.

There are great charter school operators around the country. They are best-in-class operators. And this isn't a Republican or a Democratic issue. It is not a union or a nonunion issue. One of the best charter school operators is called Green Dot. It is a union charter school. But we have a law on the books that says to the best charter school operators, "We don't want you to come to our state." And that is why they don't come to Nevada.

We need to change our charter school laws, work with those who know the details of this, and work to change our charter school law so we can attract the best charter school operators in this state. It is not going to change our whole education system, but what it will do is show us some of the answers to hopefully help us change the rest of the public school system to make it work for all of the children across the state of Nevada.

Let me turn toward what I am trying to do back in Washington, D.C. to help our state as far as its economy. I mentioned our mining industry before. We know that our mining industry is incredible. It produces a huge amount of jobs—really, really high paying jobs. It could do much, much more. I am actually working on something right now that would help streamline the regulations for the mining industry. You see, right now when you talk to the mining industry, they will tell you it takes eight to ten years to open a new mine in the state of Nevada. Eight to ten years. If we were able to streamline those regulations—we don't have to get rid of any of them—if we could streamline them down to a couple of years, we literally could produce thousands and thousands of high-paying jobs right here in the state of Nevada in the next couple of years. Thousands and thousands—the average salary is between $80,000 and $100,000—that could help be a real economic boom to our state. And by the way, these mining companies contribute to the schools, to the local economies, and the last time I checked, they contribute to the state budget as well. So if we can have more mining jobs, that is less people on unemployment and that is more revenue coming into the state government, which just maybe would help your budget problems as well.

The last thing I want to mention on the economy has to do with energy. We are seeing what is happening with gasoline prices. That is not good for a state that is so dependent on tourism. We are approaching $4 a gallon, and I am afraid that $4 a gallon actually could go to $5 a gallon. That could have a decimating affect on our economy here in the state of Nevada.

We have tremendous renewable energy resources in our state; we know that. The problem today is getting the permits, which even for renewable energy is very difficult. We need to streamline the permitting process for renewable energy so that Nevada can create more jobs. But for the rest of the country—I don't know how you feel watching things going on in Libya and around the world—we spend a lot of money for our military ensuring that oil flows freely from the Middle East. I would rather be dependent on American energy than I would on energy coming from places in the world that are not necessarily stable and don't necessarily like us.

In Alaska alone, there are three areas, including ANWR, which is the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge area—those three areas alone have enough oil to supply the United States with the same amount of oil that we get from the Persian Gulf for the next 65 years, and yet the current administration is blocking us from going up there.

We have natural gas reserves that we've discovered that are massive in this country. We have coal deposits—we are the Saudi Arabia of coal. All of these types of things can help as we transition to more renewable energy. I would rather be dependent on American fossil fuels than I would be on fossil fuels coming from dangerous parts of the world that are not necessarily friendly to us.

For Nevada's economy and for the economy of the United States, we need to have more American supplies of energy so we can become less dependent on this dangerous foreign oil that we have.

In conclusion, for the next 21 months that I have left in office, I am committing to you that I am going to work as hard as I have ever worked to ensure that our state gets better and that our country gets better. I believe in reducing government spending and working toward balancing the federal budget and improving education in America. These are my top priorities over the next 21 months.

I know that we are facing very difficult times here in the state of Nevada, but with difficult times comes great opportunity. That is what you and I have right now—is a great opportunity. We do not have to let the history books be written about this time that you and I failed as leaders. Together, I truly believe, as the Governor said in his State of the State speech, that the best days for Nevada truly can be ahead of us. And I say "can be" because they only will be if we make the right choices—if we work together, regardless of party affiliation, for the betterment of our state.

I am willing to join you in whatever way I can to partner with you from that big city back in Washington, D.C. and do whatever we can there. I will be praying for you and hoping that you can solve our state's budget problems and helping to turn this state around both educationally and economically so that Nevada's best days truly are ahead of us.

God bless all of you. God bless the great state of Nevada.

THE FORTY-FIFTH DAY

CARSON CITY (Wednesday), March 23, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:09 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Reverend Dick Copeland.

Our Father, we come to You today with grateful hearts to give thanks for this body of men and women who have been elected to represent us in Nevada. We humbly ask You to give them wisdom in every decision they make that affects the people of this great state. May they always take the time to ask for Your guidance as they consider new legislation. May this governing body always maintain and pursue our constitutional rights as they pass laws that will impact all of us. May they have the courage to stand up against anything that would delude, defeat, or infringe upon those rights. Lord, we are here today to recognize and memorialize three people who have been public servants of Nevada.

We remember Marcia de Braga, who served five terms in this Assembly who was dedicated to causes that affected rural Nevada and the small communities. She never forgot the "little people" that she served.

Father, we want to thank You for Mr. Frank Daykin, who served the Nevada Legislature as Legislative Counsel for 23 years. Mr. Daykin was always impartial in writing the laws passed by this Assembly. We ask that You continue to use him in his devotion to public service.

God, we also come to You today to recognize and honor John Carpenter, a man I have known, as he represented District 33 and me, for many years. Thank You for his dedication to the interest and well-being of those he served. Lord, I have always respected him because he always tried to do the right thing for the people in his district. We ask that You will bless him in his future endeavors and continue to use him and his influence in leading the fight to preserve our God-given liberties.

Lord, You said to King Solomon, King of Israel, many years ago, "If My people, who are called by My name, will humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and I will forgive their sin and heal their land." (II Chronicles 7:14) We pray that our state and our nation will heed the words You spoke to King Solomon. We desperately need Your intervention in the affairs of Nevada and the United States of America. Our land needs to be healed of all the social, political, economic, and moral ailments that plague us. Only You can bring this about through those who are elected to represent us.

We ask all of this in the Name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

WHEREAS, Assemblyman John C. Carpenter faithfully served his constituents in Assembly District No. 33 and all Nevadans for 12 regular and 11 special legislative sessions; and

WHEREAS, John Carpenter could be counted on to read every line of every bill, to ask the tough questions, and to vote for what was right, not what was easy; and

WHEREAS, Countless legislators regardless of party found a friend, mentor and inspiration in John during the course of his 24 years of legislative service; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, That Assemblyman John C. Carpenter is hereby added to the Assembly Wall of Distinction; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to former Assemblyman John C. Carpenter.

Assemblyman Goicoechea moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Goicoechea, Kirkpatrick, Stewart, Ohrenschall, Grady, Horne, Ellison, Munford, and Mr. Speaker.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am going to try and follow my notes a little bit so that I do not wander too badly because we have several other resolutions to introduce.

John has been my friend and mentor since I was a little boy. I remember going to Carpenter's ranches all across Nevada.

As a long time member of this body and one of the finest public servants this state has ever seen, John has always been my mentor, and that was whether he was herding sheep, trailing cows, or working legislators in this building, which he did. I think that was evident here just a few minutes ago. While standing in the hall he had ten people bunched up around him. He had a cowboy caucus going. We all know how that works here.

It is fitting to honor Assemblyman Carpenter by placing his name on the Wall of Distinction, not merely for his years of service but for the way he conducted himself. No one ever worked harder than he did and knew the details of every bill like he did. No one has ever been more committed to doing what was right for this state than John Carpenter. I call him "The Man," and we all called him "The Boss" as we had our early morning caucuses. To those of you who have been in this body and worked with John Carpenter, you know what I mean.

It is kind of anticlimactic now that we are talking about putting his name on the Wall of Distinction, when over the years many of us pleaded with Mr. Carpenter to be included in the Cowboy Hall of Fame. For those of you that will not receive that honor, it is unfortunate. I got a little statue here on the corner of my desk that Mr. Carpenter gave to me, "Fandango Pete." You know, when I was inducted, as I look around this room, there are a number of you that have been inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame, as well as those who pressed him to answer their pleas of "Oh please, can I get in this year?" He would just say, "You need a little more time."

The Assembly will surely miss his wisdom and his statesmanship. He was always quiet and unpretentious. I will say that. Those who knew, like I did, when he was in the hall—you could always hear the clunk, clunk, clunk of his boots as he came down these halls. We knew John was coming. He always had his little clichés and his cowboy wisdom. "You would never ask your barber if you need a haircut." "The shortest way to get there is traveling with a good friend."

Along those lines, I remember the 2005 Session, after we had been on the floor, I think, about 36 hours. John and I got in my old pickup. We had our stuff loaded in the horse trailer behind it, and we headed for eastern Nevada. He was asleep there in Edward's Creek Valley. He woke up and looked around and told me how good that alpine was. I said, "John, if you knew how sleepy I was, you would not be sleeping." I might have been a good friend, but he was in bad company.

Another tradition of John's was the Suzy Q. Those of us here in this body, along with his able second mate, piloted that craft every session. It was more of a barometer on how the session was going rather than how high the water was in the Humboldt or the Carson River. I always really questioned how he got it from the Humboldt through the Humboldt Sinks, down through Stillwater and back up to Carson. He did manage to float it. That will tell you how he can make water run uphill. There is no doubt about it—the Suzy Q really was his sign to this body of how we needed to work together. That little plastic boat really was a sign that we needed to sink or swim if we were going to get out of there. I am glad to see it back this session.

John, himself, is beloved and admired by me and all of you who served with him. He came to his office here for 22 years. Even the misprint of a ballot in 2002 could not keep him out of these halls. I know I speak for most of you that served here with him, whether you are staff or legislators, how much we miss him. I wished there was a way we could get another misprint and get him back here with us.

With that, I am going to close with the final words that I think you new legislators need to listen to. They continue to ring in my ears from my first session. Mr. Carpenter told me, "Read the damn bill, Pete. That isn't what it says."

Mr. Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I will echo some of the same comments. A mentor and friend rings true with me, as well. I admired your common sense approach. When we were thinking about who to induct into the Wall of Distinction this time, your name, obviously, rose to the top. I thought what an opportunity to be able to honor you while I was still here. I was very happy to do that.

A funny story about the Cowboy Hall of Fame—I had to lobby Mr. Carpenter to get into the Hall. It was more difficult in the earlier years; now they just let any freshman in, I think. I actually sent Mr. Carpenter a letter from the reigning Miss Rodeo Nevada. It didn't make any difference. Mr. Carpenter, we are glad to have you back here and congratulations.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN KIRKPATRICK:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am very privileged to stand up here, with Mr. Carpenter being one of our honored guests. My first session as a freshman, it was tough knowing how to even navigate my way through the building. Mr. Carpenter was one who welcomed me into the cowboy breakfast in the morning, because I could get up early, so I managed to get to know him on a different level than some of my other colleagues. I am thankful for the laughs that we had and for the good times. We discussed bills, but most importantly, Mr. Carpenter always said, "Do what is right. Pay attention and let everyone have a voice." He also reminded me—because I am not technology friendly, as he wasn't either—that when bills come about, you have to think about the entire state. Being from southern Nevada, I only thought about southern Nevada. Mr. Carpenter reminded me every day that as a state, we have to think about how these bills work together. Mr. Carpenter, I am a much better legislator having known you, and I think that you brought a lot to the institution. I am very thankful for that.

ASSEMBLYMAN STEWART:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. You made an excellent choice in selecting Mr. John Carpenter. One of the great thrills of my life was to serve with him. I think just looking at his face, John Carpenter is Nevada. I was honored to be put into the Cowboy Hall of Fame with a big class. I am proud to have in my home that proclamation. When you are selected into the Cowboy Hall of Fame, you get a cowboy saying. I revere the saying that he gave me, which is: "Never judge a man until you have walked a mile in his boots. Thereby, you are a mile away from him and you've still got his boots." Thank you, John.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. It is really a privilege to get to speak to this resolution. My first two sessions, I lobbied hard for admission into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Finally, I did get in. I do have a little bone to pick with Mr. Carpenter about my cowboy name. Those of you who were here last year might remember a bill having to do with cattle and certain diseases they get. But I appreciate being a member of the Hall of Fame, nonetheless.

I learned so much from Mr. Carpenter. With my first two terms as an Assemblyman and when I first came up in 1995, when my mother got elected, you can see what a good friend he has been to two generations of Ohrenschalls in the Legislature. What a great legislator he was. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I had the privilege, for a couple of years, to sit right next to John. John is one of a kind. He is probably the only person that has ever served in this Assembly who read every bill. The best thing about that was when they gave us laptops the first year. John used his probably better than anyone else; he used it to hold his door open. I do not believe he ever even unzipped the case and took it out and put it on his desk. If you wanted to know something that was in a bill, you went to the man and he could tell you what was in it.

I, too, had the honor of being inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. With that, I got to go to a rodeo in Reno with Pete Goicoechea and John Carpenter. If you have not experienced anything like that, there was not a big hat in that rodeo that those two gentlemen did not stop and talk to; they knew them from Elko to Las Vegas to all of our rural areas. Every one of them knew John Carpenter and wanted to talk to him. It was a privilege.

In my former life as a lobbyist, I hated to go to John Carpenter's office because you could not change his mind. And even if you were lucky enough that you would change a "the" to an "a" or something, John would not tell you he was going to change his mind until he pushed the little button to vote. We had a lot of fun in those days since working with John. To me, there is not a person that says Nevada more than John Carpenter. I am glad to have you as my friend. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of this resolution for Mr. Carpenter. I served four terms with Mr. Carpenter, all of them on the Judiciary Committee. I remember the chairman, Mr. Anderson, saying that nothing is going to move until the CAB was ready to go. The CAB was Carpenter, Anderson, and Buckley. I am thinking, "Buckley, majority leader; Anderson, chairman; and Carpenter?" This was my freshman year. He was looking down from the top row, and I was sitting in the front row and he was just smiling. Sure enough, that was true because of how he conducted himself in the committee and how he always read his bills. He knew the questions to ask. He knew when he was ready to go. And as my colleague from District 38 said, when he made up his mind, his mind was made up. Sometimes it was good old cowboy sense. All of us became really comfortable with that because it kind of did us good. It gave us a good feeling knowing that he was doing what he really believed was right.

There are two other things. The first time someone came to me and said that Carpenter said that he would be okay with the bill if Mr. Horne is okay with it. I took that as a tremendous honor. I had a bill vetoed, and we were going to see if we could override the veto. Mr. Carpenter had voted in favor of this bill. Of course, I was working up the votes so we could override it. I went to Mr. Carpenter and asked him, "Can I have your vote on the override?" He said, "Well, I was with you from the beginning, and I am still with you." That just spoke volumes.

You are a great man of character. You are greatly missed. You know how I feel about you, Mr. Carpenter. I wish you well in the future.

ASSEMBLYMAN ELLISON:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am here to show respect to ex-state Assemblyman John Carpenter, my friend and my mentor. I can tell you that John still follows all these bills. I can call on him day to day basis if I need to and say, "John, what do you think?" He will still give you the answer. I could never fill John's shoes, but I can tell you, if I could just stay in the shadows and be a piece of what he is, I will be a better man. If you ever had to have something passed, you never went to John; you went to Roseanne, because that's where it is going to be done. So John, this is your day. As your friend, I hope you enjoy it because you deserve it and you earned it. You belong with the people in these hallways. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYMAN MUNFORD:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I also would like to congratulate Mr. Carpenter. I served with him three terms, and he finally inducted me into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. I am not a cowboy, though. But I had to convince him that I had some connections to being a cowboy. I had to show him pictures that I do own horses. He said, "Oh well, that qualifies you." He asked me, "How big are your horses?" I said, "They are pretty big." And if you know the way they measure horses, my horses are all at least 17 hands high. Seventeen hands is—the back is that of about a six-foot tall person.

I always remember John when he would come in the door, he was sitting right there. I always went into his candy jar; I always had some candy. He would always turn around when I was sitting there. "How did you vote on that bill? You have to vote this way. You have to vote that way." But he was very inspiring, and I really enjoyed working with him. I wish him the best of luck. I am going to get up to Elko one day and visit you. I keep telling you I am coming up. I tell my colleague from District 33 that I am coming up, too, but I will be up there one day. Thank you.

Resolution adopted unanimously.

Mr. Speaker announced if there were no objections, the Assembly would recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Assembly in recess at 11:36 a.m.

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

FORMER ASSEMBLYMAN CARPENTER:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. This probably will be my last time to speak in this Assembly. I certainly appreciate all those kind remarks. I probably don't really deserve them, the same way that I probably do not deserve to be on the Wall of Distinction with all my great friends like Speaker Dini, Virgil Getto, and my special friend, John Marvel. But if people are going to give me this award, I am going to take it.

I am probably the only guy that gave 12 farewell speeches in this body because I was sure I was not going to come back for any of those 12 times. But I did. But with all those special sessions, I probably gave more than 12 farewell speeches.

It is because of my great wife that I was able to be here for all those years. She stayed home and took care of the family and the business. Roseann has had a hard time these last three or four years. She has had I don't know how many operations. But she can walk, and that's the greatest joy of my life, to see my wife able to walk again.

Sitting behind me are my three daughters and over there is a bunch of my grandkids. I am not going to attempt to name them because the last time they were here, heck, I forgot half their names. When you have as many kids and grandkids as I do, it is kind of hard to remember them all.

I have great memories of being here in the Assembly. I really do not remember how I got the Suzy Q, but about the first session I was here, or the second session, Vivian Freeman was the chair, I think, of Natural Resources. They were going to redo all of these boat bills and all these boat regulations. For whatever reason, she named this cowboy out of Elko—and the only thing I like about water is in an irrigation ditch or a glass—but she made me chairman of this subcommittee to redo all of the boat bills. We went all over the state and talked to people who really knew something about boats and water. We came up with a pretty good plan. I think it sailed through the legislature and that's the reason we have so many of these boat bills that you all keep amending all the time. Anyway, they gave me the Suzy Q—somebody did, Donna probably remembers. Incidentally, Donna was my secretary for I think a hundred years, right, Donna? But anyway, I got the Suzy Q. So every year I had to bring the Suzy Q to the Legislature, and we had to think of some way to get it down here from Elko because it was always on dry land. It was fun.

We had really a lot of fun with the Cowboy Hall of Fame. My good friend Wendell Williams and I were the ones that started the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Then Terry Sullivan took over and helped me. We always had Steve Watson to help us with all of those sayings. Everyone wanted to get into the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Sometimes, you know, maybe you could not get a bill through, but they were not going to get in the Cowboy Hall of Fame unless they voted for it. That is kind of what happened.

I do appreciate all the great moments that I have had in this Legislature. I tell people that if you pay attention in the Legislature, you are going to get the greatest education anyone in the world could get. We have some of the smartest people, certainly in the state of Nevada, and very often, in these United States, come and testify. You need to pay attention to them, whether you agree with them or not, because you will learn something. I really appreciate the education that I have had.

I want to thank everyone for your hospitality. I never did know Pete being a little guy. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I wish the Assembly and the rest of the Legislature luck. Hopefully, you do not have to go to too much of a special session. You got to get out of this outfit. Thank you very much. I do appreciate it.

ASSEMBLY IN SESSION

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to the family of former Assemblyman Marcia de Braga.

Assemblywoman Smith moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Smith, Goichechea, Ohrenschall, Grady, and Mr. Speaker.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

I very much appreciate the honor of talking about my former colleague, Marcia de Braga, today. The Speaker and I are the two members in this house who served with Assemblywoman de Braga. It was quite the experience—quite a trip serving with her.

I want to tell you a little bit about Marcia's past. I was surprised to learn that she was actually born in Los Angeles, California. She moved to Fallon when she was in eighth grade and lived there the rest of her life. She married her husband, Lyle, and they were married in 1955. They had a long and wonderful life together.

She was incredibly well respected in our midst as someone who was so caring and hard working. You heard in the resolution that she and Lyle were responsible for many activities in their local community, including starting the Silver State Rodeo, which was an opportunity for those who didn't make it to the Nationals to have another opportunity to compete. It has been a great thing in that community, and it's a cultural and economic boost to them as well. She did an impressive 21 years as the secretary of the Nevada High School Rodeo. We all know how hard that is to fulfill those positions for even a few years, but 21 years is amazing.

She was always recognized for her tenacity and her frankness and her ability to get things done. The leukemia cluster was mentioned, and that is a distant memory for many people. I was serving with her when the state was going through that, and what she did to stand up for her community and what she brought to that community was really very commendable.

She chaired the Natural Resources, Agriculture, and Mining Committee and during her time was a tireless defender of rural Nevadans' water rights. In fact, the legislation that she worked very hard to pass affirmed the long-standing interpretation of water right priority. The bill that she championed settled decades of infighting amongst water users about water rights. Those are the kinds of things that Assemblywoman de Braga did that really are a legacy and will be known in this state for a very long time.

She had an amazing sense of humor, which I will share with you in a minute. She was a writer. She always championed women's issues. She was an advocate for public broadcasting and concerns about radio and television programming being limited in rural Nevada.

She was an amazing writer and outside of the Legislature, she spent a lot of time writing. She authored the book Dig No Graves, which is a Churchill County history. She also wrote for the Lahontan Valley News. Marcia passed away on March 24, 2010, in Fallon in the area she loved, and, of course, with her very loving family. I was so honored to serve with her because of the role model she was. She was a role model and mentor as a woman, but also as a Nevadan.

I mentioned her humor and her ability to write. Mr. Speaker, if you will indulge me. When the E. Clampus group was here a few weeks ago, I was instantly taken back to when they visited during the session I served with Marcia. I wanted to read to you a little bit about her response to the resolution honoring E. Clampus Vitus.

> Mr. Speaker, to you and through you to this honorable body. I join many of the members of the Nevada Assembly Women's Caucus who sadly must rise in opposition to ACR 13. Every odd-numbered year, a resolution supporting E Clampus Vitus comes before the Assembly. It asks us to endorse an ancient and mystical order that has at its philosophical core the Goldwater Theorum regarding God-given rights. We have looked for some redeeming social value in the Clampers' resolution that would enable us to support it, but we were not successful. Instead, we have come to the conclusion, Mr. Speaker, that their reality check bounced.

Proponents would try to make us believe that compassion, education, and the preservation of history are the principles this society was founded on and upholds. We submit to you that the facts are these:

E Clampus Vitus was started prior to 1800 and has existed in some form or another ever since, allegedly for the purpose of protecting "widders and orphans," but, preferably, widders.

Clampers' interest in education seldom goes beyond periodic research on why "lite" beer weighs the same as regular beer.

They are patrons of sports, literature, and the arts, favoring anything with one ball, two folds, or three stooges.

All members have standing of equal indignity, but, obviously, some members are more equal and/or indignant than others.

Within their own organization is a strong support group to help Clampers in times of severe difficulty. This is vital to their safety because, following the regular meetings, very few of them can remember the number for 911.

The history of E Clampus Vitus is shrouded in mystery. Is it a historical drinking society or a drinking historical society? No one knows; the debate continues.

The very name of their club may also have been incorrectly recorded. E Clampus Vitus sounds like a disease—a combination, if you will, of the word for a form of dementia coupled with the word for a form of instability, with which many of its members are, from time to time, afflicted. No one knows how the disease spread. And, Mr. Speaker, no one wants to know how the disease is spread.

In opposing this resolution, we do so not because we wish to be equal to men—that would show a lack of ambition. However, in the interest of fairness, we have tried our best to understand men. Like so many other women before us, we failed in that endeavor. Since time immemorial there has only been one woman who actually figured men out, Mr. Speaker, but she died laughing before she could tell anyone.

We're going to move that all rules be suspended, that reading so far be considered more than enough, that there be no further consideration of this measure and that ACR 13 be immediately concurrently referred to Health and Human Services, NatRAM, Government Affairs, and the Ways and Means Committees in some other state; however, on further reflection, we're certain the bill would pass notwithstanding our objection. So instead, we are discussing forming our own counter-organization of E Clampus Superioritus whose members will be known as "Lady Bugs." And as soon as we decide what it is we want to protect, we will pursue that.

That, Mr. Speaker, was just a very small example of Marcia's humor and her ability always to talk to us in an eloquent and clever form to help us get through many days. I am sorry the state no longer has her wit and her wisdom and the mentoring that she was able to provide to so many of us.

Marcia was a mom; she was a wife; she was a rancher; she was a writer; and in our midst, she was a very, very, capable legislator. Most of all, she was our friend and she was a friend to all Nevadans.

Mr. Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I grew up in Fallon. Assemblywoman de Braga was Fallon's representative, and for one term, I was very fortunate to be able to serve with her and learn from her. She left a real lasting impression on all of us who served with her. I think she left a lasting impression not only on her district in Fallon, but a lasting impression on the state. Her contributions will live on for generations, and that is why she was chosen today to be honored on our Wall of Distinction.

She was tenacious for fighting for what she believed in. There are a lot of tenacious legislators in this building, but there is also something to being effective, and she was very effective at what she did, as well. You just have to look at her long list of accomplishments to know that she was both. As a young man growing up in Fallon, I admired her and appreciated her contributions to our community and to our state. Now I respect, in her memory, the long years of service and all that she did.

I hope we all draw some strength and wisdom from her example as we work through this legislative session and beyond. Now that she is up on that wall, with us, watching us as we walk into this Chamber every day, we will hopefully do what she would want us to do—and do the right thing.

ASSEMBLYMAN GOICOECHEA:

I rise in support of A.R. 5. You know, it is rather difficult—I replaced Marcia in representing Assembly District 35. I have tried very hard to continue her work in representing rural Nevada and those issues out there. I can only thank her for A.B. 380, the bill that did settle a lot of those issues on the Truckee and the Lahontan Valley.

I remember Marcia all those years with high school rodeo when she was secretary and, of course, Lyle and all of the family. We thank her for her contributions to the Silver State Rodeo.

I do try to continue her work, but I know in no way it compares. As I walk these halls, I think of her every day, and I hope that in some ways she is telling me that I am doing at least an adequate job.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

I rise in support of Assembly Resolution 5. I didn't get to serve with Assemblyman de Braga, but I did get to spend a lot of time with her. She and my mother served together, and there was a group of female legislators who were a little clique, or they hung out together. It was my Mom, Assemblyman de Braga, Assemblywoman Vonne Chowning, and Assemblywoman Gene Segerblom. They would always car pool together, and I got to know Marcia very well.

I think I admire most the fact that she wouldn't let anybody intimidate her. She had a lot of courage, whether it was on the water issue or anything else. One vote I remember here in the Assembly: There was a very popular anti-crime bill, I think it was in the mid-nineties, and it was a nearly unanimous vote, but she voted against it and went on the record here on the floor of the Assembly and stated that because that bill included capital punishment, she couldn't support it. It was a good bill otherwise, but because of her beliefs, she couldn't support it. I had a feeling there might have been some other members who might have felt the same way but didn't have the courage to get up and vote "no" on that bill. I urge the adoption of this resolution.

ASSEMBLYMAN GRADY:

I had the privilege of meeting Marcia and Lyle when I lived in Fallon for about five years and saw the work that they both did from Stillwater to Lahontan. They did a great deal for Churchill County and the rest of rural Nevada. I was somewhat involved when Joe Dini and Marcia worked on water bills. I can still remember the day they had the press conference with Senator Reid to announce that they were successful in their negotiations on that water bill.

I guess what I am most impressed with today is that we honor Marcia, John, and Mr. Daykin. If you will look at that wall of fame and you look at Joe Dini, Mouryne Dini, John Marvel, Virgil Getto, John Carpenter, and Marcia de Braga, it shows that rural Nevada sends some pretty good people to this house, and for that, I thank rural Nevada.

Resolution adopted unanimously.

By Assemblymen Oceguera, Conklin, and Goicoechea:

Assembly Resolution No. 6—Adding former Legislative Counsel Frank W. Daykin to the Assembly Wall of Distinction.

WHEREAS, The Assembly of the Legislature of the State of Nevada has established an Assembly Wall of Distinction for those past members selected by leadership who served with great distinction and who made exemplary contributions to the State of Nevada; and

WHEREAS, Frank Daykin joined the Legislative Counsel Bureau in 1963 and continued to serve the Legislature with integrity and diligence for over two decades; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Daykin's work has been called "the thread that wound together volume after volume of the bulky Nevada Revised Statutes"; and

WHEREAS, A great many more Nevadans understand the difference between "shall" and "must" than would if not for Frank Daykin's insistence on using the terms accurately; and

WHEREAS, Frank Daykin's tenure with the Legislative Counsel Bureau included 12 years as Legislative Counsel; and

WHEREAS, The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws has awarded Mr. Daykin lifelong membership in recognition of his excellent work for that body; and

WHEREAS, Nevada owes a great deal of the clarity, precision, and consistency of its laws to Frank Daykin; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Daykin can take pride in having helped create what Senator William J. Raggio has called "one of the most effective, concise and correct" systems of "lawmaking and legislation in the country"; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, That former Legislative Counsel Frank W. Daykin is hereby added to the Assembly Wall of Distinction; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Daykin.

Assemblyman Ohrenschall moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblymen Ohrenschall, Smith, Horne, and Mr. Speaker.

Assemblyman Conklin requested that the following remarks be entered in the Journal.

ASSEMBLYMAN OHRENSCHALL:

This is a very special day for me. Frank has made a tremendous contribution to the state of Nevada with his service in the Legislative Counsel Bureau. Personally—as you all know, Frank is my stepfather and it is great to see him honored.

I first met Frank—I think it was 1978—I was six years old. He and my mom stayed friends after she had worked for him here at the Legislative Counsel Bureau as a deputy. I got to meet him and I remember being impressed by his kindness. I don't think I understood much else back then, but later on I did come to learn more about him and what he contributed to the state.

I remember being here at the Legislature in the 1990s and hearing former Assemblywoman Dawn Gibbons and former state Senator Joe Neal refer to "Daykinisms," and how there was a big difference between a "shall" and a "must" in the Nevada Revised Statutes; and how, when Frank Daykin was the Legislative Counsel, he wanted to make sure that when a legislator intended a particular purpose with a statute, that that purpose was achieved and there was as little ambiguity as possible. I think it was then when I started to realize the contribution that Frank made to the Nevada Legislature and to the people of this state.

I actually have some comments that some people have given to me here. State Senator Raggio once said that "Frank Daykin can be called the father of the modern legislative process in our state."

A comment by Bob Erikson, who is the former director of the Research Division and now works part-time for the LCB in Las Vegas. When he first started working for the Legislative Counsel Bureau in 1979, he once needed some legal guidance from Frank concerning his work with a legislative standing committee. "I remember that Frank invited me into his office so we could discuss the matter. After I was seated, I asked if the chair of the Natural Resources Committee was required to take public comment at all meetings. Frank quickly responded, something like this: "Mr. Erikson," and Mr. Erikson did his best Frank Daykin imitation here. "A chair is an item of furniture in which one would sit. The presiding officer of a committee is its chairman.' Frank was a stickler for proper grammar and frowned on the more casual or trendy use of the English language. Excuse me, but I fear I just used two of the words that Frank would not like—"stickler" and "trendy." Seriously, Frank worked diligently over the years to ensure proper use of the English language. The quality he advocated is still reflected today in the Nevada Revised Statutes and other important legal documents.

I have a comment here from former state Senator Coe Swobe, who comments that in 1969, Frank wrote the legislation that created the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency, but Senator Swobe ended up taking the credit.

Our current Research director, Don Williams, sent me this comment: "When I first started at the Legislative Counsel Bureau as a senior research analyst in 1982, I recall calling the Legal Division with a question. A few minutes later, Frank appeared at my office door to let me know that I could call him directly or come down to his office to visit with him whenever I had a question. Frank was always accessible to me here at the Legislative Counsel Bureau."

One entertaining story that has been told to me goes back to the days before this building was built when the Legislative Counsel Bureau was over there under the silver dome. A bat had somehow gotten into the Legislative Counsel Bureau. Frank, besides being an attorney, is also a farmer and an agriculturist. Everyone there at the State Capitol was terrified of this bat flying around the building terrorizing everyone. Frank is the only one who had no fear to go and catch that bat. For a period there, I understand they called him "Batman."

I think the nicest comment I received was from one of the deputies that Frank hired. Back in 1980, Frank hired three deputy legislative counsels here—Brenda Erdoes, Kim Morgan, and Jan Needham. Between Frank and the deputies he hired, what a great effect they have had on our state. Kim Morgan was not able to attend today, but she sent me this message: "What I think might be interesting is to help modern thinkers remember that the early drafting during Frank's time was cut and paste by hand—no computers. It looked to the untrained eye like Frank was cutting out paper dolls. We actually took the pages from the Nevada Revised Statutes books and cut the sections out and taped them to a page from a legal tablet and then wrote on them for the typist to create the actual pages of the bills. No computers, no spell check, no electronic data bases. Frank's mind was his own spell check; Frank's mind was his own data base search. Bill drafting is an art and a specialty. It is difficult with the aid of computers nowadays, but it was close to magic without computers back when Frank was Legislative Counsel. My schedule will not allow me to attend today's ceremony. Please give my best to your family. I appreciate that Frank saw the potential in me as a college student to invite me to come learn from him the fundamentals of what turned out to be a 25-year career for me. Kim Morgan."

Furthermore, I think these statements all attest to how much Frank is loved.

Mr. Speaker requested the privilege of the Chair for the purpose of making the following remarks:

I think this is a great tradition that we have started of not only honoring the legislators, but honoring those who are our very professional staff that make us look as good as we do. I know the folks that are honored today would not have been able to accomplish the things they had without a very professional and capable staff. I will just add a comment. I look back, and it was 25 years ago that you retired from the Legislative Counsel Bureau. Your contribution is not only noted, but people talk about things you accomplished still 25 years later. I think that is absolutely a tribute to what you have done in this Legislature. Thank you.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

I rise in support of Assembly Resolution 6. I decided at the last minute to speak in favor of this resolution because I felt I wanted to do so on behalf of my father-in-law, who was a small miner and a citizen lobbyist for several years here when Mr. Daykin was serving in this building. I come at this from the perspective of a citizen who felt that he always had access to Frank Daykin and always was able to seek advice and help on the issues he worked on.

I can remember long after Mr. Daykin retired and my father-in-law would come to visit. He often wanted to go visit Mr. Daykin to see how he was doing and check in with him about some of the things that they had discussed many years before. My father-in-law passed away a couple of years ago. Literally up until that time, he mentioned Frank Daykin on a very regular basis. I want the body to realize the lasting effects that both legislators and staff have on the citizens of this state. This is a very fitting example.

ASSEMBLYMAN HORNE:

I rise in support of the resolution. I want to inform everybody that you have just heard a small part of what Mr. Daykin has done for the state of Nevada. That work has not ceased because he is gone. He is also a Uniform Law Commissioner, and his reputation precedes him even there. When I have traveled to these commission meetings in different parts of the country, when they first met me and knew I was from here, the first thing they asked was "Do you know Frank Daykin?" They have stories abound of how impressive he is. He is still contributing, not only for the state of Nevada but—those of you who sit on Judiciary know that uniform laws also affect the rest of the nation. I thank you for your service to Nevada in the past and also for the work you continue to do today. You have made this legislative body what it is today.

Resolution adopted unanimously.

CARSON CITY (Friday), March 25, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:20 a.m.

Madam Speaker pro Tempore presiding.

Roll called.

All present except Assemblymen Munford and Pierce, who were excused.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Peggy Locke.

O Lord Most High, You are worthy of all praise and glory! Today we ask for the protection and blessing of all U.S. forces in harm's way, and for the families of all of us gathered here today.

You, O Lord, are our Rock and Mighty Fortress in times of trouble!

We pray for decisions being made today, and we seek Your wisdom and pray for unity, soundness of mind, and that all things will be done according to Your will and plan.

We continue to pray for the crisis in Japan. We pray for the Japanese engineers to be able to control all radiation leaks from the impacted reactors. We know that nothing is too difficult for You, Lord.

> Yet this I call to mind and therefore I have hope: Because of the Lord's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness. I say to myself, "The Lord is my portion; therefore I will wait for him." The LORD is good to those whose hope is in him, to the one who seeks him; it is good to wait quietly for the salvation of the LORD. (Lamentation 3:21-26)

So, may the God of hope fill us with joy and peace as we trust in Him, so that we may overflow with hope by the power of His Holy Spirit.

We pray in Your Name—the Name above all Names.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

By the Committee on Ways and Means:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 8—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to require the legislature to establish a tuition assistance program which is partially based on financial need.

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That Section 2 of Article 11 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 2. 1. The legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be established and maintained in each school district at least six months in every year, and any school district which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund during such neglect or infraction, and the legislature may pass such laws as will tend to secure a general attendance of the children in each school district upon said public schools.

2. The legislature shall provide by law for a tuition assistance program to assist the parent or legal guardian of a child in any grade from kindergarten through grade 12, who would otherwise attend a public school, to pay tuition for the child to attend a private school chosen by the parent or legal guardian. The amount of such assistance must be based upon the amount of funding that the school district would otherwise receive for the pupil from state and local sources. Each parent or legal guardian is entitled to receive at least one-half of that amount as tuition assistance and is eligible to receive all or a portion of the remaining one-half of the tuition assistance based solely on financial need.

And be it further

~~[~~Section Ten~~]~~ Sec. 10. 1. No public funds of any kind or character whatever, State, County or Municipal, shall be used for sectarian purposes.

2. The payment of public funds, in accordance with the program established by the legislature pursuant to Section 2 of Article 11 of this Constitution, shall not be deemed to be used for a sectarian purpose, notwithstanding that the parent or legal guardian may choose a school affiliated with a sectarian institution.

THE FIFTY-FIRST DAY

CARSON CITY (Tuesday), March 29, 2011

Assembly called to order at 11:16 a.m.

Mr. Speaker presiding.

Roll called.

All present.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Albert Tilstra.

God of grace, keep strong our faith in the power of prayer as we unite our petitions in this sacred moment. We have asked You for guidance in difficult decisions many times; yet, it has not always come how we thought it should. Many of the situations and relationships which we have asked You to change have remained the same.

Forgive us for thinking, therefore, that you are unwilling to help us in our dilemmas or that there is nothing that you can do. Remind us, O God, that when we plug in an electric iron and it fails to work, we do not conclude that electricity has lost its power nor do we plead with the iron. We look at once to the wiring to find what has broken or blocked the connection with the source of power.

May we do the same with ourselves, that You can work through us to do Your will.

This we ask in the Name of our Lord.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law encourages the Board of Regents of the University of Nevada to review periodically their mission for higher education to determine whether there is unnecessary duplication of programs or courses at institutions within the Nevada System of Higher Education which might be more appropriate for a different institution. (NRS 396.504) This bill encourages the Board to: (1) examine and audit the function, strengths and most efficient use of the facilities, resources and staff of each institution within the System; (2) examine and audit the educational opportunities, programs and services offered by those institutions; and (3) implement measures pursuant to which the educational needs of students and

SUMMARY—Urges the Federal Government to engage in discussions regarding the mitigation and containment of water contamination in Nevada which resulted from certain nuclear activities that were conducted in this State by the Federal Government. (BDR R-895)

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION—Urging the Federal Government to engage in discussions with the State of Nevada and Nye County, Nevada, regarding the mitigation and containment of water contamination in Nevada which resulted from certain nuclear testing and storage activities that were conducted by the Federal Government in Nye County, Nevada.

WHEREAS, The Federal Government has conducted numerous public, secret and classified activities and military exercises in Nevada that have resulted in the contamination of the water supply in this State with radioactive material and other hazardous contaminants; and

WHEREAS, The Nevada National Security Site, formerly the Nevada Test Site, which is located in Nye County, Nevada, approximately 40 miles north of Pahrump, Nevada, and 65 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nevada, was established by the Federal Government in 1950 for the purposes of detonating nuclear devices and conducting other public, secret and classified nuclear tests in connection with the research and development of nuclear weapons for use by the Armed Forces of the United States; and

WHEREAS, From 1951 until 1992, the Federal Government conducted 100 atmospheric nuclear tests and 828 underground nuclear tests at the Nevada National Security Site, which resulted in the detonation of 1,021 nuclear devices; and

WHEREAS, Approximately one-third of the underground nuclear tests at the Nevada National Security Site were conducted directly in aquifers, and many other underground tests were conducted above and below the water table; and

WHEREAS, Radioactive particles have migrated via water from the Paiute Mesa area of the Nevada National Security Site toward Beatty, Nevada; and

WHEREAS, The United States Department of Energy has estimated that nuclear testing at the Nevada National Security Site left behind more than 300 million curies of radionuclides, making the Site one of the most radioactively contaminated places in the United States; and

WHEREAS, Since 1961, Area 5 and Area 3 within the Nevada National Security Site have been primary storage and disposal sites of the Federal Government for low-level and mixed low-level radioactive waste; and

WHEREAS, A study conducted on behalf of Nye County concluded that nuclear testing at the Nevada National Security Site has polluted approximately 1.6 trillion gallons of water in this State; and

WHEREAS, The aforementioned activities of the Federal Government in Nevada have had a deleterious effect on the environment of this State and have resulted in the contamination of the interconnected surface and subsurface waters, groundwater and aquifers of a large geographic area of Nevada with radioactive and other contaminants; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE ASSEMBLY AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That the members of the 76th Session of the Nevada Legislature respectfully urge the Federal Government to engage in discussions with the State of Nevada and Nye County, Nevada, regarding ~~[the]~~ **:

2. The restoration of any water contaminated because of those activities; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prepare and transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Energy, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and each member of the Nevada Congressional Delegation; and be it further

Dear God, I pray this morning for the country we represent and the state of Nevada that these men and women govern. I recognize that it is no simple task given to these people. Our times are filled with economic challenge, job loss, a multitude of homeless families, and no simple solutions to the dilemma. Therefore, my payer this morning is that You will give each representative here the wisdom to know what is best for the people of Nevada and the courage to stand for what is right. I pray that they may look beyond personal preference and together work toward strengthening the state that we call home.

Thank You, God, that we live in a nation of the free. I pray that these freedoms will be the motivation for the business of this day.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 15.

AN ACT relating to public defenders; establishing the Fund for Legal Defense of Indigent Persons; authorizing certain counties to apply to the Board of Trustees of the Fund for reimbursement of certain extraordinary costs of providing public defender services; providing for an additional administrative assessment to be paid by persons who plead guilty to or are convicted of a misdemeanor; increasing certain administrative assessments; requiring certain administrative assessments to be deposited in the Fund for Legal Defense of Indigent Persons; imposing an additional sales and use tax; authorizing boards of county commissioners to impose an additional sales and use tax; requiring revenue generated by the additional sales and use taxes to be used by counties for provision of legal services to indigent persons; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, any county whose population is 100,000 or more (currently Washoe and Clark Counties) must create an office of public defender to provide defense services to indigent persons, and any county with a population of less than 100,000 may, but is not required to, create such an office. (NRS 260.010) The State Public Defender provides indigent defense services in counties that have not created an office of public defender or hired private attorneys to provide indigent defense services, and the State Public Defender may charge those counties, in amounts not to exceed limits set by the Legislature, for providing those services. (NRS 180.110) This bill provides additional revenue which counties must use to pay for indigent defense services.

Existing law requires a person who pleads or is found guilty of any crime to pay certain administrative assessments in addition to any other penalty imposed by the judge. (NRS 176.059-176.062) Section 9 of this bill establishes an additional administrative assessment of $4, which must be paid by a person who pleads or is found guilty of a misdemeanor. Section 10 of this bill increases by $5 one of the administrative assessments required to be paid by a person who pleads or is found guilty of a misdemeanor. Section 13 of this bill increases from $25 to $50 the administrative assessment required to be paid by a person who pleads or is found guilty of a gross misdemeanor or felony. The money received from these additional administrative assessments must be deposited in a Fund for Legal Defense of Indigent Persons, which is created by section 5 of this bill. Section 6 of this bill establishes a Board of Trustees of the Fund, consisting of four county commissioners appointed to the Board by the Governor and one public defender appointed to the Board by the Governor. Section 8 of this bill authorizes a county which has imposed the additional sales and use tax authorized by section 19 of this bill to apply to the Board for reimbursement from the Fund of certain extraordinary costs paid by the county in connection with the provision of indigent defense services.

Sections 17-22 of this bill establish an additional method for a county to pay the costs incurred by the county in connection with the provision of indigent defense services. Section 18 imposes an additional one-eighth of 1 percent sales and use tax throughout this State. Section 19 authorizes a board of county commissioners to impose an additional sales and use tax of not more than one-eighth of 1 percent in that county. Sections 20 and 21 require these taxes to be distributed to counties after deduction of a certain percentage of the taxes to compensate the State for collection costs. Section 22 requires a county to deposit these taxes in a separate fund known as the Indigent Legal Defense Fund and authorizes the county to use money in this Fund to pay for: (1) the county's public defender; (2) any amount required to be paid by the county to the State Public Defender; or (3) any other costs required to be paid by the county in connection with the provision of legal services to indigent persons.

WHEREAS, In Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 (1963), the United States Supreme Court held that the United States Constitution requires states to furnish legal counsel to indigent persons who are charged with a crime; and

WHEREAS, Since the decision in Gideon, the United States Supreme Court has held that the United States Constitution requires states to furnish legal counsel to indigent persons in additional circumstances, including, without limitation, juvenile delinquency proceedings, misdemeanor cases for which incarceration is possible and certain pretrial and postconviction proceedings; and

WHEREAS, On April 26, 2007, the Nevada Supreme Court ordered the creation of the Indigent Defense Commission to study various issues concerning the system used in this State to provide indigent defense services; and

WHEREAS, Upon the recommendation of the Indigent Defense Commission, the Nevada Supreme Court has adopted performance standards for public defenders in this State and is considering adopting limits on the caseloads of public defenders, and

WHEREAS, In the State of Nevada, counties with a population of 100,000 or more are required to create an office of public defender and counties with a population of less than 100,000 may create an office of public defender, hire private attorneys to provide indigent defense services or use the State Public Defender to provide such services; and

WHEREAS, Counties pay a substantial percentage of the total expenditures in this State for indigent defense services; and

WHEREAS, The provision of competent indigent defense services in an increased number of cases has placed financial strain on counties in this State; and

WHEREAS, To ensure that counties in this State are able to pay for indigent defense services that satisfy constitutional standards, it is necessary to provide additional sources of funding for indigent defense services in this State; now, therefore,

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Natural Resources, Agriculture, and Mining:

Amendment No. 106.

AN ACT relating to aquatic species; prohibiting a person from introducing certain aquatic species into the waters of this State; providing for the inspection of vessels for aquatic invasive species; requiring vessels to be inspected for the presence of aquatic invasive species before being operated on the waters of this State; requiring decontamination of any vessels where an aquatic invasive species is present; authorizing the impoundment or quarantine of certain vessels; requiring an aquatic invasive species fee to be paid by all operators of vessels; providing a civil penalty; providing penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law makes it a misdemeanor for any person to introduce any aquatic life into this State without the permission of the Department of Wildlife. Existing law also authorizes the Board of Wildlife Commissioners to prohibit the importation, transportation or possession of any species of wildlife that the Commission deems detrimental to the wildlife or the habitat of the wildlife in this State. (NRS 503.597) Section 2 of this bill makes it a misdemeanor for a first offense and a category E felony for any subsequent offense to knowingly or intentionally introduce any aquatic species which may be detrimental to the aquatic resources, aquatic species or water resources of this State. Section 2 also provides for an additional civil penalty of not less than $25,000 and not more than $250,000 for anyone convicted of such introduction.

Section 4 of this bill authorizes the Department to set up inspection stations for vessels operating on the waters of this State to inspect such vessels for aquatic invasive species and prohibits any person from operating a vessel without first complying with the inspection program. Section 4 also prohibits any person operating a vessel from leaving an impaired body of water and entering another body of water in this State without first having the vessel decontaminated. In addition, section 4 allows a peace officer to inspect a vessel at any point if the peace officer has a reasonable belief based on articulable facts that an aquatic invasive species may be present on the vessel. Finally, if a person refuses to comply with a peace officer or the requirements of an inspection station, section 4 allows the person's vessel to be impounded or quarantined. Section 5 of this bill authorizes a peace officer to keep a vessel in impound or quarantine until it has been decontaminated or shown to be in compliance with the requirements of the Department.

Section 6 of this bill requires the Commission to establish an annual aquatic invasive species fee , which must not exceed $10, and requires the Department to issue an aquatic invasive species decal as evidence of payment. Section 6 prohibits any person from operating a vessel on the waters of this State without first paying the fee and attaching the decal to his or her vessel as proof of payment.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Pastor Ron Torkelsen.

Dear God, we often refer to politics with a negative connotation. Whereas that may be true at times, it is not necessarily so. There is value in collective reasoning and that is the premise for which we have come here today, next week, and the next several months. The Bible teaches that You have placed people in government because of their Godly reasoning. I pray that those here today will use their capabilities for just that. I pray, Lord, that You will direct the thinking of these men and women, and when the decisions of these next weeks and months have been concluded, we will see the wisdom in their choices.

Again, I pray for the collective wisdom of this assembly and thank You for the successes You have promised.

AMEN.

Pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Assemblyman Conklin moved that further reading of the Journal be dispensed with, and the Speaker and Chief Clerk be authorized to make the necessary corrections and additions.

COMMUNICATIONS

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

THE HONORABLE JOHN OCEGUERA, Speaker of the Nevada Assembly, THE NEVADA LEGISLATURE, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, Nevada 89701

Re: Assembly Bill 183 of the 76th Legislative Session

DEAR MR. SPEAKER:

I am herewith forwarding to you, for filing within the constitutional time limit and without my approval, Assembly Bill 183, which is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to school districts; revising the provisions regarding the establishment and maintenance of a reserve account for payment of the outstanding bonds of a school district; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

This bill relates to the maintenance of reserve accounts established to support the repayment of school bonds. It proposes to reduce the amount of money held in those accounts in order to facilitate school improvements. Supporters of the bill assert that it will result not only in an improved educational environment for the state's children, but in an increased number of construction jobs as well.

The bill has merit; a quality educational environment is important to the success of our students, and our state has far too many unemployed construction workers. But the condition of our schools and the struggles of the construction industry are not the only challenges we confront. Indeed, with an unemployment rate of 13.6 percent and the nation's worst graduation rates, rarely has our state been so severely tested. In the face of such difficulty, we cannot afford to be parochial. Instead, we must pursue policies that present the greatest chance of success to the greatest number of Nevadans.

Improving the quality of instruction our children receive and fostering the success of workers across our economy are essential steps in moving the state forward. Because this bill makes it harder to do these things, I will veto it. In appropriating bond reserve money for construction, proponents of the bill have reduced the amount of funds available for classroom instruction by approximately $301 million. Along the way, they have misleadingly cited those who voted for the issuance of school bonds in the past as supporting their cause today, unfairly attributing to them their narrow view. What is more, they have failed to provide an accounting of the cost of this bill.

If these reductions stand, they will necessarily result in deeper cuts—cuts that will cost over 5,000 teachers their jobs. Alternatively, A.B. 183 will require a new tax at a point when our economy is presenting limited but promising signs of recovery. This bill justifies neither choice. I therefore exercise my constitutional grant of authority to veto A.B. 183, and return the bill to you without my signature.

Sincere regards,
BRIAN SANDOVAL
Governor of Nevada

REMARKS FROM THE FLOOR

Assemblyman Conklin moved that Assemblywoman Smith's remarks be entered in the Journal.

Motion carried.

ASSEMBLYWOMAN SMITH:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is somewhat unusual, I suppose, to rise and give remarks after a veto statement, but I do feel compelled to do so. The tone of the veto was a little bit unusual because it did not deal just with the specifics of the bill, but also, I believe, attacked the credibility of the proponents of the bill. Also, it had a couple of misleading statements.

For the record, I would like to say to the body that, as indicated in the veto statement, A.B. 183 does not require a tax increase. The proponents of the bill were never misleading in working toward the passage of this piece of legislation, and I want to be clear that the proponents were many more people than just me, as the sponsor. As you all know, there were parents, parent organizations, business leaders, the Nevada Association of School Boards, the school districts, and many others who worked on this bill for many, many months and are very much the proponents of this legislation. I would like to rise to their defense that this group never misled anyone about this legislation. It was about a policy. The fact that it became tangled up in another issue is a separate issue.

I would just like to say, for the record, that the proponents' integrity being questioned in the veto statement, I think, is somewhat unusual. They are very honorable people and worked very hard to try to do the right thing in their individual communities, and I respect them very much for that. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for giving me this time.

SECOND READING AND AMENDMENT

Assembly Bill No. 222.

Bill read second time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Education:

Amendment No. 140.

AN ACT relating to education; creating the Teachers and Leaders Council of Nevada; prescribing the membership and duties of the Council; requiring the State Board of Education to establish a statewide performance evaluation system for teachers and administrators; revising provisions governing the policies for the evaluation of teachers and administrators; revising the designations required of the evaluations of teachers and administrators; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Sections 4-6 of this bill create the Teachers and Leaders Council of Nevada and prescribe the membership and duties of the Council. Section 6 requires the Council to make recommendations to the State Board of Education for the establishment of a statewide performance evaluation system for teachers and administrators employed by school districts. ~~[and charter schools.]~~

Existing law requires the automated system of accountability information for Nevada to track the achievement of pupils over time and to identify which teachers and paraprofessionals are assigned to individual pupils. The information is required to be considered, but must not be the sole criterion, in evaluating the performance of or taking disciplinary action against an individual teacher, paraprofessional or other employee. (NRS 386.650) Existing law also requires the board of trustees of each school district to develop a policy for the evaluation of teachers and administrators pursuant to which the performance of an individual teacher or administrator is designated as "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory." (NRS 391.3125, 391.3127) Section 7 of this bill requires the State Board of Education, based upon the recommendations of the Council, to establish a statewide performance evaluation system for teachers and administrators employed by school districts . ~~[and charter schools.]~~ Effective July 1, 2013, the statewide performance evaluation system will require the evaluation of an individual teacher or administrator as "highly effective," "effective," "minimally effective" or "ineffective." Also effective July 1, 2013, section 2 of this bill requires that certain information on pupil achievement which is maintained by the automated system of accountability information for Nevada account for 50 percent of the evaluations of teachers and administrators. Sections ~~[1, 8]~~ 8.5 and ~~[9]~~ 9.5 of this bill require the policies for the evaluations of teachers and administrators employed by school districts ~~[and charter schools]~~ to comply with the statewide performance evaluation system established by the State Board.

Until the implementation of the statewide performance evaluation system, sections 8 and 9 of this bill provide that the policies for the evaluations of teachers and administrators employed by school districts must require that certain information on pupil achievement which is maintained by the automated system of accountability information for Nevada account for a significant portion of the evaluation, as determined by the board of trustees.

Amendment adopted.

Bill ordered reprinted, engrossed, and to third reading.

Assembly Bill No. 229.

Bill read second time.

Amendment No. 111.

AN ACT relating to education; revising the annual reports of accountability information for public schools; requiring the board of trustees of each school district to establish and implement a program of performance pay and enhanced compensation for the recruitment and retention of licensed teachers and administrators; removing probationary teachers and probationary administrators from the applicability of certain provisions governing certain disciplinary measures by school districts; revising provisions governing the demotion, suspension, dismissal and nonreemployment of certain teachers and administrators; expanding the grounds for immediate dismissal and refusal to reemploy; revising the designations of the overall performance of teachers and administrators required by the policies for evaluations of each school district; authorizing a postprobationary employee to request an expedited hearing under certain circumstances; revising provisions governing the probationary periods of teachers and administrators and the evaluations of probationary teachers and probationary administrators; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires the State Board of Education and the board of trustees of each school district to prepare an annual report of accountability information for public schools. (NRS 385.3469, 385.347) Sections 1 and 2 of this bill expand the requirements of the annual reports of accountability to include a reporting of the number and percentages of administrators, teachers and support staff for each elementary school, middle school or junior high school, and high school and for each school district in the State.

Section 8 of this bill requires the board of trustees of each school district to: (1) establish a program of performance pay and enhanced compensation for the recruitment and retention of licensed teachers and administrators; and (2) implement the program commencing with the 2014-2015 school year.

Existing law requires that the board of trustees of each school district develop a policy for the evaluation of teachers and administrators pursuant to which an individual teacher or administrator is designated as "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory." (NRS 391.3125, 391.3127) Effective July 1, 2013, sections 14 and 16 of this bill revise the policies for evaluations to require the designation of an individual teacher or administrator as "highly effective," "effective," "minimally effective" or "ineffective."

Section 9 of this bill provides that if a written evaluation of a probationary teacher or probationary administrator states that the overall performance of the teacher or administrator has been designated as "unsatisfactory": (1) the evaluation must include a written statement that the contract of the person so evaluated may not be renewed for the next school year ~~[.]~~ and that the employee may request reasonable assistance in correcting the deficiencies identified in the evaluation; and (2) the person must acknowledge in writing that he or she has received and understands the written statement. Section 20 of this bill amends section 9, effective July 1, 2013, when the four types of designations for the evaluations of teachers and administrators will take effect.

Existing law sets forth certain rights and responsibilities relating to disciplinary measures taken by school districts with respect to probationary and postprobationary teachers and administrators. (NRS 391.311-391.3197) Section 11 of this bill removes probationary teachers and new employees hired as probationary administrators from the applicability of the provisions governing admonition, demotion, suspension, dismissal and nonreemployment.

Section 12 of this bill revises the grounds for which a teacher may be suspended, dismissed or not reemployed or for which an administrator may be demoted, suspended, dismissed or not reemployed to include gross misconduct.

Section 17 of this bill expands the grounds for which a licensed employee is subject to immediate dismissal or a refusal to reemploy without first receiving a written admonition ~~[.]~~ to include gross misconduct.

Section 18 of this bill authorizes a postprobationary employee who receives notice that he or she will be dismissed before completion of the current school year to request an expedited hearing pursuant to the expedited procedures established by the American Arbitration Association.

Under existing law, a probationary teacher and a probationary administrator serve two 1-year periods as a probationary employee. If the employee receives satisfactory evaluations in the first probationary year, the second probationary year must be waived and the person is entitled to postprobationary employment with the school district. (NRS 391.3197) Section 19 of this bill revises the probationary period from two 1-year periods to three 1-year periods, without a waiver of any of the probationary years.

Assembly Bill No. 147.

Bill read second time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Judiciary:

Amendment No. 60.

AN ACT relating to domestic relations; providing that the termination of parental rights does not terminate the right of a child to inherit from his or her parent or parents ~~[.]~~ except under certain circumstances; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, upon finding grounds for the termination of parental rights, a court is required to make a written order judicially: (1) depriving the parent or parents of the custody and control of the child; (2) terminating the parental rights of the parent or parents with respect to the child; and (3) placing the custody and control of the child in some person or agency qualified by the laws of this State to provide services and care to children, or to receive any children for placement. (NRS 128.110) Section 2 of this bill provides that the termination of parental rights does not terminate the right of the child to inherit from his or her parent or parents ~~[.]~~ , except that the right to inherit terminates if the child is adopted. Section 1 of this bill makes a corresponding technical change by amending the definition of "parent and child relationship" to delete the reference to the right of inheritance and clarify that the termination of parental rights, which severs the "parent and child relationship," does not thereby terminate the right of the child to inherit from his or her parent or parents.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. NRS 128.015 is hereby amended to read as follows:

128.015 1. "Parent and child relationship" includes all rights, privileges and obligations existing between parent and child . [~~, including rights of inheritance.~~]

2. As used in this section, "parent" includes an adoptive parent.

Sec. 2. NRS 128.110 is hereby amended to read as follows:

128.110 1. Whenever the procedure described in this chapter has been followed, and upon finding grounds for the termination of parental rights pursuant to NRS 128.105 at a hearing upon the petition, the court shall make a written order, signed by the judge presiding in the court, judicially depriving the parent or parents of the custody and control of, and terminating the parental rights of the parent or parents with respect to the child, and declaring the child to be free from such custody or control, and placing the custody and control of the child in some person or agency qualified by the laws of this State to provide services and care to children, or to receive any children for placement. The termination of parental rights pursuant to this section does not terminate the right of the child to inherit from his or her parent or parents ~~[.]~~ , except that the right to inherit terminates if the child is adopted as provided in NRS 127.160.

2. If the child is placed in the custody and control of a person or agency qualified by the laws of this State to receive children for placement, the person or agency, in seeking to place the child:

(a) May give preference to the placement of the child with any person related within the fifth degree of consanguinity to the child whom the person or agency finds suitable and able to provide proper care and guidance for the child, regardless of whether the relative resides within this State.

(b) Shall, if practicable, give preference to the placement of the child together with his or her siblings.

➥ Any search for a relative with whom to place a child pursuant to this subsection must be completed within 1 year after the initial placement of the child outside of his or her home.

Assembly Bill No. 148.

Bill read second time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Health and Human Services:

Amendment No. 88.

AN ACT relating to the protection of children; requiring an investigation to determine whether an infant who is relinquished to a provider of emergency services has been reported as a missing child; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law allows the parent of a child who is not more than 30 days old to take the child to a provider of emergency services and leave the child with the provider of emergency services without the intent to return for the child. In such cases, the child so delivered is presumed abandoned. The parent of the child is not required to provide any information regarding the child and, unless there is reasonable cause to believe that the child has otherwise been abused or neglected, will not be investigated for abuse or neglect. The provider of emergency services is required to inform an agency which provides child welfare services that the provider has taken possession of the child within 24 hours after doing so. (NRS 432B.630) Existing law requires the agency which provides child welfare services, upon receiving such notice, to immediately place the child in protective custody. COMMUNICATIONS

CARSON CITY, NEVADA, April 7, 2011

MAJORITY LEADER STEVEN HORSFORD, SPEAKER JOHN OCEGUERA, NEVADA LEGISLATURE, 401 South Carson Street, Carson City, Nevada 89701

DEAR MAJORITY LEADER HORSFORD AND SPEAKER OCEGUERA:

On February 7, 2011, Initiative Petition 1 (“the petition”) was introduced in the Assembly. The petition is entitled:

> AN ACT relating to taxation; requiring the establishment of an arena district in certain larger counties; requiring the imposition of an additional sales and use tax in such a district; providing for the use of the proceeds of such a tax for the construction, improvement, equipment, operation and maintenance of a sports and entertainment arena through public and private cooperation; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

On March 23, 2011, Senate Concurrent Resolution 4 was enrolled and delivered to the Secretary of State, thus reflecting the Legislature's rejection of the petition.

Article 19 of our state's constitution requires that in the event the Legislature rejects an initiative petition proposing a statutory change or constitutional amendment, "the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election."

The plain meaning of Article 19 provides for a scenario in which, upon rejection of an initiative petition by the Legislature, the Governor has the discretion to recommend an alternative measure on the same subject. Upon doing so, and only upon doing so, the Legislature may propose an alternative measure, setting it before me for my approval or disapproval. If approved, the proposal shall be submitted to the people for a vote.

That my recommendation is a prerequisite to the Legislature's proposal is reflected in the legislative history of Article 19. Prior to 1962, Article 19 provided only that, upon rejection by the Legislature, the Legislature "may, with the approval of the governor, propose a different measure on the same subject . . . ."

In the general election of 1962, the people chose to change the procedure in the event of a legislative rejection, requiring not only my approval of the Legislature’s ultimate proposal, but my recommendation to make such a proposal as well.

On March 28, 2011, Senate Bill 495 was introduced in the Senate, and referred to the Senate Committee on Revenue, as a competing measure with the petition. SB 495 is entitled:

AN ACT relating to taxation; proposing a competing measure to Initiative Petition No.1 by requiring a uniform and equal rate of sales and use tax in a county and prohibiting the creation of special districts in which a higher sales and use tax rate applies in a certain portion of the county; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

In the exercise of my constitutional authority under Article 19, Section 2 of our state's constitution, I hereby recommend to the Legislature SB 495 as a different measure on the same subject as the petition. My recommendation today in no way undermines my constitutional authority to disapprove of the measure once it is ultimately proposed by the Legislature. Rather, it reflects the fact that I believe it is important for the people of Nevada to be afforded options when passing judgment on important questions of public policy.

Sincere regards,
BRIAN SANDOVAL
Governor

STATE OF NEVADA
LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BUREAU

Senator Steven A. Horsford
Majority Leader of the Senate

Assemblyman John Oceguera
Speaker of the Assembly

Legislative Building
401 S. Carson Street
Carson City, NV 89701

DEAR SENATOR HORSFORD AND SPEAKER OCEGUERA:

You have asked this office a question relating to the constitutional procedure for the Legislature to propose a legislative measure to compete on the general election ballot with an initiative petition that proposes a statute or an amendment to a statute (statutory initiative). In particular, you have asked whether the Governor's recommendation to the Legislature of a competing measure is a prerequisite or condition precedent to the Legislature's introduction, consideration or passage of a competing measure under Article 19, Section 2(3) of the Nevada Constitution.

Your question has arisen because of a letter Governor Brian Sandoval sent to legislative leadership on April 7, 2011. In his letter, the Governor contends that his "recommendation is a prerequisite" to the Legislature's introduction, consideration and passage of a legislative measure to compete on the 2012 general election ballot with Initiative Petition No. 1 (I.P. 1), which was circulated under the name "Building an Arena for a Stronger Future."

After examining relevant provisions of the Nevada Constitution, reviewing historical evidence and prior legislative practice and applying the fundamental rules of constitutional construction, it is the opinion of this office that the Governor's recommendation to the Legislature of a competing measure is not a prerequisite or condition precedent to the Legislature's introduction, consideration or passage of a competing measure under Article 19, Section 2(3) of the Nevada Constitution. Furthermore, because this issue involves the interpretation of a constitutional provision affecting legislative procedure, the Legislature is entitled to follow an opinion of the Legislative Counsel which interprets the constitutional provision, and the judiciary will typically afford the Legislature deference in its counseled selection of that interpretation.

BACKGROUND

Under the Nevada Constitution, when a statutory initiative has met all the requirements for circulation and has been proposed by the required number of registered voters, the Secretary of State must transmit the statutory initiative to the Legislature when it convenes in regular session. Nev. Const. art. 19, § 2(3). If the statutory initiative is enacted by the Legislature without change or amendment within 40 days and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes, the statutory initiative becomes law. Id. If the statutory initiative is rejected by the Legislature, or if no action is taken thereon within 40 days, the Secretary of State must submit the question of approval or disapproval of the statutory initiative to the voters at the next general election. Id.

If the statutory initiative will be submitted to the voters at the next general election, the Legislature may propose a different legislative measure on the same subject to compete on the ballot with the statutory initiative. Id. Specifically, Article 19, Section 2(3) provides:

> If the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject, in which event, after such different measure has been approved by the Governor, the question of approval or disapproval of each measure shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to a vote of the voters at the next succeeding general election.

Nev. Const. art. 19, § 2(3) (emphasis added).

On February 7, 2011, the Secretary of State transmitted I.P. 1 to the Legislature when it convened the 76th Regular Session. On March 18, 2011, the Legislature adopted Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 4, which rejected the statutory initiative and expressed the Legislature's intent to "to propose a competing measure for submission to the voters on the November 2012 general election ballot." On March 28, 2011, without the Governor's recommendation, the Senate introduced Senate Bill No. 495 (S.B. 495), which proposes a competing measure to I.P. 1.

On April 7, 2011, the Governor sent a letter to legislative leadership stating that "I hereby recommend to the Legislature S.B. 495 as a different measure on the same subject as the petition." The Governor also expressed a legal opinion that his "recommendation is a prerequisite" to the Legislature's introduction, consideration and passage of a legislative measure to compete on the 2012 general election ballot with I.P. 1. The Governor explained his legal opinion as follows:

> The plain meaning of Article 19 provides for a scenario in which, upon rejection of an initiative petition by the Legislature, the Governor has the discretion to recommend an alternative measure on the same subject. Upon doing so, and only upon doing so, the Legislature may propose an alternative measure, setting it before me for my approval or disapproval. If approved, the proposal shall be submitted to the people for a vote.
> That my recommendation is a prerequisite to the Legislature's proposal is reflected in the legislative history of Article 19. Prior to 1962, Article 19 provided only that, upon rejection by the Legislature, the Legislature "may, with the approval of the governor, propose a different measure on the same subject . . . "
> In the general election of 1962, the people chose to change the procedure in the event of a legislative rejection, requiring not only my approval of the Legislature's ultimate proposal, but my recommendation to make such a proposal as well.

(Emphasis added.)

DISCUSSION

The Nevada Constitution vests the state's legislative power in the Legislature. Nev. Const. art. 4, § 1; Comm'n on Ethics v. Hardy, 125 Nev. Adv. Op. 27, 212 P.3d 1098, 1103 (2009). Because the legislative power of this state is vested in the Legislature, the Governor cannot exercise legislative power unless the Governor's exercise of that power is expressly permitted by the Constitution. Nev. Const. art. 3, § 1; see State of Nev. Employees Ass'n v. Daines, 108 Nev. 15, 21 (1992); Galloway v. Truesdell, 83 Nev. 13, 20-21 (1967). In other words, under the separation of powers in the Nevada Constitution, the Governor cannot exercise legislative power by implication. Furthermore, in the absence of express constitutional authority, the Governor may not interfere with the Legislature's exercise of its core legislative functions, including the introduction, consideration and passage of legislation. See Hardy, 212 P.3d at 1103-06; Heller v. Legislature, 120 Nev. 456, 466 (2004).

Under Article 5, Section 10 of the Nevada Constitution, the Governor is given the power to "recommend such measures as he may deem expedient." However, the Governor's power to recommend legislation under Article 5, Section 10 does not give the Governor any power to originate or introduce legislation in the Legislature because that is a legislative power. See 1 Thomas M. Cooley, Constitutional Limitations 325 (8th ed. 1927) (explaining that the Governor may recommend legislation but "cannot originate or introduce bills."); Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer, 343 U.S. 579, 632 (1952) (Douglas, J., concurring) ("The power to recommend legislation, granted to the President, serves only to emphasize that it is his function to recommend and that it is the function of the Congress to legislate."). Thus, under the separation of powers in the legislative process, the Governor and the Legislature each have separate and mutually exclusive powers when it comes to recommending and proposing legislative measures. The Governor may recommend a legislative measure to the Legislature, but the Legislature may decline to propose the legislative measure despite the Governor's recommendation. Conversely, the Governor may choose not to recommend a legislative measure to the Legislature, but the Legislature may propose the legislative measure without the Governor's recommendation.

Given how the legislative process traditionally operates under the separation of powers, an interpretation of Article 19, Section 2(3) which makes the Governor's power to recommend a competing measure a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action would be a significant departure from traditional separation-of-powers principles. When the Legislature proposes a competing measure, the Legislature is exercising legislative power because it is proposing a law to the voters through the passage of a bill. See Nev. Const. art. 4, § 23 ("no law shall be enacted except by bill."). Consequently, when the Legislature proposes a competing measure, it is performing its core legislative function of introducing, considering and passing legislation. Because the Legislature's proposal of a competing measure may only be accomplished through the passage of a bill, the Legislature adheres to the traditional legislative process prescribed by Article 4 of the Nevada Constitution when it introduces, considers and passes a competing measure.

Despite the fact that a competing measure is processed in the same manner as other legislation, the Governor contends that his power to recommend a competing measure under Article 19, Section 2(3) is greater than his power to recommend legislation under Article 5, Section 10 in the traditional legislative process. For such a deviation from traditional separation-of-powers principles to be true, the provisions of Article 19, Section 2(3) would need to state, in clear and unmistakable terms, that the Governor's power to recommend a competing measure is an express condition precedent to the Legislature's exercise of its legislative power. Such an extraordinary restriction on legislative power could not arise by implication. Therefore, to answer your question, we must review the language of Article 19, Section 2(3) to determine whether it creates an express condition precedent which limits the Legislature's power to propose a competing measure.

I. Plain meaning and the Framers' intent.

When reviewing the language of Article 19, Section 2(3), we must follow the same rules of construction that apply to statutes. Nev. Mining Ass'n v. Erdoes, 117 Nev. 531, 538 (2001). Under those rules, the primary task is to ascertain the intent of the Framers of the constitutional provision and to adopt an interpretation that best captures their objective. Id. The first step in determining the intent of the Framers is to review the language used in the provision because that is the best evidence of intent. Miller v. Burk, 124 Nev. 579, 590 (2008). The language used in the provision must be given its plain meaning unless doing so would violate the spirit of the provision or would lead to an unreasonable or absurd result. Id. at 590-91; Nev. Mining Ass'n, 117 Nev. at 542 & n.29.

The language of Article 19, Section 2(3) states that "[i]f the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment, the Governor may recommend to the Legislature and the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject." The Governor interprets his executive power to "recommend" a competing measure as a condition precedent to the Legislature's exercise of its legislative power to propose a competing measure. However, the Governor's interpretation ignores the grammatical structure of the sentence, and it requires reading an implied condition into the constitutional language contrary to its plain meaning.

If the Framers of the constitutional provision had intended for the Governor's power of recommendation to be an express condition precedent, they could have drafted the provision to state that "[i]f the Legislature rejects such proposed statute or amendment and the Governor recommends to the Legislature a different measure, the Legislature may propose a different measure on the same subject." If the Framers had drafted the provision in this manner, the language would have provided, in clear and unmistakable terms, that the Governor's power of recommendation operates as an express condition precedent to the Legislature's exercise of its legislative power to propose a competing measure.

However, that is not how the Framers drafted the constitutional provision. Instead, the Framers drafted the provision so that the Legislature's rejection of the statutory initiative is the only express condition precedent to the Governor's power to recommend a competing measure and the Legislature's power to propose a competing measure. In other words, when the Legislature rejects a statutory initiative, the Governor and the Legislature each have separate and mutually exclusive powers under Article 19, Section 2(3) that may be exercised independently of each other. Thus, the Governor may recommend a competing measure, but the Legislature may decline to propose a competing measure. Conversely, the Governor may decline to recommend a competing measure, but the Legislature may elect to propose a competing measure. Because this is how the legislative process traditionally operates under the separation of powers, it would be unreasonable and absurd to interpret the Governor's power of recommendation under Article 19, Section 2(3) as having greater force than the Governor's power of recommendation under Article 5, Section 10, especially since the Framers did not draft Article 19, Section 2(3) to make the Governor's power of recommendation an express condition precedent to legislative action.

This conclusion is supported by the presumption that the Framers drafted Article 19, Section 2(3) with full knowledge of all other provisions relating to the same subject. See State v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 116 Nev. 290, 295 (2000) ("when the legislature enacts a statute, this court presumes that it does so 'with full knowledge of existing statutes relating to the same subject.'"). Because the Framers used the term "recommend" in Article 19, Section 2(3), it must be presumed that the Framers intended for that term to have the same meaning ascribed to it in Article 5, Section 10. See Savage v. Pierson, 123 Nev. 86, 94 (2007) ("when the same word is used in different statutes that are similar with respect to purpose and content, the word will be used in the same sense, unless the statutes' context indicates otherwise."). Under Article 5, Section 10, the Governor's recommendation of legislative measures is not a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action. Because the Framers only gave the Governor the power to "recommend" competing measures under Article 19, Section 2(3), it must be presumed that the Governor's power to recommend competing measures under that section is no greater than the Governor's power to recommend legislative measures under Article 5, Section 10, and that the Governor's recommendation of competing measures is not a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action.

Furthermore, because any competing measure passed by the Legislature must be presented to the Governor for approval or veto like any other bill under Article 4, Section 35 of the Nevada Constitution, it would be unreasonable and absurd to interpret Article 19, Section 2(3) to give the Governor absolute power to control whether the Legislature may propose a competing measure at the beginning of the legislative process when the Governor also has the power to approve or veto the competing measure at the end of the legislative process. Such a substantial and unusual shift in the balance of power in favor of the Governor could be accomplished only through the most clear and unmistakable language. Because the Framers did not draft Article 19, Section 2(3) with such clear and unmistakable language, it is the opinion of this office that the Governor's interpretation of Article 19, Section 2(3) is inconsistent with the constitutional provision's plain meaning and the Framers' intent and that such an interpretation would produce unreasonable and absurd results.

II. Historical evidence and legislative practice.

It is also the opinion of this office that the Governor's interpretation of Article 19, Section 2(3) is inconsistent with historical evidence and legislative practice. As noted by the Governor, Article 19 was substantially revised in 1962. However, based on the history and purpose of the 1962 constitutional amendment, it is clear that the revisions to Article 19 did not change the constitutional procedure for the Legislature to propose competing measures to statutory initiatives. Furthermore, since the ratification of the 1962 constitutional amendment, the Legislature has proposed several competing measures to statutory initiatives without the Governor's recommendation. This long-standing legislative practice under Article 19, Section 2(3) is entitled to great weight and deference, and it would not be readily disturbed by the courts.

Turning first to the 1962 constitutional amendment that revised Article 19, the intent of voters who approved the amendment may be determined by reviewing the ballot materials placed before the voters at the election, including the ballot question, the ballot explanation and the arguments for and against passage. Nev. Mining Ass'n, 117 Nev. at 539; Pellegrini v. State, 117 Nev. 860, 876-77 (2001). The ballot explanation for the 1962 constitutional amendment stated:

> Although entirely rewritten to clarify its provisions, the proposed amendment leaves Article 19 substantially unchanged, except that the method of amending the Constitution by the people is different.

Constitutional Amendments to be Voted Upon in State of Nevada at General Election, November 6, 1962, at p. 11 (Nev. Sec'y of State 1962) (emphasis added).

As clearly stated in the ballot explanation for the 1962 constitutional amendment, the purpose of the amendment was to change only the method of amending Nevada's Constitution by initiative petition. The 1962 constitutional amendment did not change the method of amending Nevada's statutes by initiative petition. It merely clarified those provisions without making substantive changes.

Thus, contrary to the Governor's contention, the voters at the 1962 general election did not change the constitutional procedure for the Legislature to propose competing measures to statutory initiatives because the 1962 constitutional amendment did not make substantive changes to that procedure. Therefore, the 1962 constitutional amendment did not make the Governor's recommendation a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action under Article 19, Section 2(3) because that would have been a substantive change that fell outside the intent of the voters. This fact is confirmed by long-standing legislative practice over the past 50 years during which the Legislature has proposed several competing measures to statutory initiatives without the Governor's recommendation.

When interpreting constitutional provisions, courts often use extrinsic evidence to help ascertain the intent of the Framers, including historical evidence and long-standing legislative practices. See State ex rel. Harvey v. Second Jud. Dist. Ct., 117 Nev. 754, 761-71 (2001); State ex rel. Herr v. Laxalt, 84 Nev. 382, 387 (1968); State ex rel. Coffin v. Howell, 26 Nev. 93, 104-05 (1901). Typically, courts give great weight and deference to a long-standing legislative construction of a constitutional provision, especially if that construction is reasonable in light of the history and purpose of the provision. See State ex rel. Cardwell v. Glenn, 18 Nev. 34, 43-46 (1883); Halverson v. Miller, 124 Nev. 484, 489 (2008). Thus, a long-standing legislative construction will be "treated by the courts with the consideration which is due to a co-ordinate department of the state government, and in case of a reasonable doubt as to the meaning of the words, the construction given to them by the legislature ought to prevail." Dayton Gold & Silver Mining Co. v. Seawell, 11 Nev. 394, 400 (1876).

Since the revision of Article 19 in 1962, the Legislature has been presented with statutory initiatives during the 1981, 1989, 2003, 2005 and 2009 regular sessions.[1] Under Article 4, Section 14 of the Nevada Constitution, the Journals of the Senate and Assembly are the official records of the Legislature, and under the Joint Standing Rules of the Senate and Assembly, each message and proclamation received from the Governor is read and entered in full in the Journals. Based on an examination of the Journals, there is no official record of any message from a Nevada Governor recommending a specific bill as a competing measure to a statutory initiative even though the Legislature has introduced, considered and passed competing measures to statutory initiatives on several occasions.

For example, during the 61st Regular Session in 1981, the Legislature introduced three bills—A.B. 58, A.B. 85 and A.B. 473—which were proposed as competing measures to a statutory initiative relating to the protection of utility customers through the creation of a division of consumer advocacy in the office of the Attorney General. Assembly Journal, 61st Reg. Sess., at p. 53, 65, 498 (Nev. 1981). The competing measures were considered extensively by the Assembly Standing Committee on Government Affairs and the Senate Standing Committee on Commerce and Labor. Legislative History for A.B. 473, 61st Reg. Sess. (Nev. 1981). Although Governor List supported A.B. 58 as a competing measure, there is no official record in the Journals of a message from the Governor specifically recommending A.B. 58, A.B. 85 or A.B. 473 as a competing measure to the statutory initiative. Ultimately, the Legislature passed A.B. 473, which was approved by the Governor and submitted to the voters as a competing measure at the 1982 general election where it prevailed over the statutory initiative. Questions to be Voted Upon in State of Nevada at General Election, November 2, 1982, at pp. 20-32 (Nev. Sec'y of State 1982).

It is reasonable to conclude that if Governor List or the Legislature had interpreted Article 19, Section 2(3) to make the Governor's recommendation of a competing measure a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action, there would be an official record in the Journals of the Governor's message recommending a specific bill as a competing measure. The fact that no such official record exists for any year in which the Legislature has been presented with a statutory initiative is compelling evidence that neither the executive branch nor the legislative branch has previously interpreted Article 19, Section 2(3) to make the Governor's recommendation a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action on competing measures. Therefore, it is the opinion of this office that the Governor's interpretation of Article 19, Section 2(3) is inconsistent with historical evidence and legislative practice.

III. Any uncertainty or ambiguity in a constitutional provision must be resolved in favor of the power of the Legislature.

Even if there were some uncertainty or ambiguity regarding whether the Governor's recommendation is a prerequisite or condition precedent to legislative action on competing measures, that uncertainty or ambiguity would have to be resolved in favor of the Legislature. This rule of construction stems from the fact that the Governor possesses only express and limited powers under the Constitution, while the Legislature possesses almost unlimited powers under the Constitution.

The office of governor did not originate under the common law. The office is primarily a creature of the American system of constitutional government. See Royster v. Brock, 79 S.W.2d 707, 709 (Ky. 1935); 38 Am. Jur. 2d Governor § 1 (1999). As a result, courts have generally found that a governor has little or no inherent power or prerogative power which arises merely by virtue of the office. See Clark v. Boyce, 185 P. 136, 138 (Ariz. 1919); City of Bridgeport v. Agostinelli, 316 A.2d 371, 376 (Conn. 1972); Royster v. Brock, 79 S.W.2d 707, 709 (Ky. 1935); Richardson v. Young, 125 S.W. 664, 669 (Tenn. 1910). Instead, a governor possesses only those express and limited powers that are granted to the office by the State Constitution or by statute. Id.; Litchfield Elementary Sch. Dist. No. 79 v. Babbitt, 608 P.2d 792, 797 (Ariz. Ct. App. 1980).

In contrast to the Governor, the Legislature does not derive its constitutional powers from the text of the Constitution. Rather, the Legislature possesses all inherent power of the people unless that power is clearly limited by the Federal or State Constitution. Ex parte Boyce, 27 Nev. 299, 332, 334 (1904); Sarkes Tarzian, Inc. v. Legislature, 104 Nev. 672, 675 (1988). Whereas the Governor must be able to point to express provisions of the Constitution to justify the Governor's exercise of constitutional power, the Legislature does not need express constitutional authorization to justify its exercise of constitutional power because "[t]he constitution allows the legislature every power which it does not positively prohibit." City of Las Vegas v. Ackerman, 85 Nev. 493, 502 (1969) (quoting Sharpless v. Mayor of Phila., 21 Pa. 147 (1853)). As often noted by the Nevada Supreme Court, the power of the Legislature is extremely broad and "except where limited by Federal or State Constitutional provisions, that power is practically absolute." Galloway v. Truesdell, 83 Nev. 13, 20 (1967).

Even when the Nevada Constitution imposes limitations upon the Legislature's power, those limitations "are to be strictly construed, and are not to be given effect as against the general power of the legislature, unless such limitations clearly inhibit the act in question." In re Platz, 60 Nev. 296, 308 (1940) (quoting Baldwin v. State, 3 S.W. 109, 111 (Tex. Ct. App. 1886)). Additionally, because the powers of the executive and judicial branches are expressly defined by the Nevada Constitution, any power which is not clearly committed to those branches by the text of the Constitution is completely denied to them and is left exclusively to the legislative branch. See City of Pawtucket v. Sundlun, 662 A.2d 40, 44 (R.I. 1995). Therefore, because the provisions of the Nevada Constitution are to be strictly construed in favor of the power of the legislative branch, it is a fundamental rule of constitutional construction that any doubt or ambiguity concerning the constitutional powers of the executive branch must be resolved in favor of the power of the legislative branch.

Accordingly, even if the provisions of Article 19, Section 2(3) were considered to be uncertain or ambiguous, that uncertainty or ambiguity would have to be resolved in favor of the Legislature's power to introduce, consider and pass competing measures without the Governor's recommendation. Furthermore, the Nevada Supreme Court has held that when the meaning of a constitutional provision affecting legislative procedure is in doubt or subject to uncertainty, the Legislature is entitled to follow an opinion of the Legislative Counsel which interprets the constitutional provision and "the Legislature is entitled to deference in its counseled selection of this interpretation." Nev. Mining Ass'n, 117 Nev. at 540. Therefore, because an interpretation of Article 19, Section 2(3) involves legislative procedure, the Legislature is entitled to follow an opinion of the Legislative Counsel which interprets the constitutional provision, and the judiciary will typically afford the Legislature deference in its counseled selection of that interpretation.

CONCLUSION

After examining relevant provisions of the Nevada Constitution, reviewing historical evidence and prior legislative practice and applying the fundamental rules of constitutional construction, it is the opinion of this office that the Governor's recommendation to the Legislature of a competing measure is not a prerequisite or condition precedent to the Legislature's introduction, consideration or passage of a competing measure under Article 19, Section 2(3) of the Nevada Constitution. Furthermore, because this issue involves the interpretation of a constitutional provision affecting legislative procedure, the Legislature is entitled to follow an opinion of the Legislative Counsel which interprets the constitutional provision, and the judiciary will typically afford the Legislature deference in its counseled selection of that interpretation.

Assemblyman Conklin moved the adoption of the resolution.

Remarks by Assemblyman Conklin.

Resolution adopted.

By the Committee on Judiciary:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 14—Proposing to amend the Nevada Constitution to create an intermediate appellate court.

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, JOINTLY, That a new section, designated Section 3A, be added to Article 6 of the Nevada Constitution to read as follows:

Sec. 3A. 1. The court of appeals consists of three judges or such greater number as the Legislature may provide by law. If the number of judges is so increased, the Supreme Court must provide by rule for the assignment of each appeal to a panel of three judges for decision.

2. After the initial terms, each judge of the court of appeals must be elected by the qualified electors of this State at the general election for a term of 6 years beginning on the first Monday of January next after the election. The initial three judges of the court of appeals must be appointed by the Governor from among three nominees selected for each individual seat by the permanent Commission on Judicial Selection described in subsection 3 of section 20 of this Article. After the expiration of 30 days from the date on which the permanent Commission on Judicial Selection has delivered to the Governor its list of nominees for the initial judges, if the Governor has not made the appointments required by this Section, the Governor shall make no other appointment to any public office until the Governor has appointed a judge from the list submitted. The term of the initial judges is 2 years beginning on the first Monday of January next after the effective date of this Section, and an initial judge may succeed himself. If there is an increase in the number of judges, each additional judge must be elected by the qualified electors of this State at the first general election following the increase for a term of 6 years beginning on the first Monday of January next after the election.

3. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall appoint one of the judges of the court of appeals to be chief judge. The chief judge serves a term of 4 years, except that the term of the initial chief judge is 2 years. The chief judge may succeed himself. The chief judge may resign the position of chief judge without resigning from the court of appeals.

4. The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for the assignment of one or more judges of the court of appeals to devote a part of their time to serve as supplemental district judges, where needed.

And be it further

RESOLVED, That Section 1 of Article 6 of the Nevada Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The judicial power of this State ~~[shall be]~~ is vested in a court system, comprising a Supreme Court, a court of appeals, district courts ~~[,]~~ and justices of the peace. These loans may be made at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 percent.~~

~~3. Terms of repayment must be established at the time of making the loan but the Chief Parole and Probation Officer may alter the terms if the best interests of the parolee and the State would be served by doing so. Assembly Bill No. 20.

Bill read second time.

Amendment No. 52.

AN ACT relating to optometry; requiring the Nevada State Board of Optometry to issue a license by endorsement to practice optometry in this State in certain circumstances; revising provisions governing the examination for licensure by the Board; revising provisions governing the discipline and unprofessional or unethical conduct of licensees; repealing provisions that require the Board to maintain a roster of licensees; repealing provisions that pertain to the scope of reexaminations for licensure; establishing fees; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires each applicant for a license to practice optometry in this State to take and pass an examination prepared and administered by the Nevada State Board of Optometry or by a testing agency that has been designated by the Board. The examination must test the fitness of an applicant to practice optometry and include testing of the applicant's knowledge of statutes and regulations governing the practice of optometry. (NRS 636.150, 636.180, 636.185) Other states have enacted legislation creating exceptions from general licensure provisions which allow certain qualified persons who are licensed in another jurisdiction to receive a license to practice optometry without requiring the licensee to take an examination that is designed to evaluate competency to practice optometry. However, existing law in this State does not authorize such an exception.

Section 2 of this bill provides for the issuance of a license by endorsement to practice optometry and requires the Board to issue a license by endorsement to certain qualified applicants who are licensed to practice optometry in the District of Columbia or other states or territories and who have been continuously and actively engaged in the practice of optometry for the ~~[10]~~ 5 years immediately preceding the date on which they apply to the Board for the issuance of a license by endorsement. Section 7 of this bill requires an applicant for a license by endorsement to take and pass an examination, but section 3 of this bill provides that the examination must test only the applicant's knowledge of statutes and regulations governing the practice of optometry in this State. Section 5 of this bill establishes the fees which must be paid by an applicant for the examination for a license by endorsement and for the issuance and renewal of a license by endorsement.

Section 10 of this bill revises provisions governing the score required to pass the examinations, and sections 6, 8, 9, 11 and 12 of this bill make certain revisions to distinguish between the examination for and issuance of a license to practice optometry and a license by endorsement.

Existing law also defines the scope of the practice of optometry in this State and authorizes the Board to discipline licensees for certain acts or omissions and determine what acts constitute unethical or unprofessional conduct by licensees. (NRS 636.025, 636.130, 636.290-636.340) ~~[Section 4 of this bill prohibits a licensee from engaging in certain activities which would constitute the practice of medicine.]~~ Section 13 of this bill authorizes the Board to discipline licensees for the commission of a felony~~[, or]~~ for conduct that demonstrates incompetency in the practice of optometry~~[.]~~ or for practicing or offering to practice optometry outside the scope of practice authorized by law. Sections 14 and 15 of this bill revise provisions pertaining to unprofessional or unethical conduct relating to the use of prescription blanks and the sale, solicitation or advertisement of certain products and services.

Section 16 of this bill repeals provisions requiring the Board to maintain a roster of licensees and authorizing the Board to determine the scope of reexaminations for licensure.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

(b) Insure the person named as insured therein against loss from the liability imposed upon the person by law for damages arising out of the person's use of any motor vehicle within the same territorial limits and subject to the same limits of liability as are set forth in paragraph ~~[(b)]~~ (c) of subsection 1.

3. A motor vehicle liability policy must state the name and address of the named insured, the coverage afforded by the policy, the premium charged therefor, the period of effectiveness and the limits of liability, and must contain an agreement or be endorsed that insurance is provided thereunder in accordance with the coverage defined in this chapter as respects bodily injury and death or property damage, or both, and is subject to all the provisions of this chapter.

4. A motor vehicle liability policy need not insure any liability under any workers' compensation law nor any liability on account of bodily injury to or death of an employee of the insured while engaged in the employment, other than domestic, of the insured, or while engaged in the operation, maintenance or repair of any motor vehicle owned by the insured nor any liability for damage to property owned by, rented to, in charge of or transported by the insured.

5. Every motor vehicle liability policy is subject to the following provisions which need not be contained therein:

(a) The liability of the insurance carrier with respect to the insurance required by this chapter becomes absolute whenever injury or damage covered by the policy occurs. The policy may not be cancelled or annulled as to such liability by any agreement between the insurance carrier and the insured after the occurrence of the injury or damage. No statement made by the insured or on behalf of the insured and no violation of the policy defeats or voids the policy.

(b) The satisfaction by the insured of a judgment for injury or damage is not a condition precedent to the right or duty of the insurance carrier to make payment on account of the injury or damage.

(c) The insurance carrier may settle any claim covered by the policy, and if such a settlement is made in good faith, the amount thereof is deductible from the limits of liability specified in paragraph ~~[(b)]~~ (c) of subsection 1.

(d) The policy, the written application therefor, if any, and any rider or endorsement which does not conflict with the provisions of this chapter constitute the entire contract between the parties.

6. Any policy which grants the coverage required for a motor vehicle liability policy may also grant any lawful coverage in excess of or in addition to the coverage specified for a motor vehicle liability policy, and the excess or additional coverage is not subject to the provisions of this chapter.

7. Any motor vehicle liability policy may provide for the prorating of the insurance thereunder with other valid and collectible insurance.

8. The requirements for a motor vehicle liability policy may be fulfilled by the policies of one or more insurance carriers, which policies together meet those requirements.

9. Any binder issued pending the issuance of a motor vehicle liability policy shall be deemed to fulfill the requirements for such a policy.

2. The Board shall limit the field and scope of the operations of a licensed contractor by establishing a monetary limit on a contractor's license, and the limit must be the maximum contract a licensed contractor may undertake on one or more construction contracts on a single construction site or subdivision site for a single client. The Board may take any other action designed to limit the field and scope of the operations of a contractor as may be necessary to protect the health, safety and general welfare of the public. Amendment No. 100.

AN ACT relating to collaborative law; enacting the Uniform Collaborative Law Act; establishing the requirements of a collaborative law participation agreement and the collaborative law process; establishing standards applicable to collaborative lawyers; providing that certain collaborative law communications are confidential and privileged; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

This bill enacts the Uniform Collaborative Law Act, as amended by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws in 2010, and aims to standardize the most important features of collaborative law, a form of alternative dispute resolution. Currently, collaborative law has largely been practiced under private collaborative law participation agreements developed by practice groups of private attorneys.

Section 19 of this bill provides the minimum requirements for written agreements that allow parties to state their intention to resolve a matter through a collaborative law process. Section 20 of this bill emphasizes that a party's participation in collaborative law is voluntary and specifies when and how a collaborative law process begins and concludes. Section 21 of this bill creates a stay of proceedings before a tribunal when parties sign an agreement to attempt to resolve a matter through collaborative law. Section 23 of this bill authorizes the approval of agreements arising out of a collaborative law process. Sections 24-26 of this bill: (1) provide that a collaborative lawyer is disqualified from representing a party to a collaborative matter before a tribunal in a proceeding related to the collaborative matter; (2) impute the disqualification to other lawyers in a law firm with which the collaborative lawyer is associated; and (3) provide exceptions to imputed disqualification under certain circumstances if the law firm is representing a low-income party for no fee or if the collaborative lawyer is representing a governmental agency.

Section 27 of this bill requires parties to disclose relevant information during the collaborative law process without formal discovery requests and to update information previously disclosed that has materially changed. Sections 29 and 30 of this bill impose certain duties on collaborative lawyers to disclose to and discuss with a prospective party the material risks and benefits of a collaborative law process and require collaborative lawyers to screen prospective parties for any history of a coercive or violent relationship with another party. Sections 31-34 of this bill authorize parties to agree on the scope of confidentiality of their collaborative law communications, create an evidentiary privilege for collaborative law communications and provide for certain waivers of and limited exceptions to the evidentiary privilege.

Finally, section 35 of this bill authorizes a tribunal or other body acting in an adjudicative capacity to enforce agreements that result from a collaborative law process and to apply the disqualification provisions and the evidentiary privileges provided for in this bill.

3. There is no privilege under section 32 of this act if a tribunal finds, after a hearing in camera, that the party seeking discovery or the proponent of the evidence has shown the evidence is not otherwise available, the need for the evidence substantially outweighs the interest in protecting confidentiality and the collaborative law communication is sought or offered in:

(b) A proceeding seeking rescission or reformation of a contract arising out of the collaborative law process or in which a defense to avoid liability on the contract is asserted.

4. If a collaborative law communication is subject to an exception under subsection 2 or 3, only the part of the communication necessary for the application of the exception may be disclosed or admitted into evidence.

5. Disclosure or admission of evidence excepted from the privilege under subsection 2 or 3 does not make the evidence or any other collaborative law communication discoverable or admissible for any other purpose.

6. The privileges under section 32 of this act do not apply if the parties agree in advance in a signed record, or if a record of a proceeding reflects agreement by the parties, that all or part of a collaborative law process is not privileged. This subsection does not apply to a collaborative law communication made by a person that did not receive actual notice of the agreement before the communication was made.

Sec. 35. 1. If a collaborative law participation agreement fails to meet the requirements of section 19 of this act, or if a prospective collaborative lawyer fails to comply with section 29 or 30 of this act, a tribunal may nonetheless find that the parties intended to enter into a collaborative law participation agreement if the parties:

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Commerce and Labor:

Amendment No. 27.

AN ACT relating to professional licenses; revising the requirements for licensure as a professional engineer or professional land surveyor for certain applicants; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Before July 1, 2010, state law authorized a person to obtain a license from the State Board of Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors to practice as a professional engineer or professional land surveyor in this State if the person passed the requisite examination for licensure and: (1) met certain educational requirements by obtaining a 4-year degree; or (2) had a record of 10 or more years of active experience in his or her respective field of work. In 1999, the Legislature enacted legislation that, effective July 1, 2010, deleted the provisions which allowed an applicant for licensure to obtain a license in professional engineering or professional land surveying based on 10 or more years of active work experience in addition to passing the requisite examination. (Sections 5 and 7 of chapter 478, Statutes of Nevada 1999, pp. 2435, 2437) In 2005, the Legislature enacted legislation authorizing certain applicants for a professional engineering license to sit for the principles and practices portion of the examination for licensure after obtaining 6 years of active experience in engineering work. Such applicants were eligible for licensure if they obtained an additional 4 years of active work experience in engineering before July 1, 2010, in addition to meeting all other requirements for licensure. (Sections 3 and 4 of chapter 75, Statutes of Nevada 2005, pp. 206, 208) After the enactment of the legislation in 2005, and until July 1, 2010, applicants for licensure as a professional land surveyor were still required to obtain 10 years of active work experience before they were eligible to sit for the principles and practices portion of their respective examination.

Section 2 of this bill authorizes certain applicants for licensure as a professional engineer who received approval from the Board before July 1, 2010, to sit for the principles and practices portion of the professional engineering examination for licensure to obtain a license from the Board if the applicants, before August 1, 2014, pass the requisite examination for licensure. Applicants for licensure as a professional engineer must also complete their respective work experience requirement by obtaining a record of 10 or more years of active work experience in engineering before August 1, 2014. Section 3 of this bill authorizes the Board to waive educational requirements for certain applicants for licensure as a professional land surveyor who, before July 1, 2010, ~~[met all the requirements for licensure other than passing]~~ received approval from the Board to take the examination on the principles and practices of land surveying and who pass the examination before August 1, 2014.

Section 1. Chapter 625 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 and 3 of this act.

Amendment No. 124.

AN ACT relating to court records; revising requirements for saving images of court records before the records may be destroyed; authorizing the State Library and Archives Administrator to receive the court records of the Supreme Court or of a district court into the State Archives under certain circumstances; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Under existing law, the Clerk of the Supreme Court, a county clerk, a deputy clerk of a justice court or a clerk of a municipal court may destroy documents, records, instruments, books, papers, depositions and transcripts of court actions and proceedings if the action or proceeding is not on appeal or review in any court. (NRS 239.110) The clerk is required to maintain a microphotographic film copy of every such record destroyed, and the copies are deemed to be the original documents.

Section 1 of this bill instead requires that, before a court record is destroyed by ~~[a clerk of the court,]~~ the Clerk of the Supreme Court, a deputy clerk of the Supreme Court, a county clerk, the clerk of a district court or a deputy clerk of a district court, the clerk must place an image of the record on microfilm or save the image in an electronic recordkeeping system. However, a deputy clerk of a justice court or a clerk of a municipal court may destroy a court record pursuant to a schedule for the retention and disposition of court records established by the Supreme Court without placing an image of the record on microfilm or saving the image in an electronic recordkeeping system. Section 1 also: (1) requires the microfilm or saved image to be durable, accurate, complete and clear; (2) clarifies that a reproduction of a court record is considered to be the original, regardless of whether the actual original document exists; and (3) requires the clerk who microfilms or saves the court records to store the microfilm or the medium used to save the image in a manner and place so as to protect it reasonably from loss or damage and as prescribed by the Supreme Court. Section 3 of this bill authorizes the State Library and Archives Administrator to receive into the State Archives any court record from the Supreme Court or a district court if: (1) the Administrator finds that the court record is of historical value; (2) the record is provided to the State Archives by an order of the Supreme Court; or (3) the Administrator and the Supreme Court or a district court, as applicable, enter into an agreement for the Administrator to receive into the State Archives any other record from the Supreme Court or district court. Section 4 of this bill authorizes the State Library and Archives Administrator to establish, maintain and operate a center for storing and retrieving records for the Supreme Court or a district court pending acceptance of the records by the Division of State Library and Archives of the Department of Cultural Affairs or disposition of the records by law.

Assembly Bill No. 23.

Bill read second time.

The following amendment was proposed by the Committee on Commerce and Labor:

Amendment No. 145.

AN ACT relating to insurance; enacting the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

The Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact is an interstate compact which addresses issues relating to the regulation of certain insurance products in states which are members of the Compact. The Compact creates an Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission which establishes uniform standards for certain insurance products and advertising relating to these insurance products. These uniform standards will govern those insurance products and advertising in lieu of other Nevada statutes and regulations under certain circumstances. The Compact also requires states that have enacted the Compact to choose a person to serve as a representative to the Commission.

Section 2 of this bill enacts, without any modifications, the language of the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact as written by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Section 3 of this bill designates the Commissioner of Insurance as Nevada's representative to the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission. Section 4 of this bill requires the Commissioner to opt out of any uniform standard which is less protective than a law of this State and provides that the State of Nevada opts out of all uniform standards involving long-term care insurance products. Section 5 of this bill requires the Commissioner to report to the 77th Session of the Nevada Legislature concerning the status of the uniform standards involving long-term care insurance products.

~~THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:~~

Section 1. Title 57 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto a new chapter to consist of the provisions set forth as sections 2 , ~~[and]~~ 3 and 4 of this act.

Sec. 2. The Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact, set forth in this section, is hereby enacted into law and entered into with all jurisdictions substantially as follows:

Article I. Purposes

The purposes of this Compact are, through means of joint and cooperative faction among the Compacting States:

1. To promote and protect the interest of consumers of individual and group annuity, life insurance, disability income and long-term care insurance products;

2. To develop uniform standards for insurance products covered under the Compact;

3. To establish a central clearinghouse to receive and provide prompt review of insurance products covered under the Compact and in certain cases, advertisements related thereto, submitted by insurers authorized to do business in one or more Compacting States;

4. To give appropriate regulatory approval to those product filings and advertisements satisfying the applicable uniform standard;

5. To improve coordination of regulatory resources and expertise between state insurance departments regarding the setting of uniform standards and review of insurance products covered under the Compact;

6. To create the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission; and

7. To perform these and such other related functions as may be consistent with the state regulation of the business of insurance.

Article II. Definitions

For purposes of this Compact:

Nothing herein shall prohibit any Insurer from filing its product in any State wherein the Insurer is licensed to conduct the business of insurance; and any such filing shall be subject to the laws of the State where filed.

The Commission shall consider whether any subsequent amendments to the NAIC Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act or Long-Term Care Insurance Model Regulation adopted by the NAIC require amending of the Uniform Standards established by the Commission for long-term care insurance products;

3. To receive and review in an expeditious manner Products filed with the Commission, and rate filings for disability income and long-term care insurance Products, and give approval of those Products and rate filings that satisfy the applicable Uniform Standard, where such approval shall have the force and effect of law and be binding on the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in the Compact;

4. To receive and review in an expeditious manner Advertisement relating to long-term care insurance products for which Uniform Standards have been adopted by the Commission, and give approval to all Advertisement that satisfies the applicable Uniform Standard. For any product covered under this Compact, other than long-term care insurance products, the Commission shall have the authority to require an insurer to submit all or any part of its Advertisement with respect to that product for review or approval prior to use, if the Commission determines that the nature of the product is such that an Advertisement of the product could have the capacity or tendency to mislead the public. The actions of the Commission as provided in this section shall have the force and effect of law and shall be binding in the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in the Compact;

5. To exercise its rule-making authority and designate Products and Advertisement that may be subject to a self-certification process without the need for prior approval by the Commission.

Nothing herein shall be construed to affect the manner in which a Compacting State determines the election or appointment and qualification of its own Commissioner.

Article VI. Meetings and Acts of the Commission

2. Each Member of the Commission shall have the right and power to cast a vote to which that Compacting State is entitled and to participate in the business and affairs of the Commission. A Member shall vote in person or by such other means as provided in the Bylaws. The Bylaws may provide for Members' participation in meetings by telephone or other means of communication.

3. The Commission shall meet at least once during each calendar year. Additional meetings shall be held as set forth in the Bylaws.

Article VII. Rules and Operating Procedures: Rulemaking Functions of the Commission and Opting Out of Uniform Standards

1. Rulemaking Authority. The Commission shall promulgate reasonable Rules, including Uniform Standards, and Operating Procedures in order to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of this Compact. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event the Commission exercises its rulemaking authority in a manner that is beyond the scope of the purposes of this Act, or the powers granted hereunder, then such an action by the Commission shall be invalid and have no force and effect.

2. Rulemaking Procedure. Rules and Operating Procedures shall be made pursuant to a rulemaking process that conforms to the Model State Administrative Procedure Act of 1981 as amended, as may be appropriate to the operations of the Commission. Before the Commission adopts a Uniform Standard, the Commission shall give written notice to the relevant state legislative committee(s) in each Compacting State responsible for insurance issues of its intention to adopt the Uniform Standard. The Commission in adopting a Uniform Standard shall consider fully all submitted materials and issue a concise explanation of its decision.

3. Effective Date and Opt Out of a Uniform Standard. A Uniform Standard shall become effective ninety (90) days after its promulgation by the Commission or such later date as the Commission may determine; provided, however, that a Compacting State may opt out of a Uniform Standard as provided in this Article. "Opt out" shall be defined as any action by a Compacting State to decline to adopt or participate in a promulgated Uniform Standard. All other Rules and Operating Procedures, and amendments thereto, shall become effective as of the date specified in each Rule, Operating Procedure or amendment.

4. Opt Out Procedure. A Compacting State may opt out of a Uniform Standard, either by legislation or regulation duly promulgated by the Insurance Department under the Compacting State's Administrative Procedure Act. If a Compacting State elects to opt out of a Uniform Standard by regulation, it must (a) give written notice to the Commission no later than ten (10) business days after the Uniform Standard is promulgated, or at the time the State becomes a Compacting State and (b) find that the Uniform Standard does not provide reasonable protections to the citizens of the State, given the conditions in the State. The Commissioner shall make specific findings of fact and conclusions of law, based on a preponderance of the evidence, detailing the conditions in the State which warrant a departure from the Uniform Standard and determining that the Uniform Standard would not reasonably protect the citizens of the State. The Commissioner must consider and balance the following factors and find that the conditions in the State and needs of the citizens of the State outweigh: (i) the intent of the legislature to participate in, and the benefits of, an interstate agreement to establish national uniform consumer protections for the Products subject to this Act; and (ii) the presumption that a Uniform Standard adopted by the Commission provides reasonable protections to consumers of the relevant Product.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Compacting State may, at the time of its enactment of this Compact, prospectively opt out of all Uniform Standards involving long-term care insurance products by expressly providing for such opt out in the enacted Compact, and such an opt out shall not be treated as a material variance in the offer or acceptance of any State to participate in this Compact. Such an opt out shall be effective at the time of enactment of this Compact by the Compacting State and shall apply to all existing Uniform Standards involving long-term care insurance products and those subsequently promulgated.

5. Effect of Opt Out. If a Compacting State elects to opt out of a Uniform Standard, the Uniform Standard shall remain applicable in the Compacting State electing to opt out until such time the opt out legislation is enacted into law or the regulation opting out becomes effective.

Once the opt out of a Uniform Standard by a Compacting State becomes effective as provided under the laws of that State, the Uniform Standard shall have no further force and effect in that State unless and until the legislation or regulation implementing the opt out is repealed or otherwise becomes ineffective under the laws of the State. If a Compacting State opts out of a Uniform Standard after the Uniform Standard has been made effective in that State, the opt out shall have the same prospective effect as provided under Article XIV for withdrawals.

6. Stay of Uniform Standard. If a Compacting State has formally initiated the process of opting out of a Uniform Standard by regulation, and while the regulatory opt out is pending, the Compacting State may petition the Commission, at least fifteen (15) days before the effective date of the Uniform Standard, to stay the effectiveness of the Uniform Standard in that State. The Commission may grant a stay if it determines the regulatory opt out is being pursued in a reasonable manner and there is a likelihood of success. If a stay is granted or extended by the Commission, the stay or extension thereof may postpone the effective date by up to ninety (90) days, unless affirmatively extended by the Commission; provided, a stay may not be permitted to remain in effect for more than one (1) year unless the Compacting State can show extraordinary circumstances which warrant a continuance of the stay, including, but not limited to, the existence of a legal challenge which prevents the Compacting State from opting out. A stay may be terminated by the Commission upon notice that the rulemaking process has been terminated.

7. Not later than thirty (30) days after a Rule or Operating Procedure is promulgated, any person may file a petition for judicial review of the Rule or Operating Procedure; provided, that the filing of such a petition shall not stay or otherwise prevent the Rule or Operating Procedure from becoming effective unless the court finds that the petitioner has a substantial likelihood of success. The court shall give deference to the actions of the Commission consistent with applicable law and shall not find the Rule or Operating Procedure to be unlawful if the Rule or Operating Procedure represents a reasonable exercise of the Commission's authority.

Article VIII. Commission Records and Enforcement

1. The Commission shall promulgate Rules establishing conditions and procedures for public inspection and copying of its information and official records, except such information and records involving the privacy of individuals and insurers' trade secrets. The Commission may promulgate additional Rules under which it may make available to federal and state agencies, including law enforcement agencies, records and information otherwise exempt from disclosure, and may enter into agreements with such agencies to receive or exchange information or records subject to nondisclosure and confidentiality provisions.

2. Except as to privileged records, data and information, the laws of any Compacting State pertaining to confidentiality or nondisclosure shall not relieve any Compacting State Commissioner of the duty to disclose any relevant records, data or information to the Commission; provided, that disclosure to the Commission shall not be deemed to waive or otherwise affect any confidentiality requirement; and further provided, that, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, the Commission shall not be subject to the Compacting State's laws pertaining to confidentiality and nondisclosure with respect to records, data and information in its possession. Confidential information of the Commission shall remain confidential after such information is provided to any Commissioner.

3. The Commission shall monitor Compacting States for compliance with duly adopted Bylaws, Rules, including Uniform Standards, and Operating Procedures. The Commission shall notify any non-complying Compacting State in writing of its noncompliance with Commission Bylaws, Rules or Operating Procedures. If a non-complying Compacting State fails to remedy its noncompliance within the time specified in the notice of noncompliance, the Compacting State shall be deemed to be in default as set forth in Article XIV.

4. The Commissioner of any State in which an Insurer is authorized to do business, or is conducting the business of insurance, shall continue to exercise his or her authority to oversee the market regulation of the activities of the Insurer in accordance with the provisions of the State's law. The Commissioner's enforcement of compliance with the Compact is governed by the following provisions:

a. With respect to the Commissioner's market regulation of a Product or Advertisement that is approved or certified to the Commission, the content of the Product or Advertisement shall not constitute a violation of the provisions, standards or requirements of the Compact except upon a final order of the Commission, issued at the request of a Commissioner after prior notice to the Insurer and an opportunity for hearing before the Commission.

b. Before a Commissioner may bring an action for violation of any provision, standard or requirement of the Compact relating to the content of an Advertisement not approved or certified to the Commission, the Commission, or an authorized Commission officer or employee, must authorize the action. However, authorization pursuant to this paragraph does not require notice to the Insurer, opportunity for hearing or disclosure of requests for authorization or records of the Commission's action on such requests.

Article IX. Dispute Resolution

The Commission shall attempt, upon the request of a Member, to resolve any disputes or other issues that are subject to this Compact and which may arise between two or more Compacting States, or between Compacting States and Non-compacting States, and the Commission shall promulgate an Operating Procedure providing for resolution of such disputes.

Article X. Product Filing and Approval

1. Insurers and Third-Party Filers seeking to have a Product approved by the Commission shall file the Product with, and pay applicable filing fees to, the Commission. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to restrict or otherwise prevent an insurer from filing its Product with the insurance department in any State wherein the insurer is licensed to conduct the business of insurance, and such filing shall be subject to the laws of the States where filed.

2. The Commission shall establish appropriate filing and review processes and procedures pursuant to Commission Rules and Operating Procedures. Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, the Commission shall promulgate Rules to establish conditions and procedures under which the Commission will provide public access to Product filing information. In establishing such Rules, the Commission shall consider the interests of the public in having access to such information, as well as protection of personal medical and financial information and trade secrets, that may be contained in a Product filing or supporting information.

3. Any Product approved by the Commission may be sold or otherwise issued in those Compacting States for which the Insurer is legally authorized to do business.

Article XI. Review of Commission Decisions Regarding Filings

1. Not later than thirty (30) days after the Commission has given notice of a disapproved Product or Advertisement filed with the Commission, the Insurer or Third Party Filer whose filing was disapproved may appeal the determination to a review panel appointed by the Commission. The Commission shall promulgate Rules to establish procedures for appointing such review panels and provide for notice and hearing. An allegation that the Commission, in disapproving a Product or Advertisement filed with the Commission, acted arbitrarily, capriciously, or in a manner that is an abuse of discretion or otherwise not in accordance with the law, is subject to judicial review in accordance with Article III, Section 4.

2. The Commission shall make an Annual Report to the Governor and legislature of the Compacting States, which shall include a report of the independent audit. The Commission's internal accounts shall not be confidential and such materials may be shared with the Commissioner of any Compacting State upon request provided, however, that any work papers related to any internal or independent audit and any information regarding the privacy of individuals and insurers' proprietary information, including trade secrets, shall remain confidential.

Article XIV. Withdrawal, Default and Termination

1. Withdrawal

a. Once effective, the Compact shall continue in force and remain binding upon each and every Compacting State; provided, that a Compacting State may withdraw from the Compact ("Withdrawing State") by enacting a statute specifically repealing the statute which enacted the Compact into law.

b. The effective date of withdrawal is the effective date of the repealing statute. However, the withdrawal shall not apply to any product filings approved or self-certified, or any Advertisement of such products, on the date the repealing statute becomes effective, except by mutual agreement of the Commission and the Withdrawing State unless the approval is rescinded by the Withdrawing State as provided in Paragraph e of this section.

c. The Commissioner of the Withdrawing State shall immediately notify the Management Committee in writing upon the introduction of legislation repealing this Compact in the Withdrawing State.

d. The Commission shall notify the other Compacting States of the introduction of such legislation within ten (10) days after its receipt of notice thereof.

The Withdrawing State is responsible for all obligations, duties and liabilities incurred through the effective date of withdrawal, including any obligations, the performance of which extend beyond the effective date of withdrawal, except to the extent those obligations may have been released or relinquished by mutual agreement of the Commission and the Withdrawing State. The Commission's approval of Products and Advertisement prior to the effective date of withdrawal shall continue to be effective and be given full force and effect in the Withdrawing State, unless formally rescinded by the Withdrawing State in the same manner as provided by the laws of the Withdrawing State for the prospective disapproval of products or advertisement previously approved under state law.

The Commission shall stipulate the conditions and the time period within which the Defaulting State must cure its default. If the Defaulting State fails to cure the default within the time period specified by the Commission, the Defaulting State shall be terminated from the Compact and all rights, privileges and benefits conferred by this Compact shall be terminated from the effective date of termination.

b. Product approvals by the Commission or product self-certifications, or any Advertisement in connection with such product, that are in force on the effective date of termination shall remain in force in the Defaulting State in the same manner as if the Defaulting State had withdrawn voluntarily pursuant to Section 1 of this article.

c. Reinstatement following termination of any Compacting State requires a reenactment of the Compact.

3. Dissolution of Compact

a. The Compact dissolves effective upon the date of the withdrawal or default of the Compacting State which reduces membership in the Compact to one Compacting State.

b. Upon the dissolution of this Compact, the Compact becomes null and void and shall be of no further force or effect, and the business and affairs of the Commission shall be wound up and any surplus funds shall be distributed in accordance with the Bylaws.

For Advertisement that is subject to the Commission's authority, any Rule, Uniform Standard or other requirement of the Commission which governs the content of the Advertisement shall constitute the Advertisement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no action taken by the Commission shall abrogate or restrict: (i) the access of any person to state courts; (ii) remedies available under state law related to breach of contract, tort, or other laws not specifically directed to the content of the Product; (iii) state law relating to the construction of insurance contracts; or (iv) the authority of the attorney general of the state, including but not limited to maintaining any actions or proceedings, as authorized by law.

2. Binding Effect of this Compact

a. All lawful actions of the Commission, including all Rules and Operating Procedures promulgated by the Commission, are binding upon the Compacting States.

b. All agreements between the Commission and the Compacting States are binding in accordance with their terms.

c. Upon the request of a party to a conflict over the meaning or interpretation of Commission actions, and upon a majority vote of the Compacting States, the Commission may issue advisory opinions regarding the meaning or interpretation in dispute.

d. In the event any provision of this Compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any Compacting State, the obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction sought to be conferred by that provision upon the Commission shall be ineffective as to that Compacting State, and those obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction shall remain in the Compacting State and shall be exercised by the agency thereof to which those obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction are delegated by law in effect at the time this Compact becomes effective.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

~~[Sections 3 and 24 of this bill establish requirements for the organization of a voter registration drive to distribute and collect applications to register to~~

~~vote. Section 3 also provides requirements for and responsibilities of an organizer of a voter registration drive, including filing a statement of intent with the Secretary of State and completing a training course offered by the Secretary of State, and establishes criminal and civil penalties for violations of applicable provisions.~~

~~Section 6 of this bill increases the maximum number of active and registered voters that election precincts may contain from 1,500 to 3,000 active and registered voters.~~]

Section 7 of this bill allows a county clerk to establish mailing precincts or absent ballot mailing precincts if approved by the Secretary of State, in addition to circumstances authorized for the creation of mailing precincts in existing law. (NRS 293.213)

Sections 8 and 23 of this bill provide that if a county clerk establishes a system for using a computer for voter registration for that county, the system established must comply with any procedures and requirements prescribed by the Secretary of State. Existing law requires county clerks to verify the validity of the signatures of persons who sign petitions for initiative or referendum, petitions to recall public officers, petitions to qualify as a political party, petitions for filling ballot vacancies or petitions to place minor party or independent candidates on the ballot against the voter registration records, including applications to register to vote. (NRS 293.1277) Section 5 of this bill provides that if a computer is used for voter registration in a county, the county clerk may rely on such indicia as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State to complete the signature verification.

Sections 9, 26 and 36 of this bill revise the manner in which it is required to list on sample ballots and ballots the names of candidates who have the same names so that if two or more candidates in an election have the same given name and surname and one candidate is an incumbent, the word "Incumbent" must appear on the sample ballot and ballot next to the name of the candidate who is the incumbent.

Section 12 of this bill requires, in addition to other information posted at polling places on election day, the posting of information concerning the eligibility of a candidate, question or other matter to appear on the ballot as a result of judicial determination or by operation of law.

Sections 15 and 35 of this bill authorize voters to vote in mailing precincts if it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State, in addition to the county clerk, that the circumstances authorizing the creation of a mailing precinct exist.

Existing law authorizes a city or county clerk to assess a charge, not to exceed the cost of printing the applications, against a political party or other entity that requests more than 50 applications to register to vote by mail in any 12-month period. (NRS 293.443) Section 16 of this bill authorizes the Secretary of State to assess such a charge as well.

Section 19 of this bill changes the deadline for the Secretary of State to submit a report concerning primary and general elections to the Legislature from not later than 30 days before the start of a regular legislative session to not sooner than 30 days before and not later than 30 days after the first day of each regular legislative session.

~~[Sections 18 and 37 of this bill require certain additional information to be added to an Internet website of a county clerk or city clerk.]~~

Section 20 of this bill requires recruitment offices of the Armed Forces of the United States to serve as voter registration agencies, in addition to other entities specified in existing law.

Section 21 of this bill prohibits a voter registration agency from knowingly employing a person whose duties will include the registration of voters if the person has been convicted of a felony involving theft ~~[,]~~ or fraud . ~~[or dishonesty.]~~

Section 22 of this bill prohibits a county clerk from knowingly appointing as a field registrar any person who has been convicted of a felony involving theft ~~[,]~~ or fraud . ~~[or dishonesty.]~~

Section 27 of this bill amends the deadlines for the county clerk to transmit the number of registered voters in the county to the Secretary of State for the primary and general elections.

Section 28 of this bill expands the crime of threatening a person in connection with an election or petition to include threatening a person in connection with the registration of voters and to include the use of or threatening to use intimidation. Section 28 also increases the penalty for such a crime from a gross misdemeanor to a category E felony.

Section 29 of this bill increases the penalty for interfering with the conduct of an election from a gross misdemeanor to a category ~~[D]~~ E felony.

Section 30 of this bill provides that polling information from a voter regarding whether the voter intends to vote for or against a particular political party, candidate or ballot question is not "electioneering."

~~[Section 31 of this bill increases the penalty for the removal or destruction of certain voting supplies and equipment from a gross misdemeanor to a category D felony.]~~

Section 32 of this bill provides that if a person tampers or interferes with, or attempts to tamper or interfere with, a mechanical voting system, mechanical voting device or any computer program used to count ballots, such an act is punishable as a category B felony.

Section 33 of this bill makes ~~[certain]~~ the intentional failure to submit to the county clerk an elector's completed application to register to vote by a person who provided the application to the elector an unlawful ~~[acts~~

~~relating to the registration of voters a category D felony rather than~~ act punishable as a category E felony.

~~[Sections 39, 40, 44-47, 49, 52-55, 57, 58, 64, 67 and 70 of this bill provide that, except under certain circumstances, campaign contribution and expenditure reports related to candidates for state, county and district offices must be filed electronically with the Secretary of State.]~~

Existing law prohibits a person from making certain campaign contributions over $5,000 during certain periods and prohibits candidates from accepting such contributions during those periods. (NRS 294A.100, 294A.287) Sections 43 and 60 of this bill ~~[remove the limiting period for certain candidates so that such contributions may not be made or accepted at any time and]~~ also prohibit a person from committing to make such a contribution. Section 61 of this bill similarly adds the prohibition on committing to make such a contribution to the prohibition on soliciting and accepting any monetary contribution for any political purpose during a specified period which is applicable to Legislators, the Lieutenant Governor, the Lieutenant Governor-Elect, the Governor and the Governor-Elect.

Section 50 of this bill adds to the acceptable methods of disposing of unspent campaign contributions donating money to a governmental entity and allows the person disposing of the unspent contributions to specify how the governmental entity may use the money. Section 50 also allows certain public officers to use unspent campaign contributions in a future election in certain circumstances.

Section 56 of this bill requires committees for political action to file with the Secretary of State an updated form of registration on or before January 15 of each year.

Section 59 of this bill sets forth the acceptable methods of and deadline for disposing of unspent money in a legal defense fund. Sections 51 and 63 of this bill require a person who disposes of unspent money in a legal defense fund to report to the Secretary of State how the person disposed of such money.

~~[Section 67 of this bill requires the Secretary of State to design a form for each campaign contribution and expenditure report rather than requiring the design of a single form for all campaign contribution and expenditure reports.~~

~~Sections 74-83 of this bill provide that, except under certain circumstances, appointed and elected public officers must file electronically statements of financial disclosure with the Secretary of State rather than the Commission on Ethics.]~~

Sections ~~[49,]~~ 48, 54 and 84 of this bill remove requirements that certain persons or groups who advocate the passage or defeat of a ballot question register. As a result, these persons and groups are subject to the same registration and reporting requirements as committees for political action and must report certain contributions and expenditures which exceed $100, rather than $10,000 as provided in existing law for these persons or groups.
