(a) The amendments are not expected to have either an adverse or a beneficial economic effect upon the regulated professions or on the public. NAC 625.010 and NAC 625.620 were amended to define the term "firm". NAC 625.630 was amended to require firms advertizing professional engineering or land surveying services to the public to have a full time Nevada licensed professional present in the office during normal business hours.

(b) There will be no economic effect either immediate or long term on the public or on the engineering or land surveying professions. See item 5(a) above.

10. Are the amendments to the Regulations likely to impose a direct and significant economic burden upon a small business or directly restrict the formation, operation or expansion of a small business? What methods did the agency use in determining the impact of the amendments to the Regulation on a small business?

The State Board determined that the amendments to Regulations NAC

625.010, NAC 625.620 and NAC 625.630 do not impose a direct and significant economic burden upon a small business or restrict the formation, operation or expansion of a small business. In making this determination, the State Board considered that the amendments to NAC 625.010, NAC 625.620 and NAC 625.630 simply define the term "firm" and clarify that firms advertizing to perform professional engineering or land surveying services to the public must have a full time Nevada licensed professional in the office during normal business hours. The adopted amendments impose no direct or significant burdens on any private businesses.
